

BRANDEIS STORE BOSTON & SONS

Splendid Values in Fashionable Fall Goods

DRESS GOODS SALE

Elegant Dress Goods at 69c Yd. Thousands of full pieces from one of the most famous mills...

CHARMING NEW IDEAS IN LADIES' SUITS, COATS AND FURS

High Class Tailored Suits at $17.50—These are charmingly clever suits, made in just the full materials...

Tourist Coats—The swell, long coats that are now so popular—the belted backs, new coat sleeves...

Brandeis Millinery

Specially Priced $12.50 and $15 Trimmed Hats at $7.50. A specially fine array of high class trimmed hats...

Exclusive Novelties in Silks

Every thing shown in the New York market is in our complete Silk Department. New plain and fancy Clifton Cloth...

- 21 inch Black Bonnet Silk... 69c yard
27 inch Black Bonnet Silk... 98c yard
36 inch Black Bonnet Silk... $1.39 yard

Colored Silk Special in Silk Department

25 pieces Silk Crepe De Chine... 33c yard
25 pieces Imported Dressing Louisiana Silks...

Silks and Velvets on Bargain Squares

Yard wide black Peau de Soie at 69c
27 inch wide heavy Peau de Soie and Taffeta at 69c

Specials at Jewelry Department

Beautiful New Wrist Bags—In the prettiest leathers and fitted with card case, memorandum book, purse and mirror—worth $2.25—at 1.39

Ladies' New Pleated Crushed Velvet Belts—red, blue and green—gold or oxydized buckle—worth $1—at 69c

BRANDEIS STORE BOSTON & SONS

Correct Fall Clothing for Men

The Rogers-Peet & Co. Suits and Overcoats. Brandeis Special Clothing. Our efforts have been directed toward the assemblage of the highest quality strictly hand tailored clothing for men...

Three Good Clothing Bargains for Monday
Men's Fall Clothing at $7.50—This is a very special offer of good stylish fall suits and overcoats...

BRANDEIS STORE BOSTON & SONS

WARM UNDERWEAR FOR LADIES' AND CHILDREN

Ladies' Vests, Pants and Drawers—Fleecy cotton and part wool—all sizes, some from the Kelley-Stiger stock—special prices... 25c, 39c, 49c

Ladies' Union Suits—In fine Egyptian cotton, some well known brands of underwear in this lot—Monday, at—49c, 69c and 98c per suit...

Misses', Children's and Boys' Vests and Pants—Just the right weight for late fall and winter wear—on big bargain tables 25c and 49c Monday, at...

Ladies' Fall Kid Gloves. All our highest grade kid gloves—including Perrins, Monarch, etc.—most of them real kid leather—all the prettiest shades for evening and street wear 1.00, 1.50 and 2.00 at a pair...

Special Values in Shoe Dept.

25c can Caroline Shoe Polish or Oil-o-Shine... 10c
Childs' first grade 35c and 40c Storm Rubbers, 8 to 10... 19c
Ladies' Warm Lined House Slippers... 59c

(We are sole agents for the celebrated Dr. Reeds' Cushion Shoes, for men and women—$5) cure tender feet...

CHICAGO DAY AT THE FAIR

Thousands of People from Illinois Town Gather on Exposition Grounds. CIVIC AND MILITARY SOCIETIES MARCH

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 8—Chicago day was observed at the World's fair today by throngs of residents of that city...

Lathers Elect Officers.

The International Association of Iron and Wood lathers finished its convention today. The following officers were elected: President, William McHenry, Philadelphia...

Daughters of the Confederacy.

The business of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, who have been holding a national convention here during the week...

Squad New Comes Too Late.

Flashlight photography has now become so perfected that, according to an expert, the notion that such a picture is liable to be faulty because of the startled expression which comes to the eyes of some of the sitters is entirely erroneous.

Mayor Harrison's Speech.

Following President Francis' address of welcome to the visitors, Mayor Harrison was called upon to respond in the name of the "White City." Cleverly evading the answer to the momentous question, "Does the St. Louis exposition surpass the Columbian?" Mr. Harrison said:

With customary modesty we Chicagoans considered in 1893 our exposition the most excellent up to date, and now we are confident that in this Louisiana Purchase exposition St. Louis has set a standard which to equal will tax the energies of any city.

A response by Alderman J. E. Bennett, on behalf of "the committee of 400," concluded the exercises. But few hours intervened before the Pike parade, headed by the great Chinese dragon operated by 100 men, started down the amusement street...

Thomas W. Lawson is telling in thrilling words the marvelous "Story of Gold"—telling how certain men, nay, a certain man, made $20,000,000 in one day's work. Ancient tales of kingly treasures chests and the vast riches plundered from caravans in a single raid, pale into insignificance beside the revelation of Mr. Lawson. Thirty-six million dollars in one day!

Not a day did so remain away from his forge, except during the three years that he laid down his apron and tools to don the blue uniform and shoulder the musket of a federal soldier, to battle for his country. And when he had passed safely through that awful struggle, he returned to his smithy and again took up his hammer.

Recently he retired at the ripe old age of 35 years, but still hale and hearty, and with a modest little fortune of $50,000 to gladden his last years.

And all his townspeople speak kindly to him as they pass, and smile at him, and say good things of him to others, and reverse him and honor him. He has only $50,000—but it is his, all his, honestly earned; and there's not another man can justify lay claim to a single dollar of it. His avill says never saw the requiem over the new-made grave of the outsider, the glow of his forge never disclosed the vision of wrecked hopes and fortunes, and there is none to heap curses upon his little old shop, as there are thousands to fling anathemas at Wall street.

The story of Wall street requires no comment. And the two strongest points in the story of the blacksmith are that keeping over-lustingly at it brings success; and that $50,000 with peace and honor is inestimably better than as many millions without them. —Los Angeles Times.

QUAKER CITY'S NEW PALACE

One of the Costliest Hotels in the World Opened for Business in Philadelphia.

A new palatial hotel, the Bellevue-Stratford, of Philadelphia, was opened to the public on the 19th, and a famous hospitality that it dispensed closed its doors for the last time. The Bellevue-Stratford is built of granite and marble. It rises 212 feet above the pavement, has a ground area of 185 by 184 feet and cost $5,000,000. There are fourteen acres of floor space and two and one-half miles of corridors. The interior finish is in marble and mahogany, and few hotels in the world, it is said, are more perfect in all the details that science and art could devise.

The house contains a palm garden and a glass-iced roof garden. In the former seats are provided for 500 guests, and 700 persons can be accommodated in the roof garden. Each floor has its own office, post-offices, parlors, etc., and each room is provided with a steel safe set into the wall.

The new hotel is at the southeast corner of Broad and Walnut streets, and the celebrated hostelry that closed its doors the other day is on the opposite corner. The latter house for years had been the meeting place of members of the bench and bar, of merchants and politicians, and was the rendezvous of the smart set. It practically stood for old Philadelphia. A grand ball banquet was given in the old house, which was thronged with guests. As soon as the dinner closed and the lights were turned out the electric switch was turned in the majestic hostelry that takes its place.

Philadelphia's famous "Assemblies" will hereafter be held in the Bellevue-Stratford, and the Clover club will have private quarters there. —Chicago Record-Herald.

Nothing. "Anything for our folks?" asked the visitor at the summer resort hotel. "No, sir," replied the postmaster at the little station where the boarders were wont to get their mail.

"Well, I'll keep on coming. I'll get a letter some day. N! desperandum." "There's nothing for him, either," said the postmaster, looking through the pile of letters again. —Chicago Tribune.

The Bee Want Ads Are The Best Business Boosters.

CONTRASTS IN TWO STORIES

How the Copper Magnate Made a Pile and the Blacksmith a Modest Fortune.

Thomas W. Lawson is telling in thrilling words the marvelous "Story of Gold"—telling how certain men, nay, a certain man, made $20,000,000 in one day's work. Ancient tales of kingly treasures chests and the vast riches plundered from caravans in a single raid, pale into insignificance beside the revelation of Mr. Lawson. Thirty-six million dollars in one day!

Not a day did so remain away from his forge, except during the three years that he laid down his apron and tools to don the blue uniform and shoulder the musket of a federal soldier, to battle for his country. And when he had passed safely through that awful struggle, he returned to his smithy and again took up his hammer.

Recently he retired at the ripe old age of 35 years, but still hale and hearty, and with a modest little fortune of $50,000 to gladden his last years.

And all his townspeople speak kindly to him as they pass, and smile at him, and say good things of him to others, and reverse him and honor him. He has only $50,000—but it is his, all his, honestly earned; and there's not another man can justify lay claim to a single dollar of it. His avill says never saw the requiem over the new-made grave of the outsider, the glow of his forge never disclosed the vision of wrecked hopes and fortunes, and there is none to heap curses upon his little old shop, as there are thousands to fling anathemas at Wall street.

The story of Wall street requires no comment. And the two strongest points in the story

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

John Kefford Arrested on Charge of Assaulting C. W. Hodgins.

EVENT OCCURRED DURING THE STRIKE

Man Under Arrest Left City Soon After the Occurrence and Had Just Returned—Answers Description of Assailant.

Last night Detective Elfelder arrested a negro who gives his name as John Kefford. This man is suspected of assaulting C. W. Hodgins at Twenty-fourth and Q streets on the afternoon of August 20. Hodgins, who was employed in one of the packing houses at the time, was found on the sidewalk in an unconscious condition. The injured man was removed to the South Omaha hospital and for a number of weeks he lingered between life and death. Hodgins recovered to some extent, but his mind has not been right since and he is now an inmate of the asylum in Lincoln.

The South Omaha police have worked hard on this case, but never until today have they arrested a man who in any way answered the description given by Hodgins of the person who assaulted him. Several arrests were made, but all of the men were released after a thorough examination. Hodgins stated that the negro who assaulted him had a number of gold teeth and was heavy set. Kefford answers the description and charges of assault with intent to do great bodily injury will be filed against him by the county attorney. On the day following the assault Kefford, who was employed in the hog killing department at Swift's, left the city and went to Atchison, Kan. He returned to the city and his arrest followed. Letters found in the possession of Kefford lead the police to believe that he is the man they have been looking for. Some time today Kefford will be put in the sweat box and efforts made to induce him to tell what he knows about the assault. Kefford lived in a small house at Twenty-fifth and Q streets. Upon searching the premises yesterday the police found three sets of harness and some other goods supposed to have been stolen.

Harvest Home Festival. The annual harvest home festival will be celebrated at St. Martin's Episcopal church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. James Wiley, the rector, stated last evening that the church would be decorated with grain and grasses from the Douglas county exhibit at the Omaha Carnival. These services will be something out of the ordinary and the public is invited.

Magic City Gossp.

Joseph Koutsky returned last night from his farm at Ruskin, Neb. Rev. James Wiley will talk to men at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon.

Nelson Fish of Rapid City, S. D., is here for a few days, the guest of E. A. Cahow. A case of scarlet fever is reported at the Hays residence, Fortieth and M streets. City officials are still complaining about the scarcity of heat in the city building.

Y. M. Adams of Concord, Neb., is in the city for a few days, the guest of C. M. Rich.

Captain P. H. Shields and wife leave today for Kearney, Neb., where they will visit for a week. John Fry and W. S. Derbyshire, both South Omaha mail carriers, left last night for the St. Louis fair.

Rev. W. D. Stambaugh has so far recovered from his recent severe illness as to be able to be on the streets again. Frank Burke of York, Neb., is here for a few days, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Gustafson, 104 Missouri avenue.

FOUNDINGS ARE NOT SOLD

Agent Who Took Children to Arizona Places Them with Poor Mexicans and is Arrested.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 8.—According to the most reliable advice obtainable regarding the troubles at Morenci, Ariz., a mining town in Graham county, over the alleged attempt to sell foundlings from New York City, the situation is not as serious as has been reported. Reliable advices from Clifton, a town near Morenci, are that forty children were sent out by the New York Foundling and Orphan asylum. Sixteen of these were placed in families in Clifton and twenty-four were taken to Morenci, where the majority of them were placed with poor Mexican families. The American residents of Morenci objected to the children being placed with a class of Mexicans, who they claimed, were entirely unfitted for to have care of them. An indignation meeting was held at Clifton and resulted in the arrest of G. W. Swayne, the agent of the asylum and the local priest. The people demanded that the children be put in the care of American families, but Swayne refused to do this, and said he would take them back to New York. Objection was made to the giving over of the children to Swayne's charge and it was feared by some that they might be taken to old Mexico.

The latest authentic report is that Swayne is awaiting instructions from the asylum officials in New York. The purpose of Swayne and assistants seems to have been to place the children with Catholic families in this section, of whom there are but few except Mexicans. While charges have been made that the children were being sold, there appears to be nothing to substantiate this claim.

Burglars continue to ply their work from night to night in Omaha. Friday night the homes of K. E. Gardner, L. C. Fry and S. Cohen, 1115, 1135 and 1117 North Seventeenth street, were entered by unknown visitors. At the Gardner home the thieves took $1 from Mr. Gardner's trousers and from Mrs. Gardner's dresser they took $10, watch and purse. They took a pair of trousers from the Fry residence, evidently left the garment in the back yard in disgust after finding only a base ball rain check in one of the pockets. Mr. Cohen reports the thieves took his trousers and $50.

LOCAL BREVIETIES.

Decla Bailey has brought suit for divorce against George Bailey. A decree in divorce handed down in 1901 by Judge Fawcett was filed yesterday it having been withheld for costs. The suit was brought by Mrs. Kate Coulter for a separation from Jerome K. Coulter.

E. H. Benson will discuss "Municipal Government" for the Philosophical society Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Royal Academy hall, Seventeenth and Douglas streets. The meeting is open to the public.

As a state examination conducted by Prof. Eckels of Philadelphia Friday afternoon at the Omaha Cashier company's office, Harry Morgan passed an unusually creditable examination, which gave him a state license. Mr. Morgan has for some time been connected with Healey & Healey, undertakers.

Sale Ten Million Boxes a Year. Cascarets CANDY CATHARTIC. THEY WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP. PREVENT ALL BOWEL TROUBLES.