HENRY C. PAYNE DIES

Postmaster General of the United States Passes At 9:10 P. M.

DEATH IS DUE TO HEART TROUBLE

He Was Stricken Last Wednesday and His Condition Soon Became Very Grave.

LONG PROMINENT IN PUBLIC AFFAIRS

He Was a Member of Republican National Committee During Six Campaigns.

FUNERAL SERVICES FRIDAY MORNING

Body Will Then Be Taken to Milwaukee on a Special Car, Where Final Services Will Be Held Sunday.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Henry C. Payne, postmaster general of the United States, a member of the national republican committee, a stalwart of his party, with the history of which, both in his home state and nationally, he has been identified for many years, died at his apartments at the Arlington hotel at 8 o'clock this morning, aged 60 years. An official bulletin issued by the attending physicians states that his death was due to disease of the mitral valve and dilation of the heart.

Mr. Payne has been in poor health for at least two years, his last illness covered only seven days, an attack of heart trouble last week precipitating the end at a time when, after a rest, he seemed to have recovered a small measure of his vitality impaired by years of arduous labor. Death this afternoon came after nearly six hours of unconsciousness.

The last official who called to inquire as to Mr. Payne's condition was President Roosevelt, and he had been gone only about ten minutes when the stricken member of his cabinet expired. As Mr. Roosevelt was leaving he spoke feelingly of Mr. Payne to the newspaper men gathered in front of the hotel, as "the sweetest, most lovable and most trustful man I ever knew."

Mrs. Roosevelt, accompanied by Captain Cowles, also was a caller at the family apartments of the Paynes during the last afternoon.

Around Mr. Payne's bedside at the time of death was his devoted wife, Rev. Dr. Dunlap, pastor of St. John's Episcopal church; Major and Mrs. W. S. Cameron of Jamaica, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Cameron of Milwaukee; Charles L. Jones and Miss Louise Jones, relatives; Private Secretary Whitney, Miss Marie Barbree, an old companion of Mrs. Payne; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Mason of Washington, old-time friends of Mr. and Mrs. Payne, and the faithful colored messenger at the department of the postmaster general.

When Mr. Payne had breathed his last, Dr. Magruder led Mrs. Payne out of his room. It was stated that she had stood up bravely under the strain.

The last day he lived during which practically all hope had been abandoned for some hours. The approach of dissolution beginning during the noon hour, when the sick man lost consciousness and no longer recognized those whom he had permitted to cheer during his illness, he was taken to the hospital by ambulance, where he died at 9:10 p. m. after a short illness.

Funeral services will be held at St. John's Episcopal church, this city, next Friday morning at 11 a. m. The casket will be taken to the Pennsylvania station and placed aboard the private car of President A. J. Earling of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, who tendered the use of the car and announced that it would be used by tomorrow morning. The remains should arrive at Milwaukee Saturday morning and services will be held there Sunday. Further plans will be decided on tomorrow.

The death of Postmaster General Payne came as a severe blow to the family, as he had been ailing for some time, and he was rapidly approaching the end. While moderate doses of heart remedies sufficed at first, it became necessary by Sunday to give much more powerful stimulants, and the doses were given in greater quantities than on any previous day.

Many Show Friendship. Mrs. Payne, the devoted wife, remained constantly near her husband, rendering every possible aid and comfort, and hoping for the best. She bore up with remarkable fortitude, and not once did she leave her apartments. Throughout official Washington and in the private circles in which Mr. Payne moved deep solicitude was manifested. President Roosevelt, whose friendship for Mr. Payne extends a number of years, was a daily caller at the hotel, and was kept constantly advised of Mr. Payne's condition. Mrs. Roosevelt, too, was unremitting in her inquiries and called sometimes twice a day, offering comfort to Mrs. Payne.

The cabinet of Washington made anxious inquiries daily as to the condition of the stricken colleague, and many of the officials of the Postoffice department expressed their personal sympathy. Telegrams poured in from every quarter, being especially numerous from Wisconsin, and Mr. Payne's home city, Milwaukee. Private Secretary Whitney kept all inquiries advised of the situation up to the hour of dissolution. Mr. Whitney has remained day and night in the private office of the Payne apartments since the beginning of the serious stage of Mr. Payne's illness.

Mr. Payne, in the capacity of member of the republican national committee, had participated in six presidential campaigns, and during the last four was a member of the executive committee of the national committee. He was the chairman of the national committee during the interim between the death of Senator Hanna and the election of Secretary Cortelyou as its head, and the trying duties that then devolved upon him, supplementing as they did the strain of a long and arduous career, sapped his vitality and led to his final breakdown.

CAMPAIGN WORK IN FINLAND

Party Lines Are Broken Down in Desire of People for Reforms.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Oct. 4.—The inhabitants of Finland are busy with the elections to the forthcoming Diet. It is already evident that the days of strife ended by voting for the development of the peasant (young) parties are numbered. The peasants and the workmen have declared against a partisan campaign.

The peasant electoral colleges are selecting delegates instructed to choose deputies who are free from party influences and pledged to vote for the development of the railroad, the extension of temperance and the preservation of the forests. The workmen are disappointed with the Swedish young Finnish party and were at first inclined to entirely abstain from the elections, but a meeting of labor delegates at Helsingfors has just decided by a sixty-four against twenty-nine to participate on a strictly nonpartisan basis, voting only for deputies pledged to promote the interests of labor. The election campaign is not restricted in any way by the authorities.

SCULPTOR BARTHOLOMI PASSE AWAY

Man Who Designed Statue of Liberty in Paris, Dies.

PARIS, Oct. 4.—Friedrich Auguste Bartholdi, the sculptor, died at 8 o'clock this morning. Tuberculosis developed three years ago and showed violent symptoms the last few months, but Bartholdi insisted on continuing work in his studio. During the last days of his life he fully recovered the fatality of the disease and began to design his own tombstone. This will show an allegorical figure holding out a laurel wreath. It was completed the day before he took to his bed. He leaves an uncompleted, important group intended to be erected in Paris in honor of the aeronauts who distinguished themselves at the siege of Paris. The group partakes somewhat of the uniqueness and magnificence of the statue of liberty and shows a huge balloon rising above the American. The interment will be in the cemetery of Mont Parnasse.

AUTOMOBILES IN SOUTH AFRICA

German Government Will Use Them as Adjuncts to State Railroads.

BERLIN, Oct. 4.—Automobile trains are to be run on the wagon roads in Togoland and Kamerun. German officials are now improving the roads and building bridges with this object in view. The autumn report of the colonial economic committee says that 1,000 bales of cotton, in an good quality as the American product, have been delivered on the coast from Togoland, and also that a thousand bales of Egyptian quality have been marketed. In German East Africa a twenty fold increase in the production is estimated for 1905. The committee guarantees a price of 7 1/2 cents per pound for cotton of American quality and of 10 cents per pound for Egyptian quality, delivered on the coast. It being able to do this through the development of a fund raised by German manufacturers.

NO PREFERENCE TO AMERICA

Chinese Government Corrects Report Regarding Plans for New Road.

BEIJING, Oct. 4.—It is announced by the American legation, with reference to the Canton-Hankow railway, that a previous statement to the effect that if foreign capital should be necessary in extending the railway beyond the limits of American and Belgian capital is sought application to the line to Chung King (Ching Kiang) in the province of Szechuan, 322 miles above Hankow, American and British financiers would have the preference, is incorrect. What the Chinese government promises is that if foreign capital is sought application will first be made to American and British financiers, but that there is to be no preference.

FAIRBANKS ON RETURN TRIP

Indiana Senator Finishes Day's Strenuous Work with Speech at Sacramento.

GOVERNOR PARDEE ACTS AS CHAIRMAN

Other Meetings Were Held at Livermore, Stockton, Palo Alto and San Jose—Great Enthusiasm Everywhere.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 4.—Senator Fairbanks today started upon his return trip from the Pacific coast, but although considerable distance was covered, he did not get far on his way. Stops for speeches were made at Palo Alto, San Jose, Livermore and Stockton. Senators Fairbanks and Fulton made speeches at all these points, as they did here tonight. At San Jose and Stockton they spoke from the court house steps and at other places from the rear platform of the car. Edgewood. All the speaking places commanded views of semi-tropical vegetation and the temperature did not fall to perform its share in maintaining the illusion that the party was in the far southland, for the heat was intense all day.

One of the most interesting occurrences of the day was at Livermore, where, after the conclusion of the speeches, a pretty girl of 3 years, named Adelaide Johnson, dressed in white, was lifted to the platform to present to Senator Fairbanks a bouquet of roses as large as herself. In making the presentation she recited a little speech, assuring the vice president candidate of her love and her hope for his success. When she concluded the senator caught her in his arm, lifted her up onto the platform railing, kissing her, and said, referring to the child, "There is something worth all the speeches in the world in that kind of sentiment were loudly applauded."

At Stockton, where was held the largest and one of the most enthusiastic meetings of the day, Senator Fairbanks was interrupted just as he was about to close by someone in the audience who shouted, "Tell us about the bull pen," referring to the labor troubles in Colorado. Senator Fairbanks responded by saying: "There's a fellow who has something in his head, but I don't know what it is." He then entered upon an explanation of the republican party's attitude toward labor, declaring that "No party, from the time of George Washington to the present day, has done as much for the laboring man as has the republican party."

At Livermore the schools were dismissed in order to permit the children to attend the meeting, and at Stockton the visiting senators were welcomed by the tooting of dozens of steam whistles.

The meeting here tonight was presided over by Governor Pardee and was large and enthusiastic. Both Senators Fairbanks and Fulton spoke, and both gave attention to the general issues of the campaign. Senator Fairbanks dwelt especially upon the currency question, claiming much credit for the republican party in its efforts to maintain sound money.

Early Meeting at Palo Alto. PALO ALTO, Cal., Oct. 4.—The first meeting addressed by Senator Fairbanks today was held at this point at 8 o'clock. Notwithstanding the early hour there were many people waiting for the senator to be pulled into the station, and as the meeting progressed many others arrived on foot, in carriages and by bicycles. In his speech Senator Fairbanks took cognizance of the location here of the Stanford university and addressed himself largely to the students, enlarging upon the opportunities afforded the youth of the present age.

"It is not true," he said, "that the tendency of the republican party is to deprive our manhood of the opportunities. On the contrary it acts on them and under its administration the people enjoy better chances for advancement than ever before. Now the child may be wiser than the sage of ancient times."

He also referred to the growth of the country during the last seven years, saying that the flag of the United States is now the greatest emblem of power on earth. "This," he said, "is not due to accident, but to the fact that our government is conducted on principles and in accordance with rules of righteousness and justice."

He contended also that the republican party is better calculated than any other party to uphold and advance these principles. Hence he invited the investigation into the claims of that party, and that assurance, he said, that such investigation would insure support.

After the political meeting Senator Fairbanks was given a reception by the Phi Gamma Delta college society, of which he is a member, and the party were driven over the university grounds.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Oct. 4.—At San Jose Senators Fairbanks and Fulton were greeted by a brass band and a large crowd. They were escorted to the courthouses, from the steps of which they made their addresses. They were the city park and immediately facing them was a statue of President McKinley. Senator Fairbanks was greeted by prolonged applause when he appeared. He spoke of the unexcelled fertility of the Santa Clara valley and contended that republican policy should be retained in order to properly protect its varied industries and insure the continued prosperity of the people. Speaking of the valley further, he said:

"The prairie is king here, and the republican party stands by the festive prairie. He said also that he had been from ocean to ocean in this campaign and that his observations had convinced him that thousands, yes, hundreds of thousands, of democrats will cast their votes for Theodore Roosevelt as they had for years and eight years ago for William McKinley.

The senator said he had in 1890 seen McKinley characterized in Bryan's Commoner campaign here tonight, before the Albany Constitution club. The Young Men's Democratic club marched to the hall in a body, and there was a large attendance of Albany democrats. The speech was devoted to an attack upon the course pursued by President Roosevelt in connection with the Panama canal and the revolution which resulted in the declaration of Panama from Colombia. He declared that the republic.

NEW YORK DAY AT THE FAIR

Addresses Are Made by Commissioner and Governor of the State.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—One of the most successful state day celebrations at the exposition, both in point of interest and attendance was that of New York state, observed today. Beautifully decorated and crowded with its brilliant assembly, was the New York building, the mecca of the Plateau of States.

The Garde Republican band of France commenced the exercises incident to the celebration with a concert at the state building. State Commissioner Edward Lynam of New York city presided at the exercises held in the state building. Rev. Dr. William Boyd of St. Louis, formerly a resident of New York, delivered the invocation. Music on the organ by Prof. S. H. Groves of New York city, interspersed the exercises. Addresses were made by Director of Exhibits Shain and Commissioner Hill, to which Governor Odell responded.

The day closed with a reception and ball given by the New York commission in honor of Governor and Mrs. Odell. The national convention of the United States Republican party will continue in session during the remainder of the week. Dr. James W. Lee delivered the invocation, which was followed by the address of welcome by Mrs. A. Washington Ripley, Missouri state president. Response was made to this and other addresses by Mrs. A. T. Smythe, president general.

Preventive legislation was the subject which opened discussion at the second day's session of the international congress on tuberculosis. The speakers told of ways and means that might be enforced through legislation for the prevention of the infection and spread of consumption. The papers presented and ensuing discussions dealt with legislation compelling state and national governments to closely inspect not only public buildings and vehicles of transportation, but also tenement districts and public schools. It was also advocated that beneficial results would be attained by segregation of the tubercular insane in asylums and hospitals.

The convention was opened by an address by Hon. Clark Bell, L.L.D., member of the New York bar, and discussions followed his address.

Or it wasn't all, perhaps a little more confetti that was sent all other directions the street fair last night; there were thousands of people. But that is not the point. There was also a cold wave. Probably not two persons within the enclosure knew there was a cold wave—the work of walking from Prince Nicoll's place to the Laughter Mirrors would keep a man warm in winter time. Nevertheless the temperature was 75 at 8 o'clock and with 67 at 9 o'clock—a drop of twelve degrees in one hour.

The Bridal Chamber is still the center of attraction on the midway and is daily visited by thousands of delighted spectators. The entire Board of Governors receive their personal mail there and can be found in the rotunda at all times. C. M. Wilhelm has, in fact, arranged to sleep there during the remainder of the week. A lecture on European art with production as the principal motif is expected from Dr. George Miller Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Reserved seats can be secured from E. E. Bryson, telephone 988. SUMMARY OF WAR SITUATION

Belief that a General Forward Movement of the Japs Will Begin Soon.

Frequent fighting between Japanese advance guards and Cossacks on the south front of General Kouroupatkin's army reported in dispatches to the Russian war office is regarded as indicative of the near approach of a general forward movement by the forces of Field Marshal Oyama. It is estimated that about 10,000 Chinese and 40,000 of the guards stationed in western Manchuria have been ordered to the far east. No word has been received as to the condition of affairs at Port Arthur.

THREATEN JUDGE AT CHICAGO

Iroquois Theater Manager is Given Change of Venue for Cause.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—In the Iroquois theater today Business Manager Thomas J. Noonan and Stage Carpenter James J. Cummings were granted a change of venue to another county. The ground was that on account of the prejudice a fair trial could not be had in Chicago.

In granting the change Judge Keran declared public sentiment had been so incensed that the case could not be tried in Chicago. After the change had been granted, counsel for Will J. Davis, president of the Iroquois company, moved that the two indictments against Mr. Davis be quashed on the ground they are defective, and asked that arguments be continued until the November term of court.

OHIO GOES INTO COMMISSION

Captain Logan Raises His Flag Over the New Battleship at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4.—The ceremony of raising the flag over the new battleship, the Ohio, placed in the vessel in commission, was enacted today on the deck of the big ship.

The crew of 300 men from the Mare Island navy yard presented a fine appearance in brand new uniforms, when they were lined up to hear Captain Logan read the order designating him as their commander. The flag given to the battleship by the Ohio society was then raised. The marine band played and officers and crew stood at salute until the bunting, drawn slowly up, had reached the masthead.

It is not known when the Ohio will sail on its first cruise.

HOAR'S BODY LAID TO REST

Burial Takes Place at Concord, the Birthplace of the Distinguished Statesman.

CONCORD, Mass., Oct. 4.—The last service of the United States Senator George Frisbie Hoar were held today in this town, the place of his birth, and several hundreds of the senator's former townsmen followed the body to the place of its burial in Sleepy Hollow cemetery. In the First parish church services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. Loren B. McDonald. The pastor spoke no words of eulogy, reading, instead, James Russell Lowell's poem on Channing. At the grave brief services of burial were held and the body was committed to the ground.
