While the passage of the former compensated in a measure for the defeat of the latter. which was killed in the senate, and though warned of the prejudice that existed against the bill, the women of the state are none the less keenly disappointed, particularly as the friends of the bill who worked for it at Lincoln report prejudice more than anything else responsible for its defeat. District Judge Sears, who supported the woman's property rights bill in ble revenue. The next meeting will be the legislature two years ago, says that less she chooses voluntarily to resign them. ignorance on the part of the legislators of the injustice of the present law was responsible for the indifference which helped to kill that bill at that time. The supporters of this year's bill make same report. However, defeat does not mean discouragement to the women who have already announced that they will present another bill to the next legislature day evening, and would at that time make and that their next campaign will be one of education as well as agitation.

The juvenile court bill is a real satisfac tion and rewards the efforts of several years. It includes the good points of most of the best juvenile court laws of other Roosevelt's "Winning of the West," states among them, thanks to the women's effort in bringing Judge Ben Lindsay here in January, a clause similar to that of imprisonment. It also provides for usual probation officers and an appropriation for

The chief effort of the last year has been in behalf of the citizenship of American women married to foreigners, The memorial was presented by Senator Platt of New York, and the late Senator Hoar of Massachusetts presented a bill decedent, or as it has been popularly which provided that an American woman who had married an alien might recover her citizenship after such a union if she desired. This bill was discussed by the judiciary committee of the senate and later by the senate itself, but was so distorted by amendments that its friends decided it advisable to drop it. The agitation resulting has served to draw public attention to present conditions. # THE REAL ISSUE

To the People of Nebraska:

There is an attempt now being made by the combined railroad, line elevators and line lumber yard interests gathered at Lincoln to cause the enactment of a law known as HOUSE ROLL NUMBER 255 by which the taxes of the people will surely be increased, and the home administration of their county expenditures for bridges will in part be removed from the hands of their local authorities. NO SIMILAR LAW HAS EVER YET BEEN ENACTED BY ANY STATE IN THE UNION.

THIS LAW IS FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE LUMBER AND GRAIN TRUST NOW OPERATING LINE ELEVATORS AND LUMBER YARDS THROUGHOUT THE STATE, and to the end that such trusts may inflict upon the tax-paying public of this state the same heavy exactions they are now inflicting upon the people of this state in their lumber purchases. Preliminary to accomplishing this purpose they must have some law through which they can wipe out the business of parties engaged in furnishing material and constructing bridges in this state. This they have found in House Roll 255. Notwithstanding the large amount of money spent for bridges, none of the men engaged in such work have ever been able to acquire more than a moderate competency in such business. This is of itself the best guarantee of the fidelity and care that has been used in the expenditures for bridges by our county officials now charged with the care of such matters.

Engaged in an unequal fight at Lincoln with these combined trust forces is Robert Z. Drake, owner of the Standard Bridge Company. WE APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE OF THIS STATE TO HELP HIM BY THEIR ADVICE, SYMPATHY AND ANY OTHER HONORABLE MEANS TO PREVENT THIS INIQUITOUS MEASURE FROM BECOM-
