weight, fiesh and quality have been very active sellers all this week, with prices during the first half of the week tending upward quite repidly. During the latter half of the week there was no quotable advance, but gains made earlier were fairly well maintained, so that at the close of the week the market on good to choire beeves is 15@25c higher than the close of last week. On the other hand the light and medium cattle which were selling very high a week or two ago, as they were being purchased largely by packers in place of cows and helfers, have declined 15@25c during the week. The drop in prices on this kind of cattle is due to the fact that as usual at this season Texas cattle are becoming quite plentiful at Chicago and at southern market points and these cattle are taking the place of the light cornfeds.

No change took place in the market on cows and helfers during the week, the packers being out of the market left a limited demand, with the result that the trade on most, days of the week could hardly be called a market. Receivers of both cows and helfers were forced to work very hard in order to unload supplies and the deadlook between sellers and packers is settled it would be far better to keep the cowe and helfers at home.

No stockers or feeders of any consequence have arrived during the week, but what few put in an appearance met with

HOGS—First bids this morning were a little lower than yesterday and a few sold that way, but as it became apparent that there was a very active demand the market firmed up, becoming strong to a shade higher than yesterday. The great big bulk of the hogs sold a little better than yesterday, taking the market back to about where it was on Thursday. When the trade was once under way it was so active that everything in sight changed hands in a very few minutes. The most of the hogs sold at $1.874.05.92%, with a top at $6.66, Yesterday the bulk of the hogs went at $2.56.51.90.

Receipts of hogs this week have shown

Receipts of hogs this week have shown a considerable falling off as compared with a year ago. The market has fluctuated back and forth within narrow limits, but at the close of the week is a good strong to higher than one week age. Representative sales:

in at very high prices early in the week, have sold off a little. This does not eig-nify anything, as the market on grass stuff had not yet been established, and as the demand was very good it was only natural that the first receipts should have sold
