'Ac commission houses continue to boom carn speculation. They have been advising their customers for two weeks at least to buy corn and let the wheat alone. Prices on Beard of Trade.

CHICAGO, March 10.—Reports of favorable condition of fail-sown wheat caused a decline of 24,92% here today in the price of the July opinion. Part of the loss was regained on covering by shorts. The close, however, was weak, with July down 1%c. May is off %c. Corn shows a loss of %d%c. Outs are unchanged and provisions %d% lower. Batteme diliness prevailed in the wheat pit during the first half of the session. Local operators seemed disposed to await publication of estimates made by government officials on the amount of wheat in farmers hands. At the start the feeling was rather nervous, initial quotations on May being %d%c lower at 32%d%c. As trading progressed, however, a steadler tone developed, shorts becoming fair buyers. Selling was scattered; May advanced to $1.14% and July to 94%d94%c. Toward the middle of the day sentiment suddenly became bearish, largely as a result of the showing of a crop report by a St. Louis trade journal. According to this report weather conditions the past week have been seasonably favorable for the claim was made that in localities where it was foared a covering of ice had semothered the growing plant no evidence of damage has yet appeared. Extreme weakness in southwestern markets emphasized the selling pressure here on the July delivery. With very light demand the price of that option declined to $2c; May sold off to $1.13. On the break shorts covered moderately, causing a partial raily. The close, however, was weak, with May at $1.13%d2.13%; July closed at $24,602%c. Clearences of wheat and flour were equal to 140,500 bushels. Exports for the week, as shown by Bradstreets, were equal to 1,286.000 bushels. Primary receipts were 48,100 bushels, against $46,100 bushels a year ago.

Light acceptances from the country gave a firm tone to the corn market early in the day. Later the market became easier, along with the slumn in wheat. Fears of a bearish government report also contributed to the weaker tone. May opened & higher at $2c, sold between the case espectively.

NEW YORK STOCKS AND BONDS

Day's Market is Notable for Its Breadth and Strangth.

TRUNK LINES AND PACIFICS HIGHER

Low Rate for Money Makes Speculation Active-Peace Prospects Form Element of Strength in Forelgn Exchanges.

NEW YORK, March 10.—The breadth as well as the strength of today's market was very notable. While many low grade and obscure stocks were numbered amongst the gainers, the standard dividend railroad paying stocks showed revived activity and strength and gave tone to the whole market. The trunk lines and Pacifics particularly

The trunk lines and Pacifics particularly came into prominence and great activity. The absorption of Pennsylvania was on a very large scale. So widespread was the advancing tendency that the heavy shorts are more easily noted as the exceptions to the rule. Some of these were affected by realizing following advances yesterday, which was especially the case with Reading. Others were held by a torpor which they have been unable to throw off in spite of the active advances elsewhere. The United States Steel stocks are conspicuous examples. The buying was somewhat intermittent and shifted constantly from one point to another of the market. Individual commission houses executed a large proportion of the orders in special stocks. Such operations give a market a high professional appearance and suggest the activity of pools and combinations embarked on a speculative campaign. The market was comparatively free, however, from rumors concerning special stocks, such as are usually used by speculative pools to help on the advance in their favorites. In a few cases there were reports of special application, such as that the dividend on Chesapeak & Ohio was to be raised to 4 per cent, that the preferred stock of Hocking Valley was to be retired and that Amaigamated Copper was to begin the issuance of periodical reports of earnings and financial conditions.

The day's movement was plainty due for the most part, however, to general considerations. The extraordinary ease of money conditions.

The day's movement was plainly due for the most part, however, to general considerations. The extraordinary case of money is given most importance in the general field, but is effectively supplemented by the reports of the prosperous conditions in trade and industry. Yesterday's reduction in the official rate of discount by the Bank of England continued to exercise an influence in keeping up confidence in the future case of the money market. The forecasts of the currency movement for the last week indicate a shift in the interior movement in favor of this center, promising a moderate addition to the cash item on tomorrow's bank statement in spite of the absorption on subtreasury operations. The figures of the production of gold on the Rand for February called renewed attention to the steady expansion in the rate of gold production, to which the other great gold fields are also contributing their share. This is a subject that receives attention from time to time as a possible factor in the great rise of prices of securities. The piesent heavy accumulations of mony reserves in the world's great centers give point to the discussion. But up to the present time there has been no evidence of the discrimination against fixed interest bearing securities on the part of capital, which is a natural accompaniment of a fall in the value of the money medium. Peace p ospecis continue to form an element in the strength of markets. The buying of Chesaperis & This served to check the rather irregular tendency which has developed on account of sciling to realize, and made the close firm.

Bonds were firm. Total sales, par value, at the price of the sales and made the close firm.
