YOUNG'S WIDOW TESTIFIES

Nan Pattersou Trial.

MRS. J. MORGAN SMITH ALSO ON STAND

Letter Showing that Defendant Had Other Admirers When She Professed to Be Devoted to Dead Man.

NEW YORK, April 27.-While there were no features as sensational as yesthe trial of Nan Patterson charged with the shooting of Caesar Young, was fully as interesting today in the many points brought out. Mrs. Margaret Young, widow of Cuesar Young, was on the stand, and as she transferred her eyes to the defendant they would fill with tears. Nan Patterson dropped her eyes when she saw the widow and did not raise them again until recess. Josiah D. Millen, Young's partner, was another witness, and told of the relations between Young and Nan Patterson.

The prosecution introduced in evidence a letter purporting to show that Miss Patterson had other admirers at the time she professed to be devoted to Young.

The letter that Mrs. J. Morgan Smith sister of the defendant, wrote to Caesar Young, in which she said Miss Patterson was "frantic" and which was admitted at the previous trial, was also ruled out. The conspiracy charge against the Smiths is based on the letter.

LAMPEN ASKED TO RESIGN Patterson's fate probably will be entrusted to the jury on the case Board of Trustees of Bellevue Colher accusers. After as presented by yesterday's session, when Pawnbroker Hyman failed to identify either J. Morgan Smith, Mrs. Smith or Miss Patterson, as persons who were present in his store when the revolver, which killed Caesar Miss Patternson's counsel said he was convinced that the state's case had fallen "Nan Patterson needs no defence," said Mr Levy after a conference with his associate counsel. "The defendant will go to the jury on the case as made out by the state when Assistant District Attorney Rand closes the testimony."

Mrs. Young on Stand. Mrs. Margaret Young, the widow of the dead bookmaker, went on the stand this afternoon. She testified that her husband never had owned a revolver, but that she had one and that she packed it away with a box of cartridges in her baggage when she was preparing to go to Europe just before her husband was killed. The revolver was loaded when she put it in the sult case a year ago and the cartridges still remain in the chambers. She identified the weapon which was produced by Mr. Rand. The only time the weapon ever

Mrs. Young said she was married in 1898 and made her home in California. It was her custom to accompany her husband to the race track and conduct business for him. She saw Nan Patterson at the tracks several times in 1983 and 1904 and at that time knew of the relations between the young woman and her husband. When she were intimate, her marriage relations with her husband were discontinued and there was so reconciliation until after May 25 of last year, when they went to live at Sheepshead Bay.

Her husband was in a happy frame of mind at that time, she said, spoke of his plans for the future and after they had talked over the proposed European trip he engaged passage on the steamer Germanic. She accompanied him from Sheepshead Bay to the Luce home on June 3 and that evening they had a party at which her four

CHICAGO, April 27 .- A special to the Daily News from Milwaukee says: "Wiliam Bigelow, vice president of the First National bank and brother of Frank G Bigelow, defaulter, accidentally exposed his brother to the directors, is the story that is accepted in banking circles as the rue version as to how the crime became kflown Saturday night. It seems that Frank G. Bigelow was called out of town Saturday and that the affairs of the bank were left in the hands of his brother. Saturday morning a telegram came, ad iressed to Bigelow, from a New York bank stating that it was willing to take cure of a draft for $50,000, even though the bank" was already indebted to the New York house for $200,000. William Bigelow could not understand the matter, and was more puzzled when he discovered that the New York bank was charged in the books with being indebted to the First National for $200,000. He asked the bank to explain and found that the telegram was correct An examination of the books followed and he found so many queer things that he lecided not to wait for his brother to re turn, but to consult with Mr. Pfister. They mmediately suspected one of the cashiers of defaulting and called a special meeting of the directors, Frank G. Bigelow returned, but did not see his brother until he reached the bank in the evening to attend the meeting. When the directors had assembled William Bigelow told what he had discovered and stated that he had so idea of the amount taken or who the criminal was. Thereupon his brother arose and made the startling disclosure that he was a defaulter for over $1,000,000."

NEW YORK, April 27 .- A gift of $10,000,-000 by Andrew Carnegie to provide annuies for college professors who are not able o continue in active service was announced today by Frank A. Vanderlip, vice president of the National City bank of New York, Professors in the United States. Canada and Newfoundland will share in the distribution of the income of the fund United States Steel corporation 5 per cent first mortgage bonds for $10,000,000 have beer transferred to the board of trustees and steps will be taken at once to organize a corporation to receive the donation. Dr. Pritchett, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Mr. Vanderlip have been selected by Mr. Carnegle to obtain data on the subject, to be presented at the first meeting of the board of trustees, which will take place on November 15.

Annuities for College Presidents. Mr. Vanderlip today sent the following

Mr. Andrew Carnegie has transferred to a board of trustees, consisting in the main of presidents of the most important colleges in the United States and Canada. It is 6,00,000 first mortgage 5 per cent steel corporation bonds. The purpose of the trust fund thus created is to provide annuities for college professors in the United States. Canada and Newfoundland who from old age or other physical disability are no longer in a position to render the most efficient service. It is Mr. Carnegie's belief that this fund will not only provide a dignified pension system for a body of most worthy, self-sacrificing and poorly paid men, but that it will be of distinct value to the cause of education in offering an opportunity to the trustees of a college to retire members of the faculty who have faithfully served the institution for many years and to replace such men with young vigorous and efficient professors. I am taking the liberty of enclosing herewith Mr. Carnegie's letter outlining the nature of his bequest. This letter was written to the members of the board of trustees. The list of trustees is also enclosed. All have authority to send an expert to examine the accounts of carriers and shippers; also that district attorneys should begin action for violation of the law on complaint of the commission or other persons, without reference to or by direction of the attorney general.

Mr. Hines declared that to create a ratemaking body would be a step in the direction of government ownership.

Answering Chairman Elkins. Mr. Hines said that giving a commission authority to fix rates would mean reductions, as rates never would be increased. This would mean a reduction in expenses, either in train service, improvements or wages of employes.

Congress could authorize a commission to fix a maximum rate, the witness said.

A. C. Lincoln, general freight agent of the Missouri Pacific railroad, said fixing of rates by any other method than by natural methods by railroad. etter to the press:

Steps will at once be taken to organize a corporation to formally receive the bequest. The first meeting of the heard of trustees has been called for November 18. In the meantime it is Mr. Carnegie's desire that Dr. Pritchett, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and myself proceed to obtain data from all the institutions concerned for use at the meeting of the trustees. The bonds which Mr. Carnegie has so graciously donated have market value of $11,000,000 and will produce an annual income of $500,000.

The corporation which is being formed will be styled "The Carnegie Foundation." Yours very truly, Corporation to Be Formed. ours very truly, (Signed) F. A. VANDERLIP.

Mr. Carnegie's letter to the trustees is dated April 18; and is as follows: I have reached the conclusion that the least rewarded of all the professions is that of the teacher in our nigher educational institutions. New York City gentless took. tional institutions. New York City gen-erously, and very wisely, provides retiring pensions for teachers in its public schools and also for its policemen.
