eventually lead to an industrial paralysis that would make the situation too serious for the civil authorities to cope with. Feverish labor conditions were apparent. Not the least sensational of the day's developments was the re-entry of the Union Traction company phase of the situation. Important demands for increased wages and other requests made by employees to the managers of the big street railway system today brought the company again to the verge of a strike. Delivery of so-called "unfair" coal to the traction company's power plants has heretofore caused serious apprehension, but pending the making of a new agreement with the company, leaders of the street car union compelled the union freemen to handle the coal. Now the crystallized demands of the employees are: Increase of gripmen's pay from 24 cents an hour and reduction of the probationary period from six months to three months.

MAN AND TWO WOMEN HELD UP

Three Men Believe Them of Value on Council Bluffs Side of River.

Three men, two of whom were masked, held up at the point of revolvers R. James of 1304 Webster street and George Foster and Grace Wood of 1524 Capitol avenue at 10:30 o'clock last night near Metcalfe's roadhouse in Council Bluffs. The man and two women were returning to Omaha from a buggy drive. When they had reached a dark point on the road not far from the Metcalfe place a man who was not masked ran out into the road and grasping the bridle reins and flourishing a big revolver told the occupants of the buggy to get out and watch from James and Foster to shoot them if they made any noise or tried to defend themselves. At this moment two men who wore masks came from the roadside and with flourishing revolvers and threats proceeded to search the man and the women. They took $15 and a watch from James and $1 from the Foster woman. The other woman did not have any money. "You folks have done pretty well," said one of the highwaymen, "and I will give you something to remember us by and as a reward for your good conduct, I will give each of them a .41-caliber cartridge. "Keep these in remembrance of Pat Crowe," were the last words spoken by the bandits as they backed off into the darkness and disappeared. The man and two women made a rapid trip from that section of the country and did not stop until they reached the police station in Council Bluffs, by which time they had so far recovered from their fright that they were able to tell of their experience. No trace of the robbers has been found.

PROMINENT MAN ENDS LIFE

When Questioned Regarding Death of Murdered Man Illinois Citizen Shoots Himself.

SAVANNAH, Ill., May 25.—Bothwell Pulford, reputed to be the wealthiest citizen of Savannah, committed suicide today a few minutes after being questioned regarding the whereabouts of a revolver with which he was suspected of having slain Attorney Dan S. Berry, former leading member of the Illinois legislature. Pulford had denied any knowledge of the killing of Berry, but became agitated when questioned concerning the revolver. The story has been widely reported here and he was killed as a result of attention paid by him to a married woman. Pulford, on arriving at his store today, found a newspaper man waiting for him with queries as to the revolver. As soon as the interviewer had left Pulford hurried home and going to the hay loft of his barn shot himself dead. Do you want the best natural mineral water? Ask for Sheboygan.

TIBBLES ACCUSES BRYAN

Veteran Populist Says Democratic Leader Violated Compact with Him.

HOW A BAD LUNG GOT STRONG OVER NIGHT

Late Vice Presidential Candidate Takes the Lid Off of Some Doings in the Nebraska Fusion Camp.

Under the caption of "The Story of a Suppressed Populist Newspaper," by Thomas H. Tibbles, people's party candidate for vice president, Tom Watson's magazine in its current issue exposes some inside facts of the fusion movement not previously generally known. The text of Mr. Tibbles' contribution is the concerted effort to squeeze out the Nebraska Independent as a free populist organ, which under his editorship had come to be opposed to further fusion. The main features of the article—in some places almost sensational—are herewith reproduced.

Mr. Tibbles starts out with a recital of the fact that at one time 1,500 weekly papers were advocating the Omaha platform, but that they were gradually extinguished until the Independent was the only one of consequence left. He continues:

"Notwithstanding all such schemes the Nebraska Independent lived and its circulation gradually extended into every state and territory. It was the only paper to get rid of it other tactics would have to be employed. To destroy the paper was not the objective. It was to destroy the people's party. With the Independent in hostile hands the political fortifications built up by it in Nebraska and the republican party were deserted and the Bryan, Belmont, Sheehan and Tom Taggart democratic party could walk in and take possession.

How Fusion Was Forced.

"The main battle was fought in the populist state convention August 10, 1904. The proposition to force a fusion with the democrats under the lead of the most disreputable and of financial and political pirates. He came home with money for campaign expenses. Then Mr. Bryan hired a special train and went out speaking in Nebraska and in other states. The surprising rapidity with which his lung healed has never been equaled in all the history of medicine.

Berge's Newspaper Ambitions.

"Mr. Berge—George Washington Berge—received a large vote for governor. That was because Mickey, the republican, who was running for re-election, was cordially hated by the whole republican party. Thirty thousand republicans voted for Berge, and then he was defeated. But Berge is a fusionist. He wants office, and especially the office of governor of Nebraska.

"Mr. Berge is a lawyer. He never has had a day's experience in a newspaper office. He announced that he would start a paper in Lincoln in opposition to the Independent. A proposition was made to the proprietor of the Independent to accept a very large price was offered. When the proprietor faced these facts he began to get discouraged. He had grown up in Lincoln. He had associated with these fusionists for years. The fight which he saw in the future with these men was an unpleasant thing to contemplate. The cost of running a great newspaper plan is large. When it was known that the home advertising would in part be lost, and also a large share of the job work, the moment the editor defied Bryan and the fusionists the outlook was gloomy.

"The proprietor of the Independent was bound in the contract, transferring to the George Washington Berge the title to the paper, not to engage in the business of publishing a reform paper for five years, but the fusionists found that it would be impossible to put any shackles on the editor. He intends to fight on. Just as all the world is beginning to accept populist principles he does not propose to sheathe his sword and stand by a passive spectator. The greatest battle of the age is to be fought. He is going up against that crowd again.

"The populists of the different states and territories have been readers of the Independent will in the near future have a place to express their views and read discussions of the great problems that are pressing for solution. We will be heard. The people's party is not dead. The Nebraska Independent will rise from its ashes stronger and better than ever before. The vilest rotter, worst smelling spot in all the preserves of plutocracy is that place where the fusionist roam, seeking to destroy the organization that gave him the only opportunities of his life."

JOHNSON SENTENCED TO HANG

Slayer of John H. Fox of Trinidad, Colo., Convicted of Murder in the First Degree.

TRINIDAD, Colo., May 25.—The jury in the case of Joseph Johnson, who on April 8 shot and killed John H. Fox in the lobby of the postoffice here, returned a verdict of murder in the first degree today. The death penalty applies.

Mr. Fox was one of the most prominent citizens in southern Colorado. The murder created a sensation and the lynching of Johnson was attempted. Officers spirited Johnson away to Pueblo, however, and defeated the purpose of the mob.

Where Tibbles Got Busted.

"When the conventions were over and the campaign committee appointed the fusionists found that it was a difficult thing to make a campaign in Nebraska. Something must be done to get the independent to fight the battle for them, but the independent still declared that it would not support a Parker democrat. Then, said to relate, the editor of the Independent got taken in himself.

The chairman of the democratic state committee, a brother-in-law to Bryan, came to Mr. Tibbles, declaring that he represented Mr. Bryan and was speaking in Bryan's name, and made the following proposition:

"If Mr. Tibbles would spend most of his time out of the state during the campaign and let the Independent support the fusion ticket, all of whose nominees except three were populists, Mr. Bryan on his part would agree to go to Arizona or Colorado and get sick. He would continue to keep sick until the close of the campaign, so sick that he would not be able to make any political speeches at all. An exception was made in regard to Indiana. It was said that Mr. Bryan had promised to make three speeches in Indiana in support of his old personal friend, who was running for governor in that state, but it was further stipulated that these three speeches should not be political speeches, but repetitions of Mr. Bryan's lecture on 'Ideals.'

"Mr. Bryan went to Arizona and sent home a letter saying that he was worse and would not be able to deliver any political speeches during the campaign. This letter was printed in the Lincoln daily papers and was shown to Mr. Tibbles as proof that Mr. Bryan was keeping his contract.

"The chairman of the democratic state committee went to New York, saw Parker, Sheehan, Belmont, Tom Taggart and the rest of the band of financial and political pirates. He came home with money for campaign expenses. Then Mr. Bryan hired a special train and went out speaking in Nebraska and in other states. The surprising rapidity with which his lung healed has never been equaled in all the history of medicine.

Organization Stands Pat.

The organization leaders say they continue to "stand pat" on the gas lease and that their ranks are solid all along the line. On the other hand, Mayor Weaver announced late today that he had assurances that the vote in both council chambers when his veto is considered will be changed materially from the vote taken last week.

The councilmen who favor the gas lease are having a hard time of it. They are being swamped with petitions and delegations of neighbors are calling on them at their homes or places of business, or are holding them up on the streets.

With the exception of the time he went to lunch, the mayor did not leave the city hall from early in the morning until 6 p. m. He spent the afternoon over plans for future action and in preparing to fight for the injunction in the county court. Many prominent lawyers and men called on him either to assist him or congratulate him for his attitude in the struggle.

Big Legal Fight in Prospect.

The offices of United States Senator Boise Penrose were the center of interest for the city today. He identified himself as a special commissioner Durham, Senator Penrose and State Senator McNeil spent nearly the entire day there in consultation with lawyers and ward leaders. Messengers kept coming and going in an almost steady stream, carrying information and legal papers or law books. The array of lawyers were also kept busy preparing for the coming legal battle. With Elihu Root of New York leading one contingent of lawyers and John K. Johnson of this city at the head of the opposing array of attorneys, a great legal war is in prospect. A remarkable feature of the struggle is the silence that both sides are maintaining. Little of consequence leaks out and nothing is known until a move is actually publicly made.

Federal Officials Too Active.

It was reported today that President Roosevelt will be asked to issue a special warning to federal employees to keep out of the gas lease fight. It is charged by some of the anti-gas lease people that the organization is calling upon federal officials to use their influence with councilmen in behalf of the gas lease. "Yes," said the organization leaders. Leaders against the organization say they know government employees are bringing pressure to bear on the councilmen and that if it continues a delegation of citizens will go to Washington to see the president.

Councilmen Change Votes.

As a result of the agitation against the lease three select and six common councilmen have now announced that they would change their votes on the lease. This would make the vote select council stand 34 for the gas and 8 against, and in the common council 68 for and 16 against. It takes a two-thirds vote to pass an ordinance over the mayor's veto.

Kidnaper Finally Caught.

Mrs. Sophie Adler, who was arrested in Baltimore Tuesday last on information furnished from Los Angeles, Cal., charging the kidnaping of her 10-year-old daughter of A. Broches of that city, would have been arrested in Omaha had a telegram from the police of Los Angeles reached the Omaha police in time. The police received a telegram at 10:20 p. m. giving some particulars of the charges and a description of the woman and child. The telegram

MAYOR OUSTS OFFICIALS

Philadelphia Executive Forceably Removes Heads of Two Departments.

SUPREME COURT SUSPENDS INJUNCTION

Prospects for a Big Legal Battle—Heavy Pressure Being Brought to Bear Against Members of Council.

PHILADELPHIA, May 25.—The bitter feeling that has been engendered by the gas lease fight was intensified today when Mayor Weaver practically ejected from the office the departments of public safety and public works by his two former directors and again installed the men appointed by him on Tuesday. The news created considerable excitement in the city hall and on the political "fratello" and nearly all that were interested assembled in the vicinity of the mayor's office at the close of the next day. This came quickly, but from an unexpected quarter—the state supreme court.

While the mayor was ordering his old directors out of their offices his attorneys appeared in the supreme court and obtained a special subpoena suspending the injunction yesterday by the county court. A dramatic incident of the day was the great ovation given Mayor Weaver by several thousand persons on his way from the city hall to the Union league for lunch. It was looked upon by those opposed to the lease as an indication of the trend of popular sentiment.

A rumor that the mayor is to be impeached spread today. For what particular offense was not clearly defined. One story had it that he would be brought before the bar of the city council for his conduct of an election fraud case while he was district attorney and another rumor had it that he was to be made to answer to some alleged lapse of duty while in his present position. All attempt to confirm the impeachment rumor failed. The leaders of the organization were closeted all day, either with their small army of attorneys, among whom are numbered some of the most prominent lawyers in the city, or were receiving reports from their ward leaders.

(wife) was there. He denied that he had discussed Dennison or the Pollock robbery with Beane.

He denied that he had told a detective named Tillotson that he had made the remark that Dennison was a gambler, had made his money skinning people, and that he "intended to skin Dennison."

He denied that he had told Mrs. Eva Swartz of Des Moines that he felt nervous when taking the Pollock diamonds into Omaha.

He denied that he had told Sheriff Courtland of his deputy, O. E. Wilson, who took him to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, that he had taken the diamonds into Omaha.

He denied talking with Frank Baird or Michael Conway about the robbery.

The questions and others regarding conversation Shercliff was supposed to have had with other parties were read by Attorney Connell from affidavits or statements from the parties to whom Shercliff was alleged to have talked. In each instance he denied the discussion of the robbery, though he admitted in several instances that he had talked with the parties.

Lays Job Out to Other Man.

He was asked if he knew a party named Wetmore and answered that he had met him. He was asked then if he knew that Wetmore was a private detective in the employ of Thomas, but Thomas objected and the objection was sustained.

He denied that he had made a proposition to Wetmore to put up a job on Walter Motes, but that Wetmore had made such a proposition to him and he had reported it to the county attorney of Harrison county.

He was then asked if Wetmore did not say it would require a third party, as he could not make the demand for the money. He said no.

Then Connell said: "Did you not see and Wetmore and Joe Sherry eat dinner together at the Iowa hotel and then go to a room in that hotel and Wetmore tell you that 'this was the trial of Dennison and Shercliff denied that, but later said the three had sat at the same table."

"In that room," said Connell, "did Wetmore tell you to explain the proposition to Sherry and did you not do so, also telling Sherry that you would go either to Canada or Mexico and that he could come and get you for the trial and that you said you would want $2,000 for your share." Shercliff denied that.

"Did you not tell Sherry that the job should pay from $5,000 to $6,000; that he could work for Dennison, Motes and the Civic Federation?" Shercliff denied that, but at this juncture the prosecution was objecting so fiercely that Connell said:

"Joe Sherry is a deputy sheriff of Douglas county and he was sent to Iowa by Honest John Power, who three times has been elected sheriff of Douglas county, for the purpose of getting at the facts in this case."

Without any previous warning Connell then jumped on to another lead. He asked: "Hasn't the Civic Federation been paying you expense money right along?"

The witness admitted that he had received some money from the federation.

"Hasn't Thomas been paying you money every month?" asked Connell.

"He has paid my hotel expenses," answered the witness. "But hasn't he been paying you money?" "Not in the way you mean," answered the witness.

"Answer me," thundered Connell. "Hasn't Thomas handed you money by his own hand?"

"Yes," was the answer. "I think he gave me $10 when I left prison."

"And the witness added that Secretary Ware of the Civic Federation had also sent him money.

"But hasn't Elmer Thomas sent you money?"

"Well, how much, was it $500 or $100?" "I don't recollect; maybe from $50 to $100 to pay my expenses."

"Did he owe you anything?" "No."

"Have you any claim on him?" "No."

"Was it because of your remaining here and giving testimony against Tom Dennison?"

"I probably wouldn't have got it if I hadn't remained," was the answer.

Others Are Contributors. "Now, haven't you received money from other parties?" demanded Connell.

"Yes, sir, from Elmer Thomas, Fallon and the secretary of the Civic Federation."

"Didn't you get a check from Harry Bromo?"

"Yes, sir, but I don't recollect how much it was."

"Was it for $50?"

"It was not for that much, but I can't say how much it was."

"How many of these checks did you receive?"

"I didn't keep track of them."

Then the witness said he probably got five, though he could recall only one at five.

"Now, then," said Mr. Connell, "haven't you got several thousand dollars from these parties?"

"I have not."

The witness denied that he had been promised $2,000, but added: "I don't pay expenses out of money I earn in a blacksmith shop."

Follow Witness' Life. The remainder of the day and the time previous to this little flurry the witness was interrogated from depositions and statements which had been made by parties who claimed to have talked with Shercliff.

The questions showed that every step of Shercliff's life had been gone over thoroughly. On one occasion he was asked if he did not tell a party in South Omaha that he felt nervous when bringing the Pollock diamonds into Omaha. Connell identified the person by saying the conversation occurred at a time he was being attended when he was wounded and was in the man's room.

"I refuse to answer that," said Shercliff. "I may incriminate myself, and that is what you want me to do."

Again Shercliff testified that when talking with Dennison about the latter getting the diamonds he said Dennison had not described the train upon which he went to Missouri Valley.

Connell dug up the affidavit of Shercliff and showed that he had sworn that Dennison had said he went out in the same car in which the robbery occurred. Then Shercliff said he had not understood the question and said the affidavit was correct. He was still on the stand when court adjourned and will testify further tomorrow.

WARM WEATHER HELPS

Get Rid of Your Catarrh by Using Hyomei Now.

Everyone who has catarrh should take advantage of the warm weather to get rid of this annoying and distressing disease. The right treatment, faithfully followed, in May or June, will benefit much more quickly than in the Winter and early Spring.

Do not try to cure catarrh of the head and throat by taking drugs into the stomach. It cannot be cured in that manner. The only way in which this too common disease can be cured is through a direct application of Hyomei that will kill the germs of catarrh and prevent their growth.

The first day's use of Hyomei will show a decided improvement, and in a short time, especially if used at this season of the year, there will be no further trouble from catarrh.

You take no risk in buying Hyomei. The complete outfit costs but one dollar, and if after using you can say that the treatment has not helped you, the Sherman & McCollum Drug Co. will return your money.
