ADVICE TO THE COLORED MAN

Speakers Point Out to Him How He May Become a Force. GOOD BEHAVIOR AND CLOSE COMMUNION. Vote the Republican Ticket and Stand by Each Other is What Rev. Dr. Hubert Suggests as a Remedy.

Seven hundred and fifty people, including white, with a great preponderance of colored, assembled in Washington hall last night to hear the address of Rev. Philip A. Hubert, D. D., of Chicago on the "Negro in Politics." Dr. Hubert spoke under the auspices of the Colored Roosevelt club. By invitation Edward Rosewater and Judge E. M. Bartlett also made addresses.

Rev. Dr. Hubert was detained by another engagement during the early part of the evening and did not arrive until after 9 o'clock. The meeting was called to order by John Fegg, president of the Roosevelt club, after which the colored Knights of Pythias band gave a selection. Judge E. M. Bartlett was present by special invitation and made the first address. His speech bore upon the early history of the republican party, and he paid an eloquent tribute to the memory of John Brown and his efforts to prevent slavery from being introduced into Kansas and his subsequent career at Harper's Ferry in the interest of the freedom of the black man, and his martyrdom. His name was entwined with the battle hymn of the American republic and was the synonym of freedom. He also paid a tribute to the great work being accomplished by Booker Washington in behalf of the colored race. He said that "the democrats maintain that a democracy derives its powers from the consent of the governed and that while the democrats insist that this should prevail to the Philippines and with the brown men, it does not at all apply in the south, where the black man was concerned. The southern chivalry are still as much in need of practical civilization as their colored brethren. One-third of the population of the south is disfranchised by force, yet the south demands representation in congress according to population, but denied a great part of that population the right to vote."

The Oriental quartet of Dallas, Tex., sang a couple of songs, acquitting themselves creditably. Chairman Rosell of the executive committee of the club, a resident of South Omaha, followed with a brief address. He said: "What the colored man wants is not social equality, but only the rights that are due him." He spoke of the necessity of organization and urged that the manhood of the colored man rests upon his right of suffrage, and that by organization the colored man could obtain recognition and the rights he is entitled to.

Rights and Human Liberty. A selection by the band followed and Edward Rosewater was called for and introduced. He said in part: "The greatest right that can be enjoyed in this world is the right to be men and women. The doctrine proclaiming liberty throughout the world and to all the inhabitants thereof originated over twenty centuries ago in Judea. When that sentiment was engraven on the American Liberty bell, and when it rang out its proclamation in 1776 it was a mockery, for human beings were held in slavery within the sound of its tone. And men and women were held in bondage for nearly ninety years thereafter. I saw, scarcely more than forty years ago men, women and children sold from the auction block.

"Rights cannot be given; they were born. The negro was not given his liberty; it was restored to him. What the colored race is to do is to be men. Social equality is a misnomer. When you are as good as anybody else, you will know it and the world will know it. You cannot get that which is not of your own making. An item from a Memphis paper which I clipped out today states that it is the purpose of the northerners to make the negro the equal of the white man—that depends on the white man. It is the privilege sought to enter a public school in Louisville. He was denied the privilege, because the authorities classed him with the colored man. Yet they refuse to accord to the negro of the south the same privilege that is demanded for the Philistine. The doctrine of the south as applied to the negro is that he shall work, get the poorest wages and be fed the worst bacon that comes from South Omaha. He men and women. If the negro had divided his vote in the south after his enfranchisement, he would have been voting there today, but when it was discovered that they would vote the republican ticket, it was ordained in the south that they were not fit to vote.

How to Become a Force. After another selection by the band a short address was made by Prof. William Johnson of Tennessee, a visitor, and then Rev. Dr. Hubert was introduced and proceeded to address the meeting on the subject of "The Negro in Politics." He said in part:

"It takes the black man himself to best point out to the black man the way he should go. I would not give much for any man that could not take care of himself after forty years of freedom. The telescopes of the whole world are pointed at the black man to see if he is fit for anything or the equal of any of the other of God's creatures. There isn't a white man on earth who would give me his chair if he saw me standing. I don't blame him for it. Let the black man make a chair for himself. The lily white republicans don't want us, and the democrats won't have us. When the colored man enters politics in the south he might as well enter hell. But remember that your worst enemy is the lily white republican. It is pretty hard to know just what it is safe for the colored man to be in the south.

"The negroes must begin to understand that they must build on their own foundation. They must make themselves. Stand together. Do not scatter your votes, but vote in a mass for your own interests. As long as you scatter your votes you will not amount to anything. This country is not ours; it belongs to the Anglo-Saxons. It is the white man's country. We must consolidate in order to be anything. You will not get anything by depending on others. You must build for yourselves. Be men. When Mr. Rosewater gave me $100 the other day it was to make a colored boy a man. I do not want to be a white man—forever no. Neither does a white man want to be a colored man. There will always be race distinctions, and there should be. See how the democrats stand together. The colored race should do as well. There will never be a colored president in this country, so vote then for the best white man, and that is Mr. Roosevelt. He has shown himself to be our friend. The door of hope may not yet be closed. A couple of votes out of a figure. But five 100 votes and you hit hard; five 1,000 and you will kill something. Let me see a club of 1,000 negroes marching the streets of Omaha, and then you will begin to see the end of the negro problem."

Mr. Hubert's speech was frequently applauded. The meeting closed with his address after another song by the quartet. The club will meet again in a few days to form itself into a marching club, and will change its name to that of the "Roosevelt and Fairbanks club."

WANT TO CREATE NEW PARK

West Farnam Street Citizens Agitate Proposition, but Park Board Disapproves It.

According to President Evans of the Park board, citizens in the West Farnam street district are agitating the matter of converting a depression on the south side of Farnam street between Thirty-eighth and Fortieth into a public park. A petition in circulation which will be presented to the board. President Evans and the other members do not favor the idea. They say the land would cost in the neighborhood of $50,000 and that the money might be much better expended in some other locality and in some other way. The cost would fall on adjacent property owners, however. The Park board at a special meeting directed the city engineer to advertise for bids for macadam and asphalt paving on Southeast boulevard and Florence boulevard, about 18,000 yards being included. After prices are submitted the board will decide what it wants to do. The macadam demanded must have a top surface of Sherman gravel, Sioux Falls granite or Joplin flint. On Southeast boulevard a stretch on Eleventh street, from William to Bancroft, and on Bancroft from Eleventh to Sixth, is to be paved, while the other stretch runs on Nineteenth street from Clark to Ohio and on Ohio to Twentieth. The commissioners are undecided as to the material they shall order.

FOURTH WARD REPUBLICANS

Club Organized and Officers Elected at Session Held Last Night.

Twenty-eight representative republicans of the Fourth ward met in the office of N. P. Dodge & Co. in the New York life building last night and organized the Fourth Ward Republican club. N. P. Dodge, Jr., was elected president, James B. Adams vice president and Charles Battelle secretary. They were authorized to select the names of an executive committee composed of a member from each precinct and also a treasurer and present them at the next meeting, which will be called by the officers elected. A committee composed of W. J. Connell, Rev. Newton M. Mann and Connelton Nicholson was appointed to submit a constitution and by-laws. John C. Wharton declined the presidency of the organization because he said he might become a candidate, but he would not name the office. In a speech accepting the presidency Mr. Dodge expressed the hope that the club would not become the personal "booster" of any candidate, but that it would try to help all aspirants from the Fourth ward.

OLD RIVALS OUT TOGETHER

High School Classes of Ninety-two and Three Go to Manawa to Picnic.

Some 200 members of the Omaha High school classes of '05 and '08 went to Manawa yesterday to hold class reunions in the form of picnics. By coincidence both classes arranged for the same date. In school they used to be firm enemies. However, now that there is no longer any need for hostilities along these lines, they agreed to get together on the outing. The affair was informal and without a program, attendants going as they pleased and most of them carried basket lunches.

KID WHISTLE BLOWS MONDAY

As a result of the conference orders will be issued to the police to commence the rigid enforcement of the ordinance Monday night. On that date and every evening thereafter the big whistle of the Union Pacific shops will blow at 9 o'clock as a signal for all children to go home and remain there until after the sun shall rise for another day or run the chances of being picked up by the police.

ELEVATORS PAST TALK STAGE

Five Big Plants Said to be Assured Before Snow Flies.

WORK ON FIRST BEGINS IN TWO WEEKS

Merriman & Holmquist Buy Site on Manderson Street and Will Go to Work on Construction.

Within two weeks the initial work will be begun on the first of the five mammoth elevators which are to be erected in Omaha before snow flies. Such is the assurance of several prominent grain men who are familiar with the plans of the companies which intend building.

Secretary Merchant of the Omaha Grain exchange is elated over the prospective building which has been made possible through the establishment of that institution. "It may safely be said that four or five large elevators will be constructed in Omaha this year. There has been a good deal of talk by outside persons, but the men who are behind the schemes have remained reticent," said Mr. Merchant. "Now that some are ready to begin there is no harm in saying so."

"It will be a great thing for the business interests of Omaha and the building of these elevators are only starters. More may be expected next year and Omaha will not be long in establishing a reputation as a grain center of the middle west." "We have had some doubt as to whether we would really build or not," spoke Nathan Merriman of Merriman & Holmquist, "but we expect to be ready within two weeks now."

Site is Bought. "We have had some doubt as to whether we would really build or not," spoke Nathan Merriman of the Missouri Pacific belt line for trackage facilities. I think that besides the Nebraska-Iowa grain companies, we are the only one which has a site, but no doubt the others will close up their deals just as soon as they are ready to begin.

"It is probable we will erect an elevator of a capacity of 20,000 bushels. Beside that we will maintain storage tanks of from 20,000 to 40,000 bushels capacity." Floyd J. Campbell of the Nebraska-Iowa Grain company said the work on the construction of the big elevator to be put up at Gibson within the limits of Omaha probably would be begun within a few days.

A. B. Jacquith will build one of the largest of the five proposed elevators. "The plans for my elevator will make provision for a 40,000 bushels capacity beside the storage plants," he said, "it may form an elevator company, but at any rate will build the elevator this year." Twamley Son & Co. have announced that they intend building an elevator of about 200,000 capacity and storage tanks. They have not selected a site as yet but have two exceptionally desirable ones in view. Mr. Twamley will be ready to announce his plans more definitely within a few days time.
