

Public Property
A FAMOUS REMEDY WHICH HAS BEEN FAVORABLY KNOWN FOR NEARLY FORTY YEARS, IN THE CURE OF THE DISEASES OF WOMEN

Is not a "patent medicine" but a PROVED prescription of a graduate Physician who early made the diseases of women his specialty.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Will hereafter have the ingredients in plain English on every bottle that leaves the laboratory. Made entirely of medicinal flowering plants, this prescription of Dr. Pierce does not contain a particle of alcohol or injurious drugs.

THE PROOF:

From long experience Dr. Pierce acquired the knowledge of how to combine the following ingredients in just the right proportion in his "Favorite Prescription" for disease of women.

This medicine contains the following non-alcoholic vegetable extracts:

- Lady Slipper (Ophryodolium pubescens), Black Cohosh (Osmorhiza racemosa), Unicorn Root (Ophioclema luteolum), Blue Cohosh (Caulophyllum thalictroides), Golden Seal (Hydrastis canadensis).

THE REASON:

To meet the many outrageous and wholly baseless attacks of some scoffers, Dr. Pierce has decided to make public the ingredients of this medicine, which is the best tonic for debilitated and nervous women.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

New School Buildings Will Be Erected During Coming Summer.

SHORTAGE OF BRICK NOTED AT PRESENT

Contractors and Builders Say They Are Delayed in Starting Work by Lack of Material Needed in Construction.

In speaking of the additions to school buildings now under contemplation, C. M. Rich, a member of the Board of Education, said last night: "It is not until the school board meets on April 21. The board does not expect the contractors to get down to work much before June 1. More than likely the work will not start on the additions until June 1. The schools will close on June 2 for the summer, and then the contractors will not have much difficulty in getting down to work. We expect that by the latter part of May or June 1 that there will be plenty of sand brick on the market. At the present time brick are scarce. Sand brick now bring $3 per 1,000 and are hard to get."

Continuing, Mr. Rich said the question of building an addition to the Lincoln school was in the hands of the buildings and ground committee. "I expect," said Mr. Rich, "that committee will go ahead and make some preliminary arrangements for new rooms at the Lincoln school. There is need of more school rooms in this part of the city. I hardly think, though, that any decisive action will be taken until the board meets on May 1."

Contractors all over the city are noting a scarcity of good building brick. When the first warm days came Krittenbrink molded brick and then the cold snap came. This delayed the work at not only this brick yard, but at all others. No brick making will be started, so it is stated, until there is some assurance that there will be no more freezing nights. Machine-made brick used for filling and backing are plentiful, but sand brick are exceedingly scarce. Some contractors are holding back starting work until they can be assured of a supply of brick. There is no difficulty about securing vitrified brick, but this grade is mostly used in pavements and sidewalks. Every contractor in the city predicts a busy season.

Police Commissioner Meeting. Only four members of the Fire and Police board attended the meeting held in the council chamber last night. Mr. Nolan is out of the city and will not return for several days.

It was decided by the board to appoint Nils Turquist a captain. This will add to the officers of the force. Heretofore there has been only one captain. Now there will be a chief and one captain on day duty and one night captain in charge of the force after the evening roll call. Frank Morton was elected a member of the police force and will report for duty at once.

Officer William Coulter was granted ten days' leave to look after personal affairs. Captain James Brabbits of No. 3 hose company was granted ten days' leave.

Secretary Bergquist was instructed to request the city council to have a set of harness made for the fire department and also consent to repairs and repainting of hose wagon No. 3. A good fire department harness with Hale hames and collars will cost about $100. Repairs to No. 3 hose wagon will cost possibly $125. Chief Garrett stated that a new harness was needed at once and that something should be done with No. 3 wagon as soon as possible.

Liquor licenses were granted to J. Klein, 224 N. street; George Schuler, 92 North Twenty-fourth street; James Rybin, Twenty-third and Railroad avenue, and John R. Sturma, Fortieth and L streets. Another meeting of the board will be held next Tuesday night at the council chamber.

Getting Ready for Legal Fight. Under the direction of A. H. Murdock the city clerk is preparing a history of the city hall and park bond ordinances. It is understood that copies of these histories will be furnished to prospective bond buyers. Mr. Murdock, so it is understood, is to take the lead in the legal fight which it is supposed will follow any attempt on the part of the mayor and council to open bids or complete a sale for these bonds. Frank Pivonka, who is leading the fight against the issuing of these bonds, called at the city office yesterday and stated that he had enough money to carry the case to the supreme court if necessary. After histories for these bond issues have been prepared the council will doubtless proceed to sell the bonds.

Investigating Charter Amendments. A committee composed of Adkins, Martin and McGrath, assisted by Assistant County Attorney A. H. Murdock, are investigating the changes made to the South Omaha charter and are endeavoring to locate the trouble. Records are being gone over for the purpose of ascertaining where is not some way to pave Missouri avenue and West Q street without taxing the whole amount of up to the abutting property. A great deal of disappointment is shown by residents generally that the charter was so amended that the city could not go ahead with the paving of these streets under the old law. Unless the supposed error can be rectified the petitions for the paving will have to contain the names of a majority of the property owners.

Dog Tags Due Thursday. Poundmaster McGill stated Tuesday afternoon to the city clerk that the dog tags for 1905 ought to reach here on April 20. Should the tags arrive on time the selling will commence at once and people owning dogs will be given ten days in which to provide tags. Mr. McGill said last night that he proposed starting out early on the morning of May 1 with several wagons and would impound every canine found running loose without a tag. He further made the statement that the city was overrun with worthless curs and dog fights on the streets are occurring every few minutes. The price of tags will remain the same as last year. As last year, the city pound is located on the tracks just north of the L street viaduct.

Train Crews Must Move. Orders have been posted at the street car barns to the effect that commencing May 1 all crews running on the Walnut Hill line must report at the new car barns, Twenty-fourth and Vinton streets. This order will cause the removal of a large number of motormen, conductors and their families to the northern limits of South Omaha. Some of the train crews running on this line have already arranged for accommodations in South Omaha and the order issued Tuesday will hasten the removal of more men and their families. At the present time quite a number of cottages are being put up in the vicinity of the new car barns and more are being planned. Some of the crews will reside on the Omaha side of the line and others in South Omaha near the new car barns.

Big Cattle Run. Tuesday's receipts of cattle at the stock yards was the largest in four months. Up to the hour of closing the yards 24 cars, holding 7,047 head, were unloaded and yarded. Live stock dealers at the South Omaha Union stock yards look for an increase in the receipts of cattle from all over the territory tributary to this market. Encouraging and a big business is expected this year. While there is now a decrease in cattle receipts as compared with a year ago, commission men are confident that this will be wiped out before long and that the official records will show an increase.

Setting Fence Posts. The Union Pacific has a number of men at work setting fence posts on the east side of the Union Pacific right-of-way. Posts six feet above the ground are being set and men were at work yesterday afternoon digging post holes on the east side of the railroad right-of-way south of Q street. It is understood that a fence is soon to be constructed to keep pedestrians off the tracks in the yards. This privilege was allowed the Union Pacific and the Union Stock Yards Railroad companies when an agreement was reached regarding the building of the O street viaduct. As soon as the fence now being constructed is completed it is expected that the railroad companies will proceed to lay additional sidetracks in order to accommodate the rapidly increasing freight traffic at this point.

Return to Studies. The two Japanese pupils attending Lowell school returned to their studies yesterday. Mr. Okojima, a business agent for the Japanese here, had withdrawn the pupils from this school when the demonstration occurred Monday. At the suggestion of some of the members of the Board of Education these Japanese were sent to school again Tuesday. There was no demonstration made by students and the only evidence of a strike was a falling off in the attendance. Members of the Board of Education declare that under the laws of Nebraska Japanese may be permitted to attend the public schools of this city. Quite a number of the residents of the Fifth ward who signed the petition asking that the Jap boys be barred stated privately to members of the board that they were not opposed to the Japs, but were almost compelled to sign the petition. "It is a temporary measure," said one of the prominent educators of the city, "and I have started for the purpose of causing trouble in the ranks of the laboring people."

Magic City Gossip. Mayor Howe, No. 29, of the Maccabees will meet tonight at the hall.

Mr. and Mrs. John Korton, 199 North Twenty-second street, announce the birth of a son.

Among other improvements the Omaha Packing company is putting in a new $75,000 catch basin.

Evangelist Redding still continues to draw crowds of thirty meetings at the First Presbyterian church.

The Magic City King's Daughters will have their thirty-third annual "and Feast" on Thursday afternoon.

A culvert is to be built at the intersection of Thirty-third and H streets by the street department and the streets made passable.

The fire department was called to Thirty-sixth and W streets Tuesday afternoon. There was a fire in the rear of a grocery.

On Thursday the annual meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the city will be held at the Methodist Episcopal church, Twenty-third and L streets.

Workers are now engaged in placing the iron railings on the spans of the new Burlington viaduct at Thirty-eighth and L streets. In a few days this bridge will be formally open for traffic.

Announcements of the Theaters. The Orpheum has a bill this week that is pleasing the clientele of the popular vaudeville house. Mabel Adams, the pretty vi in player, with good taste selects compositions that please her auditors and renders them with good effect, while Hensley in French is demonstrating that he is one of the most versatile entertainers that has appeared here. A matinee will be given on Thursday.

"For Fans and Fortune" opens for two nights and one matinee at the Krone theater this afternoon. The play is a simple story of Terry's life, the lights and shadows of the little fighter's career, his early struggles and a series of incidents based upon truth and actuality. The last act is a reproduction of the famous contest at Tuckhoe, where Terry wrested the bantamweight championship from Pedlar Palmer in such short order, that the audience was hardly seated before the contest was over. Hardly to severe illness Terry was unable to fight in his play.

His younger brother, Hugh, will take his place, and it is said that he does equally well as Terry. The fact that Hugh will soon fight for the bantamweight championship of the world should make his name a great one. E. Grant by the production closes here Thursday night.

The coming to the Boyd theater of the Savage English Grand Opera company will afford the people of Omaha the best opportunity in Colorado you will find in the masterpiece of musical composition in English. The only difference between the performances of this company and those of the Metropolitan Opera company is that the words are in English and not in a foreign tongue. The company has organized his company on the highest scale and presents a splendid organization, 150 in number. He has soloists of established reputation, under the guidance of accomplished conductor and supported by a chorus of admitted strength. On Thursday night the season will open with Wagner's "Lohengrin;" on Friday night Bizet's "Carmen" will be given; on Saturday at the matinee Wagner's "Tannhauser;" and on Saturday evening Verdi's immortal "Il Trovatore."

You'll Miss a Lot. PREJUDICE AND THE JEWS

Some Popular Fallacies Explained in a Common Sense Way.

RECORD OF THE MISUNDERSTOOD RACE

Rabbi Leon Harrison Lectures at the Boyd Before Large Audience on the Topic to Close Y. M. C. A. Course.

Dr. Leon Harrison, rabbi of Temple Israel, St. Louis, delivered at Boyd's theater last evening the concluding lecture of the Young Men's Christian association's course, having for his subject "Popular Prejudice Against the Jews." The audience was larger than usually responds to an endeavor to combat prejudices that are deeply seated and widely diffused, and this may be attributed in no small degree to the lecturer's fame as an eloquent speaker and as a man who has something of real interest to say.

He said the exception to the statement of Edmund Burke that you can't draw up an indictment against a nation is found in the case of the Jews, and that as persecution hates its victims because of the virtues persecution has itself created, the Jews, driven from the handicrafts and many other pursuits, devote themselves in varying degrees to finance, and are cordially despised for their seeming love for money. But he pointed out that the Jews, instead of being proportionately the richest race, have been proven by the celebrated authority on folklore, Joseph Jacobs of London, to be the poorest. The Jews, he said, have succeeded in other pursuits than that of money, referring to the notable successes won by them in poetry, the drama, music, philology and politics.

Jews as Citizens. That the Jews devote themselves most ardently to the acquisition of material things, he said, the economic fallacy of the day. He gave as another fallacy the often-heard statement that the Jews are foreigners in whatever country they may be living in and that their allegiance is distinctly Jewish. Among others he referred to Disraeli, Edwin Lasker of Germany, Ferdinand La Salle, the great exponent of socialism, and to Gambetta, who, he said, was, on one side of his ancestry, a Jew. He said that the first foot set on the soil of the western hemisphere from the ships of Christopher Columbus was a Jew; that the first babe born in Georgia was a Jew; that there were a dozen officers of the Jewish race in the revolutionary war; that a loan of $500,000, which was never returned, was made by a Jew in aid of the revolution, and that in the war of 1812 and in the Mexican war the Jews were honorably represented, while in the civil war $500 Jews bore arms. He pointed out that previous to the civil war the highest officer in the American navy was Commodore Uriah Levy, and that one of the most notable men of the confederacy was Judah P. Benjamin. The Jews of New York will soon celebrate the 25th anniversary of their coming to that city. He asserted that patriotism is a passion with the Jew, and that the Old Testament is full of exhortations in favor of patriotism.

Jews and Christianity. Rabbi Harrison discussed what he called the religious fallacy and referred to the popular idea that the Jews are narrow and antiquated because they will not accept Christianity. He said that Jesus was a Jew; that he taught the ethics of the Jew; that there is not a word in the Lord's prayer and the Sermon on the Mount that cannot be traced back to the Old Testament and the Jewish commentaries. As to the charge that the Jews crucified Jesus, he said it is not true. As those who fought the war in the civil war were not responsible for the assassination of Lincoln, it being the act of a fanatic, neither can the Jews be held responsible for what was the act of the aristocrats and plutocrats of the nation, namely, the Sadducees. These, he said, more represented the Jews as a people than the Russian duke, in the present state of affairs in that country, represent the Russian people. He pronounced the charge a hideous falsehood. The fact is, he said, the Jews received Jesus with palms in Jerusalem, and also, that there were 1,000,000 Jews in Palestine who neither by word or deed contributed to the tragedy of Calvary. He said it is a part of the eternal glory of Judaea that it produced Jesus.

Dr. Harrison then discussed what he termed the imaginary prejudices, and gave a very entertaining talk on "The Merchant of Venice," stating that Shylock has become the most abominated type through which condemnation is visited upon the Jews. That of the lecture was elaborated, and in it many interesting deductions were made, going to show that Shylock was very human after all and did not deserve the opprobrium that has been showered upon him for centuries.

TRAVELER RESENTS REMARK

Omaha Commercial Man Indignantly Replies to the Language of Dr. Dutcher.

OMAHA, April 17, 1905.—To the Editor of The Bee: Will you please publish in your paper the enclosed letter to Rev. Dutcher in defense of the traveling men, and oblige, Yours, etc., CLARENCE W. CLOSE, 2615 Indiana Street.

OMAHA, April 17, 1905.—Dr. S. D. Dutcher, Omaha: Sir—I take this liberty to ask you why and on what grounds you should make the remarks quoted in The Bee in your talk before the Ministerial union? When a preacher will get up in public and call commercial travelers "pimps" and accuse them of hanging around the burnt district, I am here to tell you that you are not fit to preach in God's house. You are unclean and a villager of your fellow man. Why should you insult every traveling man, his wife and children and the firm he represents? Don't you know that business houses do not employ prostitutes to represent them? Don't you know that the great majority of this hard-working army of traveling men belong to God's army and are his hardest fighters? Don't you know that two-thirds of the commercial men have wives that they love and work night and day for, and that they have babies at home that they pray for every night; that they are working honestly, honorably and faithfully for right, justice, truth and an honorable record? If you don't know these truths you had better step down and out of God's house and come with the commercial men of Nebraska and learn how to be a gentleman, how to speak of your fellow man in the light of justice and with a Christian spirit. I think you have insulted publicly every traveling man on the road, and we will expect you to make your apology just as public.

CLARENCE W. CLOSE. Twenty-two years a traveling man.

OMAHA, April 18.—To the Editor of The Bee: If Dr. Dutcher is correctly reported in The Bee, a more gratuitous, unwarranted or greater insult has never been uttered against any particular class of men I do not know Dr. Dutcher, but I do know something of the character of "commercial travelers," and in their behalf I demand a public retraction of the statement. If Dr. Dutcher will take the trouble to call upon some of the sales managers of the jobbing houses of Omaha and inquire into the character of the men employed by them he will not find it difficult to meet the demand I have made. All ministers are not good, and it is equally true that some commercial travelers are bad. But it would be as unwise and untrue to say that all ministers are bad as it is for Dr. Dutcher to make the statement he has regarding commercial travelers. It is more than likely that there is not a church in Omaha that does not number among its members a commercial traveler or someone connected with a commercial traveler's family. E. E. BRANDO, Manager National Lead Company.

STARKEY TRIAL GOES FAST

State Rests Its Case and Defense Moves to Dismiss Bill.

TESTIMONY FOR PROSECUTION DISPUTED

Attorneys Argue that Showing Made is Not Enough to Convict Wife of Cautious Husband's Death.

Shortly before the noon adjournment of court on Tuesday the state completed its evidence against Mrs. Jessie Starkey, accused of manslaughter. Attorneys Seales and Elgutter, for the defense, at once made a motion that the court direct a verdict for the defendant. The ground of the motion was stated to be that the evidence failed to support the charge in the information that the deceased, John Starkey, came to his death from the knife wound said to have been inflicted by the accused.

Mr. Seales argued that the testimony of John Peterson as to the position of the parties in the sleigh when the blow is said to have been struck was very improbable. He drew up a chair before the court and piled a book on it to bring it up to the height of the seat on which Starkey was sitting when stabbed. Then, sitting in the chair with a closed pocket knife in his hand, Mr. Seales illustrated his contention that Starkey must have been at least half facing his wife to make it possible for her to have stabbed him in the manner the state claimed.

The attorney also argued in support of the motion that Dr. Lavender's testimony supported the theory of the defense that Starkey could have died of pneumonia if he had never been stabbed; that his system was full of the germs which indicated a pneumonic condition.

After taking the noon hour for consideration Judge Day overruled the motion in the defense and the trial is proceeding.

Mrs. Starkey Sits Velled. While all this was going on Mrs. Starkey sat entirely alone, some distance away from where the attorneys were arguing. She has not raised her veil at any time during the last two days and it is impossible for anyone to see just how she regards the testimony given against her.

It was almost 11 o'clock on Tuesday before the lawyers excused from the stand Dr. Lavender, the bacteriological and pathological specialist. He had been put through a long and wearisome examination by Judge Sabaugh and the lawyers for the defense, the latter coached by Dr. Langfelt, bacteriologist at Creighton university. The witness made a good impression as to his fairness, and was very careful to have his answers understood.

A Mr. Johnson followed Dr. Lavender on the stand. He had taken Starkey home on the day preceding the stabbing, and gave indications of wanting to testify that Mrs. Starkey and her husband had not been quarreling; but, to the contrary, she had taken great pains to treat Mr. Starkey with great consideration for his condition. He was a state witness and on objection was not allowed to give all the conversation and incidents of his trip with Starkey. The defense announced it would call him as a witness later.

Dr. Walker of Immanuel hospital gave testimony as to Starkey's condition on the Sunday when he left for home. This was two days before he died and he was legal sight which it is supposed will follow any attempt on the part of the mayor and council to open bids or complete a sale for these bonds. Frank Pivonka, who is leading the fight against the issuing of these bonds, called at the city office yesterday and stated that he had enough money to carry the case to the supreme court if necessary. After histories for these bond issues have been prepared the council will doubtless proceed to sell the bonds.

Investigating Charter Amendments. A committee composed of Adkins, Martin and McGrath, assisted by Assistant County Attorney A. H. Murdock, are investigating the changes made to the South Omaha charter and are endeavoring to locate the trouble. Records are being gone over for the purpose of ascertaining where is not some way to pave Missouri avenue and West Q street without taxing the whole amount of up to the abutting property. A great deal of disappointment is shown by residents generally that the charter was so amended that the city could not go ahead with the paving of these streets under the old law. Unless the supposed error can be rectified the petitions for the paving will have to contain the names of a majority of the property owners.

Dog Tags Due Thursday. Poundmaster McGill stated Tuesday afternoon to the city clerk that the dog tags for 1905 ought to reach here on April 20. Should the tags arrive on time the selling will commence at once and people owning dogs will be given ten days in which to provide tags. Mr. McGill said last night that he proposed starting out early on the morning of May 1 with several wagons and would impound every canine found running loose without a tag. He further made the statement that the city was overrun with worthless curs and dog fights on the streets are occurring every few minutes. The price of tags will remain the same as last year. As last year, the city pound is located on the tracks just north of the L street viaduct.

Train Crews Must Move. Orders have been posted at the street car barns to the effect that commencing May 1 all crews running on the Walnut Hill line must report at the new car barns, Twenty-fourth and Vinton streets. This order will cause the removal of a large number of motormen, conductors and their families to the northern limits of South Omaha. Some of the train crews running on this line have already arranged for accommodations in South Omaha and the order issued Tuesday will hasten the removal of more men and their families. At the present time quite a number of cottages are being put up in the vicinity of the new car barns and more are being planned. Some of the crews will reside on the Omaha side of the line and others in South Omaha near the new car barns.
