REVIVES HER BREACH OF PROMISE CLAIM

Latest Story Comes from Richmond, Whence Promise Comes of Racy Letters as Evidence in New Suit.

Chicago papers contain dispatches from Richmond, Va., to the effect that Miss Mae Catherine Wood, formerly of Omaha, who as a clerk in the Postoffice department at Washington undertook to block the marriage of Senator T. C. Platt of New York, has taken steps to reopen the affair by bringing suit against the senator for breach The documents in the case, consisting of love letters signed by Platt, are promised this time and a conspiracy between certain government officials at Washington and certain lawyers in New York is alleged in connection with the reputed "settlement" of two years ago.

Washington advices add that the renewed effort to levy tax on United States Senator Thomas C. Platt for his alleged lovemaking prior to his marriage to Mrs. Lillian Janeway has caused little astonishment there because it was popularly rumored at the time of Miss Wood's first attempt that she was far from satisfied with the result.

Seven thousand dollars was the largest sum ever quoted by any one in a position to know the details of Miss Wood's remarkable venture.

In Clover After First Settlement. Immediately after the settlement in New York the fair plaintiff came here, resigned her $1,600 a year position in the postoffice and rented an entire suite of apartments at fashionable hotel, where she lived royally for at least six months. Then, according to the hotel people, she was heavily in debt and ordered her bills sent to Senator Platt. Miss Wood explained that the senator was her business manager and had some money in trust for her. As the venerable New Yorker promptly refused to honor the bills Wood was requested to leave the hotel. She then left Washington and her later movements have not been known. It is said, however, that all her debts were weather permits the races will be resumed weather permits the races will be resumed. paid, but whether by herself or by the order of Senator Platt does not appear to be

Hints of the Evidence.

Miss Wood's Washington career was in teresting and varied. She came about four years ago and was detailed from the New York City postoffice. From the beginning she talked freely of Senator Platt and stated he had obtained her a position in New York and had manipulated her transfer. She received many letters from the senator and sometimes read them to her fellow clerks. She never hesitated to show presents which the New York statesman gave her. She spent money liberally and gave generous tips to messengers and acted ike one for whom cash was plentiful. In the spring of 1903 she told her fellow clerks she was going to Europe to purchase her trousseau, and after three months' absence returned with fine raiment by the trunkful. During all this time rumors constantly increased of the engagement between Sena tor Platt and Mrs. Janeway. Finally the Y. M. C. A. DEFEATS UNIVERSITY engagement was formally announced and the wedding day set.

This was just before Miss Wood landed in New York. When she heard of the engagement in Washington she made things lively around the Postoffice department. Three days later Miss Wood returned to New York, where she settled matters with

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL

Few People Know How Useful it is in Preserving Health and Beauty. Nearly everybody knows that charcoal ! the safest and most efficient disinfectan and purifier in nature, but few realize it value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose. Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all but simply absorbs the gases and impuritie always present in the stomach and intes tines and carries them out of the system. Charcoal sweetens the breath after smok-

further acts as a natural and eminent It absorbs the injurious gases which col lect in the stomach and bowels; it disin fects the mouth and throat from the poise of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form of another, but probably the best charcos and the most for the money is in Stuars Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, an other harmless antiseptics in tablet for or rather in the form of large, pleasar tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixe with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

Arranging Fair Circuit.

Arranging Fair Circuit.

NORFOLK, Neb., Feb. 8.—(Special.)—
Northern Nebraska horsemen met in Norfolk today for the purpose of organizing a trotting circuit which will so arrange the dates of the coming county fairs next fall that there will be no chance of conflict in dates. The towns represented at the meeting were Neligh, Creighton, Albion, Stanton, Battle Creek and Madison. The horsemen state that with a circuit better and faster events can be scheduled than with the independent dates. The county fairs in Antelope, Knox, Stanton, Madison, Boone and Wayne counties next season are to be, the managers declare, the best ever held in this section.

Catalogue Houses Must Go. Retail hardware dealers will hereafter fight enemies of the trade to a finish and use the enemy's own weapons. This was the most important action taken by the Nebraska Hardware Dealers' association at their morning session. It is the most important action taken by the association since its organization four years ago. It means that the retail dealers of this state propose, hereafter, to keep their batteries trained on the "catalogue house" and the department stores, with which the retailer alleges he is thrown into unfair competi-

As described by one of the members of the association, the catalogue house is a firm which reaches the customer through the mails. The house does not carry standard goods. It does not even have a stock of goods to select from. The firm usually has a carpeted office in the heart of the city and keeps several shrewd ouyers on its pay roll. When an order nes in from the country for a saw, a file, a hammer, hatchet, or any of the other numerous articles so indispensible around the house and the farm of the handy man, the catalogue house sends one of its buyers to a jobber and fills the order. As cash always accompanies the from the country, the catalogue orde: house is enabled to pay cash for what it

Debate Was General.

This question absorbed the attention of the members nearly the entire morning. An executive session was held and the topic was brought up as the result of the discussion led by W. S. Wright of Omaha, entitled "The Relation of Jobbers and Traveling Men to the Retail Association." The discussion was entered into with spirit by the members. The interest manifested proved that each one present felt a personal concern in the question. Suggestions as to how to combat the catalogue house were fast and furious. Every one at the meeting had a suggestion to offer. Some had two or three plans for getting back at the catalogue house and at times several of | ing of a double tragedy which was enacted the members wanted to talk at the same on a farm about twelve miles north of time. As there were fully 200 people at

After far from happy, being marred by frequent the catalogue houses were disposed of, the bitter quarrels. This evening neighbors department stores were taken up. It was determined to meet the latter on their own ground. It was agreed by the members with few dissenting voices that hereafter, when the department stores make a leader of anything pertaining to hardware, the dealers will advertise their wares at the Papers for the Morning.

Three addresses were down for the morning but two of them had to be cut out of the program because the time was absorbed by the discussions. F. D. Kees of Beatrice delivered his address on "A Retail Dealer's Experience in Manufacturing." He proved tion for this time of winter, nothwiththat he has been so successful that he is standing the excessively cold weather of going to sell the store and devote his entire time to the factory. The question box was opened and some of them were like fuel to the excitment of the morning The questions were not opened until afternoon but the interest they aroused leaped through the hall like an electric flame and kept the interest red hot.

Parcels Post Proposition.

One of the most important questions taken up during the afternoon was the parcels-post delivery proposition. M. F. Corry led the discussion, and it aroused the deepest interest. The hardware dealers see in the post parce! delivery another menace to their interests and they will fight the proposition. Each member of the association was urged to write to his congressman individually, and action will also be taken by the association as a body. The proposition will be fought in a systematic

One of the last addresses of the afternoon was delivered by M. L. Hamilton, editor of the Iron Age. "There is a tendency to broaden the field on hardware lines," he said. "It has become necessary to make up in volume the diminishing profits caused by fierce competition. The department store has made some inroads on special lines, but it is a reversion to type. There was a time when the country store carried everything. The department

Arguments in Hearst Case. The arguments in the case of William R. Hearst of New York against the an thracite coal carrying railroads were continued today before the Interstate Commerce commission. Attorney Shearn for the complainant occupied the entire day. Mr. Shearn contended that between 1897 and 1903 these roads had departed from the published tariffs and had imposed disoriminating rates. As an instance he referred to the case of John C. Haddock, an independent operator. Mr. Shearn said that the purchasing contracts were really contracts for rates and said that by means of the difference between the actual and published rates Haddock had sustained a lose of $800,000 by this discrimination, forcing his company into receivership. W. W. Boss, counsel for the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad, admitted that it had paid Haddock $125,000, which Mr. Shearn immediately contended was a recognition of the validity of his contention of discrimination. Mr. Shearn said the object of the present proceedings was only one step ir the complainant's fight against the monopoly. The hearing was adjourned until tomorrow, when Mr. Shearn will

Ambassador Porter has some reason to believe that he has at last discovered the remains of John Paul Jones. About four years ago he secured a clew which indicated that the remains of John Paul Jones who died in Paris, had been interred in a small urban cemetery, but a search for this cemetery disclosed the fact that it had een abandoned early in the last century and that its site was covered with buildings, leaving little hope that any remains of corpses interred there could be found. Mr. Porter, however, thinks otherwise, pointing out that the American sailor was buried in a lead coffin, a very unusual means of interment at that date and one likely to preserve the body in fair condition for an indefinite period. It is true that Jones by bequeathing to friends and immediate attendants upon his deathbed his sword, his medals and lewelry, which otherwise would have been found in his coffin, has added to the difficulty of identification. but Mr. Porter feels that the hermetically
