He Will Change Its Form and Introduce it Later-Treaty Will Probably Be Reported Today.

WASHINGTON, March 7 .- Without determining any question of policy in regard to the Santo Domingo treaty, the senate deelded today that the treaty should be reported as soon as possible from the committee on foreign relations and the entire question fought out in executive session. This was the sentiment of the foreign relations committee as well as the senate, and in two sessions of the committee the proceedings were with a view to reporting the treaty tomorrow if possible.

The amendments offered in the committee were confined to a reduction of an alleged surplusage of words. They were offered verbally and taken down by a stenographer. They are to be printed and considered when the committee meets tomorrow. By a tacit understanding the policy in-By a tacit understanding the policy in-volved in the treaty was not taken up by the committee and it was understood that the action in submitting amendments in this manner did not commit any senator to the support of the treaty. The program was merely to facilitate action and remove all chance of it being made a party ques-tion in the committee. The prompt action of the foreign relations

The prompt action of the foreign relations committee undoubtedly will result in a much earlier decision in the senate. Nearly every senator who discussed the treaty today expressed a desire that the measure he kent from becoming a party question. To prevent this Senator Bacon offered to withdraw his resolution concerning the protocol of an agreement entered into between the United States in January, 1903. in reference to the Santo Domingo Improve ment company's claim and modify it. When he again offers it the resolution will be general in character and ask that the foreign relations committee inquire and report whether the executive had the authority to make an agreement by which the United States take charge of the customs of another country.

The right of the United States to enter into an agreement with another country for the collection of a claim held by a United States citizen or company was conceded by Senator Bacon, but he contended that the excentive exceeded his authority in entering into an agreement to take charge of the customs affairs of such government without first submitting the question to the senate and receiving its approval. Senator Spooner agreed with Senator Bacon's views as to the authority of the president to make such an agreement with Santo Domingo. Several other senators objected to the form of the resolution, claiming that it went too far. Senator Bacon met this criticism by withdrawing the resolution with a view to remodeling it and offering it again.

The sentiment of the senate seemed to be that an early report on the treaty should be made by the committee on foreign relations. A suggestion to this effect met with favor and it was announced that it had been agreed in the committee that a report could be made within a few days, probably tomorrow. It is not the expectation that the treaty will be reported from the committee in a form approved by all of the members, but it is believed that greater headway can be made by having the Bacon resolution, there was an incldental exchange of views among the senators concerning the treaty and the effect of the intervention of the United Stattes in the affairs of the Dominican government including the right of the United Stattes to collect debts due to American citizens. On the latter point there was substantial agreement, but there was a wide divergence of opinion as to the method.

Replying to the effort made by the United States in the interest of the Santo Domingo aprovement company, Senator Platt of secticut advanced the idea that the United States officials engaged in collecting the money for the payment of this debt are the agents of the Dominican governmont. Senator Teller combatted this suggestion by pointing out that they were ap pointed by the United States, which, he entended, robbed them of the most essen-

He said it would be dangerous for this country to engage in the business of debt paying until the obligations of Santo Domingo had been investigated and sifted. To enter upon he payment of these debts without any knowledge of their extent or whether they were honest or fraudulent, he contended would involve the country in untold trouble and controversy with creditors. He took the position that the treaty should not be ratified until such an investigation had been made.
