NOT SO SLOW FOR PAPILLION

Sarpy County Citizen Clips off Time at Rapid Rate.

GOES AT SIXTY DOLLARS PER DAY

Comes to Town with Three Hundred, Which Lasts Well Until He Meets & Certain Individual.

It is said W. W. Marietta, a harness maker from Papillion, holds the local longdistance record for having a good time. According to records on file at the police station Marietta left the Sarpy county seat Saturday morning with over $800 in his pockets. Wednesday night he was arrested by Officer Kissane and booked at the city jail as a common drunk and without a cent in his pockets. Five days at $60 per day is the record established by the Sarpy county tourist. It is said of Marietta that when he came to town last Saturday morning he was determined to see everything going; he bought reserved sents; stayed to the after-concert, fed the elephant goobers, smoked clear Havanas, had his breakfast sent to his room and drank only such liquids as had radiators. cobwebs around the bottle.

Marietta said the first thing he did before leaving his native heath was to pay a week's board for his two children and when he reached the Gate City he bought a suit of clothes for himself and stocked up on other articles before making the rounds. Then he admits giving all his funds to a Douglas street saloon keeper for safekeeping, allowing the saloon man carte blanche in arranging entertainment for him. Marietta says the custodian of his funds certainly gave him the best in the land and when a reckoning came Wednesday morning the bill was $149, to which the Papillion citizen did not object.

Meets His Betrayer. With something over $100 left he started out on his own account as he believed he had learned the ropes sufficiently to keep himself out of the air holes. With about $125 he then went to 118 North Ninth street, met two women, engaged a hack and invited a strange male companion to join

The quartet drove to Mefcalfe's place at Council Bluffs and had a big time. On the return trip the women noticed the stranger had taken Marietta's money and so told him. When the hack reached the Omaha side of the bridge the stranger jumped out of the conveyance and made his escape Detectives are looking for the man with the balance of Marletta's money and the Papillion man is at the police station figuring out whether the game was worth Marietta's wife is said to have recently died and his two children now at Papillion are in need of his assistance.

NOT THAT KIND OF MUSIC

of Sad-Faced Stranger Does Not Make Hit at Depot.

Less than the usual number of passengers was waiting for outgoing trains at the Union station yesterday, but all looked onesome and yawned. Very few people were going away and few were coming in. A stranger with a sad face noticed the apathy which had settled upon the people and he evidently concluded to stir them up a bit. He went over to a pile of luggage and took out two small boxes. These he put together and set them on one of the

A few minutes later the crowd heard a buzzing and then the opening notes of one of Julius Levy's cornet solos broke the The passengers looked up and down the platform for a band and then traced the sound to the strange looking package near the sad faced stranger. The machine, however, was just getting warmed up to its work when the gruff voice of one of the depot officers broke in upon the Coney island day dreams of the melancholy visaged stranger.

"Oh, yes; we have no objection to music." The sad man looked at the retreating figure of the depot official in surprise, but the cornet solo was suddenly broker in two near the middle.

NOVELTY SALESMEN ARE HERE

Agents of Eastern Houses Open Show rooms for Western Holiday Trade in Omaha.

Every shop in the retail portion of the ity not occupied by permanent stores has been taken by some agent of an eastern novelty house who has opened up a ware oom and is taking orders for holiday goods. More of these novelty houses are represented in the city this year than

"You will notice these novelty concerns have large stocks of fancy goods here, said a local jobber. "They know the trade will come to them from all sections to the north and west and they are coming every year to look on this city as their western headquarters. They are justified in doing so, for I know members of the trade have been here from west of Denver and from the east almost to Des Moines. They come too, from far up in the Dakotas and from central Kansas. I hope the business they my, two houses who job holiday novelties o any extent, so there is a fine chance for a big eastern house to come in and locate. It will make this city a market or novelties and bring a very much greate proportion of the orders here."

MERIT OF INDIAN WAREHOUSE

Virtue of Buying and Handling Supplies in Omaha Becoming Apparent in Washington.

"The business of the Indian warehouse in this city shows an increase the present year of more than 100 per cent over that of last year," said J. B. Haynes, secretary to Senator Millard. "The commissioner of Indian affairs apparently appreciates the fact that the commission can buy goods in the open market to an advantage, particularly in the matter of freight rates and the purchase of supplies in the open markets of Omaha. Senator Millard says the maintenance of the warehouse here has been justified and hopes the continual warfare on it in the senate and house committees of Indian affairs may now be stopped. This warfare, as everybody knows, has been injobbers, who do not want the truth made known that all goods for Indian supplies can be bought in the open markets of Omaha as readily and as cheaply as at

COMING TO PLAN OF ONE MANAGEMENT

Old Timer, Kansas City, St. Joe Council Bluffs Merged With B. & M. and Others into One System.

Following the absorption of the B. & M. by the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, in name as well as in fact, James J. Hill has taken another long step toward his cherished goal of consolidating all subsidiary properties into one management.

That old-timer in the railroad field, the Kansas City, St. Joe & Council Bluffs Railroad company, one of the pioneers of the west, antedating the Wabash and Missouri Pacific by many years, has ceased to exist, officially. Years ago it was considered an essential necessity by the Burlington management and became an adjunct of that system, but it is only this week that it has been fully incorporated as a part and parcel of the great Burlington system. The order eliminating the old name went into effect Tuesday.

This well known property was the first line operated between Kansas City and Omaha, 192 miles, coming by way of Leavenworth, Atchison, switching back to Nebraska City, then to Plattsmouth, to Council Bluffs, where the Union Pacific, prior to the identification of the Burlington interests, brought the traffic over the bridge to Omaha.

The final absorption of the property is in line with the centralization of Burlington subsidiary companies under one control, one management-James J. Hill, It was this policy that dictated the disbanding of the separate organization of the first Nepost prandial trance, did not comprehend braska road, the B. & M., which change came about during the summer.

Following in the same line is the ancouncement that the Hannibal & St. Joe Report of Harriman Losing Control of road and the St. Louis, Keokuk & Northwestern have both lost their separate individuality and been amalgamated or ab-

ENTERS OVER GREAT WESTERN of Frick and Rockefeller.

New Electric Line Secures Means of Coming into Omaha From President Stickney.

Managing Engineer Hurd of the new elecric line that is to enter Omaha, before leaving for Lincoln yesterday morning said: 'Arrangements have been made whereby he line will enter the city over the Chicago Great Western tracks from South Omaha. This is the most important right the new company has yet secured. The question of entering the city with small freight is still an open one, but the situation is very satisfactory.

"The plan of the promoters is similar to that of eastern electric lires, which furnish cheap transportation between cities and towns. These roads are competitors of the railroads, but not of the street cars. Some of the longer lines are even carrying sleepers for the accommodation of passengers. "The new station now being erected by the Chicago Great Western at the Sixteenth street viaduct will give the new line an entrance into the heart of the city. It is not determined what the moern novelty bouses opening up a permanent tive power will be over the railroad tracks, branch here. We have only, you might but it is expected a third rail will be laid to carry the electric current. A plant for the development of the power to move the cars is one of the problems which still confronts the company. Where and when this plant will be established is one of the questions involved in the scheme of the romoters which has not been settled to their satisfaction."

in Court.

The number thirteen is held to be unucky. This figure may have brought Mrs. Nettle 'Scott, James Johnson and Ida Wilson, all colored, into the county court this morning on a complaint of forcible detainer. The house in question, which Mrs. Scott claims to own and from which she wants the others removed, is No. 1313 Jones street. Mr. Johnson and Miss Wilson moved in August 13, and after staying a month had worse luck still, for on September 13 they were served with the papers in this action. Miss Wilson is the sister of James Johnson, who is blind. She says she paid $50 in advance for the house and stigated by the heavy pressure of Chicago has a receipt to prove it. Mrs. Scott says this paper is a forgery.

TIME TO BEGIN THE WORK Next Week Should Find North Sixteenth Street Paving Started, Says City Engineer, decision of withdrawal as final."

"Work should be started on the North Sixteenth street repaving next week, from the present indications," said City Englneer Rosewater. "I understand the Barber company will be ready to begin then, The formalities are nearly completed by the city and about all that remains to be done is to have the contract approved. Several other pieces of work will have to be done on the street in connection with the paving. The gas company wishes to examine its mains and recaulk the pines. while the street railway company will have to raise its tracks from six to eight inches to conform to the new surface. Besides this, the city will have to lay a storm water sewer, with pipes ranging from fifteen to twenty-four inches in diameter, from Cass to California and from Webster to Izard streets, in order to care for the sub-drainage. The pipes will be laid in deep trench in the center of the street. the trench being filled with broken stone in order to collect the molsture which comes from springs, etc., underneath. 'This work, however, can all be done so as not to interfere with the progress of the paving. The paying should be completed northward through the heavy business district at least before cold weather sets in.

The council passed the final ordinance for the paying at a special meeting held vesterday afternoon.

STORY NOT BELIEVED HERE Union Pacific Not Credited in Omaha

The story that Gould and Rockefeller had wrested control of the Union Pacific from Harriman has created considerable interest among local railroad men. It cannot be said, however, that inquiry develops implicit confidence in the report, which seems to have its basis merely in the fact of the election to the Harriman directory

An effort was made to secure an expression of opinion from A, L. Mohler, general manager of the Union Pacific, and T. M. Schumacher, general traffic manager of the Oregon Short Line, which is also a Harriman interest. While neither of the officials would discuss the subject they were inclined to give little credence to the story. Mr. Schumacher, who is in the city for a few hours on his way west, is of the opinion that the story was manufactured in Salt Lake City from material which does not justify the supposition that a change of control has been effected.

The story sent out from New York to the effect that there has been an accumulation of Union Pacific stock which has passed into the hands of large capitalists, is taken as an indication that while the Rockefeller interests are not yet in control, important events are transpiring in the financial world which may bring about the conditions named.

CORN FIELDS ARE ATTRACTIVE Draw Many Young Mon Who Might Enlist in Uncle Sam's Military Service.

Nebraska's corn fields are said to be more attractive just now to the war fever patient than the thought of gory battlefields in far-off lands,

This is the status of things as the officers in charge of the local army recruiting station see them. They say applications are not near as numerous as they would be did not old King Corn offer such tempting wages for his harvest just now. DECISION IN CRUELTY CASE Kirschners Will Keep the Children, but Eldest Must Be Sent Away to School.

Judge Vinsonhaler has made something f a compromise in the case of the children of Postmaster Kirschner of Bennington, in which Mrs. Kirschner was charged with great cruelty. He handed down his decision yesterday and by its terms the little boy will remain with his father and stepmother and the girl will be sent to some boarding school for two years, the judge to be satisfied with the school and other conditions. This decision is not exactly in accordance with the views of either side in the contest for the possession made a considerable investigation since the children from their father on the one hand The man wore a light checked coat and and yet felt the wellfare of the two minors they are to introduce in Lew Field's new overalls over a dark pair of trousers.
