> E. H. Harriman is expected to reach official party, who have been making a circuit of the Harriman system. Mr. Harriman's stay here will necessarily be brief, as he is billed for an address at the World's fair opening at St. Louis. Being the head of that great system so indissolubly identified with the vast area of fertile lands embodied in the Louisiana purchase, Mr. Harriman was urged for one of the principal speakers on this auspicious occasion. Under the caption, "The Union Pacific Railroad and Louisiana Territory," World's fair folder issued by the advertising department of the Union Pacific, which has attracted such general attention, recites these interesting facts: While the construction of the Union Pacific railroad, its trials and triumphs, are a part of the history of the United States, the important part played by this railroad in the development of the Louisiana road in the development of the Louisiana Purchase can hardly be estimated. In the building up of this vast domain it has been one of the chief factors. one of the chief factors.

One hundred years ago the population of the region was estimated at 20,000. Up to the inception of the Union Pacific (in 1880), it had increased to 3,233,529. In 1990 it numbered over 13,000,000 of inhabitants. In this wonderful growth, with its stupendous increase in all the many-sided phases of commercial, material and intellectual prosperity, the Union Pacific—as a glance at the map will show—has had a conspicuous share. It has opened up vast regions of fertile country to settlers, and brought great areas of what was an unknown and unproductive wilderness into close communion with metropolitan centers and markets. Thriving cities, towns and hamlets, through its efforts, have sprung up in svery direction.

It may be of interest to know that the total number of manufacturing plants, and the value of their outputs, combined with that of the national products, as reported in the census of 1900, give an aggregate production for the Louisiana region of $3,500,000 annually, or 223 times the original purchase price. The same census reports (1900) also show the total population to be 3,343,255, of which $3,90,906 inhabitants are living in the states and territories reached by the Union Pacific. On the 1900 census figures, it is estimated that the true wealth of the Louisiana purchase can be stated at about $13,051,863,359, of which $3,390,21387 is represented in the states reached by this is represented in the states reached by this great railroad.

OLD SETTLERS EAT TOGETHER Pleasant Evening Spent at the Home of Judge John I. Redick by Ploneers.

One of the most thoroughly delightful of the last of the season's social functions was the reception tendered the Old Settlers' club by Judge and Mrs. John I. The weather was ideal for any gathering and the charming appointments of the made the occasion especially delightful place to which the guests were invited Nearly if not quite the entire membership of the club attended and individually and collectively enjoyed the exchange of greetings and the reminiscences of "Auld semblage at large, but is often very trying 16:30 a. m.: Lang Syne" to the utmost. Osias Fallenbaum is Bound Over the District Court on One Count. After two days spent in Justice of the court in the sum of $400.

Twenty-one witnesses were put on the stand and the nine years of married life of the Fallenbaums were minutely gone over. According to the defendant's testimony his wife was a poor girl when he married her in Faltsi, Roumania. He said he bought a nice home and endeavored to put up with her many alleged shortcomings until patience ceased to be a virtue. It was claimed that he forgave and forgot on different oc casions.

The court held that the evidence did not justify a conviction on the first count, that of wife abandonment, as it had been shown that Fallenbaum had always provided for the wife even when he was alleged to have left her March 7, when he went to Talmage, Neb., and other small towns, being finally arrested last Friday at St. Joseph under an assumed name. It was held, however, that he did fail to provide for the child as cited in the second count, on which the conviction was based. A feature of the case was the issuance of writ of ne exeat by Judge Sutton's session of the district court, the writ to become operative in the event of the prisoner being dismissed in the justice court. This was to insure his appearance in the hearing of the cross-petition filed by the wife since this case was started April 7. This writ is the first of this kind to be issued in this county in connection with the new law pertaining to abandonment.

In her testimony Mrs. Fallenbaum said she had a dowry left by her family of 6,000 francs at her marriage and received additional sums of money thereafter, but that her husband ran through with it and when she came to Omaha she had to sell her wardrobe to get money for the trip. This was diametrically opposed to the husband's version.

> The city council of Kalamazoo, Mich., has recently let the contract to the Woman's Civic Improvement league, of that city, to keep its streets in good condition. The contract has been let for three months. The league includes the most prominent women of the city, and under the direction of the wife of the pastor of the First Congregational church of Kalamazoo, who has been made assistant commissioner of streets, will have the entire supervision of this work. It is the intention of the women to make the very most of their opportunity, not only to demonstrate what can be done, but also what can be made of the appropriation for the care of the council to let the contract to the women, "We have the most beautiful city in Michigan, but we have the dirtiest streets and should be glad to have the women teach us the proper method of keeping them clean."

CAUTION!

Since medical science has recently acknowledged that all diseases are caused by germs and microbes in the blood the market has been flooded with preparations - so-called "germ-destroyers" —to be taken internally, and claimed to be "harmless to the tissues of the body." Radam discovered the ONLY PRINCIPLE THAT WILL DESTROY DISEASE GERMS IN THE BLOOD WITHOUT INJURY TO THE BODY, and it has been so recognized all over the civilized world-being known and used for nearly twenty years in millions of homes as Radam's Microbe Killer.
