IN THE INSURANCE FIELD.

No action has at yet been taken on the application of the confiagration charge in the west, but it is expected that something will be done soon. It is not known whether the order, when it is issued, will affect Omaha or not. It is said that some details remain to be arranged before the plans decided upon will be given out. The general opinion prevails among local agents that the charge will not affect this city, as there seem to be no specially congested district which would come under the rules at present considered, and which will probably govern.

It is said that fire insurance companies are at present watching packing house risks very carefully on account of the strike in progress. Although nothing has as yet been made public which would indicate that companies carrying the risks are not perfectly satisfied, still it is whispered that all is not as peaceful as the surface would seem to indicate, Strenuous objection has been made to the management of the various houses employing onunion help, it is asserted, against the lodging of such help in the plants. By such action on the part of the packing companies, insurance men contend, the hazard has been greatly increased. great deal of bedding has been taken into the packing plants to accommodate employes and it is impossible to prevent the men smoking when they are penned up so long. Matches and bedding do not go well together in the estimation of insurance men. They also say that there are many other ways through which the risk is in-

The fire loss of the United States and Canada for the month of July, as compiled from the carefully kept records of the Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin, shows a total of $11,923,300. Company managers are still confronted with the commission question, which is of vital interest to local agents as furnishing the basis on which they are to do business. Many plans have been advanced for an improvement in the system of paying commissions. Some of the managers assert that every commission agreement adopted during the last few years has re-ested companies. They now want some reducing expenses in some measure.

Edward J. Hollister of Chicago, with the fire insurance department of the phercantile agency of R. G. Dun & Co., was calling on local agents during the week.

Among the questions asked by a local company of an applicant for an agency was this one: "Have you been in the business all your life?" The reply received to the question was: "Not yet." The Central Union Life is a new yenture launched in Indianapolis. It will begin to seek business early in September. The company will operate as a mutual under the legal reserve deposit law.

H. H. Gould, general agent for the Pru-dential, is in lown. He has been in poor health of late and on this account decided to take a rest. He and Mrs. Gould are spending a few weeks with relatives. spending a few weeks with relatives.

Omaha is affected by the decision of the Kings County to retire from business, as that company was represented in this city, and its line will now have to be cancelled. The company was owned by the Atlas, and, owing to the increased holdings of this company through the purchase of the Manchester, it concluded to wind up the affairs of the company, as it only increased its lines in the large cities.
