

WANT THE CATTLE DIPPED

Stock Exchange Appeals to Governor to Issue a Proclamation.

MOVE TO STAMP OUT SCABIES

Allegheny Notify State They Will Perfect Appeal from Ruling of Court on Grain Rate Decision.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Oct. 16.—(Special.)—The officers of the Live Stock Exchange in South Omaha are anxious for Governor Sheldon to issue a proclamation requiring the owners of herds of cattle to dip them and wipe out the scabies which seems to be prevalent in the western states.

The letter calls attention to a recent visit made to the governor by officers of the exchange and continues:

Since that visit I learn from what I consider good authority that in the course of a few weeks the entire state of Nebraska will likely be quarantined against all other states. Up to the present time the eastern half of the state has been considered free territory as far as this market is concerned and cattle from Yankton, S. D., to Broken Bow, in the county, then south to the state line, could come to this market and be yarded in the clean division and go from that division to any part of the country on a clean bill of health.

If the B. A. I. see fit to discontinue handling cattle from this territory in this manner you can readily see what we are going to be up against.

The western part of Nebraska as you know is a producing country and the eastern part of the state is a marketing center. We have met with a great deal of inconvenience, and in some cases losses, for the purpose of being able to get along this fall with the eastern half of the state in free territory. What we are going to do is to have all cattle from our own state have to go into quarantine, none of us is able to say.

It seems to us a hardship that cattle from our own sandhills are allowed to go to Sioux City, St. Joe, Kansas City and Chicago on a clean bill of health, while healthy, but cannot reach their own home market under the same conditions.

The government stands ready to cooperate with Nebraska in cleaning up the scab on our cattle and it seems to me that we should get in line for your information, I asked the bureau of animal inspection what states are working in this manner, and I am in receipt of a letter this morning, giving the names of the states and the nature of the cooperation between them and the bureau of animal inspection.

They are as follows: Oklahoma, Kansas, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, cattle scabies; New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming, cattle and sheep scabies; Arizona, Utah, Nevada, Oregon, sheep scabies. You can see that the states on the north, south and west of us are in line, while the eastern part of the state is much harder for a Nebraska man to do business in a satisfactory manner. If this free line is wiped out, the cattle from east of the line will think the matter over very carefully before he consigns his cattle to South Omaha, where they will have to go into quarantine, when he can get a clean bill of health if he goes to a market out of the state.

It goes without saying, of course, that this is a matter of a proportion which you will do all you can to help your home market as much as you can.

It seems to me that if you will ask for government cooperation, appoint the field inspectors of the bureau of animal inspection deputy state inspectors and issue a proclamation which carries with it instructions for everyone to dip and clean up their cattle, that the whole problem will be solved. The cattle man who cleans up his cattle to protect his own, and the one who does not clean up should be made to suffer. Scabies must be stamped out of our herds of cattle as it was from sheep and the sooner the better for the cattle industry.

Time for Missouri Pacific

After leaving its order today, limiting the appeal of Missouri Pacific from the State Railway commission, the company has until November 1 to put it into effect.—This change was made after a conference had been held between the commission and those representatives of the road: E. H. Gould, general superintendent of Kansas City; Superintendent Leidy of Kansas and Superintendent Brooks of the Nebraska division. These men protested vigorously against the order, but did not ask for a formal hearing. The original order, which was not signed until this morning, provided that passenger trains shall run at not more than twenty-five miles an hour; freight trains at not more than twenty miles an hour, and in case an engine known as the battleship is used at not more than fifteen miles an hour. This order was to become effective October 27.

The railroad representatives contended that if they sent out orders by telegraph it was liable to result in confusion and probable accidents and therefore it should not become effective until the company had time to publish its new time tables. It was finally agreed by the commission that the order should become effective on the day that the time tables were published. The agents and that the time limit should be November 1. Superintendent Leidy said he believed it is safer to ride on a train going fifty miles an hour than one going twenty miles an hour. In answer to a question by Judge Williams if he preferred to ride on the Missouri Pacific at night fifty miles an hour or twenty miles an hour, Leidy replied that he would trust to the judgment of the engineer to slow up at dangerous places.

Railroads to Perfect Appeal

W. D. McHugh, representing the allied railroads, telephoned to the attorney general that he would be in Lincoln tomorrow or Thursday at 11 o'clock to perfect the appeal in the railroad injunction case for the purpose of carrying the suit to the circuit court of appeals at St. Louis. The railroads will serve notice on the attorney general that they will apply for a temporary restraining order at St. Louis pending the hearing of the proposed appeal. The injunction which was refused by the railroad here and which they will try to get at St. Louis, is to restrain the railway commission from enforcing the recent order reducing grain rates. Judge McHugh requested the attorney general to stipulate that the railroad suits, not named in the last order, should remain as they are, undetermined in the federal courts in Nebraska. Mr. Thompson replied that it was stated in open court that the railroads would abide by the order issued in the case of the Burlington, which is the only case argued. Mr. Thompson will make no such stipulation.

Wait Offered Directorship

Deputy Secretary of State Addison Wait has received an offer of a directorship in the new railroad company forming in New York City for the purpose of building a line from Nebraska to the Gulf of Mexico. Civil Engineer Edward T. Roschner of New York is promoting the company and a letter received today informed Mr. Wait that the preliminary arrangements are about completed.

World-Herald Loses

In the suit of the World Publishing company, appellant, against the county of Douglas et al. appellee, the judgment of the district court is affirmed. This is the case in which the World-Herald attempted to make perpetual a resolution adopted by a county board in designating it the official paper of the county. The opinion was written by Commissioner Ames. The syllabus says:

A resolution set out in the opinion, adopted by a county board in designating a certain newspaper as the official paper of the county treasurer shall publish certain notices, does not constitute a contract between the county and the proprietor of the newspaper.

Opinion Concludes as follows:

All that board is authorized or required to do is to designate the person or persons with whom the treasurer may fully or partially deal, and we think it quite clear that they may change such designation from time to time, at the discretion of the public or their inclination may dictate.

Rolling on Assessment

In overruling the motion for rehearing in the suit of the Central Granaries company against Lancaster county, the court lays down the following rules for the assessment of the property of grain dealers:

The average capital of grain dealers is not the average of the total capital used in the business, but is the excess of capital over the real estate and other tangible property which can be assessed separately. Average capital is not average purchases or average sales and cannot be found by adding together the amount of purchases or the amount of sales for the year and dividing the sum by an arbitrary number. The average of the amount of cash and all other property of every kind used in carrying on the business, less the value of the real estate and other tangible property that can be assessed for assessment, then such excess is to be added for assessment.

TEST OF THE NEW DRAINAGE LAW

Property Owners Near Fremont

Bring the Action

FREMONT, Neb., Oct. 16.—(Special.)—A number of property owners in the Fremont, Fremont and Railroad drainage district have brought an action of quo warranto in the district court to test the constitutionality of the new drainage law enacted at the last session of the legislature. It is said that the principal objection which is unconstitutional is it is alleged that the notice of the election for the formation of the district was not published as the law itself requires and that two of the directors, Mayor Volz and Superintendent Hignell, of the Burlington, are not property owners in the district. While only one person is named as a petitioner, it is said that the corporation franchise of the district be forfeited and the directors ousted. It is said that the principal objection which will be raised to the constitutionality of the law are that corporations are given the right to vote and property qualifications are required of electors and that property within the corporate limits of that city cannot be included in the district.

Contracts were let some time ago for the entire proposed improvements and considerable work has already been done. The case will be brought to a hearing as soon as possible and probably will go to the supreme court whichever way it is decided here.

Leedon Given Six Years

ALBION, Neb., Oct. 16.—(Special.)—Judge Hanna sentenced A. R. Leedon to six years in the penitentiary on a statutory complaint of Edith Mathews. The trial lasted nearly a week, and after the jury were out about thirty-six hours they brought in a verdict of guilty. The defendant in this case was very prominent in social and church work here and for the last few years has been a partner in the Argus Printing House, which is one of the leading publishing and printing companies in this part of the state.

Chance for Big Factory

COLUMBUS, Neb., Oct. 16.—(Special.)—David Schupbach has just returned from a business trip to Switzerland and reports that it is an easy matter to get a factory here that will employ 200 men for the manufacture of condensed milk. The company that is willing to come does not ask any bonus, but just the assurance that an adequate supply of milk can be secured, 24,000 gallons a day. The Commercial club has taken the matter up.

This Week Will Mark the End of the Omaha "Century" Distribution

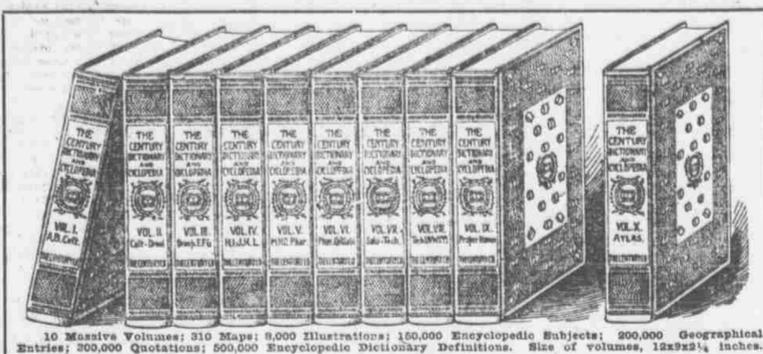

When we first heard that the Cosmopolitan Magazine had secured exclusive control of the 1907 edition of the Century Dictionary and Cyclopedia and Atlas, we were struck with the BIGNESS of the enterprise. We estimated that the entire transaction would involve nearly two million of dollars; it DOES.

Next, the ECONOMY of the proposition appealed to us, for, knowing the regular price at which the Century has always been sold, we could see what a money-saving opportunity it offered to the public—a saving only made possible by turning out the largest edition ever printed; by CUTTING OUT THE BIG COMMISSIONS USUALLY PAID TO BOOK AGENTS, by turning over the work DIRECT from the publishers to the public—and all this without present profit to the Cosmopolitan, which started in with the purpose of quickly adding 50,000 high-class subscribers to its list. And what a splendid bargain was thus made possible! Just consider for a moment the following:

REMARKABLE JOINT OFFER

Of course, there cannot be very many to any one city—to Omaha less than 200 sets originally, and many of these have already been secured by those quick to appreciate the exceptional bargain afforded. By the end of the present week at the latest, the last set will be claimed, and, therefore,

Many who have long wanted to own the "Century," but have not heretofore felt that they could afford it, are now coming forward and eagerly taking advantage of this opportunity. It is an opportunity that in the ordinary course of business cannot be repeated. We therefore urge all of our friends, and particularly our book patrons, to come and see this superb 1907 edition—the only one now published and fully guaranteed by the Century Co.

LANCASTER MEN MUST DECIDE

Secretary of State Refuses to Declare Senatorship Vacancy.

OLEO DEALERS TAKE LICENSES

Food Commissioner Johnson Does a Hashing Business—Union Pacific Silent on Newspaper Passes.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Oct. 16.—(Special Telegram.)—The Lancaster county legislative middle will have to be settled in Lancaster county according to the decision of the secretary of state rendered today. John H. McClay requested the secretary to certify to the county clerk the fact that a vacancy existed in the Lancaster delegation to the legislature because Joseph Burns recently fled and that he was a resident of Colorado. The secretary of state refused to issue such a certificate, saying that he knew nothing of a vacancy in the office and the matter would have to be settled in the county. Previous to this the county clerk had refused to place the name of Mr. McClay on the ballot as candidate for the legislature to fill vacancy, alleging that he did not know that a vacancy existed.

Oleo Dealers Get Licenses

Oleomargarine dealers of the state are taking notice of the activity of Pure Food Commissioner Johnson, who has been taking steps to collect license from such dealers. Wednesday morning a large number of licenses were taken out and the commissioner says that every dealer who fails to get such license must face prosecution.

Word from New York is to the effect that the money necessary for the construction of a proposed north and south railroad through the state is in sight. E. T. Rohmer, a civil engineer of New York, who has been promoting the project, so writes to Addison Watt, assistant secretary of state, and incidentally asks Mr. Watt to become a director in the company now forming.

Will Act Against Union Pacific

Attorney General Thompson expresses his intention of taking action against the Union Pacific Railroad company to secure statements desired from them unless it is forthcoming in a few days. Some time ago the attorney general asked the Burlington and Union Pacific for a list of persons using transportation under newspaper advertising contracts in the Burlington and was, as a statement, which was published a few days ago, but the Union Pacific has apparently ignored the request.

Snacking a Look—If you were to call the average man a thief you would undoubtedly get yourself in trouble. Nevertheless, there were in the neighborhood of 100 men and boys who deliberately broke the rules of honesty at the base ball game last Sunday afternoon, for at least this number watched the game without putting up the necessary price of admission, coming across by the coal chutes and climbing through the wire fence so as to avoid

Mr. Pierce returned home for his shotgun and killed fifty-two beside shooting several which he hung hanging in a crevice, but he could not ascertain how many of the latter he had killed, as it was impossible as well as dangerous to get near where they were, as at this place the rocks seem to be filled with them.—Banner County News.
