Records of Seven Thousand Taxpayers Fill Sixteen Immense Volumes, Which Means Hard Labor for Long Time.

The air in the office of the county trensbodes no good for the delinquent taxpayer, and more than all that, the day of his reckoning is near at hand. The tax records of the city, comprising sixteen volumes and more than 7,000 pages of names of citizens and the sums they owe, siready are in the hands of the county treasurer and his reinforced clerical corps is bending every energy to figure out the interest due on unpaid county taxes. Then the amount due the city as well as the county on each separate mece and parcel of real estate will be properly put together and the real onslaught will begin under the provisions of the new scavenger law. In order that this may be accom plished as speedily as possible a force of seven clerks is working on the books from 9 o'clock in the evening until 6 in the morning, in addition to the regular day

The golf tournament, over the new course, will be the piece de resistance to many members, but the tennis matches and the base ball game both will be of more than passing interest. The entries for both the golf and tennis matches have been unusually numerous and the handicappers for the first named have had their hands unexpectedly full. The bowling alleys have also been put in ship shape and always fessionals, as usual, then following have been favorite resorts for the women. From 5 to 8:30 o'clock a table d'hote dinner will be served in the club house, and then the dance.

Excess Tax Collection Reaches Top Notch and Quarter Million is Expected.

Figures compiled by City Treasurer Hennings show the collection of taxes in excess of 90 per cent of the levy during the first four months of 1904 have exceeded those of a similar period a year ago more than three times. The amount in 1903 was $22,185. while in 1904 it was $63,351. This money is called "velvet" at the city hall and enables the council to authorize warrants against just that much more than arranged for by the current year's taxes. The increase is regarded as the direct result of the scavenger law and the city treasurer hopes to make the same statute clean up $250,000 worth of "velvet" during the remainder of the year.
