

BUILDING BIG BILL BOARD

Work Prosecuted in Judge Estelle's Court Under Much Difficulty.

DEFENSE IN REMIS SUIT IS COMMENCED

First Witness Called Testifies to the Construction of the Sign Board that Fell on the Plaintiff.

Lawyers always find it very necessary to lay a proper foundation when trying cases in court. That is a task difficult enough, as a rule, but when a trial lawyer is compelled to build a superstructure on the foundation the labor is one to daunt even the readiest man.

City Attorney Breen had called as the first witness for the city W. H. Kreile of Minneapolis. Taking him back to December, 1898, Mr. Breen had the witness help him construct a billboard twelve by twenty feet in size.

Finally Mr. Breen and his witness managed to get some new lumber bought and a sign maker at work tearing down an old billboard which was to be reconstructed with the aid of the new material. The actual work of building with 4x6, 2x6, 2x4 and flat lumber was not under way in an hour or so, but to get the square timbers properly placed took considerable more time.

Breen Not Discouraged.

The city attorney stuck to the bill and its items with commendable perseverance. It seemed to have got a body blow on two or three separate occasions when the master mechanic frowned on it, but when it looked like it must be knocked out altogether and the whole board thrown into the scrapheap Mr. Breen suddenly backed out of the way and graciously waved permission to go ahead.

At the rate of progress made in the last two or three days this Bemis case bids fair to keep the court and jury busy well into next week. Wind and weather, cutmen and architecture, surgery and suffering, recklessness and responsibility, personal and official, all are going into the record, which promises to be a bulky one when finished.

CLOSING THE SCAVENGER SALE

Last of the Long List Under First Advertisement Will Be Disposed of on Friday.

The last scavenger tax sale under the first advertisement of delinquent property will commence Friday morning at West Side addition and continue until the list is finished. Under the longer hours devoted to the sale for the same time past it has been found practicable to clean everything up within the time set, which was the last day of March.

It is the general impression among the men who have been handling the sale for the past several months that some men have made a mighty good thing in their purchases. The county and city have also profited, not only through fattened funds but in getting into the live tax list many thousand pieces of real estate which have for years been delinquent.
