Assistant Cashier E. A. Spooner of the First National bank of this city is credited with making the first discovery of a new counterfeit $10 bill, three of which have been taken in by local merchants and by them deposited in the bank.

The counterfeit, which is said to be a particularly dangerous one, has been reported to the officers of the Treasury department. The counterfeit is an imitation of the United States treasury note of the 1901 series, bearing on one side a seal in red and on the reverse side a large "X" in the same color.

The red ink in the counterfeit is lighter and the silk thread is straighter in the counterfeit than in the genuine, while after the word "Washington" in the counterfeit there is a period, where in the genuine there is a comma.

LOOK FOR HIGHER WAGES

Fall River Operatives Expect Arbitration to Greatly Improve Their Condition.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Jan. 19.—The thousands of operatives who have been idle for nearly six months as the result of the great textile strike returned to work today. All the operatives appeared confident that conditions would be greatly improved as the result of the agreement reached yesterday between the manufacturers and the union leaders through the efforts of Governor Douglas.

Although the 12 1/2 per cent reduction on account of which the strike was inaugurated went into effect with the returning strikers today, the feeling seemed to be that the government's arbitration of the question of the margin of profit for the manufacturers between the price of raw cotton and that of the finished goods would bring about a higher scale of wages in the near future.
