Marriage Last Year, Now Divorce—Mrs. Bessie B. Boeckel has begun suit for divorce against David G. Boeckel, a traveling man, and service was had on him Monday while he was temporarily in Omaha on business. They were married in February, 1907, in California. She charges him with cruel neglect and with talking to her in a cruel manner while she was ill in a hospital. She also accuses him of drunkenness. She says he has an income of $250 a month and she wants alimony.

Claims Alibi, But Pleads Guilty—I have a good alibi, judge, but I want to plead guilty," said John Quinby, who is charged with breaking into a building, belonging to the South Omaha Stock Yards company, and stealing hay worth 50 cents each. Quinby has a "free" leg and he was trailed to the hay house by the imprint of the peg in the ground. Judge Sears questioned him and he admitted he had stolen the hay with two others, but the other two had not broken into a building to do it. Judge Sears reserved sentence.

From Scylla to Charybdis—Clifford Smith, 17 years old, in fleeing from Scylla fell into Charybdis. Clifford was in Johnson's pool hall, 119 North Fifteenth street at 1:30 a. m. Monday, when Officers Madson and Hagerman arrived on the scene. Officer Hagerman then waited at the rear window where Smith had entered, while Madson went around and made a noise like a policeman at the front door. The youth fled to the rear window and leaped out directly into the arms of Officer Hagerman. He had a tin box containing $4.50.

More Galling Taxes—Amanda Forsythe has a divorce from Irvin, accusing him of extreme cruelty. She says he once threw a double-tree at her and alleges a number of other acts of cruelty. William J. Turner says J. Clara Turner has abandoned him and Earl Teachworth makes the same charge against Myrtle Teachworth. Both want divorces. Mary J. Mhanta says John has struck her repeatedly with his clenched fist and does not support her.

DEAD TONGUE FOR OLD CASE
Van Etten Appropriately Resorts to Ancient Latin in His Aged Sues.
David Van Etten has filed an answer in the suit growing out of the long litigation between him and Mrs. Florence F. Leavitt over his home property on Harney street in which he asks that the case be dismissed and the order of sale under which the property was sold be set aside. The suit was on a supersedeas bond for damages incurred while the case was in supreme court on appeal. Van Etten losing in that court.

Van Etten says the order of sale of the property was confirmed by Judge Willis G. Sears, but he says the court at the time was coram non iudice and the action was taken on the judge's own ipse dixit, therefore he contends the order was a nullum pactum and he wants it all set aside.

CLERGY ON SUNDAY LAWS

Ministerial Union Appeals for Enforcement of Statutes.

COMMUNICATIONS ON SUBJECT

Auditorium for Graduating Exercises of High School—Dr. McGiffin Speaks of Education in the Pulpit.

The important feature of the meeting of the Omaha Ministerial union Monday morning was the reading and adoption of the report of the committee on social service, relative to its proceedings in the matter of securing an enforcement of the laws regarding the violation of the Sabbath day. The report of the committee in full is as follows:

OMAHA, Neb., May 18, 1908.—To the Ministerial union, Omaha, Neb.: Dear Brethren—You committee on social service herewith submits the following report:

In the furtherance of its trust to secure the enforcement of law, the following letter was sent to the mayor, the chief of police, the chief of fire and police commissions:

"Sirs—The laws of the state of Nebraska are being violated by various parties in the city of Omaha, to wit: the name of base ball is played upon the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday. "And you are requested to cause the law of said state prohibiting said acts, to be enforced, and to use the police force to prevent this city to use the police force to prevent said violation of the said law; and you are requested to actively interfere and prevent said violations; and to this end prevent the playing of the ball and the use of the name of Sunday and other merchandise on the first day of the week commonly called Sunday, and require their helpers to work upon said day."

You are requested to cause the law of said state prohibiting said acts, to be enforced, and to use the police force to prevent this city to use the police force to prevent said violation of the said law; and you are requested to actively interfere and prevent said violations; and to this end prevent the playing of the ball and the use of the name of Sunday and other merchandise on the first day of the week commonly called Sunday, and require their helpers to work upon said day."

Dated, Omaha, Neb., April 22, 1908.

NOTES ON OMAHA SOCIETY

Mrs. Floyd M. Smith Hostess at Informal Club Luncheon.

WEEK HAS PROMISING OPENING

Round of Luncheons, Dinners and Teas for Visitors and Prospective Brides Keeps Society Busy.

One of the most unique larks afforded in the fashionable set lately was provided a small party of guests Saturday evening by Mr. Harry O'Neill. The invitation included the amateur night performance at the Orpheum with an automobile ride and supper following. The first list of the unusual came upon the arrival of the party at the theater, when, instead of being seated out before the footlights, they were ushered back behind the scenes and, mounting the ladders, found perches up in the flies above the stage, where the performance was witnessed. Upon leaving the theater, instead of automobiles, as expected, the party was conducted to two antiquated hacks, in which they were rattled about the streets for a time and finally set down before one of the fashionable cafes.

But the most noticeable feature of providing any such conventional finale and his guests were ushered past the inviting tables into an unfinished addition crudely lighted and still strewn with evidences of workmen. Here the supper was served. The party included Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Gilbert, Miss Ella Mae Brown, Mr. Stockton Heth and Mr. O'Neill.

UPDIKE TO ENLARGE BUSINESS

Offers $200,000 of Preferred Stock to the Public Because of Growth.

General increase in the grain business, both at the Omaha market and the stations in the country, has caused the Updike Grain company to decide to offer $200,000 of its preferred stock to the public.

The company is capitalized at $1,000,000 and has elevators and terminals with a capacity of 3,000,000 bushels. The growth of the Updike Grain company since it came to Omaha, some nine years ago, is as remarkable as the growth of some of the great railroads of the west.

When the company came to Omaha it owned a small number of country elevators, but for some time past, N. B. Updike, its president, has been buying a capital stock of $100,000. Later it was necessary to increase the stock to $200,000 and after the Omaha grain market became a fact the capital stock was increased to its present issue. The Updike Grain company built the first terminal elevator in Omaha and its president, N. B. Updike, was one of the first directors and boosters for the Omaha Grain exchange.

The company now owns terminals at Lincoln, McCook, Missouri Valley and South Omaha, beside 100 country elevators. All the elevator property is held by the Grain company. The separate corporations controlled by the grain company are the Updike Lumber and Coal company, with a capital stock of $100,000; the Updike Milling company, with a capital of $30,000, and the Updike Commission company, with a capital stock of $25,000.

The smaller corporations are developing almost as fast as the parent company, the lumber and coal business recently becoming a wholesale as well as a retail business and the milling company finding it necessary to double the capacity of the mill opened last year.

ISAAC WILT NOT AT LA PORTE

Bennington Man Goes to Indiana to Marry, but Not Mrs. Guinness.

The body of Isaac Wilt of Bennington is not one of those dug from the rich soil of the Guinness' murder farm near La Porte, as his friends have feared. Mr. Wilt's wife is walking around in a good state of preservation at Valparaiso, Ind., and in a letter to a friend at Bennington Mr. Wilt says his body is not only sound physically, but is just now the encasement of the lightest heart you ever saw.

Strange to say Mr. Wilt did go to Indiana to marry a woman with whom he had been in correspondence, but it was not Mrs. Guinness. He married his correspondent and is living happily with her.

About four months ago Mr. Wilt had some correspondence with a woman at Valparaiso and decided to go there with the idea of marrying her. He made the journey and then returned to raise some money on his 100 acres of land which he owns just north of Bennington. Before leaving for the east he had a pre-nuptial agreement drawn up by a lawyer at La Porte, but he does not remember the name of the woman he was to marry.

For the last three months his relatives and friends have been unable to hear from him and letters sent to the address he had left were returned to both his relatives and to his banker, Peter Mangold, at Bennington. Monday the suspense was relieved by the receipt of a letter.

"Yes, we were very much worried and were afraid he was one of the victims of the Guinness woman," said Mr. Mangold, "but he is not. He is at La Porte, Ind., because he formerly lived at La Porte. His letter Monday came from Porter, Ind., which is about seventy-five miles from La Porte."

COLONEL PRATT MUCH BETTER

Makes Great Improvement in Health Since Continuance of Suit is Requested.

The health of Colonel James H. Pratt, which was declared to be very bad two weeks ago, when he was seeking a continuance of the divorce suit brought by his wife, has improved considerably, according to his friends.

Wednesday, May 6, Colonel Pratt's attorneys, in order to secure a continuance of the case until June 1, presented a statement by his physician, Dr. J. H. McShane, of Bennington, that the colonel was very low with colic and would not be able to appear in court for three or four weeks. Only three or four days later he was in Omaha attending to business, and has been in the city most of the time since. Three or four days ago he was in Bennington, where he was in a Col. Pratt who has appeared to be in very good health.

"I have not seen him for several days," said General John C. Cowin, his attorney, "but when I saw him last his health was very good for Colonel Pratt."

At the time the continuance was asked his physician pronounced his condition serious, as he said he had complained of heart trouble and nervousness, which made the disease dangerous.

LEAVITT GOES TO FRANKLIN

Pastor of Plymouth Church Accepts Principals of Academy and Leaves City.

Rev. Frederick W. Leavitt, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church of Omaha, has accepted the position of principal of Franklin academy of Franklin, Neb.

This is a Congregational school of over 100 students, which stands well up in the educational field. Franklin is situated in a great field, as in that section of the state are but eight or nine high schools carrying the eleventh and twelfth-grade work. This academy was established twenty-six years ago to fill this want and to provide a school under Christian influence. It has a music department with a sixteen-room building devoted to its exclusive use. Mr. Leavitt will leave about the last of June to take up his new work, for which he is so well adapted.

The church has appointed a committee to secure a successor to Mr. Leavitt.

STAGE FOLK IN A RUNAWAY

Vesta Victoria and Jim Corbett Have Close Call with a Fractious Team.

Vesta Victoria had a narrow escape as she was leaving the ball game Sunday afternoon at Union street park. She and James J. Corbett, former world's pugilistic champion, had left the game early and the singer was to catch a 5 o'clock train on the Northwestern for New York. The team on the carriage was frightened by the cheering in the grandstand and bolted. Corbett jumped from the rig and started for the horses' heads, but neither he nor the driver could do anything with them when they had reached Thirtieth street and they were stopped.

Help the Bowels When They Need It—Don't Delay

Don't wait till you need a violent physic, for harsh physic always harms. Take one Cascaret as soon as you need it. Take another later if necessary. Carry a box always with you. Give the bowels a little help while a little is sufficient. Thus it is easy to keep the bowels regular. And that means keeping well. You can't take salts or pill cathartics in that way, for they are injurious. They irritate the stomach and bowels. When oft repeated, that is disastrous. Nearly all dyspepsia—all constipation—is caused by that sort of physic.

It is wicked to thus abuse the stomach and bowels. Gentleness is just as effective. Cascarets act naturally. There is no gripping or pain. They are vegetable. Take one whenever you need it. They're as harmless as food.

Cascarets are candy tablets. They are sold by all druggists, but never in bulk. Be sure to get the Cascaret with C.C.C. on every tablet. The box is marked like this:

The best-kept box is 10 cents. The month's supply box, 50 cents. 12,000,000 boxes sold annually.
