Game Warden Proposes to Stop the Raids of Unlicensed Shooters to the Iowa Side of the River.

Seven Bohemlans, residents of Omaha, were arrested last evening by Deputy Fish and Game Warden E. C. Brown and City Detective Callaghan for hunting in this state without a license. The men were rabbit shooting in the vicinity of the lilinois Central bridge when the deputy been announced, but it is said that the game warden swooped down on them. They were taken to police headquarters, where after considerable difficulty, they were made to understand in what respect they had violated the law. As security for their appearance in police court this morning their guns were detained, but they were permitted to take with them the twenty-seven rabbits they had slaughtered. The arrest of these men is the result of the determination of Deputy Game Warden Brown to put a stop to the invasion of this side of the river by gangs of unlicensed hunters.

The names given by the men arrested are John Tomack, Joseph Tomack, Joseph Goodnough, Frank Soukup, James Kraseck, Frank Haverick, Anton Koudsky.

Old Motor Company Power House to Be Remodeled.

The Worral Grain company, which has offices in the Board of Trade building in Omaha, has leased the motor company's old power house at Twenty-eighth street and Broadway and will remodel it so as to convert it into a grain transfer elevator. The company has taken a five-year lease building and has already comof the menced the work of installing the needed equipment. When the alterations are complete it is stated the new elevator will have a capacity for handling twenty cars a day. The building is conveniently located and will have direct trackage to three railroads and connection with the Terminal line, which reaches all the roads of this city and Omaha. Charles Peavey is manager of the Worral company.

County Must Defend Suit.

The supreme court has ruled, in its decision handed down Saturday, that the suit of Robert Little against Pottawattamia county should be tried in the district court and it will now come up for hearing in the regular order.

Little brought suit for $20,000 damages for personal injuries. He was driving home in a wagon and while crossing a county bridge near Minden, the structure collapsed and he was precipitated to the bed of the creek below, a distance of about thirty feet, and the wagon and team piled on top of him. A part of the bridge also fell on top of Little as he lay pinned beneath his wagon and struggling team. Little's injuries were severe. One car was torn off, his breast caved in, several ribh broken and his Jaw fractured in several

Trouble Leads to Complaints of Violations of the Postal Laws. NO TEST OF THE AMENDMENTS IS LIKELY

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, Dec. 18.-(Special.)-The dtterest newspaper war in the state at resent is in Madison county, where the three newspaper publishers have gone into ourt to air their grievances. There are two republican papers and one democratic. J. W. Miller, editor of the Reporter, held endersement until recently, when he was supplanted by J. F. Smith of the Madisonlan. Soon thereafter Editor Miller of the Reporter started a movement to in out a great list of valuable prizes which were to be given on one pretext or another. A number of the business men of Winterset went in on the same scheme and canvassers went out to scour the country. They were greatly rewarded. Then Editor Smith of the Madisonian, who was then postmaster, withheld from the mails the papers of his opponent and carrying the matter still further had Editor Miller crested for sending lottery advertisements through the mails. The editor of the demeratic newspaper took a hand and had Edi-

or Smith of the Madisonian prosecuted for having used illegal advertisements in his paper. The case of Editor Miller came to the federal authorities here this week and they agreed that while the matter was technically under the ban of the law, the scheme was not a lottery, and it was against the policy of the department to make prosecutions where it was done at the instance of rivals in trade. So it is understood all federal cases will be dropped. But in the meantime the newspaper war rages fiercely in Winterset and Madison county.

Will Not Test the Amendments. Former Senator G. M. Titus of Muscatine, author of the original amendment to the state constitution providing for biennial elections, has just completed an exhaustive examination of the law points involved in an attack on the amendment. It was contended that the amendment is void because of the fact that several matters were embraced in the one amendment. Senator Titus declares that this is not a ground for declaring the amendment invalid, that a similar question was raised in regard to a Wisconsin amendment, where the constitution is exactly like that in Iowa, and it was held that the intent of the legislature and people should govern. The opponents of the amendment have been unable to find but one case in which their view is upheld -that being in the state of Mississippi. It is now regarded as certain there will be no test case made upon the amendment.

Will Have County High School. A proposition is soon to be submitted to the people of Davis county somewhat unique in Iowa. Little delayed presenting his claim for damages to the board on the grounds, as he asserted, that a member of the board informed him he would be recompensed if he would only await action by the board. When he did file his claim for $20,000 the board rejected it on the ground that the prescribed time within which it ought to have been filed had lapsed. Little in the meantime brought suit in the district court against the county and the case was taken on a change of venue to Cass county and Judge Thornell dismissed it because the action had been brought in advance of the filing of the claim with the board.

Tippecanoe Banner.

Members of the Iowa Tippecanoe club have informal figures on the matter and have reached the conclusion that Monona county will get the Tippecanoe banner, which is given each year to the county itself of this law. The normal school at which makes the largest relative gain in republican plurality over that of the preceding year, and that Dubuque county is a close second to Monona. Both of these counties have previously held the banner

The State Geological board is having trouble trying to get printed a "bulletin" on Iowa grasses. One such bulletin was printed a few years ago and it turned out. to be a book of 200 or 300 pages, handsomely bound and profusely illustrated. There was trouble in having the bills paid and the state officials resolved that another such "bulletin" would not be ordered. Now the Geological board has bulletin No. 2 ready for the printer, but the state executive council will not authorize its printing. May Change Date of Meeting.

The program is being arranged for the annual meeting of the Iowa Improved Stock Breeders' association at Ames the second week in January. The program committee finds that so many are going to the national meeting at Denver the same week that unless the date is changed the meeting will be a poor one. It is therefore probable that the date for the Iowa meeting will be changed
