RUSSIANS LOOKING FOR BIG BATTLE Kouropatkin's Sponches Regarded as

Intended to Encourage Men and Arouse Their Patriotism and Valor.

CHICAGO, June 23 .- A special to the Dally News from Che Foo suys: Reconnaisance in force of the approaches to Port Arthur was made yesterday by a Japanese flotilla of three destroyers and four torpedo boats, which ran in from the east about noon and cruised along the whole bluff, coming out past Laothleshan promontory. As the flotilla steamed along it was heavily en gaged with the forts, but apparently suffered no damage, sithough a signal mast of one of the torpedo boats was knocked out of shape as if struck by a shell.

The operation was backed at some distance by two cruisers, one of which appeared to be the Yakuma, while an auxilfary cruiser, an old San Francisco liner, the Nippon, or a sister ship, acted as sca escort in the rear. Shortly atterward heavy firing began on the land side, lasting intermittently until Expect Great Battle.

PETERSBURG, June 23.-The expectation of a great battle has been intensified by General Kouropatkin's speech to General Stakelberg's corps on Monday at Kin Chou, when the commander in chief said he would see the troops again soon; that they must settle the Japanese promptly and that they were not going home until this had been done. The general is understood to have meant that he would return from Liao Yang with a large force and give battle. It is pointed out that he can afford to leave a comparatively small garrison at Liao Yang in view of the absence of any direct advance from Feng Wang Cheng and the concentration of the Japanese forces south.

In the opinion of many conservative military men Kouropatkin's massing of troops at Kin Chou does not necessarily indicate his intentions to give battle, but merely to check the Japanese advance and defer the occupation of New Chwang, the possession of which would be of great advantage to the Japanese during the rainy season, affording the enemy housing ac-commodations and enabling them to land supplies and harrans the Russians.

The occupation of Signs To Shan by a Japanese detachment indicates that the tween the enemy's armies is practically assured. Slung Yo Shan is half way between General Oku's and General Kuroki's positions, at Senuchen and Stu-Yen respectively. In the opinion of the general staff the Slung Yo Shan detachment is an outpost of the Siu Yen army or of another force, recently landed at Ching Tal Tage. The roads from Siu Yen and Ching Tai Tage pass Slung Yo Shan, whence they proceed respectively to uchen and Kin Chou. The information of the War office accounts for the position of twelve Japanese divisions. The wheresuts of two others is unknown. These are the Sixth and Seventh, which probably were the last to arrive, as they came from Hakodate. One or both may have just landed, furnishing a link between the armles of Kuroki and Oku.

According to the latest reports Oku's main army is still several miles south of

The atrength of the enemy's vanguard is approximately a division and several squadrons of cavalry and the Siu Yen force of nine squadrons supported by a strong column of infantry toward the south. The enemy's position on June 19 and June 21 extended seven miles southward to Semuchen, along a line from the sea to the mountainous and difficult district east of the railway. the railway mountainous and difficult district east of the rallway.

The enemy's advance lines are being strongly held by cavalry and a screen of infantry. The passes and deflies in the mountains east of the rallway are cleovigilantly guarded. An increase in the Japanese forces has been noticed south of Vanflapudge and near the villages of Mansespudge. Takglapudge and Khakahci. Reinforcements are also reaching the Japanese at the farthest point of the road between Siu Yen and Tanchi Via Piahaniou and Slakhotan.

The Japanese are erecting field fortifications on the road from Siu Yen to. Kai Chau. The Japanese have fortified Kuan Dian Sian, mounting eighteen guns, with a strong screen. The enemy has occupied the village of Sapen Hai, twenty-five miles northeast of Saimatsze, and is firmly entrenched.

Russians Think Islanders Will Make Combined Attack. LIAO YANG, June 22 -(Delayed in Transmission.)-According to reports received at the Russian headquarters the Japanese in tend to attack either Kin Chou or Ta Tche Kiao from two sides. Their armies continue to advance from the south and west The leading detachments of General Oku's army have occupied Senuchen and Japanese scouts have appeared in the vicinity of Kin Chou. Constant skirmishing is in progress between them and the Cossacks who are observing the movements of the enemy. General Kuroki's army has appeared on the

by Natives.

PARIS, June 23.-The Foreign office has received a dispatch from M. De Prez, the French minister at Port Au Prince, Hayti, saying that while he and the German min later were driving past the palace yesterday they were attacked and stoned by soldlers forming the palace guard. M. De Prez was struck on the leg by a stone and was slightly injured. The ministers' wives, who were in another carriage following, were also pelted. The wife of the French minister is an American. As Foreign Minister Delcasse has only just received the dispatch he has not yet determined what steps shall be taken, but it is believed France will make an energetic demand for redress. A French warship is near the scene and another is at the French naval headquarters in the West Indies. It is expected that Germany will make a similar demand for redress.

PORT AU PRINCE, Hayti, June 23.-The for New York. attack on the French minister here, M. de Pres, who was struck by a stone yesterday the palace, was the outcome of the feeling train for New York, among the population and the government against foreigners, the natives desiring to hold them responsible for the wretched hour before he arrived Secretary Loeb hotel, said they were registered as "Johnfianancial situation of Hayti. Some of the officials are still in prison and others have sought safety in the national bank have been protesting against the long detention in prison of the officials who are under charges.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Confirmation of the reported attack on the French and German ministers in Hayti came to the State department today in the shape of the following cablegram from Minister Powell at Port Au Prince, dated June 22:

French and German ministers with their women, while passing the palace in their carriages yesterday, were stoned by the palace guards. French minister slightly injured. Apology demanded, but none given. Both have cabled their governments.

The most serious feature of the affair is that the attack was made, not by an irresponsible mob, but by the palace guard, which directly connects the Haytien government with the occurrence. It is understood to be the outgrowth of the Haytlen bank trouble, which involved the incarcera tion by the Haytien government of certain foreign officers of the bank on a charge of misapplication of funds and subsequent intervention by the French and German governments in behalf of their citizens. More than a month ago the State department was forewarned of this approaching trouble by its agents in Hayti and has been watching the little republic closely, keeping a naval force near at hand. The Detroit, which went from Domonican waters to participate in the Nova Bootia celebration, will return to San Domingo as it is proposed by the Navy department to keep three vessels in close proximity to Hayti and San Domingo.

republican party's history.

One incident of this day will stand out in the memory of the Nebraska delegation, for it showed what a man could do if determined. This morning the Nebraska and Missouri delegations had a conference on the vice presidency. After reviewing the futility of placing in nomination the braska submitted a proposition to Missouri that if it would withhold the name of Walbridge it would withhold the name of Mr. Webster, and this pact was entered into. Colorado was not consulted, as the chairman of that delegation could not be found. Some concerted action must be agreed upon, and Missouri and Nebraska, realizing the inevitable and not desiring to be the laughing stock of the country, decided to make no nominations.

But W. P. Miles sprang a surprise on the convention that was audacious to say the least, and he "carried off the goods." When the motion was made to make Fairbanks' nomination unanimous Mr. Miles was on a chair with an objection unless he could second the nomination of Senator Fairbanks on behalf of Nebraska's candidate, John L. Webster. Chairman Cannon public life, knows how to put a man down Miles doggedly hung to his proposition, and as he is a sturdily built fellow with buil dog tenacity showing all over him, Cannon finally recognized Miles, who in less than a minute seconded Fairbanks' nomination. It was a daring thing to do, but Miles won. He was applauded by the delegations around about Nebraska-Wisconsin, Indiana, New York, Colorado, Minnesota and Illinois.

Morrill Misses Meeting. There was still another incident during the course of the day, but this latter did not occur in the convention. It happened to the new national committeeman, C. H. Morrill, of Lincoin. R. B. Schneider, retiring committeeman, had informed Mr. Morrill that there would be a meeting of the national committeemen immediately after the adjournment of the convention for the purpose of organization. But when the committee met, Morrill was not to be found. The roll was called and Nebraske failed to respond. The absence of one man, however, could not stop the business of the committee and in a jiffy George B. Cortelyou was elected chairman, Cornelius N. Bliss treasurer and Elmer Dover secretary. The committee then adjourned to luncheon which had been prepared for them by the subcommittee and still Morrill was bsent. Mr. Schneider went in search of his successor and finally located him, bringing the Lincoln man into the luncheon room just as the last course was disappearing. Morrill's chance to meet his coleagues in executive session had gone. Should conditions be the same as in the 1900 campaign Mr. Morrill will not meet his associates on the national committee until the fall of 1907, when the committee will meet in Washington to decide upon the time and place to hold the national republican convention of 1908. Mr. Morrill, it is stated, was lunching by himself and had no thought that "feed" had been provided for the national committee. Of course everybody is full of regrets over the situation.

Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota and Wyening closed their headquarters practically this morning and the work of dismantling the rooms began early.

Nebraskans Go to Fair. Several of the Nebraska delegation availed themselves of the free transportation and went to St. Louis to see the fair. Iows had a larger number to St. Louis than any of the western states, although South Dakota, not to be outdone in acceptance of the hospitality, also sent a goodly number of delegates and alternates to the Purchase exposition. Outgoing trains tonight carried hundreds of Nebraskans and Iowans to their homes, nearly all of the Omaha people leaving this evening, including the chairman of the elegation, H. C. Brome, and his wife. The New York delegation today invited Indiana to open the presidential campaign gram: so far as New York is concerned at Cooper Union next Thursday night. CHICAGO, June 23.-The swift, sure current of public opinion for the second time in the history of republican conventions a warm day or evening-chatting with today resulted in the selection of a national ticket without a dissenting vote. Theodore Roosevelt for president and Charles W. Fairbanks for vice president received every ote in the convention. Regardless of the fact that the nominaon of one had been assured for months and the other for days, the announcement of the choice was accomplished by a resounding demonstration which attested the candidates universal popularity. The cheering was led by figures known the breadth of the land and echoed by a mighty throng in the morning. The president appeared of enthusiastic men and radiant women assembled in the Collseum to witness the crowning feature as well as the close of the national convention that marks the semi-centennial of the republican party in

No less than 10,000 men and women participated in the ratification of the party program and the consequent roar of cheerng and hand clapping was deafening. The band, stationed high among the girders of the hall, was drowned by the tumuituous and unbounded demonstration. Hats were tossed in the air, state emblems were waved and flags fluttered from every hand

Scenes of Enthusiasm. When Governor Black of New York made his speech nominating President Roosevelt to succeed himself as president, the delegates in the republican convention showed there is no absence of enthusiasm in their ranks when occasion justified exhibition of that quality. For twenty-five minutes the great throng told its approbation of the convention's choice for president. The name of Roosevelt came from every shout. The New York delegates paraded date, John L. Webster. Chairman Cannon himself termed it, would be held as in-was inclined to waive Miles away, and violable. He talked and acted, not as presi-the hall, shouting at the tops of their the United States, not as the voices. Other delegations joined the prostandard bearer of a great political party, cession and the well ordered body of half

The chairman retired the first official of the administration to and his place was taken by a young man who took the flag and with a megaphone led the yelling. He started to call "Roose-House to felicitate him on his nomina- velt," "Roosevelt," "Roosevelt," repeated over and over again, with the system of a college yell. It was taken up by the throng ing telegrams from parts of the country and the cry of "Roosevelt" rolled over the hall in volume so great and so terrific that the screeching of 100 steam whistles would have been dwarfed in comparison. Uproar Continues for Fairbanks. The delegates in their eagerness to exhibit approval of the nomination accepted every signal for renewed cheering. A little colored boy from Georgia and later a pretty little girl dressed in a dainty frock of white were lifted to the platform and they waved flags with as much vigor as their more justy preceptor. At the conclusion of every seconding speech the performance was repeated. The speakers themselves were generally applauded. When Senator Fairbanks had been nominated for vice president there was no diminution in the demonstration. Voices were hourse, but the noise for the choice was just as unanimous as it was in the first instance. When the convention was called to order today the galleries were filled for the first Tiers of people were standing in the aisles. It was known that the popular feature of the convention, the making of nominations, was the program of the day. The attendance was flattering to the orators chosen to present the names. It was known yesterday that no contest of any character would develop. As surely as President Roosevelt was the choice for the first place on the ticket, Fenator Fairbanks was wanted as his running mate. Convention Called to Order. It was 19:30 o'clock when Speaker Cannon called the convention to order. Without preliminaries of any kind he announced the order of the day and instructed the secretary to call the roll for nominations for president. By agreement Alabama, the first state on the roil, yielded to New York. That was the signal for the first outburst of applause. In the midst of the cheering former Governor Black made his way to the platform. Speaker Cannon took him to the front and characteristically introduced him to the audience. But the orator chosen to present the name of Roosevelt needed no introduction. The delegates proved this and also that they knew his mission by giving him a rousing reception before permitting him to proceed. Mr. Black entertained his audience by a Permit me to extend to you and the country my heartfelt congratulations on your nomination. I need hardly add how pleased I am personally.
