He waived examination and was held on a bond of $500 to the district court.

Woman Gets Her Maiden Name—Mrs. Minnie M. Tighe has been granted a divorce from Michael J. Tighe on grounds of abandonment and non-support. Her maiden name, Schmell, was restored to her. Non-support and Cruelty—Alleging non-support and cruelty Mary Queenan has begun suit for divorce from Martin J. Queenan of South Omaha. She says he has frequently struck her and called her bad names and has forced her to work for her own support and that of her two children by a former marriage. Our Guide for Visitors—It is the aim of the convention committee of the Commercial Club to offer a street car trip about the city to visiting delegates to all conventions whenever the weather will permit. One hundred and fifty of the delegates to the meeting at Council Bluffs Thursday of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Iowa were given a ride through Omaha to Florence. Stealing From a Dressmaker—Charles Williams, a negro, was placed on trial Friday morning before Judge Troup on the charge of breaking into the dressmaking establishment of Miss Marie Nepinsky in the Paxton block and taking a fur coat and collar and some dress goods. According to the evidence he tried to pawn the garments, claiming he was acting for some one else. The robbery happened when Miss Nepinsky was out of town. No Successor to Gruber Now—The circular is out announcing the resignation of J. M. Gruber as general manager of the Burlington lines east of the Missouri river. He goes to the Great Northern, with which he was formerly associated. That an immediate successor may not be appointed to Mr. Gruber is shown by the fact that the circular states that all superintendents are to report to Vice President Willard of the Burlington, who has charge of operation. It is also rumored that G. T. Ross, general superintendent of the Burlington Missouri lines, is going to resign. Street Car Victim Sues—George Chamberlain, a teamster, has begun suit in district court against the Omaha and Council Bluffs Street Railway company for $10,000 for injuries he received in a collision with his wagon and a street car near Twenty-fifth and Farnam streets. The petition says he was thrown from the wagon and injured about the head, shoulders and hips. He declares his injuries are permanent. Superintendents and Principals—The official program of the Nebraska Superintendents and Principals' association convention, to be held at Lincoln October 24 to 28, has been issued. Sessions Thursday morning and afternoon will be held in the hall of the house of representatives and those of Thursday night, Friday and Saturday at University temple. A banquet will be held Friday night at the Lindell hotel. Retailers at Nebraska City—Omaha jobbers and the jobbers of other Nebraska cities have been invited to attend a meeting of the Otoe county branch of the Federation of Nebraska Retailers in Nebraska City October 16 and 17. Pure food will be the principal subject of discussion and an attempt will be made to arrive at some definite plan to fall into the net of the duties of the jobber under the law in the pure food matter. Rose Draws Young Man into Jail—Some ninety feet of firemen's hose which was found in the possession of Harry Halsey drew the young man ninety days in the county jail when he was arraigned in police court Friday. Halsey was offering it for sale and the best excuse he could give for having it was that "a fellow" sent it to him to sell it. The brass couplings had been cut from the lengths. Police believe it belongs to the fire department. Tearing Down Keith Barn—The dilapidated old livery barn on Twenty-eighth street just south of Farnam, is being torn down pursuant to instructions of the city council and building inspector on account of its unsafe condition. The building is owned by John Keith of Sutherland. It has been condemned for several months as being unsafe to fall into the street. The city council recently refused to permit the building to be repaired and ordered its immediate demolition. Plan to Boost the Bonds—A movement is on foot among those interested in the paving intersection and sewer bonds to be passed upon by the voters at the coming election to organize in order to impress upon the voters the necessity of approving the proposed bond issue. The plan includes the idea of securing volunteers who will stay at each polling place all day of election and let no voter get to the voting machine without having told the necessity of the bond issues and receiving direct instructions as to how to vote for them. Omaha Juvenile Home as Model—Investigating the workings of the juvenile court law and the best methods of building and conducting a detention school, John L. Leonard, L. R. Jackson and G. W. Akers of St. Joseph, Mo., visited the probation officers and the county commissioners Friday. They constitute what is known as the county court for Buchanan county, corresponding to the board of county commissioners in Nebraska. The last Missouri legislature passed a bill extending to St. Joseph the jurisdiction of the juvenile court law and the county is thinking of building a detention school.

What's that—can't get it? That's exactly what most successful men have thought early in life, but they have all found out that they are pretty sure to get what they deserve if they ask and work for it; and they are equally as sure not to get it if they don't work and ask for it. If you want anything, ask for it through the want columns of The Bee. These columns are read by the people who can satisfy your wants.

STATE-AND COUNTY CLASH

Food Commissioner and English Cannot Agree on Prosecuting Packers. EACH WANTS OTHER TO START Johnson May Bring Action in Lancaster for Alleged Violation of Branding Section of Pure Food Law. The threatened prosecution of the South Omaha packers for alleged violations of the branding section of the pure food law has been delayed by a wide difference of opinion between County Attorney English and Deputy Food Commissioner Johnson over who is to furnish the evidence upon which the prosecution is to be based. Deputy Food Commissioner Johnson has directed the county attorney to bring suit and the county attorney has written the food commissioner for evidence upon which to base the charges. Mr. Johnson says it's up to Mr. English to act, while Mr. English declares it is up to Johnson to get busy with his assistants and dig up some evidence. Now it is reported from Lincoln that Johnson has given up his intentions of having the packers prosecuted here and will have the charges filed in Lincoln by County Attorney Tyrrell. The report from Lincoln that Johnson had decided to bring charges against the South Omaha packers in Lancaster instead of in Douglas county because County Attorney English did not show a disposition to prosecute came as a surprise to County Attorney English, who for some time has been waiting an answer from Johnson to a letter written September 26, offering to bring prosecutions when the food department furnished the evidence. Asks Johnson for Data. "I received a letter from Mr. Johnson dated September 26," said Mr. English Friday, "in which he called my attention in a general way to alleged violation of the branding section of the food act. He said in the letter there was a good chance to make a record in the prosecution of these cases, but gave no specific information upon which to base a charge. September 29 I wrote him asking him to furnish me with data and evidence upon which to base complaints, such as the names and specific instances of sale. I said we would prosecute any violations of this law in this county that may be called to our attention or which may be supported by evidence we consider satisfactory. I have good faith and have been awaiting an answer containing the necessary information. I have not heard from Johnson since. The county attorney's office has no facilities for going out and getting evidence, while the food commissioner's office has. Johnson is furnished assistance for this very purpose and it is his duty and not mine to collect the evidence. I stand ready now and always have to prosecute any cases when he does his part in supplying me with data."
