Wenzel Sledgianowsky beat his stepfather, Adolph Kirschkoph of Fourteenth and Canton streets, so badly that he is unable to leave his bed and there is some danger of his not surviving. The beating was administered because his stepfather and mother did not wish to keep him and his eight children, it is alleged. The elder people did not object to the son living at iome, but when he brought a wife and eight children, it was too much, and he was requested to leave. Refusing to do this, he got a revolver and threatened his mother and then beat his stepfather. City Prosecutor Daniel filed a warrant against Sledgianowsky Friday.

Meather, crop and trade reports are irregular. There are some rather less reasuring advices from some sections as to leading crops, due mainly to excessive rainfall in wide areas; bad roads are a necessary result of this and trade in affected sections naturally has suffered. In other places, where a few days of warm, forcing weather has intervened trade is better and instances being due to reductions, which have resulted in large stocks of goods being cleaned up. In some primary lines of distributions in some primary lines of distributions have induced more demand and the same is true of leather, pig iron, some kinds of machinery and railroad track supplies. In some lines of industry, particularly the textile branches there is a disposition to put more people and machinery to work or to run a longer time, but whether this is merely temporary readition from earlier intense dullness or whether it is a definite turn for the better is debated by some observers. That business is much less active in many lines than a year ago is without question.

Description—These Morris chairs are made in a most substantial manner in artistic weathered oak finish, with imitation Spanish leather uphoistering or in polished mahogany finish with green Verona velour upholstering. The trames are of nest design and are handsomely carved. The backs are adjustable to any position, and are easily operated.
