POST-EASTER SEASON TO BE LIVELY

Novelties Are Promised and Some that Will Be Delightful to All Who Are Fortunate Enough to Be In.

Here's to the lasses we've loved, my lad, Here's to the lips we've pressed; For of kisses and lasses Like liquor in glasses The last is always the best.

The Social Calendar.

MONDAY-Mrs. William Sears Poppleton entertains the Cooking club at bridge. TUESDAY-Mrs. Albert Hoag, a card party; the meeting of the Euchre club. BATURDAY-Mrs. R. S. Owen's card party, Dr. and Mrs. Owen entertain; Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Whitney and Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Straight entertain the Hans-com Park Whist club.

One more week, and then. Oddly enough inquiry as anticipation, for while society has been sighing for the privilege of doing things these past forty days and promising its friends that there will be plenty that modeled. is worth while "after Easter," now that the time is at hand one hears little that is definite, that is, for the immediate future. Of course no one expected things to week ahead these promises may yet be made good, still there are few definite dates given by the busy ones. If possible, last ington, D. C., on Easter Sunday, week was even more quiet than the one Miss Helen Nason entertained preceding it and this week finds little an-

As far as precedent is concerned it cuts absolutely no figure whatever nowadays, except that it is the thing to be avoided, for unless a hostess provides at least one new thing her guests are liable to look bored when her affair is discussed later.

One of the most unique innovations that has been offered fashionable femininity of late was Zweibach-the twice baked bread familiar to every German household and every nursery-but it was neither an infant party or a kaffee klatsch at which it was offered, but rather as an accompaniment to Russia tea at one of the smartest of the Lenten afternoon affairs. What in the world is it, dear?" one of the guests asked her hostess. "Something that won't cause indigestion or keep you awake nights-don't be afraid of it," replied that lady, smiling, as she extended the plate of the buttered wafercrusts to another guest.

But of course novelty is always delight ful, provided the fitness of things is not wholly lost sight of, and after Easter some delightful things are promised. Among these will be a matinee dance, one of those delightful affairs for the set not yet out, that avoid the formality of the evening function and include as much or as little of the elaborate as the host or hostess is inclined to present.

The club has about twenty members and has been organized for several years. Last season the women furnished a room at the Old People's Home, and for several years it has supported one of the beds at the Creche.

The following is the list of patronesses announced for the little comedy, "Mr. Bob," to be given at Creighton Auditorium, April 5, for the benefit of the Visiting Nurses' association. It is expected that in addition to the performance the occasion will be one of the most notable of the post-Lenten affair and, in addition to the play, several unique little features will attend it: Mesdames Thomas Klipatrick, C. WOMAN IN CLUB AND CHARITY

By far the most interesting announce ment that has yet come from the biennial board of St. Louis, concerning the coming biennial, was made at a reception given Thursday afternoon in the rooms of the Wednesday club by the board, to meet the members of the press bureau and credentials committee. Mrs. Philip Moore, chairman of the board, presided during the brief business session while the reports and explanations of the various committees were heard. Mrs. W. E. Fischel gave the following outline of the social features planned:

On Tuesday, May 17, a reception will be given by the Wednesday club. Friday, May 29, Mrs. William Trelease will receive at Shaw's Garden, and arrangements have been made for the guests to be shown through the gardens.
On May 23 the St. Louis Woman's club will receive from 3 to 5. At the same time there will be receptions held in private houses, the women who will be hostesses in their own homes being Mendames Rolla Wells, George Castleman, Daniel M. Holser, E. H. Semple, Dan Catlin, Edward Mollinekrodt, Hudson Bridge, J. C. Van Blarcom, George L. Alten, John T. Davis and Mary McKittrick.
On May 19, which is celebration day, the board of managers will give a luncheon, the exercises to be held at the exposition grounds, a reception to be given at Festival hall in the evening. There will be a special program for the day and the tablets to be unveiled, the gift of the general federation to the Louisiana purchase states, will contain an inscription by President Roosevelt. There will be receptions at all the state buildings.

In the absence of a Nebraska building, the Nebraska reception will be held either in the pavilion, "The Nebraska," being built by Mrs. Harriet S. McMurphy for the demonstration of Nebraska food products, or in the Nebraska pavilion in the agricultural building, probably the former.

The following is the official program of

A luncifeon will be given there, and there will be ample opportunity for visitors to see Chicago. May 11 to 14:

be ample opportunity for visitors to see Chicago.

An interesting program will be given by specialists who have given years of thought and study to their special work.

Conferences on topics related to home and children will be held by mothers. Helpful literature will be exhibited.

"The National Boy Problem," "Moral Education," "Uniform Marriage and Divorce Laws," "Education for the Art of Life," "Industrial Education a Factor in Civic Betterment," "Child Labor Conditions," "The Probation Method," "The Dependent and Delinquent Children," "Literature for Mothers and Children," "Mothers' Mistakes" and "Domestic Science" are subjects that will be included on the program.

The names of speakers will be announced later.

The names of speakers will be announced later.

Railway rates will probably be made with reference to the Louisiana Purchase exposition, which will be open at that time. It is expected that stop-over privileges will be allowed for those wishing to attend the Louisiana Purchase exposition and the bi-chinial of the General Federation, which meets in St. Louis May Is.

The Illinois Congress of Mothers will entertain delegates. For information about this communicate with Mrs. W. S. Hefferan, sid-stewart avenue, Chicago, Ill.

Clubs that are in sympathy with the mother work and the broad national work for childhood which the congress is doing may affiliate with the congress and send a delegate by payment of $5.

Mothers' clubs and child study circles come in by payment of 10 cents per capita annually, and are entitled to a delegate for every ten members.

Visitors are cordially welcomed and may become associate members of the congress by payment of $2 annually.

The purpose of the congress is to provide the best opportunities for the physical, mental and moral devel pment of every child, and already it has been a power in improving the conditions of childhood throughout the land.

Mrs. Carrie L. Grout, organizer for Nebrasks, of the National Congress of Mothers, held a meeting Friday afternoon at Manderson school, where she addressed about twenty mothers of the neighborhood. Mrs. Grout spoke of the work of the congress and of its value to the mothers who participated in it. It is her intention to rganize the mothers' clubs to work under the direction of the efscational committee of the Omaha Woman's club. While no organization was effected Friday, there was much interest, and it is expected that the club will be formed later. Mrs. Grout leaves this week for a series of confernces with the teachers' organizations of the state. On Wednesday she will confer with the Central Nebraska association at Aurora; on Thursday she will speak at Columbus and Friday at Beatrice, in this way reaching all of the teachers whose co-operation will be asked in the organization of parent's meetings in connection with the schools.
