

SHEEP FAMINE IS FEARED

Montana Kasper Tells of Disasters that Have Befallen His Business.

VISIT TO OMAHA RECALLS OLD TIMES

From Bluegrass Farm in Kentucky He Wanders When Boy to Wild West and Carries Fortune.

"Next year the country will face almost a sheep famine unless present conditions undergo a remarkable change. This statement was made by J. G. Miller, a wealthy stock raiser of Billings, Mont., who is stopping at the Milledge hotel. Miller is spending a few days in Nebraska for the purpose of investing money in lands suitable for sheep grazing. This is the first time he has been in Omaha in seventeen years and his last visit to the city was under rather pathetic circumstances. He left his home in Kentucky when he was a boy of 17. He was an orphan and had been living with an uncle, who did not throw many obstacles in the way of his going. His uncle gave him two $50 bills before he left. "I had $25 that I had earned and saved," said Mr. Miller, "and while I did not know where I was going, I had no regret at leaving home, as my life there was not a happy one. I had some schooling, but my clothes were so poor and ragged that the other boys would not play with me. Their treatment of me used to fill my boyish heart with bitterness and I often made up my mind that some day my time would come. There was one well-dressed boy in the entire school who was very kind to me. He shared his things with me and the only happy recollections I have of those days is this boy's kindness to me. "I reached Omaha and here I bought a ticket on the old immigrant train. It cost me $40 and I had $25 left. I finally worked my way up into Montana, where I got work as a ranchman. I did not drink nor smoke like the other young fellows I met, but I saved my money. I had a purpose in doing so. I wanted to go back to Kentucky some time and did not want to go back empty-handed. Well, I finally began to invest in fat stock myself. I made and lost money, but gradually I accumulated a fortune. "Four years ago I went back home. There had been changes, a great many changes. I met a great many of the old schoolmates, but I could buy and sell most of them and not make a cent. I had an account. When they found I was rich, boys that I had forgotten came up and made themselves known. It's all over now, but that visit gave me more satisfaction than anything else in all these years. The most interesting feature of the entire trip, however, was the fact that I was able to meet the boy who was my only playmate in youth. I put him on his feet and started him in business. Drawback in Sheep Business. "I have devoted all my time to sheep raising and I own my range lands. It is getting so that a man can't own his land as government ranges are getting smaller and smaller every year. This partly accounts for the present shortage. If you will notice, the sheep market has been high with the exception of a short slump a few days ago. The weather has been against us for the last two winters and thousands of sheep have been killed by the cold. Fortunes have been swept away almost in a night. I have a neighbor who, last winter, had $25,000 worth of sheep destroyed. It was all he had except his house and lot. Feed also is getting more expensive and this is one of the reasons I am down here to look for winter feeding grounds. Screenings that we used to buy at the mill in Montana have been going steadily upwards until they are almost too expensive to buy and they have been gradually improving their machinery, so that the screenings are largely dust. You can't raise sheep on dust. "By coming down here I can get corn and alfalfa at a low figure. I raise a good deal of alfalfa myself, but not enough. Then I have been growing a great deal of alfalfa to feed my cattle. I got 45¢ an acre for it. High priced feed, short ranges and severe weather are factors that are shortening the supply and unless things change there won't be many sheep in another year. Attracted by the high prices of sheep and low prices for cattle, some of the cattlemen are working into the sheep business as fast as they can, but it is difficult to get sheep."

Cut Glass, Frenzer, 15th and Dodge.

HOTEL SYNDICATE FORMED

Johnson Company Controls Thurston and Will Have Two in Nebraska City.

The Johnson Hotel company has filed articles of incorporation, the object being to carry on a general hotel business, with a paid up capital of $50,000. Henry D. Johnson, Richard W. Wright and George C. Johnson are the incorporators. H. D. Johnson is the proprietor of the Thurston hotel. Besides this the new company will control the Watson and Grand Pacific hotels at Nebraska City, and deals are pending for the acquisition of other property of the same kind both in and out of Omaha.

NEW FIVE-STORY WAREHOUSE

Fire Proof Structure Contemplated by American Radiator Company on South Tenth Street.

The American Radiator company may put up a $45,000 warehouse in Omaha. The matter has been under consideration by the head officers of the corporation and correspondence has been passing between Manager Charles Curry of the local house and the superior officials at headquarters. It is understood here definite conclusions will be reached in about two weeks. The American Radiator company now has offices at 417 South Fifteenth street, but owns no warehouse in the city. The company uses a building in Council Bluffs and rents a portion of the building in Omaha on Nicholas street occupied by Margaret, Stephens & Davis. These houses, for various reasons, are inconvenient and do not properly accommodate the business of the corporation which is handled through the Omaha office. According to officers of the company, the building contemplated will be a modern fireproof warehouse, which probably will be located on South Tenth street at about Nos. 411 and 413, south across the alley from the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company. The location gives truckage on the Burlington and the Northwestern and is for this reason desirable. It is now covered with small buildings of no particular value. The new building, if decided on, will be 62x122 feet in area and five stories high and will be built with the least possible amount of wood.

Watches, Frenzer, 15th and Dodge.

OLD CASE OF WIDER STREET

Opposition Develops to the Stora's Plan of Broadening North Twenty-First.

Opposition has developed to a plan of the Stora Brewing company to have Twenty-first street between Hurt and Tenth narrowed from 120 feet to ninety-two feet, or by a strip fourteen feet from the property line on each side of the thoroughfare, all for the purpose of rendering the northeast corner at Twenty-first and Cuming streets more convenient for the location of a new saloon building. Some time ago the council passed an ordinance vacating the fourteen-foot strips and directing the appraising board to estimate the value of the street which is to be sold to the adjoining property owners. The report was made Tuesday night and fixes the value at from $4 to $7 a lineal foot, or in proportion to the assessments made by the city tax commissioners. The section of Twenty-first street which it is proposed to narrow is wider than the street on either side and since 1852 has been an official hay, grain and produce market, with scales, and is so used up to the present to a small extent, it is said. The Stora company tried to get the concession granted before, but was refused by the council for this reason. The present controversy is based on the probable expense and inconvenience that will be thrown upon the interested property owners aside from the Stora company. City Comptroller Lobeck and others are active in the effort to have the proceedings set aside. Rich Jewelry, Frenzer, 15th and Dodge.

DRIVER HURT IN RUNAWAY

Teamster Suffers Serious Injuries from Horses Being Scared by an Automobile.

Charles Paulsen, driver for P. J. Crendon & Sons, general contractors at 230 California street, is lying at his home, 2512 M street, South Omaha, suffering from a contusion of the skull, several bodily and, it is feared, internal injuries which may prove more serious than is now apparent. His condition is the result of being dragged several blocks by his team, which was frightened into a runaway by an automobile driven by De Roy Austin, 2513 South Seventeenth street. Paulsen was attended by Dr. D. A. Foster. The accident happened at Fortieth and Cuming yesterday morning. Austin was driving north with his auto and, passing Paulsen, who was driving two horses hauling a heavy load of lumber, frightened the horses. They got the better of their driver, who was thrown to the ground, and, unable to recover himself from the entanglement of the reins, was dragged for several blocks. It was at first feared that death would ensue. Austin, in the excitement and his eagerness to get his machine out of the way, steered it into the curb, damaging it materially, but escaping himself without injury. Electric reading lamps—Orehard & Wilhelm.

Holiday Low Rates. To accommodate holiday travelers the Union Pacific has placed in effect a rate of one fare plus 50 cents for the round trip. Dates of sale December 24, 25, 26, 31 and January 1 and 2, with final return limit January 4. Inquire of City Ticket Office, 1224 Farnam street. Phone 318.

Diamonds, Frenzer, 15th and Dodge.

Through Sleeper

From Kansas City to Hot Springs, Ark., without change via Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain route. Leaving Kansas City at noon, arriving in Hot Springs next morning. For full information address any agent of the company or city office, southeast corner 15th and Farnam sts., Omaha, Neb. THOS. F. GODFREY, Passenger and Ticket Agent.

18-K. Wedding Rings, Edholm, Jeweler.

Lowest Holiday Rates Via "The Northwestern Line"

To all system points in Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Nebraska and Wyoming. Round trip rate one and one-third fare east of Missouri river and one fare plus 50 cents west, on sale Dec. 24, 25, 26, 31, Jan. 1 and 2. Good until Jan. 4. City Offices, 1401-1403 Farnam St., Union Station, Webster Street Station.

Sterling Toilet Sets, Frenzer, 15 & Dodge.

See Harrison & Morton's special Wednesday real estate bargains in today's paper.

Mortality Statistics.

The following births and deaths have been reported to the Board of Health during the twenty-four hours ending at noon Wednesday:

Births—Axel Kindell, 3022 South Thirty-ninth, girl; Jay Griffin, 254 Marcy, boy; J. Peterson, 1st Lake, by John Stodolier, Twelfth and Kavan, girl; Peter J. Meander, 2023 Cass, by A. Blum, 285 Cuming, girl; Christ Peterson, 204 South Forty-first, boy; James Wood, 311 South Eleventh, girl; John Graham, Fourth street and Knox avenue, girl.

Deaths—George Stoddard, Fortieth and Poppleton avenue, 44, Ruby Pinkston, 111 North Twelfth, 21.

Bar Association Meets.

A committee of the Omaha Bar association met yesterday at Commercial club and decided to special quarterly meeting would be called, but that the program which was to have been given by the association should be held until the annual meeting about the middle of the month of January. Other business being completed, the Nebraska Bar association is to have its annual meeting in this city during the second week of January.

LETTER OF LAW ENFORCED

Notary Fined for Affixing Jurat in Absence of Witnesses.

NO MATTER THAT HE KNEW THE PARTIES

Regardless of No Bad Motive or Result Official Who Merely Accommodates Friend is Indicted and Fined.

Jesse F. Beaver, a real estate and insurance agent and notary public of Beatrice, was fined $75 in the United States district court for affixing his jurat to a pension affidavit in the case of one Will Staker of Beatrice, when he had not personally seen the witnesses sign the affidavit, although they were personally known to him and he was familiar with their signatures. The case is a peculiar one in the fact that it indicates the inflexibility of the pension laws relating to all affidavits appearing in person before the official who attests to the affidavit. In this case Mr. Beaver simply affixed his jurat as a notary public to the affidavit of two witnesses in support of the application of Staker, having been positively informed by the pension attorney, W. L. Ozman, that he had just come from the witnesses and that they were unable to appear before him personally at the time. Beaver knew both of the witnesses and was familiar with their signatures, and simply affixed his jurat as an accommodation to the pensioner. Beaver is indicted. At a subsequent special examination of the case by a pension examiner from Washington the two witnesses, while acknowledging their signatures, admitted they had not made them in person before the notary public. Beaver consequently was indicted by the federal grand jury at its November session and was brought here Tuesday by Deputy Marshal James Ailian on a capias to plead in the case. Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated the spirit of the law, but he had no other recourse than to affix the minimum penalty, which Mr. Beaver promptly paid. Mr. Beaver said: "I have had 25 worth of experience that I shall never forget, and realize the fact that even a friendly act is sometimes a very costly affair."

BIG TIME FOR OLD YALEITES

Coming of Glee Club Will Be Followed by Dance and Dinner.

The coming of the Yale Glee club next week means more than merely the concert at Boyd's theater, though that will be a treat, of course. Following the club's concert a dance will be given at Chambers academy by the graduates of Yale residing in Omaha and the next day at noon luncheon will be given at the Omaha club, which, by invitation, 60 men will be asked to attend. The alumni of old Yale course on a big time for this series of events. It may not be generally known what the glee club does with the funds of its special trips over the country, but this money is devoted to a laudable cause. A fund is thereby maintained for the use of the poorer students of the institutions who are not able to buy books. On one of these tours the glee club makes from $3,000 to $10,000, it is said, so that the poor student fund can be substantially maintained.

THREE MEN TO BE PROMOTED

Official Changes Decided on by Nebraska Telephone Company for January First.

The Nebraska Telephone company will put into effect several official changes January 1. Henry T. Coe, present auditor, retires and is succeeded by W. A. Pixley, now assistant and noting auditor. B. F. Griffith will be promoted from assistant treasurer to cashier. Lawrence Brinker goes from the position of bookkeeper to that of assistant treasurer, succeeding Mr. Griffith.

18-K. Wedding Rings, Edholm, Jeweler.

REMOVAL SALE

Before we move we've got to reduce the stock—it's got to go! We're not going to wait till January, but right now; Holiday week.

10 Per Cent Discount

On Neckwear, Stiff Bosom Shirts, Kid Gloves.

15.50 Negligee Shirts.....$1.00
$2.00 and $3.00 Shirts.....$1.50

20 Per Cent Discount

On Bath Robes, Night Robes, Fancy Vests, Underwear.

Albert Cahn

Men's Furnisher Shirt Maker

219 South 14th St.

I CAN RIP ANY SHIRT BUT CAHN'S

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP

has been used by MILLIONS of Mothers for their children while teaching for over FIFTY YEARS. It soothes the child, cures the colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhea. TWENTY-CENTS A BOTTLE.

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit letter of the law. Judge Munger was of the opinion that Mr. Beaver had not intentionally violated

Mr. Beaver pleaded guilty, but stated in extenuation that he was morally certain of the signatures of the affidavits and had made his jurat as a matter of accommodation to the two witnesses, who were unable at the time to appear before him as required by the explicit