MUST AWAIT A DECISION FROM ROME

Board of Assessment Completes Its Work by Fixing Valuation of the Santa Fe Road at $25,000.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Neb., June 22.-(Special.)-In its opinion in the case of Murphy against Bonacum, handed down by the supreme court this morning and recognized as one on the life of the man. of the most sweeping and most important decisions of the court in many months, the court ruled that it would not pass on a controversy as to ownership or possession same derive their right from a church or church society.

By right of his position as a bishop in session of church property at Seward. The case has been in the courts for a numnow the question has developed into an interpretation of the canons of the church and the standing of the two in the church. In the lower court the bishop secured the injunction, but in the opinion today the supreme court reverses all of its own former decisions, reverses the opinion of the lower court and tells the principals to settle their difficulties with the authorities of Rome, and throws the case out of court. Commissioner Ames wrote the opinion and

In his syllabus said:

First—The courts will not entertain a controversy concerning the title or right of possession of real or personal property except at the instance of some person or persons having or claiming a right thereto derived from, or recognized by the laws of this state or of the United States.

Second—The courts of this state will not review the process or proceedings of church tribunals for the purpose of deciding whether they are regular or within their ecclesiastical jurisdiction nor will they attempt to decide upon the membership or spiritual status of persons belonging of claiming to belong to religious societies.

In the opinion the commissioner said: In the opinion the commissioner said:

This injunction strikes us as not the This injunction strikes us as not the least remarkable of the proceedings under review. Let it be supposed to be valid, as it was held to be by the former opinion and let it be supposed also that it shall maily be determined upon its merits and the decision made of record and exemplified in a satisfactory manner; and one of two consequences will be inevitable, either the courts of this state will sit in review of it as upon appeal, or more properly upon certiorari, a thing which reason and the authorities are unanimous in saying they authorities are unanimous in saying they cannot do, or else they will humbly and unhesitatingly register and enforce the decree or sentence of independent and alien power or sentence of independent and alien power having its seat of spiritual and temporal sovereignty in the ancient city of Rome; a proceeding for which there is no precedent in the United States, nor it is believed in any court whose records are written in the English language. But if neither of these consequences is admitted then the injunction has no practical end or aim and deals with a controversy of which the courts of this state can rightfully take cognizance and is wholly void, and so we esteen it.

The opinion, which was adopted by the court, concludes as follows:

It is recommended that the former de-nision of this court and the judgment of the district court be wholly reversed, va-ated and set aside and the cause remanded with directions that the action, both upon the petition and upon the cross-petition, be tismissed, each party to pay his own costs, but without prejudice to the future litiga-tion of the rights of either party, if either has any, under the laws of this state, to the property in dispute.

ECZEMA ITCHES AND BURNS

The return of warm weather means a return of torture to Eczema sufferers. The blood is charged with burning acids and acrid matter which is forced to the surface through the pores and glands, lorming pustules which discharge a sticky fluid, and the itching is intense.

The doctors said I had pustular Ecmema; it would break out in small white pustules, mostly on my face and hands, discharging a sticky fluid; crusts would form and drop off, leaving the skin red and inflamed. I was tormented with the itohing and burning characteristic of the disease for five years, and during the time used various medicated soaps, ointments and washes, but these applications seemed to make me worse.
After taking S. S. S. a short time I began to improve; the itching did not worry me so much. I continued the medicine, and soon all the usly eruptions disappeared and my skin is now as clear as anybody's. I have not been troubled with any breaking out since.
Urbans, O.

E. E. KELLY.

Sometimes the disease is in the dry orm, and bran-like scales form on the ikin, but the cause is the same-humors in the blood. Salves, cooling washes, powders and the like can do nothing more than relieve the itching, because they do not reach the acid-laden blood, the seat of the trouble. S. S. Preacher Gets New Trial.

The supreme court in an opinion written by Judge Barnes decides that Philip Hubert, the negro preacher sentenced to six years in the penitentiary for a statutory crime against Lillian Hardy, the 15-yearold daughter of one of his parishloners, is entitled to a new trial on the ground that the information was defective, the admission of improper testimony to the prejudice of the defendant, and that the evidence in the record is insufficient to establish the offense described in the second clause of section 12 of the code. It also appears to that the state was permitted to been probated, it is reported that he left the bulk of his property to the city of that the state was permitted. that the state was permitted to introduce evidence of certain acts of the plaintiff such as the purchase of two cocktails for the officers who arrested him, and certain statements alleged to have been made by him to that officer, none of which corroborated or even tended to corroborate the evidence of the prosecutrix or impeach or discredit his testimony.

The supreme court upon completing the business of this session this morning took a recess until September, though the members may be called together during the summer on extraordinary occasions. Chief Justice Holcomb, who has been in poor health for some time, will leave shortly for a trip to the Pacific coast in order to recuperate. Whether he will be a candidate for re-election this fall the judge did not say, but laughingly replied to the question that he guessed he committed suicide when he wrote the opinion in the biennial election's case.

Finishing Touches on Assessment. The State Board of Assessment put the finishing touches on the assessment of railroad property this afternoon by fixing the valuation of the Sante Fe at $25,000 or an assessed valuation of $5,000. The board adopted the finding provided by statutes and then closed up its book.

Chamberlain Case Set for Trial. TECUMSEH, Neb., June 22.-(Special.)-The regular summer term of the district court in and for Johnson county will convene in this city next Monday, with Judge W. H. Kelligar of Auburn on the bench. The docket is made up of twenty-eight civil and twenty-two criminal cases. The numerous counts for embezzlement against Charles M. Chamberlain, wrecker of the Chamberiain banking house of this city, accounts for the unusually large number of criminal cases. It has been decided to try Mr. Chamberlain first on the count wherein he is accused of illegally appropriating the funds of the failed bank to his own use in the purchase of a ranch in Custer county. The amount charged is $2,500. The jury had not been called for this term of the court, but in anticipation of the Chamberlain trial the judge ordered one called. It is the general opinion here that Mr. Chamberlain will not be ready for trial next week and that the calling of the jury will amount to nothing. A change of venue is also talked the disease is
