

DOUBLE TRACK ALL THE WAY

Such is Plan of E. H. Harriman for the Union Pacific.

MUCH NOW LAID ON THE MAIN LINE

Work is Going on Quietly but Persistently and Progress, as Does New San Pedro Road.

MOON HITS THE BULL'S EYE

Alpha Taurus Will Be Covered for an Hour on Monday Evening.

An official of the Union Pacific, in speaking of the large increase in the traffic of that line during the past year or two, said: "At present our increasing business demands are doubtless making it very understanding that it will be the policy of the company to lay another track in places where the business is most congested at the earliest possible date. The Union Pacific at present probably has more double track than is supposed. During the last few months the company has been actively adding to its double track and also to its single track."

At present our increasing business demands are doubtless making it very understanding that it will be the policy of the company to lay another track in places where the business is most congested at the earliest possible date. The Union Pacific at present probably has more double track than is supposed. During the last few months the company has been actively adding to its double track and also to its single track.

This grading was completed last summer, and it is my understanding that the grading will be continued on westward during the coming summer. That portion which was graded last year will be settled sufficiently this summer to receive the second set of rails and they will be laid at the earliest possible date that it is thought safe to put them down. When the rails are laid in the main line and some of the other short gaps are closed up we will have about 180 miles of continuous double track in the central western portion of the state. When you stop to consider you will find that with other short stretches this will figure up about one-third of the entire main line of the system in Nebraska under double track.

The work has been carried on so quietly that few people are familiar with the fact that a policy of double tracking the entire system is being gradually carried out. It is my opinion, however, that a decision in the matter has been reached, to begin work immediately when spring opens, to grade for double tracks a distance of twenty-five or thirty miles on each side of Green River, Wyo. You see, these double tracks are needed most at division terminals, where there is a disposition for freight to pile up and traffic become congested; consequently it is the policy of the company to first build double lines out of these places, which has been done at the points I have mentioned.

Harriman's Fixed Policy. "It was the policy of President Harriman as soon as he took control of the system to double track the entire main line of the Union Pacific. He realized that it would be but a few years until the natural increase in the traffic of the company would make the volume so heavy that two tracks would become necessary.

"I do not believe," he said, "that the natural traffic increase is the cause of the present activity in laying double tracks. If we look a little farther west we will see that the San Pedro line soon will be completed. This will open up a vast and rich territory in southern California, and when the added traffic which is poured into the Union Pacific from this source has to be handled the management of the company realizes that one set of rails will not be adequate. Looking at the matter from this standpoint, it is my opinion that the Union Pacific will be double tracked almost the entire distance from Ogden to Omaha by the time the San Pedro line is finished.

"I believe the line from Green River to Ogden, a distance of 175 miles, will be taken care of first. It is my opinion that the Union Pacific will be double tracked almost the entire distance from Ogden to Omaha by the time the San Pedro line is finished. We will find that when the San Pedro line is opened the Union Pacific will be amply able to care for the additional business which that road will bring. It cannot very well be otherwise. We have all the business we can handle now, and something must be done to take care of the increase, and in what other way than laying double tracks can it be done?"

LITTLE BOY IS BADLY HURT

Struck by a Brick Hurled by Another at Random Into Gang of Tormentors.

Gifford, the 9-year-old son of J. McManigal, a lineman in the employ of the Nebraska Telephone company, residing at 2004 Burdette street, was hit on the head by a brick thrown by Henry George last night, causing a depressed fracture of the skull. The injured boy was taken to Clarkson hospital and George to the police station.

According to the story of Henry George, who is 14 years old, it seems that some of the boys of the neighborhood have formed an organization and, among other things, make life unpleasant for a newcomer. George came to Omaha about a week ago, and, for the time being, the only strange boy in the district, he has received the undivided attention of the "club." Last night as he was returning from the grocery store, he says, a number of the boys met him and proceeded to throw stones at him. He was chased to his home, a few blocks away, but as the gang showed indications of invading his territory he picked up a brick and threw into the crowd, hitting Gifford McManigal on the head. The injured boy it seems did not have anything to do with the "club," but had been sent to the store and, seeing George chased, it is presumed followed the others.

This gang of boys have been the terror of the neighborhood for some time, and more than once clashed with the police. It is alleged that they were the persons who a few weeks ago tore up the sidewalk near Twenty-ninth and Parker streets to build a bonfire. The gang is supposed to be led by a colored boy rather older than the rest.

Dr. J. E. Summers performed an operation on the injured boy's head at the Clarkson hospital, removing about an inch and a half of bone. He is resting easily and no serious outcome is expected.

WOMAN CUTS HERSELF IN RAGE

Undertakes to Stab Man with Shears and May Lose Two Fingers.

Earl Day, a roomer at Gertrude Broomfield's place at 311 Capitol avenue, was given the chance of expressing her opinion of the police force in general, and of Officer "Daddy" Ryan in particular, as he was the man who arrested her for being drunk and disorderly. She made such good use of the chance that the police were forced to tell her to quit. It appears that there was a colored man in the resort last night to whom the woman had taken a particular dislike, and having had an undue allowance of liquor, proceeded to try and puncture his ears with a pair of shears.

According to the testimony of the on-lookers the fight was a gorgeous one, and when stopped by the appearance of the officer it was seen that both the combatants were covered with blood. The woman had been cutting the man's ears with a pair of shears when her opponent endeavored to get them away from her. The man was not arrested, as it was shown that he was only trying to get the shears away from the woman before any damage was done. Though her hand was bleeding profusely and was very badly cut, the woman would not consent to have her hands attended to and related such a comical story to the appearance of the police surgeon that nothing could be done with her. The police surgeon said that she is likely to lose her fingers.

MOON HITS THE BULL'S EYE

Alpha Taurus Will Be Covered for an Hour on Monday Evening.

The reader will probably remember that on November 3 the moon made an unsuccessful attempt at hitting the Bull's Eye, that is to say, the moon came very close to the brightest star in the constellation of the Bull, called Aldebaran, or Alpha Tauri, or the Bull's Eye. She promised to make amends for her unskillfulness on March 21, and she is now here to remind us of her promise.

This time the moon will make a success of it and hit the Bull's Eye so well that she will keep it covered for a whole hour. She will be a beautiful crescent only five days old.

The annexed diagram will explain the whole performance. The letters N S E W are the cardinal points of the moon's disk, N being the direction of the north star. The diagram is to be held in such a way that the point F is on top at 5:43 p. m. when the star disappears behind the moon at the point A, and the point T on the top when the star reappears at R at 7:44. The star, therefore, would seem to run along the line A R, although in reality it is the moon that moves while the star is stationary. The right part of the moon, the crescent N T E A S, will be bright, while the left, N T F E A S, will be dark and invisible. This will be a novelty to all amateur observers because the star will thus disappear at the moon's dark edge. The star will appear to be at some distance from the lunar crescent, until, when the important moment comes at 6:43 p. m., it will disappear with a suddenness that is apt to start an inexperienced observer. This phenomenon is well worth observing, as it is the usual and strong proof that the moon has no atmosphere, for if it had the star would first grow dim or be displaced laterally by refraction. As the sun sets on that day, Tuesday, March 22, at 6:36, this immersion or disappearance of the star will take place only eight minutes after the time of sunset, hence in such strong twilight that the naked eye will probably not be able to see the star near its disappearance. Any telescope or opera glass will, however, remedy this disadvantage.

The star will remain sixty-one minutes hidden behind the moon. At 7:44 it will reappear at the point R at the moon's bright edge with the same suddenness with which it disappeared by coming into view. The brightness of this suddenness will not be as startling or as noticeable.

The times of immersion and emersion, 6:43 and 7:44, apply only to Omaha, so that if the reader is at some distance he must be on the lookout sooner if west and later if east of Omaha. These occultations, or eclipses of stars by the moon, are visible only over a very limited portion of the earth. We just missed it last November 4, but now we are right in the star's shadow. Nothing terrifying will happen, there will be no earthquakes, no cyclone and no war, but only one of those quiet, simple but grand and exceptional sights in the heavens which delight the heart of every lover of astronomy.

FASCINE PROTECTS THE BANK

Inroads of the Missouri River Above East Omaha Are Finally Checked.

Word was brought to Omaha yesterday that the fascine installed by the East Omaha Improvement club on the river bank a mile east of Florence lake, was doing more harm than good. A. W. Kellner, president of the Kellner Construction company, who is doing the work, says the fascine was tipped over by a sudden break in the ice, which snapped one of the cables by which the big mattress was anchored, and for a short time did contribute to the damage. This was quickly repaired, and now the fascine is performing its function properly.

Mr. Kellner offers to forfeit $500 to charity if the work he is installing does not do all he claims for it.

Don't Pool with a Cold

From the New York Sun. We must repeat our warning against pneumonia, the most dangerous disease that prevails in this city, and which is extraordinarily prevalent at this season, to the guard at all times against taking cold. Look out for it if you take it. Gladstone went to bed and send for a doctor whenever he had a cold, and consequently he got well in a very short time. The "Don't" is right and their warning should be heeded. For colds there is nothing better than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It prevents any tendency of a cold toward pneumonia. It always cures and is pleasant and safe to take.

Tailors Form an Exchange

Many of the tailors of the city have formed an organization to be known as the Tailors' Exchange, which is announced as being for the mutual advancement and protection of the particular line of business in Omaha. The members, which have joined this organization are Remington, the Kessler Tailors, Co., William Smith company, G. A. Lindquist, Helgren & Grainger, Guckert & McDonald, J. A. Spicer, Harlow & Co., W. H. Helgren & Kervan, Frank Vodka & Co., Nicoll the Tailor, Max Morris, MacCarthy Tailoring company, Theodore Cole, Walter and J. M. Milander, Paris Woolen company, Albert Kodon. The following officers have been elected: President, Fred Pantrath; secretary, J. C. Lewis; treasurer, B. H. Smith.

Poker Games Raided. Thirteen may be an unlucky number, but hereafter eighteen men will have some scruples in sitting down to a quiet game of poker when there are nine men in the room. Last night the police raided the raiding of poker games and brought two of them to an abrupt conclusion. Nine men were arrested in each instance. The first call was at the clear store of George Horvath, Fifteenth street, and the next to the barber shop of F. E. Koval at 166 Howard street. Some of the men were arrested at the police station had as much as $10 on them.
