

CARNIVAL READY TO OPEN

Omaha's Fall Festival Assumes Shape for Great First Day.

MIDWAY CROWDED WITH ATTRACTIONS

Though Much Work is to Be Done, Many Hands Are There to Do It and Everybody is Happy.

"A showery condition of weather is likely to prevail for a day or two," said Weather Forecaster Welch Tuesday morning. The forecast for tonight and tomorrow is for showers and cooler Wednesday. There is a likelihood for good weather on Ak-Sar-Ben day, though I would not venture a positive forecast that far ahead. Rain has fallen upon but one Ak-Sar-Ben parade in the ten or eleven years of Ak-Sar-Ben history.

Two great shows on at once is what Omaha will have this week, after today for the Ak-Sar-Ben carnival, with nothing old but the name and place, will open at noon Wednesday and will compete with the horse show for attention.

Hundreds of carpenters, electricians and laborers are getting rid of honest energy, preparing the carnival grounds for the scenes of brilliancy and gaiety. Most of the attractions in the way of tent shows for the Midway are on the ground, and what is not will arrive tonight. Exhibitors in the booths, as usual, are a little slow, but this is chiefly because they are arranging to make better displays than ever before.

"Everybody will get many times his money's worth after the opening Wednesday noon," said "Pony" Moore, the manager, deep under an immersion of business and perplexities. "I have so much to do that I can't talk about it, but I want to say the Midway shows, twenty-two in number, will beat anything in the history of the carnival, both in point of number and excellence. The free shows, too, are better. Every available booth will be filled to the best possible advantage. Things are moving in good shape and a great crowd and an endless run of novel amusement are assured."

Rivalry of Colors. The red, yellow and green of the Ak-Sar-Ben is fighting with the red and white of the horse show for supremacy. The colors of the sage have the best of it just now, but the old familiar tri-color is rallying.

But there are some sad things on the carnival grounds. For instance, about half of the men who would be special policemen were disappointed, because Chief Donahue has found the crowds so orderly that he has not needed them. Then again, the horse show is not getting to have some of the free show acts as was counting upon, but it has been forced to supply them with others equally good at the last minute. Daredevil Carlo, who looped the gap, broke his neck the other day, it is recalled, and really has come to Omaha this year. Also the wife of Herr Grenada has fallen sick, despite the fact that the two had contracted to do a thrilling act in the air on bicycles for the vassals of Quivera.

Others Just as Good. But woe of this kind are mere business of the house with Manager Moore and he is immediately looped the gap that wasn't looped by getting Herr Schmidt, who holds a cycle-whirl on his mighty physique while Frau Schmidt tears madly around above him; the marvelous Melville in an aerial act with a sensational leap; Leonora, comedy juggler, and Pucatel in an aerial acrobatic and contortionist turn.

These features are ready to please the public now if they had to: Cave of the Winds, Penny Arcade, merry-go-round, Millie Christie, the two-headed girl, the diving children, centrifugal swing, Ferris wheel, great train robbery, London globe show, the midjet Russian prince, the volcano, a day in the Alps, Pearl the big girl, Mysterious Agna, the flying mermaid, old plantation and others.

The big high-board fence now encloses the entire grounds and the appearance of the whole grounds is that of the years before. Promises of punctuality seem likely to be better, carried out than in the past.

CANNON OF UTAH IN CITY

Former Independent Mormon Senator Talks of Uncertain Politics Out West.

Frank Cannon, former United States senator of Utah, was in the city for a short time Tuesday on his way to the west from New York. Mr. Cannon, who is a member of the Mormon church and has been one of its officials, has held the office of chairman of the democratic state committee of Utah and has been conferring in the east with the democratic leaders in the interest of the Parker boom. Mr. Cannon has fought the church as a political organization and has been a thorn in the side of the propaganda.

Mr. Cannon takes the position that so long as the heads of the church are allowed to dictate and influence the politics of the state just so long will it remain an obstacle to the development and progress of Utah.

Mr. Cannon expressed himself hopeful of the success of the party in the east. Of affairs in Utah he was unwilling to talk and he would not allow himself to be quoted in his views of the situation there. He said: "I have been away from the state and will not be able to speak of the situation there until I have looked over the field. The situation is extremely delicate at present and it would not be pertinent to venture an opinion until I have had an opportunity to discuss affairs with other party leaders in Utah."

An effort was made to have him express an opinion on the Reed Smoot question, which he declined to do.

SAME OLD CONTEST IS THERE

Bingham-Broadwell Case Drags on with No Sign of Ever Closing.

The Bingham and Broadwell contest continues before Judges Day, Sears and Redtek. The attorneys of Bingham are hoarse with argument, while the attorneys for Broadwell are becoming worn and old in trying to penetrate the depth of each profound legal proposition. Disinterested persons intend asking the building inspector over to see if the old court house is equal to the strain being put on the floors of room No. 1 by the immense accumulations of law books. Messenger boys and junior partners are coming in every few minutes with shawl straps stretched around additional authorities. Mr. Broadwell comes and stands sometimes in the private doorway leading to the clerk's office and wipes the perspiration from his forehead. Mr. Bingham utters restlessly in occasionally, removing his brown hat. Anon, or a little later, he goes out again, putting his brown hat on his head, with the brim well down in front. Mr. Broadwell doesn't say anything. Mr. Bingham doesn't say anything. The counsel for Mr. Broadwell have not said anything yet. But Messrs. Jafferis and Burbank have talked a great deal. They have argued the case for two days now and from all present appearances will argue it some more. When they have finished Messrs. Smyth and Smith will argue it awhile. Then it will be for the judges to say something. But the time is not yet.

NEBRASKA WINS AT ST. LOUIS

Splendid Array of Medals Already Awarded the Antelope State Exhibits.

"You haven't put it strong enough about the way Nebraska is going in for prizes at St. Louis," says James Welsh. "Nebraska has already got at least fifty gold medals, seventy-five silver medals and an equal number of bronze medals on exhibits in various departments."

PETTY THIEVES ARE BUSY

Sneaks Manage to Get Away with Few Crimes and Small Amount of Plunder.

Burglars are reported as having entered the home of J. M. Norlan, 215 South Twenty-fourth street, by forcing a side window. One gold watch was taken.

A report received at the police station says the room of J. L. Jones, 1294 1/2 Cass street, was entered and seven cheap rings taken.

A pair of trousers owned by Dent Drescher, 28 South Sixteenth street, was rifled for $1.50 Monday night by burglars.

CUPID PREVENTS MEETING

Little Cherub Intercedes to Hold Off Session of Water Works Appraisers.

About every other agency has had its turn at preventing the water works appraisers from meeting, and now Cupid is going to try his hand.

Chairman Mead of the board of appraisers has written to City Attorney Wright that the engineers plan to convene in Omaha for a long session of actual work soon after the middle of October. An earlier meeting is said to be delayed by the approaching marriage of Engineer Devenberg's daughter at Milwaukee.

NEW CHURCH FOR FLORENCE

First One There of Catholic Faith to Be Dedicated Sunday by Bishop.

Next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock the first Catholic church ever erected in Florence will be dedicated. It was principally through the efforts of D. J. S. O'Neill, a resident of Florence, that the erection of the church was made possible and that those of the Catholic faith in Florence now have a regular place of worship. The dedication arrangements are in charge of Rev. James Dobson of St. Cecilia church of Omaha. Rev. M. I. Striecht of Creighton university will preach and others will assist in the service.

REGISTRATIONS ARE MANY

More Than Usual Number of Certificates Issued to Voters by the City Clerk.

Special registration by affidavit for the republican primary election October 7 and the procuring of certificates of removal from ward to ward were issued in greater numbers from the city clerk's office this fall than ever before since the law requiring all names to be published for ten days before the primaries was enacted. There were 171 affidavits of registration sworn to and 124 transfer certificates issued. Most of the specially registered voters were Italians who had taken out their first naturalization papers, and under the lead of Tony

BANQUET RETURNING PASTOR

Hanscom Park Methodist Episcopal Church Tenders One to C. C. Cissell.

THINK IT WOULD IRRITATE VOTERS

One hundred and fifty members of the Hanscom Park Methodist Episcopal church gathered about the banquet board Monday evening in honor of their pastor, Rev. C. C. Cissell. He is beginning the sixth year of his pastorate at this church and the expressions of love and praise evidenced plainly the regard of his congregation at his return to them by the annual conference.

After an attractively served and toothsome meal the toastmaster, John Dale, introduced the following speakers and subjects: "The Pastors," W. P. Harford; "The Official Board," E. P. Berryman; "The Church at Large," Peter Whitney; "The Sunday School," M. L. Stone; "The Epworth League," Dr. C. F. Clark; "The Missionary Societies," Mrs. M. J. Nonette; "Our Outside Friends," Willis Todd; Rev. C. C. Cissell responded to the welcomes from the church departments with an earnest appeal to the church members for greater unity and co-operation in the work of the church the coming year.

EXHIBITION OF CUPS AND TROPHIES FOR HORSE SHOW. The Horse Show Management Turns This Over to the Bennett Company in Behalf of Horsemen.

The signal mark of knowing where the best show windows are to be found is demonstrated by The Omaha Horse Show association directing that all the cups to be competed for in the great show from now on shall be displayed in the huge Bennett show windows.

There are no less than twelve cups on exhibition along the plate glass sweep on 16th street, flanking both sides of the main entrance of the store, five of the cups being in the first prize window alone; not least conspicuous among the beautiful cups is the stag-headed sterling silver cup presented by The Bennett Company. Several of the cups have been in the care of The Bennett Company's managers for several days, waiting for late arrivals. Now all are on display and the public is heartily invited to make an inspection of them.

HYMENEAL

DROWNS WOE IN BEER CAN

Girl Whose Fellow Falls to Show Up Goes on the Ham-page.

According to one version of Miss Maggie Earl's troubles, the Omaha horse show was the cause of her downfall Monday night. Miss Earl has been living at Thirtieth and Davenport streets and for the next thirty days will have her mail addressed at the county jail, Eighteenth and Harney streets. The woman was arrested on the charge of being drunk and disturbing the peace by making loud and unusual noises at the Windsor livery stables. In the official report at the police station it is said she raised a rough barn at the stable, but is believed she raised a rough barn. Anyway, the story is Miss Earl had made up her mind and toilet with intentions of going to Omaha's first horse show. Her escort already had selected the best rig in the stable to take her to the Auditorium, but the man in the case failed to appear, so Miss Earl went to the barn to investigate. The rig was there, but the man was not. Miss Earl chafed under the delay and disappointment. She buried her troubles in a beer can.

ORDER RESTRAINING OMAHA

Temporary Injunction Prevents City from Opening Broadway Street for Two Blocks.

A temporary restraining order has been issued against the city Judge Patton's court forbidding the opening of Howard street from Twentieth to Twenty-second street. The proceedings are instituted by the Michigan Mutual Life Insurance company and by Charles A. Kent against the city of Omaha and Andrew Rosewater, as its engineer, and Joseph Hummel, as its street foreman. The opening of the street was authorized by ordinance in October, 1902. A house of the plaintiff's stands so it will be partially in the new street. They say they have received no notice of any condemnation proceedings and the city is to be restrained from taking possession of the property. Judge Sutton will hear the suit October 3.

OFFICERS DO QUICK TURN

Shepherd, Assisted by Ferris and Dunn, Gets Two Colored Men Considered Bad.

According to the statements of police officers, two of the most important arrests made in Omaha for a number of days were made Saturday night by Police Officer Shepherd, assisted by Detectives Ferris and Dunn. While passing Twenty-fourth and Miami streets Saturday evening K. C. Clark was held up by two colored men and robbed of a watch. Clark gave the police descriptions of the men and in a few hours they were apprehended by the officers mentioned. Inside of thirty-six hours the men, Albert Mosby and Louis Jenkins, were bound from the police to the district court on charges of robbery.

WRIGHT WANTS AN INQUIRY

City Attorney Offers to Join English in Investigating Withnell's Charges.

COUNTY'S LAWYER NOT DECIDED YET

Says He is Not Certain He Will Prosecute Contractor Fanning, Accused of Offering Bribes to Officials.

City Attorney Wright has sent a letter to County Attorney English joining with Building Inspector Withnell in asking the county attorney to investigate the alleged attempts to bribe public officials in the matter of paving specifications. Mr. Wright offered Mr. English all the documents and evidence in his possession and all the assistance he could render, besides urging him to go into the subject fully.

The county attorney says he has not decided whether he will take up the prosecution of Faving Contractor Charles E. Fanning or not. He is making an inquiry into the evidence at hand and procurable.

"I do not know yet whether it will be my duty to file a complaint against Mr. Fanning," said the county attorney. "Mr. Withnell has laid the charges before me and I am examining the evidence now to determine whether or not there is a sufficient showing to make it advisable to file charges of bribery."
