Mountaineers Escape hutout by Merest Ecra ch.

COMPLETELY AT THE MERCY OF BROWN

Omaha Batters Pound Pop Eyler's Benders at Will, Dissipating All Thought of the Old-Time Hoodee.

It was just plain juck that gave Denver one run in the game against Rourke's players at the Vinton street grounds yesterday afternoon. That one was all they did get, while the home team was making six good ones.

Hayes made the first and last and only real good hit for the Mountaineers in the seventh inning. It was good for two bases, but he sized it up for three and left the second sack a little shead of scheduled time. Meanwhile Harry Welch had connected with the ball and had his arrangements all completed to throw Hayes out at third. Shipke had his mouth all puckered up to carry out his part of the contract when fate interposed an objection. As Hayes sprinted down the line toward Shipke the ball did the same thing and they came together ten feet from the base. The leather bounded away into the grass and Hayes continued his jaunt to the plate. The game abounded in brilliant plays, particularly on the part of Pa's boys, and was witnessed by 6,000 people. During the first four innings twelve of Tebeau's treasures came to the plate and only twelve. Somehow or other there seemed to be something about Mr. Brown's pitching that didn't suit them. Anyhow they failed to touch him for a hit until the fifth, when Hayes scratched one down around Dolan's territory. In the same inning Dolan made an error that gave Smith his base and on the next ball that was pitched assisted in making a double play that made the crowd forget and forgive his break of a few moments before. Lucia made a really and truly hit in the sixth and Ketcham did the same thing in the ninth, but neither of them sprouted into anything in the shape of a run. But Hayes' fluke in the seventh saved the day so far as a shut-out was concerned, and the run counted just as hard as if it had been deserved.

Omaha Has Runs to Spare. Omaha meantime pounded out runs in the first, second and third innings, two in the lucky seventh and another in the eighth. While Denver was perspiring to get four scratches off Brown, Rourke's men touched Eyler for twelve with a total of eighteen. And thereby is that fairy story about Eyler being a hoodoo to Omaha once more effectually laid at rest.

Brown's game both in the box and with the stick was of the order that robs minor leagues of their best players. In four times at the bat he made a double and two singles. In fact the stick work of the entire team was of the gilt-edged order. The attendance of people who paid their

of Trial Races Indicates that Defender is Speedy. The Argo has been chosen the defender of the Manawa challenge cup, having won five out of the seven trial races. Yesterday two races were sailed in the afternoon. A piping breeze was blowling and the first race started at 2:10, the Manawa getting the best of the start and it was never headed, though it was a very close race, all the way round the course. The Manawa won in 1:06:20, the Argo crossing the line in 1:06:25.

The second race was started after a rest

The Manawa won in 1:05:20, the Argo crossing the line in 1:05:05.

The second race was started after a rest of an hour, the Manawa again getting the best of the start, the Argo salling under the Manawa's lee before the first buoy was rounded and gaining a lead of 200 yards. The Manawa gradually closed up the gap. Both boats rounding the home stake neck and neck. Again the Argo left its rival on the run to the first buoy and this time kept its lead and crossed the line a minute and a quarter in the lead, making the 6.6 miles in 1:16:00.

The Grebe won in the special A class with the Xenia second.

The racing committee held a meeting immediately after the second race to choose the Argo to defend the cup in the races to be sailed with the Lotus Yacht club of St. Joseph. The St. Joe boat, the Lotus, is to arrive on Tuesday and the races will commence Thursday at 3:30. These races are to be the best three out of five, and the Manawa Yacht club men are confident of being able to keep the CHICAGO MEET.

Divers Continue the Search for Victims of the Steamer.

BODIES BEGINNING TO RISE TO SURFACE

In Several Instances Parts of Steamer Are Recovered with Clinging Victims-Nearly One Hundred Funerals.

NEW YORK, June 19 .- Early this morning the searchers began anew the work of locating the Slocum's dead. Within an hour they had recovered thirteen bodies off the shore of North Brother island. Three of eral opinion that many more will come to the surface during the week.

At sundown, when work practically ceased for the day, thirty-six bodies had been added to the long list of dead that have been taken from the wrecked steamer and the water in its immediate vicinity Most of these bodies were taken to the morgue and a majority of them were identifled tonight.

Of the bodies recovered during the first hour one was of a man, six of women, two of boys, four of girls and one was an Infant.

A lifesaver, grappling from a raft, brought up a woman of 30 and a girl of 11 years locked in each other's arms. A few minutes later he brought the bodies of a boy 9 years old and a girt of 6, apparently brother and sister, clinging tightly to each other

Divers who went to the wreck found the brought them to the surface. They were urned beyond recognition. The divers said there are more bodies in the wreck, thus bearing out the statement made a day or two ago after it was thought the wreck had been cleared that many bodies remained under the entanglement of timbers and machinery.

Pleating on the Surface.

One body was found floating in the river near Rickers island by the crew of a fouroared barge of the Metropolitan Rowing club, while nineteen were brought up from the bottom along the beach running from the island down to the channel in the river. Three men working with an improvised grapple, consisting of a block of wood to drew up a section of the rail of the upper deck of the Slocum, about thirty feet long. The bodies of four women were clinging to the rail, the fingers gripping the interlaced wire roping.

This is part of the rail which gave way just before the steamer was beached, precipitating one hundred persons into the water. While the rail was being brought ashore two of the bodies broke away from it, but were secured immediately; the other two were still clinging to the rall when it was landed.

The funerals of nearly a hundred victims of the disaster were held today. In many instances two caskets were carried in the same hearse, and in some cases two and even three hearses bore away the dead of a single family.

Coroner Berry said that he was entirely satisfied with the results of the trip. He explained that Captain Van Schalk and Chief Pilot Van Wert were both too ill to e taken along. Weaver, who had not handled the wheel at any time during the Slocum's run to North Brother island and who therefore was less interested in the result of the investigations than Van Schaik or Van Wert, was expected, Coroner Berry said, to give more accurate information as to the exact happenings on that fateful day.

Coroner Berry said also that he had issued an order for the detention of the captain, pilots, engineers and crew of the Slocum "I learned," said he, "that they were tryng to escape and I asked the police to detain everybody who was employed on the boat as witnesses. Some of them have escaped and we may never be able to get hem. But we are after them and will leave no stone unturned to get them within our jurisdiction."

Secretary Cortelyou of the Department of Commerce and Labor visited the scene of the disaster today. He was accompanied by H. K. Smith, deputy commissioner of corporations of the same department, under whose supervision an investigation will be held, Supervising Inspector General Uhler and Inspector Rodie.

Cortelyou Visits the Island. Secretary Cortelyou remained at North Brother island long enough to witness a number of bodies being taken out of the water. He refused to discuss the situation, but Mr. Uhler gave out a statement in which it was explained that the trip was preliminary to the investigation to be made by the federal authorities, which it was promised would be complete and thorough In every respect. Mr. Cortelyou left for Washington tonight and will consult with Assistant Secretary Murray of the department tomorrow morning. Mr. Murray will then come to this city to be present at the investigation to be made by the steamboat inspectors, which will begin, probably, on Wednesday.

seconding speeches will be arranged for by at least two delegates, one from the middie Mississippi valley and the other probably from New York. After the adjourns ment of the caucus it was announced by some of the Illinois men that the seconding speeches would be delivered by Senator Dolliver of Iowa and someone yet to be selected. The senator was out of the city today visiting friends and could not be seen, but members of the Iowa delegation scouted the idea that he would bodies of a woman, a girl and a boy and speak for Mr. Hitl. According to them he had received and had not accepted invitation to speak for the nomination of Senator Fairbanks and John L. Webster of Nebraska, and under the circumstances it was not probable that he would second the nomination of Mr. Hitt. Moreover, there is a decided sentiment among the Iowa men in favor of Fairbanks.

The Michigan delegates, after hearing of the statements made after the Illinoia caucus, declared that they were in favor of Fairbanks and not of Hitt.

caucus: "There are many delegates in Illinois and in other states also who do not favor the which many blue fish hooks were attached attitude taken by Senator Fairbanks and prefer that the place should go to a man who will show a little more appreciation of it. Illinois has a good man in Hitt, and rather than let the thing slide to Senator Fairbanks we have decided to push the fight for Hitt as strongly as possible."

The opinion was strongly expressed at the gathering of the Illinois delegation that at least until Senator Fairbanks an nounces himself there is no reason why an active campaign for Mr. Hitt should not progress. Each delegate was commissioned to go forth and hustle for Mr. Hitt. Graeme Stewart, Illinois member of the national committee, was nominally put in charge of this endeavor. While the work of the day has not been compiled into a single report, each worker heard from has encouraging news for the Hitt boom. Senator McCumber of North Dakota has come out for Fairbanks and thinks that sentiment in the northwest is crystalizing on the Indiana man. The effort is being made by Benator Fairbanks' more enthustastic supporters to have an Alabama delegate nominate him.

Senator Allison said tonight that the Iowa delegation had not as yet discussed the question of the vice presidency, but that they would hold a meeting tomorrow to decide upon what action they will take. He would not state his own choice. Senator Kean of New Jersey, however, was outspoken in his support of Fair-

Little Talk of Platform The mass of delegates apparently are giving comparatively little attention to the platform. The prevailing opinion is that the wishes of the president should be largely consulted on that point and the impression goes to the extent of believing he has indicated his views to his particular friends. That Senator Lodge has drawn up the principal resolutions of the platform isgenerally conceded and all doubt as to whether he would be chairman of the committee on resolutions has been dispelled by the notification which acting Chairman Payne has given the senator that he will be recognized to make the motion for the appointment of the platform committee.

"I haven't a word to say about the platform," said the Massachusetts senator, as he dived to the bottom of the most capacous valise that ever came to Chicago. "I diality by many of the delegates. Mr. Shelcan't say a word," he repeated, as he put don, the present national committeeman things to right somewhat in his rooms at was appointed by the late Chairman the Auditorium hotel, "not even on the in- Hanna at the suggestion of United States teresting topic of reciprocity, nor in reply to your question as to whether we shall because of an antagonistic attitude as stand pat. As originally drafted the plank was longer than this, but the senator declared tonight that he would present the resolution in the form quoted.

The National Manufacturers' association is planning to make a strong fight against the insertion in the platform of any plank calling for or declaring in favor of the adoption of an eight-hour day or any declaration against the writ of injunction as applied to labor disputes. Eighteen members of the association, several of whom belong to the executive committee, are expected to arrive by tomorrow morning to watch over the interests of the association. The members of the Rhode Island delegation arrived this afternoon and opened headquarters in the Great Northern hotel. "We expect to play a negative part in this convention," said Aidrich, one of the "We have no especial candidelegates. date for vice president, have not considered for whom we will vote and have no planks for the platform."

Missouri Presents Walbridge. The Missouri delegation, which opened headquarters this afternoon, announced that Major William Warner of Kansas City will present the name of Cyrus P. Walbridge of St Louis as a candidate for vice president. The Missourians, who have had quite a contest among themselves over the selection of a national committeeman, have practically adjusted their differences and the selection of T. J. Akins is practically conceded. Although all the members of the Kentucky delegation had not arrived tonight, John W. Yerkes, commissioner of internal revenue and one of the delegates from that state, said that while no formal meeting had been held, a majority of them were favorable to the nomination of Senator Fairbanks for second place."

The present position of the New York delegation with respect to the vice presidency was stated tonight by Senator Depew. At first, he said, the delegates thought t would be "a picturesque thing" to nominate Cannon, but inasmuch as the speaker would not have it and Senator Fairbanks will, they will, he said, vote for Fairbanks. The Massachusetts delegation arrived with an idea that Representative Hitt was their candidate for vice president, but after the delegation had been here a few hours they decided to wait until tomorrow before announcing a preference. Governor Crane was chosen chairman at a meeting for organization. The vice presidency was discussed casually. Several delegates said that Illinois people seemed to have gotten to work rather slowly and that it were wiser for Massachusetts to withhold action.

Shuts Out Cummins.

The Iowa delegation has determined upon J. W. Blythe of Burlington as the representative of the Hawkeye state, on the resolutions committee. The delegation will hold its caucus tomorrow night. The seection of Mr. Blythe is opposed to the Governor Cummins faction and prohibits absolutely the introduction by the Iowa delegation of a plank supporting either tariff amendment or a reciprocity agreement. It puts the Hawkeye delegation with the ranks of the "stand patters." Governor Cummins, it is said, stands with Senator Dolliver in bowing to the inevitable, but his closest friends say that in the event of a minority report in favor of something like the "lowa idea" he would support it. Mr. Blythe is one of the possibilities for assistant campaign manager and his selection as a member of the resolutions committee would bring him more prominently to the fore. He has no desire for the place and his friends say he would decline to serve even if elected to the chairmanship of the executive committee, but is wanted adly by some interest, known to be opposed to the election of Secretary Cortelcu as chairman. Representative J. A. T. Hull, Senator Allison and Governor Cummins declare Iowa has no choice for vice president, but is favorable to Senator Fairbanks.

Senators Beveridge and Fairbanks, Gov. ernor Durbin, Representatives Overstreet and Watson and most of the other Indiana delegates arrived today. The delegation will meet at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. On every train delegates arrived today and tonight the hotel corridors are taking on a convention aspect. Quite the most picturesque entry into the city was that of the Alaska delegation, half a dozen strong, each man carrying a miniature totem pole on which was mounted a big white necked Alaskan eagle.

A band enlivened the march from the SELECT Philadelphia, with Mayor Weaver at its head.

Unless some very unforeseen incident in tervenes the New York state delegation will tomorrow night select William Ward of the Westchester district to succeed the present national committeeman, George H.
