Want Sites Designated. A great many voters who favor the city hall bond proposition want to have the opportunity of voting on a site. It has en proposed that the council open bids for a site before the election and give the voters a chance to express their preference. Unless this is done it begins to look as if the proposition would fall through, One business man on N street has gone on record as declaring that in all fairness the council should give the people the option to select a site. Otherwise there is o telling where the city hall may be uilt, providing the bonds carry. Quite a umber of voters appear to favor the Cenal school building at Twenty-fifth and L treets, but real estate dealers who have building so that it-will be suitable for ity hall purposes. Rough estimates have been made and contractors say that the building can be placed in good condition for about $10,000. Unless strong influence is brought to bear on the council the selection of a site will not be left to the peo-City Hall Sewer.

The sewer leading from the city hall building to the main sewer is still stopped up. Sewer gas and backwater from the sewer still fills the jail room, and the entire building is filled with noxious odors from this sewer. The plumbing inspector and the sanitary inspector have both served notice on the agents of the building to make immediate repairs. Nothing has been done and the city officials will now go ahead and have the sewer opened and charge the cost of the repairs against the property.

Union Pacific Asks Permission to Lay Track in an Alley.

TWO FACTIONS DEVELOP ON PROPOSITION

Ordinance Granting Privilege is Read and Referred After Some Remarks on Both Sides of Railroad Fence,

Business transacted by the city council last night was mostly routine and was ione in an hour. An ordinance was introduced and placed on first and second reading which would give the Union Pacific the right to lay a track in the alley between Eighth and Ninth streets just north of the headquarters building, which its supporters in the council say is for the purpose of hauling materials to and from the new headquarters building to be bullt woon on the present site. Other councilmen declare that no such thing is contemplated, but that the alley is wanted so that the Northwestern cannot run a track up the same passage way from Eighth street. It is pointed out that the Union Pacific has no tracks that could be connected with the proposed stub in the

Patrick C. Heafey notified the council that he expects $1,000 damages for painful injuries on his left hand caused by falling on a defective sidewalk near his on South Thirty-fifth street, between Dodge and Farnam, March 4. > New Paving Advertised. An ordinance directing advertisements for and the paving of Spaulding street from Twenty-fourth to Thirtieth, and creating improvement district $45, was introduced, and an ordinance directing similar steps with regard to paving Douglas street from Twentieth to Twenty-fourth was passed. The latter is the only paving actually ordered that will be paid for by special taxes in nearly two years. Whether or not it will be done depends upon the attitude taken by the new city attorney towards the specifications insisted upon by the majority of the members of the Board of Public Works.

> The Board of Public Works was instructed to advertise for bids for 250 signs warning pedestrains against spitting on the walks.

Orders were given to the Board of Public Works to complete the Saddle creek sewer disposal plant which was abandoned by Contractor James P. Connolly last fall. The work will be finished by day labor. A resolution was adopted ordering twen ty-five plank cross-walks put down where they will do the most good in each ward of the city.

The general sidewalk ordinance may amended by the ordinance introduced last night that advertisements can be made for offers for laying the walks this year. The old ordinance required this last December but it was overlooked.

The ordinance authorizing an issue o ots to sell are working against this site, $100,000 renewal bonds to take up maturing giving as the reason that it will take a funding bonds and to run twenty years at large amount of money to remodel the 4 per cent was introduced and referred.

A daring holdup was pulled off last night Thirty-third and Parker streets, and held him up, securing about $40, a suit of clothes and a watch. Mr. Roder was just closing up the store and was only a few feet from the front door when two masked men entered and commanded him to throw up his hands, at the same time pointing a gun at him. Roder thought it was a joke and told them to quit their fooling and get out as he wanted to close up, but when the men grabbed him he realized they were in dead carnest and began to yell and struggle with them. In the scuffle one of the men struck Roder over the head with the butt of his gun, which dazed him. They then bound his hands and feet with a rope which they took from their pocket, gagged him with a towel, dragged him around back of the counter and turned all of the lights out except one. They went through Roder's pockets and secured $20 and a silver watch. They then went through the cash register and fourd $17 there. The men were very cool and appeared to be experlenced at the game, carrying on an aninaated conversation between themselves and even had an argument over the respective qualities of two brands of cigars, which finally was ended by each of the men taking a box of his favorite brand. They also took several bottles of whisky and made a kick to Roder because he did

Before leaving they examined Roder's bonds and taking a sheet from off his bed wrapped it around his feet and tied it, and then taking a knife from his pocket one of them cut cut the telephone wire and told Roder that if he said anything to the police about the holdup they would come back next week and kill him. They then went out, locking the frent door and taking the keys with them,

The men were certainly very nervy, as the store is situated just at the end of the Harney street car line and there is a car there practically all of the time. The men entered the store just after one of the cars had left and while another car that stayed at the corner was less than two blocks away. A. C. Damon, the motor-man in charge of that car, said that after he had turned the car around he went to the window of the store and looked in, thinking that if Roder was still up he would buy a cigar, but as he could see no one in the store and all the lights were out but one in the window, he supposed he had gone to bed. This was within three minutes of the time when the robbers left the store, and it is supposed that they were at that time back of the prescription desk.

After the robbers left, Mr. Roder succeeded in getting upon his feet, worked the gag out of his mouth and got as far as the door. At that time, 10:50 o'clock, H. H. Van Alestein, conductor of the car then walting on the switch, heard his cries and went to investigate. Looking through the glass door he saw that Roder was bound and, going around to the back of the store, kicked in the back door and released Roder. As the telephone wire was cut it was impossible to notify the police until the car got to the car barn at Twentieth and Harney streets. Roder was bound and helpless for fust an hour.

As soon as the police were notified, de tectives were at once dispatched to the scene of the holdup. The men, however, left no clue that could be found last night and Roder was unable to give a good description of them, as both wore long, black

PLEASURE OF OWNING A HOME E. A. Benson Talks to Young Men on Advantages of Thrift and Economy.

E. A. Mr. with the aid of a blackboard, showed how easy it might be for a careful man to make payments of $100 a year, and how much interest would have to be added. Mr. Benson said he had never heard of a case where a man had gone in for a home of his own and had made the payments until his title was clear who was sorry he had taken the step. Mr. Benson said it might mean to do without smoking, but that was its own reward. One might have to do with perhaps a few less concerts to make the payments, but he held the song of the robins on the vines of one's own home was the finest concert to be heard anywhere. The management of the grand opera season announces that all seats which have ing. been reserved and uncalled for at 6 o'clock tonight will be placed on general sale tomorrow morning. They will be picked up scarce, except in the front section of the main floor. Without being so announced, the appearance of the Conreid Metropolitan Opera company promises to be of the proportions of a grand musical festival for Omaha, bringing in visitors from a greater distance, both in Nebraska and the neighboring state of Iowa, than have ever been brought before for any Omaha productions The interest in the appearance of the wonderful Italian tenor, Caruso, is growing with every moment. Mme. Sembrich and Caruso appear together in the opera of "Lucia di Lammermoor" on Thursday evening, March 30, the second night of the engagement. Caruso's triumphe, as the company makes its way west, grow with every performance, beginning in Boston, where he made the hit of the season, and passing through perfect ovations at Pittsburg and Cincinnati, he is now delighting the people of Chicago with his marvelous tenor voice. The sale is now going on at the Piano Player company, 1518 Harney street, under the personal supervision of Clement Chase, local manager.

There are so many good things on the Orpheum bill this week that it would seem nvidious to single out one for praise, and the omission of some is merely necessitated by limitation of space. Louis Simon, Grace Gardner and company probably excite more laughter in their one-act farce comedy entitled, "The New Coachman," than any thing that has been seen at the vaudeville house this season. Those who enjoy fun or a good, hearty laugh should see it. Sydney Dean and his two colleagues are just as phenomenal a success in their way. They present a little musical skit called 'Christmas on Blackwell's Island." They have decidedly good voices, and with their songs intermix some comedy. A matineo will be given on Thursday.
