

DAY IS CHOSEN AS BISHOP

List of General Supervisors Chosen by Methodist Conference.

FOURTEEN BALLOTS WERE NECESSARY

Conference Adjourns Until Monday, When Result of Balloting for Missionary Bishops Will Be Made Known.

LOS ANGELES, May 21.—Dr. Day, chancellor of Syracuse university, was chosen bishop on the fourteenth ballot, receiving 470 out of the 685 ballots cast. This completes the election of general superintendents.

Four missionary bishops are yet to be chosen and the conference balloted on one for Africa and two for southern Asia this morning. Adjournment was taken until Monday morning.

Sensation at Conference. On the eleventh ballot taken by the Methodist general conference last night, the result of which was announced this morning, there was no election. J. H. Day received 323 votes, R. J. Cook 223, H. C. Jennings 20, W. A. Quayle 19 and J. W. Bowen 18. The result shows a loss of twenty-two votes for Dr. Day from the previous ballot and a gain of sixteen for Dr. Cook. Predictions are now freely made that the eighth bishop elected will not be one of the present leaders. The most prominently mentioned in this connection is Dr. A. W. Quayle of Kansas City.

The time of the morning session was almost completely taken up with the discussion of the question of restoring the pastoral time limit.

A sensation was caused early in the session by the adoption of a resolution by a rising vote of the conference excluding from the privileges of the hall the representatives of a local newspaper, on account of the publication this morning of an article regarding the fight alleged to be in progress against Dr. J. R. Day, the leading candidate for the bishopric.

Committee Report on Divorce.

The committee on the state of the church has decided by a large majority vote, after a warm discussion, to recommend to the general conference that it prepare a petition to congress on the subjects of polygamy and divorce. It will ask congress, if the report of the committee is adopted, to enact a constitutional amendment providing uniform divorce laws in all the states and territories.

The subject as to whether church congregations shall employ individual communion cups has also been threshed out in the committee and the report from that body will recommend making it possible for any church to use individual cups by a two-thirds vote of the membership of a quarterly conference.

Today is the last day of the missionary exhibit, which has been one of the features of the present conference. More than 90,000 persons have visited it since its installation.

The twelfth ballot resulted in no election. Dr. J. H. Day received 391, D. J. Cook 197, W. A. Quayle 98, H. C. Jennings 11, and S. W. Smith 11. Seven hundred and fifteen votes were cast; necessary to elect, 475.

Dr. Cook then withdrew, saying that he had no desire to be a party to a long continued contest. He thanked his friends for their loyal support and hoped that no more ballots would be cast for him.

BREAKS WITH FRANCE

by direct order of the pope, who wishes to avoid a long and tedious controversy on the subject. The absence from America of Mgr. Falconio, just at the time of the cardinal's visit, will, it is expected, leave him a free hand in settling these matters. The organization of several new courses of study in the Catholic university will also be submitted to the cardinal for final approval. Mgr. Falconio sails for Rome about June 1.

Much pressure has been brought to bear on the pope to have Cardinal Rampolla nominated archbishop of Palermo, in succession to the late Cardinal Celeste. It is even asserted that the position was officially offered to the former secretary of state, and that he positively refused. Many of the Roman prelates saw in this result of efforts made by his enemies to send Rampolla far from the Vatican, to a place where, no matter how honorable, it would preclude the possibility of his exercising much active influence in the councils of the church.

According to prelates in a position to know, the influences which prevailed at the Vatican under Pius IX, and of which the late pope quickly got rid of, are again paramount in the church administration. It is asserted that Cardinal Del Val, who was anxious some years ago to join the Jesuit order and who was prevented from taking the step by the prohibition of Leo XIII, is much in sympathy with the theories and aims of the society.

The desire of the pope to leave the Vatican, pressed of late, crops out occasionally in private conversation. The other day, while walking in the gardens with a Venetian artist, M. Millet, Pius X asked his visitor how he liked the Vatican gardens, and on being told they were marvelous, the pope said with a sigh:

"Yes, they are very pretty; but either turning to the right or to the left one does not seem to make much progress. He remains always in the same place."

The pope's friendship with the Italian government, notwithstanding the apparent disagreements, is also shown by recent appointments. The new archbishop of Urbino was decorated with an Italian order and it is said he was chosen in order to please the Italian officials. The new senator at Munich, Mgr. Caputo, was a chaplain of the royal court of Italy, and Abbot Krug of Monte Casero, who it is rumored will soon be sent on an official mission to Berlin, is in high favor with the government. It is also pointed out that Pius X has ordered all church institutions to invest the funds in Italian bonds. Count Ceccopietri, the new head of the pontifical gendarmerie, was once a commissioner of the Italian police.

It is freely remarked that Pius X would go even further if he was not kept in restraint by the influences dominating the Vatican at the present time. Cardinal Del Val is the personage generally mentioned as the principal cause of the pope's slow progress toward a liberal policy, but there are many here who predict that, sooner or later, Pius X will find a way to give an entirely different direction to the policy of the pontiff, as far, at least, as regards his relations with the Italian government.

The recent attitude of the French government is said to have impressed the pope of the needs of a change.

FRENCH AMBASSADOR GOES HOME

Formal Announcement of the Recall of M. Nisard Made Public. ROME, May 21.—M. Nisard, French ambassador at the Vatican, acting under instructions from Paris, left Rome tonight for an unlimited vacation, as a protest against what France regards as the indecorous attitude of the Vatican in compiling two different notes concerning the visit of President Loubet to Rome.

PARIS, May 21.—The formal announcement of the recall of M. Nisard, the French ambassador to the Holy See, was made this afternoon, and the following statement was communicated to the press:

Ambassador Nisard is recalled and the affairs of the embassy will take charge during his absence. The ambassador will leave Rome this afternoon.

Definite official action was not taken until late in the day. Prior to this M. Nisard had been directed to endeavor to secure from the Vatican authentic information relative to the protest to the powers. The interview with the papal authorities was not satisfactory, not giving complete information in the matter and therefore the recall without delay was decided upon. It has been anticipated that the recall of M. Nisard will be deferred until Tuesday, when Foreign Minister Delcasse will communicate to the council of ministers the results of the conference between the ambassador and Cardinal Merry Del Val.

M. Nisard's leave will be indefinite, but no further steps are contemplated at present, unless Parliament directs that further action be taken. Efforts are being made to induce the premier to follow up the ambassador's recall by a denunciation of the concordat, but M. Combes does not wish to go to that extreme. M. Jaures, the socialist leader who originated the present affair, also opposes the denunciation of the concordat on the ground that it is preferable for the government to retain control of the clergy instead of giving them complete independence.

BRING RESPONSIBILITY HOME

Duty of the Individual the Keynote of Women's Club Meeting.

LACK OF MORAL EDUCATION OF CHILDREN

Household Economics Occupies the Attention of Morning Session—Secret Societies Are Banned.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
ST. LOUIS, May 21.—(Special Telegram.)—If the seventh biennial of the General Federation of Women's Clubs can be said to have a keynote, it is the realization of individual responsibility. In the week's program, embracing the general topic, industrial and educational, the addresses and the discussions have been brought out more noticeably than ever before this growing realization.

Never before has there been such general participation in the discussion and never have such delicate subjects been submitted for discussion, but the general tolerance and broad, dignified consideration has proven even to the most conservative element, that the General Federation has grown beyond the petty and is indeed equal to the large things, even the great sociological problems that it is considering. Even woman suffrage has come in for a share of the discussion and hundreds of conservative women heard for the first time what woman suffrage meant and in understanding applauded its practical application as presented by Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker of Denver in her address, "Is the Ballot of Real Value to the Working Woman?" Today by the adoption of a recommendation of the educational committee the federation assumed an explicit obligation that will stand beside their effort in behalf of working children and women.

Moral Education Deficient.

The following resolutions were passed: Whereas, it is the conviction of many people interested in the right development of children, that although thousands of noble and conscientious teachers in the United States are voluntarily doing a great work in character building, the schools do not yet provide sufficiently for the moral education of the youth.

Resolved, that the conference recommend the matter of more definite and intelligent ethical instruction in the industrial section of the General Federation of Women's Clubs for the next two years, with the suggestion that the results of the methods in use in the schools of France be carefully investigated. Equal educational advantages will not be obtained throughout all parts of our country until the deficiencies are remedied by the public sentiments of every community, and to produce such public sentiment requires the combined efforts of all women's organizations.

Resolved, that the educational committee of this federation be empowered to hold a meeting before the next biennial at such time and place as they may deem best upon which she shall invite the representative of each of the other organizations of women that are doing the best method of so uniting their efforts as to secure the most effective results.

Mrs. Dennison's Friends Active.

At the meeting scheduled for Monday the Nebraska delegation will decide upon its candidate for the presidency. In spite of her announced determination not to accept a re-election, Mrs. Dennison's friends are working hard in her behalf, but the majority feel that she has sacrificed their support by her uncertainty.

Household Economics.

After a brief business session and a discussion of the report of the household economics committee, submitted by the chairman, Mrs. Arthur C. Neville of Wisconsin, in the auditorium of the Osborn today, the seventh biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs adjourned to the World's Fair grounds, where the session was held in the German government pavilion.

Several amendments to the constitution were adopted at the business session, the most important of which was an addition to the section regarding qualification for membership in the federation.

The section previously provided that no secret society is eligible, and Mrs. W. W. Boyd of Missouri offered an amendment providing that any club or society which tolerates, either by practice or teaching, violation of the national or state laws is barred from membership. Mrs. Arthur Courtney Neville of Wisconsin, chairman, submitted the report of the household economics committee. Papers were read by Mrs. Mary Kedzie Jones of Michigan, Mrs. Adelaide Hoodless of Hamilton, Canada, and Mrs. Mary Hinman Abel of Maryland.

Women Invite Scandal.

Walter B. Stevens, secretary of the World's Fair company, spoke of a visit of the Louisiana Purchase exposition from a newspaper man's standpoint, and also touched upon its educational advantages. "The Woman's Column" was the subject of an address by Miss LeVina Egan of Louisiana, a member of the World's Fair Board of Lady Managers. Egan said that the "woman's column" in the average newspaper is filled with platitudes and platitudes and pie-crust and pudding.

"No woman," continued Miss Egan, "is fit for the ballot or for equal rights with men as long as she permits a woman's column of the accepted type."

"Clear it of receipts and frivolities and let it express the women's point of view."

Melville E. Stone spoke on the influence of women's newspapers. He said that not a line of scandal would be printed in American newspapers were it not for women. "No large metropolitan newspaper can live without the support of women," he continued. "Newspapers today are edited for women and not for men. If the women of the General Federation of Women's Clubs will set their faces against scandal the objectionable in journalism will disappear. Women have a joint responsibility with the editors as to the class of news contained in the columns of metropolitan dailies."

The Beverage of Health

Pure beer—Schlitz beer—is the best drink in the world for you.

The malt is a food; the hops a tonic. The alcohol—only 3½ per cent—is an aid to digestion; a healthful stimulant.

The most healthy nations in the world—the most hardy, most energetic—drink the most of it.

But the beer must be pure. Impurity means harmful germs. That is why we brew Schlitz in absolute cleanliness—why we filter even the air that touches it and sterilize every bottle.

And the beer must be aged. Green beer causes biliousness. That's why we age Schlitz for months before we market it.

Schlitz beer is absolutely pure; it can't harm you. Ask for the Brewery Bottling.
