FATHER SCHELL ENCOURAGED
Returns from Washington Strengthened by Conference with President Roosevelt.

REPEATS THAT THE GRAFTERS MUST GO
Meets New Commissioner of Indian Affairs, with Whom He Has Satisfactory Talk of Winnebago Outrages.

"We are better than ever prepared to say to the grafters, 'You must go,'" said Father Joseph Schell on his return from Washington, where he had conferred with President Roosevelt on the crime and corruption existing at the Winnebago Indian reservation, for the annihilation of which he has so persistently fought.

"I had a most satisfactory interview with the president," continued Father Schell, "and left Washington much more incensed than I had any idea of hoping before I went there. I laid the whole matter before the president, exposing to him the system of fraud and vice which these grafters have practiced for years upon the poor Indians, and while it is not my part now to go into details, I can tell the people of Nebraska that in a general way the outlook for the extermination of this base iniquity is most bright."

"I come back to Nebraska infused with new life in this fight and prepared to repeat to these grafters what we have told them. 'You must cease your nefarious business and get out.' The grafters are doomed; that's all there is to it."

Cordially Greeted by President.
"When I left Nebraska certain press reports were conveying the information that the president would not see me. On the contrary, I wish to say the president gave me a most cordial greeting and I was flattered beyond description that my cause received such generous consideration at the hands of this man—a man in every sense of the word, big of mind, body and heart."

"Did I see Secretary Hitchcock?"
My conference with the president was sufficient. Besides meeting the president I met and talked with Mr. Leupp, the new commissioner of Indian Affairs, and am greatly pleased at his view of the situation."

Father Schell left Monday afternoon for Sioux City, whence he will go to Pender. "You know," he said, his face brimming with smiles, "my trial on the charge of forgery comes up at Pender December 12, and I must be there then. I look forward to this trial with considerable interest, as we will then have the privilege of divulging matters of the utmost importance to our cause which we have not yet been able to make public. It comes just in the nick of time to facilitate the fight on these grafters and outlaws. They have played into our hands in this matter."

PLAN TO BAR THE RUNNERS
Efforts of Clothing Merchants Renewed to Shut OR Caribstone Orators for Business.

Clothing merchants headed by Albert Cahn, are preparing to make another attempt to have an ordinance passed by the council which will prohibit "runners" or "cappers" of any firm from soliciting business in the street other than on the sidewalk directly in front of the establishment that employs them.

A year or more ago the same thing was tried and an ordinance passed, but when it went before the council it was pruned down so it was worthless for the purpose intended. Only two clothing houses now try this system of getting business, according to Mr. Cahn, but the merchants who are seeking to draw trade by advertising only find it extremely unpleasant to have a prospective customer approached while inspecting their window and endeavor to enter a competitor's business place.

Hayden Bros. have declared that "runners" have actually taken patrons away from their counters, so bold and insidious are their methods. A year or more ago the Nebraska Clothing company found that one of the small concerns was doing a flourishing business, piloting buyers from out in the country to its store on the strength of the statement that the place was the temporary quarters of the Nebraska company, which had been burned out by fire.

As certain tradesmen who formerly thought the only way to get business was to drag a customer in by main force if necessary, have abolished the custom, it is thought that opposition to the proposed ordinance will not be strong.

NEBRASKA CORN GOES TO GULF
Shipped by Way of Galveston to Market in Europe.

BIG TRADE LOOKED FOR HEREAFTER
First Train of Fifteen Cars Leaves Sunday and Two More Trains Are Scheduled for This Week.

"Omaha's hope," said a Kansas City man while conversing on the Grain exchange, "lies in the direction of the Gulf of Mexico, not through the trade that will come to its jobbers, but to the outlet for the millions of bushels of corn raised by Nebraska farmers."

The matter was not seriously considered at the time, but Sunday the first trainload of corn, fifteen cars, carrying 1,000 bushels each, started from Omaha over the Missouri Pacific for Galveston, whence it will go on board steamers and be carried to England or possibly into the continent Wednesday or Thursday of this week two more trains, each of the same capacity, will make the run through on fast freight schedule, and it is likely the movement will reach larger proportions before the opening of navigation.

The through route to Galveston, New Orleans and other gulf ports, including Port Arthur, the terminus of the Kansas City Southern, is 18 cents per 100 pounds, and this is much less than grain can be put down from Omaha at New York, Philadelphia or Baltimore. With the close of navigation the railroads advance their rates from Chicago east 1 cent 10, this going into effect on the 12th of the current month.

A large Chicago house is the buyer of most of the corn going to the gulf, and as there is a profit in shipping that way, it is believed a steady stream of Nebraska's richest cereal will flow toward the gulf, after the example set by its two great rivers.

A corn merchant estimated that this state would receive $78,000,000 as a result of the corn crop of 1934.

Changes on the Alton.
Two important changes are announced officially by the Chicago & Alton. J. N. Fathorn, vice president in charge of the traffic department, has resigned to devote his entire time and attention to the business of the inter-Chicago Terminal Transfer Railroad company at Chicago. Officials who heretofore reported to him are instructed to report to S. M. Felton, the president. Fred A. Wann, who has held the position of general freight agent, has resigned to accept the vice presidency of the Pere Marquette. Business communications are being addressed to C. A. King, assistant general freight agent of the Alton.

The unusually large list of high-salaried men which the Pere Marquette has been taking over, beginning with Russell Harding, formerly of the Missouri Pacific, gives the impression that the spirit of progress has taken a good hold on the road and that important changes in its operating service may be looked for.

International Railway Congress.
The International Railway congress has issued its first book, giving an account of its work together with an outline of the arrangements for the sessions to be held at Washington, D. C., next May. The meetings of the congress formerly were held at intervals of two or three years, but the custom has become established of holding these conferences every five years. The original intention of the congress was the establishment of a body somewhat upon the lines of the international postal and telegraph unions with a view of taking up subjects for future international agreements.

To a considerable extent the congress has come to be a scientific body, discussing subjects in the various departments of railway affairs. The scope of matters taken up for discussion includes motive power and rolling stock, operation, light railways and general topics, including the service and operation of railroads.

The official language of the congress is French, although a provision of the constitution allows the proceedings to be carried on in French or in the language of the country where the congress is held. The approaching session in Washington will be the first one held in the United States and the second time it has been held in an English-speaking country. Sessions thus far have been held in Brussels, Milan, Paris, St. Petersburg and London. The congress had its origin in Brussels, where a meeting was held to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the inauguration of Belgium railways. The body has grown rapidly and has exerted a powerful influence in the dissemination of knowledge of railway matters and in unifying the practice especially among the railroads of Europe.

Wann Succeeds Parker.
CINCINNATI, Dec. 5.—The official announcement of the appointment of Frederick W. Wann as vice president of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, the Pere Marquette and the Cincinnati, Chicago & Louisville railroads was made today. Mr. Wann, who succeeds the late C. A. Parker, will have his headquarters in Chicago.
