(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, March 14 .- (Special.)-The physicians' and surgeons' liability policy of the Travelers Insurance company of Hartford, Conn., is not legal in Iowa, ac cording to an opinion given to Auditor of State Carroll today by Attorney General Mullan. The case has been troubling the department for nearly a year and the attorney general has been investigating it. 1.625 The company sought to insure doctors 1,875 00 against liability for injury to a patient from malpractice. If the patient's arm 188.9 was improperly set and he brought suit and recovered damages the insurance company 第61 55 33 would stand the loss. The attorney general holds that this is illegal and that the insurance laws do not contemplate the issuance of such a policy.

Mulet Tax is Good.

A decision of the supreme court today further sustains the "mulct tax" of Iowa. A building owned by Jennie Newton of Des Moines was occupied by a saloon and the saloonkeeper not paying the tax, the county treasurer assessed it against the property. She resisted the action on the ground that she had not been properly notified and further that the tax was in fact a license and so illegal. The supreme court today points out that a decision of the United States supreme court, given of January 16, this year, but not yet officially reported, holds that the owner does not have to be notified, and as to the other contention the Iowa court holds that it is not a license but a tax. The opinion of the Polk county court to the contrary is reversed.

Malvern People Object.

A citizen from Malvern, Mills county, is in the city today consulting with the attorney general and the superintendent of of the Glenwood Board of Education in enumerating the inmates of the School for on such enumeration. There are over 800 children of school age in the Glenwood school for feeble minded. Glenwood has a population of about 3,000, and with the assistance of the School for the Feeble Minded nearly doubles its school population and gets twice the amount from the state treasury. It is learned that the same course is followed in Davenport at the Orphans' Home and at other state institu

The contingent fund is being heavily drawn on and by April 1 there promises to be a big overdaft in this fund. The same is true of the general improvement fund and a large overdaft is assured here, which will have to be made up next year. The Indian creek dredge is proving a big expense to the city and up to date has cost over $15,000. At present the expense of operating the dredge is met by warrants on the contingent fund.

The streets and alleys appropriation shows, as it has for several months, a balance of $2.07. For some months this department has been maintained by money

The March term of United States court, which was convened yesterday by Judge Smith McPherson, is not expected to last over the end of the week and it is likely that there will not be a single jury trial, unless it may be some criminal case.

The afternoon session was occupied by Judge McPherson hearing arguments in the appeal case from the ruling of the referee in the bankruptcy case of Alexander Wood, one of the owners of the suspended bank of Colfax. The bank held about $20,060 of the funds of Polk county, to secure which Wood had given a personal bond. The referce held that Wood's individual property should go to pay his individual claim of Polk county, and from this ruling the general creditors of the bank appealed. The arguments were not completed yesterday afternoon.
