Fashionably Dressed Woman Dies at a St. Louis Hotel and is Unidentified.

ST. LOUIS, July 11.-The dead body of a fashionably dressed woman was found in room of the Hotel Milton today, where she registered July 7 as "Mrs. M. Smith, of New York." Two empty bottles were found by the side of the bed. One had contained some drug that has not yet been identified, and the other alcohol.

From statements made by Rev. Allen K. Bmith, rector of Christ's Church cathedral, in whom the woman is said to have conided to some extent, her correct name is Mrs. M. R. Dantes of either New York or Washington. Upon profinise of secrecy, the woman told Rev. Smith that her mother's name is Mrs. Martha Wiggins, and that she lives at 1111 K street northwest, Washington, D. C.

When pressed by Rev. Smith for her reasons for using an assumed name, Mrs. You know one always feels "very Smith, or Mrs. Dantes, refused to give any, at" when the head and nerves swing remarking that she had personal reasons along peacefuly and with that certain for not wishing to be known by her correct sense of power that is unmistakable. name.

Mrs. Wiggins is $4 years old and it is feared that the news of the death of her daughter will result fatally. The family here is reticent in regard to the movements of Mrs. Dantes.

The only information obtainable from her brother-in-law was to the effect that he had furnished money for her trousseau and the trip to st. Louis. Asked whether his sister-in-law had been married, Mr. Hathaway said he did not know, but presumed she had. Miss Wiggins, as she was known in Norfolk, was popular in society and was a belle during last season.

Charged with Murder.

Zeller was taken to the police station and the charge of murder placed against him. THis wound was dressed by City Physician Ralph and the police surgeons. It is not now thought that any serious consequences will result from the wounds. Zeller told Captain Hase that he had lain out in the high brush and undergrowth within a few hundred yards of his home during the entire time the posse was searching for, him, and he said several officers passed within six feet of him. He did not flee for refuge from the storm early Monday morning, though without coat or wrap of any kind. While much weakened from exposure, wounds and the mental strain incident to his hiding, Zeller managed to articulate a part. It has been going on for years. It hurts me to talk." The man then asked for a drink of water, and was left alone on his cot, an object of, mingled pity and contempt. Two of his sons, Mike and Will, called at the station during the evening to see their father, but it was thought best to deny them until at least today. The news of Zeller's capture was first conveyed to the bereaved family at the cemetery by Rev. Charles W. Savidge, who officiated at the services. Mrs. Burkamp was not told the news until part way home. The carriage bearing Will Zeller and Will Burkamp home from the funeral met the patrol wagon near the Zeller home. Zeller and Burkamp started to alight
