Railroads Send Agents.

The actual hearing of protests was got under way about 10 o'clock. All complainants were sworn and City Attorney Wright, with the assistance of Tax Commissioner Fleming, conducted the examinations. In most cases the recommendations of the tax commissioner were sustained. Friday afternoon a number of the railroads representatives present to protest igainst the raises announced Thurs-

In securing a reduction of $19,000 on the Paxton building assessment W. Farnam Smith, the agent, declared the property was paying in rentals about 4% per cent on the Investment, and that in comparison with the New York Life building it was assessed too high, although he asserted the land at Sixteenth and Farnam is more valuable than that one block west. The figure settied upon is the same as that made in 1903 and the board was governed in its action largely by the statement that the Board of Review had lopped off $37,000 from the New York Life and $25,000 from the Bee building asso sment advances proposed and made by Commissioner Fleming.

Prevents Further Cut.

This cut also prevented a further reduction on the New York Life property. Attorney Gaines asked that the proposed assessment of $612,500 be lowered to $537,000, asserting that the building was paying less than 4 per cent on the investment of $650,000. The councilmen, however, could see no reason for a further reduction and would not sanction it.

A very decided difference of opinion as to the value of the James Monroe Parker estate, lying close along the river between Omaha and Florence, was developed between Commissioner Fleming on one band and Attorney C. A. Goss and Chairman Huntington on the other. The latter, besides being asked to sit in judgment, is a trustee of the land, which comprises 243 acres. Fleming said it was worth nearer $1,000 an acre than $100, which the other side was contending for, and this called forth exclamations of astonishment from the representatives of the estate. It finally was agreed to assess all the land, with the exception of thirty acres, at $200 an acre. The latter gets in at $150.

owners who claim they are greatly affected by the Great Western terminals was deferred until later in the sitting, when they will all be passed upon together.

Brewers' Figures Stand.

Commissioner Fleming had returned increases of the personal property of the Storz brewery from $24,000 to $41,000; Metz, $19,000 to $34,000, and the Krug, from $23,000 to $35,000. W. I. Kierstead and Harry D. Reed, members of the Board of Review, explained that as a majority had decided to allow the personal property assessments of the breweries to stand as voluntarily returned, because of the heavy real estate taxes paid by all of them and the large amounts contributed annually in licenses Commissioner Fleming dissented to this view, but the Board of Equalization ruled against him and the original returns will stand. The Willow Springs brewery assessment will be given similar treatment when brought up.

Searching questions were asked all complainants and most of them replied without hesitation, some being provided with receipts, contracts, etc., to show the price of buildings. Several who admitted having considerable money invested in warrants, stocks, etc., were directed to appear Saturday morning with a complete list.

Real Estate Men Active.

The appearance in the afternoon of C. F. Harrison, W. G. Ure and F. D. Wead signified that the Real Estate exchange has not entirely lost interest in the matter of railway taxation. The tax committee has

THE ILLUSTRATED BEE

DOPULARITY MUST HAVE a

during. Admitting the truth of this proposition, the popularity of The Illustrated Bee is the best possible evidence of its merit. It long ago established its place at the lead of all newspaper magazine supplements published in the west, and has since maintained that proud distinction despite the attempts of rivals to overtake it. To do this has required unremitting vigilance in the preparation of the paper each week, and the result has been for the reader a decided advantage, in that each week The Illustrated Bee is filled with the brightest and cleanest of matter available, so prepared and Illust-ated that the paper is a magazine in fact as well as name.

RUSSIA AND JAPAN have occupied much space in the public eye for several weeks and during that time The Illustrated Bee has been publishing each Sunday special illustrated articles concerning the two countries. In the forthcoming number will be found a special article on 'The Fighting Leaders of Russia," telling of the men who will lead the armies of the czar in case of war, illustrated with portraits of the famous fighting men of Russia. Also a special article of tention, which is illustrated from Corea, one of the bones in the present contention, which is Illustrated from photographs made in Corea.

DAVID M'LEAN PARRY gave Mr. Frank G. Carpenter an interview in the present series of talks on present day problems with which Mr. Carpenter is now dealing. Mr. Parry sets forth his views on organized labor in his customary clear and vigorous style. The article is accompanied by a portrait of Mr. Parry, made from one of his latest photographs. "Story of First Baptist Church," tells of the origin and growth of one of Omaha's great church organizations, and is illustrated from photographs made by a staff photographer at the ceremonies of laying the cornerstone for the new church building. "Secret of the Anclents at the World's Fair" gives some account of the methods of copper smelting and refining practiced by the Axtecs and Incas at the time of the Spanish conquest, and how the secret processes have been handed down from sire to son, and carried on continuously ever since. Only two men in the world know the secret now, one in Peru and one in Mexico. A fine portrait of George Francis Train is used for the frontispiece, and a number of independent illustra-tions appear.

REGULAR FEATURES OF THE NUMBER include another installment of the fascinating serial, "The Diamond Derelict," which is growing in interest each week; the Illustrated Women's Department, with its fashion hints and the like; the customary short stories, selected miscellany and the like! a splendid little story by Guy de Maupassant; and all the numerous little things that aid in making The Illusrated Bee each week the model of its kind. been instructed to investigate and proceed as it sees fit, and is now investigating. Steps may be taken to secure an assessment of the railroads more nearly in conformity with other assessments than the council proposes, and the entire question was discussed at length yesterday afternoon by members of the committee and City Attorney Wright. The committee is reluctant to stand by idle, fearing that such an attitude would be interpreted to mean that it had given up the fight, whereas the members say such is not s

The coin is a dangerous one and approximates very nearly the weight of the genuine. It is made from an admixture of the best quality of babbitt metal, antimony and bismuth. It is then heavily copper plated and later given a durable coat of sliver. It possesses the requisite ring of the genuine coin and about its deceptive feature is its lightness. The coin in the hands of the government secret service official of this city came from Ottumwa, Is., where it was discovered by the bank on which it was passed. The makers of the coins were arrested several weeks ago in Chicago with their coin making outfit and are now in custody. They have, however, succeeded in floating considerable number of the coins, and their appearance in Nebraska may be ex-

PLAN TO RAISE SUGAR BEETS

Joy Morton Sald to Be at Head of Movement to Found Industry on Burlington.

It is reported at Burlington headquarters that Joy Morton of Chicago will be in Omaha in a few days and that he, with H. T. Leavitt of the Standard Beet Sugar company and a party of friends, will leave via the Burlington for a trip to Guernsey, Wyo., for the purpose of looking into the possibilities of raising sugar beets in that territory. In case it is found that prospects are favorable, it is said, a company will be organized with Mr. Morton at the head to build refineries to manufacture sugar. General Manager Holdrege of the B. & M. probably will accompany the Hill and Morgan Credited with Scheme to Organize Another Way.

TO UNITE ROADS AS THE ERIE SYSTEM

Plan to Get Around Defeat in Northern Securities Fight Involves Evidence of Hill-Harriman

Should the decision regarding the Northern Securities company, which will be handed down by the courts next month, be unfavorable to that company, as it is said Hill and Morgan believe it will be, it is reported in this city that another plan is n course of development which will answer the same purpose as the securities company was intended to answer, and that is the consolidation of all the Hill lines under one head. If the decision is against the company, it will be necessary for the stock in the several railroads, which were to be controlled, to be redistributed. This stock was gathered from the stockholders in the various companies which went to make up the Northern Securities company and stock in the securities company was exchanged for It. The report now in circulation is to the effect that all of the western lines which go to make up the securities company will be absorbed by the Erie and that name will be given to all the lines, making them one expansive system. Hill and Morgan are said to argue that this plan of merger cannot be dissolved in the courts, as there are plenty of precedents to justify such action on the part of J. P. Morgan & Co. and J. J. Hill. Strength is given to this belief by the fact that at the meeting of directors of the Erie, held in New York this week, the voting trust which has controlled that road since the reorganization, was dissolved by the board declaring a 2 per cent dividend, the second of the same amount declared during the fiscal year.

Lawyers Advise Morgan. In case the new plan is carried out the new company will include the Erie, Northern Pacific, Great Northern and Burlington systems, all under one head. Eminent lawyers, the report says, have been consulted by Mr. Morgan, who has the reorganization in charge, and they have told him that the objections raised against the Securities company cannot be maintained against the organization of the roads named above into one great system under the name of the Eric, or some other name which might be chosen for the system as a whole. The Erie has been made up of several smaller lines, which were independent companies before the reorganization, and the same system which made the Erie carried still farther could be made to include all the Hill properties. Another strong precedent which has been established along the same line was the absorption of the Lake Shore & Michigan Central by the New York Central, in the accomplishment of which the New York Central exchanged its own 31/2 per cent bonds for the securities of the other roads.

Harriman in the Deal. In connection with the reports it is regarded as significant that Mr. Harriman recently has been elected a director of the Erie, in which he is now a heavy stockholder. This places the control of the road in the hands of E. H. Harriman, J. J. Hill. J. Pierpont Morgan and Jacob Schiff, the man who was in control of the Northern Pacific, Great Northern and Burlington before the great fight which precipitated the Northern Pacific panic. This is taken as proof of the story that Hill and Harriman are getting together. Should the supreme court order the securities of these companies redistributed, the bulk of them would fall into the hands of these four men. Just what effect the merger will have on the Burlington, in which this city is most interested, is not known. "That will depend entirely," said a Burlington official, "on whether the management of the new company is placed under one head, with authority extending over the entire system, or whether the present plan of a division of authority is continued. In the former case the Burlington headquarters probably would be taken away from Omaha, as would probably have been the case had the Northern Securities company been a success."

Sunday afternoon. On Sunday evening at the Boyd the Royal Lilliputians will open a short engagement of two nights. This famous organization is now said to be stronger than ever.

The last two performances of this week's show at the Orpheum will be given matines and night today

For the week beginning matinee Sunday the varied bill will be headed by the Eight Vassar Girls, a group of attractive young romen in pretty costumes, who present an electric ballet and singing, and are accomplished on saxophones, trombones, bassoons, clarinets and oboes, rendering their nusic in octettes, sextettes and individually. It is described as one of the biggest "topline" attractions of the season. Others on the program are: Rapoli, the noted European juggler; Christina's monkeys; Morris and Bowen, comedy acrobats; Harry Thomson, styled "mayor of the Bowery, with stories and parodies; Green and Werner, coon singers; Ailce Lyndon-Doll, the juvenile prima donna, and scenes on a modern bee farm shown by the kinodrome.

One of the most attractive shows of the season will be Durno, the magician, and his company at the Boyd theater Thursday night, January 28. Without doubt Durne is the leading mugician of the day. It has been said of him that none of the fakirs of East India or the Chinese magicians can outclass him.

Durno is accompanied by Dudley Prescott, the mimic and ventriloquist. Mr. Prescott gives splendid imitations of musical instruments and birds. The other member of the company is James E. Pollard, the trick planist.

This company, which appears on the association entertainment course, is something of an innovation for the association Reserved seats can be secured at the Young Men's Christian association office.

NOTES ON OMAHA SOCIETY

One of the prettiest of last evening's affairs was the watermelon supper given by Miss Jane Orcutt in compliment to Miss Jean Morton of Chicago, who is the guest of Judge and Mrs. Lake. The table trimmings were entirely in the watermelon shades, the cloth being crossed with pink and green ribbons that ended at the corners in hoge bows and at the cross in the center a cleverly devised section of a melon with its seeds and rich coloring and a center of pink carnations. The place cards were sections of melon done in water color and the same design was carried out in the various courses. Covers were laid for Mis: Morton, Miss Ella May Brown, Miss Wake field. #### WATTERSON JEERS AT BRYAN Pronounces Party Subserviency to Him the Embodiment of Political Blasphemy.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 23.-Under the heading, "Sheer Political Insanity," Henry Watterson said in today's Courier-Journal:

Mr. Bryan lays down his ultimatum. The party must first re-enact the piatforms of 1896 and 1900. Then, it must select a nomine of Mr. Bryan's approving, if not of his choosing, Mr. Bryan having blacklisted each and every democrat who has shown any vitality, or carried any election the last four or five years. Finally, the party must accept no money for its campaign expenses from the "common enemy"—the common enemy being each and every one who has any money to spare. This is the faith cure, pure and simple. In a free country, in a country ruled, or supposed to be railed, by public opinion, parties, being merely the expressions of the popular will, must needs on occasion revise their lines.

All parties have done this. The democratic party in particular has often done it. What, for example, would have been thought of the democratic piatform of 1864, which declared the war a "fallure?" What would have been thought of the platform of 1864, which declared the war a "fallure?" What would have been thought of the platform of 1865. In like manner, after two successive overwhelming defeats, what must be the effect of the platform and their cue rather from the platforms of 1896 and 1990 than from those, let us say, of 1892 and 1884, on which declared victories were won.

The democratic party needs votes. On the lines of 1896 and 1990 than from those, let us say, of 1892 and 1884, on which declared victories were won.

The democratic party needs votes. On the lines of 1896 and 1990 than from those, let us say, of 1892 and 1894, on which declared them. In spite of all these lessons, are we to continue to acceut Mr. Bryan as our only Moses? To take the word and the law solely out of his mouth and, under threat of the abandonment of truth, to enact over again the wretched chapter of accident and disaster, whilst, with our eyes wide open, we travel the same old road to run?

Is free silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 the only weapon with which heading, "Sheer Political Insanity," Henry Watterson said in today's Courier-Journa!

wide open, we travel the same old road to ruin?

Is free silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 the only weapon with which democracy may smite plutocracy? Is populism, socialism, fusionism, the only recourse of the neonie against the money power? And, finally, lest we be damned, must we fail down and worship Mr. Bryan, with all his manifest limitations and imperfections, as the greatest general, the loftlest statesman and the purest patriot who has adorned American politics since the formation of parties?

To our mind, all this seems the very embediment of political blasshemy, the very essence of worldly absurdity, and we refuse to be party to it.
