The Review of Reviews Living Up to Ita Well Earned Reputation.

JULY ISSUE STRONG IN POLITICAL TOPICS

Several Volumes of Fiction and Rominnee Put Out by the Best Publishing Houses-Santos-Dumont and His Airships,

The daily magazine that is indispensable in a presidential year, the American Monthly Review of Reviews, is living up to its well-carned reputation. The issue of July is strong in political articles of wide and timely interest. "Theodore Roosevelt as a Presidential Candidate" is considered in graphic, trenchant style, yet with dignity, as befire the subject, by one of the delegates to the Chicago convention. The article is profusely filustrated with pictures of the president and his family. Then there is the major part of the speech of the Hon, Elihu Root, of New York, temporary chairman of the convention, presenting the record of the republican party from 1901 to 1904. In "The Progress of the World," Dr. Albert Shaw reviews the political history of the past four years in the United States, discusses men and policies, and "rounds up the situation" in his own convincing and informing style, bringing the reader up to the demogratio convention at St. Louis-which will be handled in the August number of the Review. This department is copiously illustrated. A group of three short, well-illustrated seticles show what the national government is doing in the way of sanitation and health on a large scale. William E. Smythe, author of "The Conquest of Arid America," and other works on irrigation, considers problem of the entire reclamation of arid lands, under the title "The Triumph of National Irrigation." The war situation in the far east is presented interpretatively in "The Progress of the World" and in "Many Leading Articles," and interesting side lights are thrown upon it by Park es, and Torpodoes," helpfully illustrated with diagrams, by the sketch and portrait of Prince Esper Ukhtomsky, the Russian editor-statesman who has that made a tour of the United States, and by the illustrated article on "What the People Read in Poland and Finland." The noteworthy features of the cartoons for July are pages of Japanese and Russian popular cartoons, from original sources. The book department is also very full and copiously illustrated with portraits of au-thors of "Summer Reading."

"Russia, Her Strength and Her Weak-mess," a study of the present conditions of the Russian empire, with an analysis of its resources, with a forecast of its future, by Wolf Von Schierbrand, Ph. D. The work is furnished with maps, a glossary, and is fully indexed. The author's main object seems to have been to lay bare, without bias either way, the sources and extent of both Russia's strength and weakness, and to do so on the most reliable and most recent data and authorities G. P. Putnam's Sons, publishers.

"The Church and Young Men," a study of the spiritual condition and nature of young men, and modern agencies for their rovement, by Frank Graves Creasey, D., with an introduction by Charles nd Henderson, D. D. This book is the outgrowth of several years of work among young men, coupled with the re-solts of a year of careful investigation of what is being done in the United States for their religious betterment. It is a nt of the subject, and wil to pastors and religious. Published by Fleming

"Heart of Lorin," by Mary Stewart Cut-Lafe," etc. Lynn is a brave girl, and a roeful one. By tact and energy she ooths over many a rough place for her-and others, and finally resilines her ouse of Dreams." Published by J. B. pincott Company.

The Shame of the Cities," by Lincoln Steffens. The author says: "This is not Lippincott Company. a book. It to a collection of articles re-printed from McCiuro's Magazine. Done 60 journalism, they are journalism still," etc. He "goes after" the cities without mineing words at all. St. Louis, Minnespolls, Pittsburg, Philadelphia, Chicago and York all come in for their share. Omaha is not mentlened, presumably on unt of its puritanic purity and the vorid renowned honesty of its public offi-ials. Mr. Steffens believes with President Roosevelt that the great cure for American evils is good conduct in the individual, simple honesty, courage and efficiency. The author is evidently much in earnest and indles the subject in a very able and convincing manner. McClure, Phillips & Co. are the publishers.

"My Air-Ships," by Alberto Santos-Dumont, is the simple, direct account of an earnest, brave, gifted man's struggle with the problem of aerial navigation, a probof world-wide interest and importance. author chronicles in an entertaining his many daring ascents into the blue other, and his even more terrifying descents to earth. There are seventy-five reproductions from photograps and disgrams to add to the interest, the frontisbeing a photo-engravure from a portrait of the young Brazilian. Published by The Century Company.

"The Federation of Religious," a new book by the Rev. Hiram Vrooman, of Boston, Mass. In this volume the author atapts to set forth the scope of the work of the Federation of Religions and announ-ces his ideas of its possible achievements. Published by the Nunc Licet Press, Philadelphis and London.

"The French Wife," by Katherine Tyann, author of "A Red, Red Rose," "That Sweet Enemy," etc. This is a strong, dramatic story full of interesting events, leading up to the settlement of Castle Barnard
