First Reaction in Prices Since the Exchange Opened Its Doors. CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS. EROKERS FEAR GIANTS AND WAR RUMORS Prices on Board of Trade. CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—A storm of liquidation broke over the grain pits today in spite of the critical situation in the Orient. The market was unable to rally and closing prices were near the low point, May wheat being off to from last night's close. May corn closed 1½ lower, while oats were down 2021ac. Provisions were practically unchanged. Trade in Futures Largely in May Corn and July Corn and Wheat Gets Few Buyers, corn closed 1%c lower, while oats were down 2574c. Provisions were practically unchanged. Strength and activity marked initial trading in wheat. That the war outlook was of a most serious nature was evidenced by a decline in the price of English consols. Shorts were active buyers at the start and bid up the price of the May option 1,5%c above yesterday's close, the opening quotations being at 55,69%c. July was a shade to %5%c higher at 86,36%c. But these prices lasted only a moment. There was such a quantity of wheat for sale, both May and July deliveries, that within five minutes the price of May had fallen to 94%c and July to 85%c. The selling craze was soon partly exhausted. On support from the leading long the market quickly recovered part of the early loss. May railying to 94%c, and July to 88c. Trading was comparatively quiet during the remainder of the day until within the last half hour. Commission houses continued to sell on all slight railies, while small holders selzed every opportunity to secure profits. In the face of fresh war news the pit was deluged with selling orders late in the day. There was not enough demand to absorb the offerings and in consequence May broke to 85%c, while the price of July was carried down to 85%c. The close was extremely weak with May at 94c, a net loss for the day of ic. July was from ic to 1%c lower at 84%c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 253.500 bu. Frimary receipts were 577.600 bu. against 595.500 bu. a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 285 cars, compared with 283 cars last week and 424 cars a year ago. About the same conditions surrounded trading in the same conditions surrounded. OMAHA, Feb. 6, 1904. OMAHA. Feb. 8, 1904. Teday saw the first reaction on the Omaha exchange. Business was duil. The condition of the market is such, with varying possibilities of war and so much grain in the hands of the giants, that the brokers feared to go over Sunday either long or short. So there was a painstaking effort on their part to get even. The Chicago and Omaha markets opened at about the closing quotations, though somewhat weaker. From the opening there was a steady decline in all grains on the Chicago and the Omaha markets and the closing prices were not far from the lowest of the day. The break averaged nearly 3 cents. of the day. The break averaged nearly 2 cents. Omaha transactions in futures were largely confined to May corn. The Chicago market opened at 45%c, %c up from the closing figure, and Omaha opened up with a show of strength with 45%c bid. The market declined to 45%c, and then railed to 45% and fiddled about on the eighth, following the Chicago market. It declined toward the close to 44%c offered and few willing to buy. Chicago broke 2%c, a quarter more than Omaha. July cern opened weak and there was nothing doing here, while in Chicago the bears pulled the market down %c. There was no Omaha business in May wheat, but in July the market opened up on the closing price of Friday, and after breaking to 76 railied to 74%c. May oats fell off 2c in Chicago, but no local brokers ventured on this market. The range in prices of Omaha grain for future delivery and the close today and Friday were as follows: Wheat— Open High, Low, Teday, Friy. pared with 23 cars last week and est cars a year ago. About the same conditions surrounded trading in the corn pit as were witnessed in the wheat market. Prices were strong at the start, influenced by the war situation but weakness developed early in the day on heavy liquidation of May by one of the largest holders. While there was a fair demand for the July delivery the market failed to rally and closing prices were at the bottom. May opened the lower to the higher at 56,056%, and closed at the bottom at 5%, a net loss for the day of 1%c. July closed 1%d1%c lower, at 52,062%c. Local receipts were 1% cars, none of contract grade. The feature in trading in oats was the weakness of the May delivery and the comparative strength of the July option. With the sharp break in prices in wheat and corn early in the day. May oats were offered freely, resulting in a considerable loss. Commission houses were fair buyers on the decline, but profit taking continued on a sufficiently large scale to keep the price down. Part of the weakness in the May option was due to the fact that stocks showed some increase. The opening on May was unchanged to the lower, at 45%d44%c, after the price had touched 44%d44%c, after the price had touched 44%d44%c, after the price had touched 44%d44%c, after the price had touched 44%d higher prices for hogs at the vards and on war news. After the first hour, however, prices began to decline under the influence of the break in the grain market. At the close, all of the gain was lost, May pork being off 2%c, at $13.57%. May lard was also down 2%c, at $7.52%, but ribs were up 2%c, at $6.50. Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 40 cars; corn, 450 cars; oats, 280 cars; hogs, 44,000 head. CATTLE—There was practically no trad-ing in the cattle division this morning, so that a test of values was not made. For the week receipts show quite a decrease the week receipts show quite a decrease both as compared with last week and with the corresponding week of last year. At some other markets, however, supplies have been quite liberal, so that the number of cattle on saie has been ample to meet the requirements of the trade, and in fact there has been a surplus of the condition of the market, which may be considered as an index of the true situation.

Corn-fed steers sold a little stronger the first part of the week, but the latter part the market was in very bad shape and closing prices are fully as low as they were at the close of last week. In other words, the market is at the low point of the season. The bulk of the cattle now coming forward have been fed from 100 to 120 days and are selling at about the same prices.

HEMORS - Receipts, 13,506.25; stockers and helfers, $2,2500 to 18, $2,404.00; calves, $2,000 to 18, $2,404.00; calves, $2,000 to 19,000 to 1 and are selling at about the same prices that were paid for much shorter fed cattle during the sump before the holidays. As during the slump before the holidays. As has been pointed out through these columns from day to day the present demoralized condition of the market is largely due to the severe storms in many sections of the country, which have tied up the railroads and made a shortage of refrigerator cars. Until railroad traffic once more becomes normal there is small chance of much improvement in the market. Good to choice cattle are now quotable from $4.0 to $4.75, fair to good from $4 to $4.0, medium grades from $3.75 to $4 and common kinds from $3.75 to $4 and common kinds from $3.25 to $5.60. It now takes a pretty good bunch of cattle to sell much over $4.

The cow market is also fully back to where it was at the close of last week, or to the low point of the year. The latter part of the week trading has been very dull, particularly on the commoner kinds. Good to choice cattle sell from $3.25 to $3.65.

part of the week trading has been very dull, particularly on the commoner kinds. Good to choice cattle sell from $3.25 to $3.65, fair to good from $2.75 to $3.15, medium grades from $2.40 to $2.50 and canners and cutters from $1.50 to $2.25.

Bulls have suffered the same as steers and cows. Good to choice grades sell from $3.25 to $3.75, fair to good from $2.75 to $3.25 and bologna grades from $2.25 to $2.50. Veal caives have been in small supply all the week and prices have held steady. Choicest grades are now selling from $5.00 to $5.50.

The stocker and feeder market has been to $5.50.

The stocker and feeder market has been dull all the week, with the tendency of prices downward, except on something very choice, which is not a great deal lower. The commoner kinds, however, are 15@25c lower for the week. The good to choice grades sell largely from $3.40 to $3.75, with something prime a little higher. Fair to good grades go from $8.00 to $3.40 and common kinds from $3.00 down. Representative sales:

HOGS—There was a fairly liberal run of hoga here this morning for a Saturday, but with a good demand the market opened generally be higher. Trading was fairly active and the most of the early arrivals were disposed of in good season. Toward the close of the market, however, buyers were not so anxious for supplies and as a result the close was slow and weak, with the advance of the morning practically all lost. The bulk of the sales went from $4.75 to $4.80, good heavy hogs from $4.85 to $4.80, and prime heavies from $4.85 to $4.80 in apite of the fact that the close was slow and weak, practically everything was sold before noon. 333 2 00 week, practically everything was sold before noon.

For the week receipts show a slight decrease as compared with last week, but an increase of about 6,000 head as compared with the same week of last year. Prices have held steady most of the week, the fluctuations from day to day being of small importance. Closing prices are practically the same as at the close of last week, the difference amounting to only about 1 cent.

Putures opened steady at an anvance of 30 points on July and 56-20 points on other positions on moderate buying, inspired by firmer French cables and fightes primary receipts, particularly at Santos. There was continued liquidation by cotton exchange houses, however, and later the market cased off. soon losing all the initial gains. Selling became particularly active just before the close, partly as a result of the further reduction in package coffee and in sympathy with the continued breaks in cotton, which weems to be unsettling confidences in the coffee market as well, and the close was steady at a decline of 56715 points. Cotton Market.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—COTTON—The buying of cotton yesterday, supposed to be for a bull pool in order to regain control of

Dry Goods Market. NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—DRY GOODS—Buying is more or less at a standstill. Buyers are awaiting developments and are not inclined to operate unless absolutely compelled to by the exigencies of the occasion. Yet, there is no weakening on the part of sellers. They see no reason in the present flurry to change their prices, which are by no means based on the high prices of cotton, and it is believed it will take a good many more perpendicular drops to good many more perpendicular drop affect the state of piece goods prices

The grocery store of Goldenberg & Hornstein, 2704 Cuming street, was entered last evening by two masked men, who took $300 from the cash register and 70 cents from a ustomer who was in the store. The Saturday evening's business was juieting down. Morris Goldenberg was examining some accounts near the cash register. The clerk, Joe Cohen, was at work in another part of the store, and a ustomer was looking at some goods, when two men, partially masked and with revolvers drawn, entered and proceeded with the business in hand without much cere-

Goldenberg made an outery, when the nen announced their intentions, hoping thus to attract the attention of some passerby, but his noise was soon stilled. After lining up the inmates of the store with revolvers and words more emphatic than elegant the intruders then removed the contents of the register, taking about $200 from that source, and then turned their attentions to the lone, trembling customer, who contributed 70 cents to their cause. With a parting admonition to let the isitors depart in peace the strangers went their way rejoicing and opulent. The men are described as being well dressed. One was of small stature and the other much taller. Whether they are the original "tall and short" men who kept the local authorities guessing several years ago is mere conjecture. The matter was referred to the police station and detectives immediately put on
