WEST POINT—The almost constant rains of the last two weeks have been very dis-astrous to corn in the bottom lands of Cuming county. It has been almost im-possible for the farmers to cultivate corn. possible for the farmers to cultivate corn. The weeds are growing apace and with con-tinued wet weather it is feared a large acreage of low lying corn will be unable to mature. Corn on the uplands is in a thriving condition, but is considerably be-hind corn of previous years. The stand is good and the plants show a good color. Wheat and oats are heading out and pro-mise well. Wheat shows considerable rust, but not more than has been the case for the last two years.
