LACK OF CHIVALRY DEADLY

Six Girls and Two Boys Sink, Others Swim Ashore.

ONE YOUTH PROVES MARTYR

Loses Life in Attempt to Save Girl Companion, While Other Young Men Save Themselves.

WILKESBARR, Pa., May 12.—Eight high school students, six girls and two boys, lost their lives yesterday, while boating on the Paper Mill dam at Huntington Mills, about twenty miles below this city. The dead are: MAUD SUTLIFF, aged 17 of Town Line; CAROLYN KOONS, aged 16 years, Harveysville; RUTH BONHAM, 18 years, Town Line; IRIS DAVENPORT, 16 years, Water- town; RACHEL THOMPSON, 16 years, Town Hill; MADELINE GOOD, 17 years, Water- town; ROBERT MINNICH, 18 years, Koonsville; RA. DODSON, 17 years, Fairmont. Twelve students of the Huntington High school secured two boats at the noon hour and started for a row. The dam is nearly half a mile in width and when the two crafts had reached the center of the body of water it was noticed that one of them had sprung a leak. The two boats then were pulled together by the young men in the party and an effort made to transfer the girls from the leaky boat to the safer craft. The last one of the party had scarcely set foot on the boat when it began to sink, owing to the weight. The girls were helpless and the boys, with the exception of Dodson being expert swimmers, struck out for shore, which they reached in safety. Minnich had no sooner gained the bank than he noticed the girls hanging to the rapidly sinking boat. He dashed into the water and swam swiftly to the water-filled craft. Two girls were clinging to the boat, the other having gone down. Seizing Miss Davenport, Minnich again started for the shore, but the exertion was too much for the lad and the two went down together when they were within a stone's throw of the bank. As soon as the accident became known, kringling parties began to search for the bodies. In less than two hours all the bodies were recovered.

New King Busy with Funeral of His Father

New Ruler Leaves Life of Ease for One of Painstaking Labor and Difficulties.

LONDON, May 12.—From a life of comparative ease and retirement King George suddenly finds himself one of the hardest worked officials of the kingdom. In addition to spending considerable time daily at Buckingham palace, comforting his widowed mother, he has to attend to multifarious duties connected with receiving and entertaining the royal guests and arranging the difficult details of the lying-in-state and the funeral. Seven o'clock each morning finds his majesty already at his desk in Marlborough house, to reply to the innumerable messages of condolence and to receive his ministers and the officials who have to do with the obsequies. Former President Roosevelt, who has been named as special envoy of the United States to attend the funeral of the late king will be presented to King George soon after his arrival in London Monday. This has been arranged in conformity with the wish of the king, as expressed to Whitehall, the American ambassador, Mr. Roosevelt, as special ambassador, will occupy a place with the visiting monarchs in the funeral procession, and also will attend the burial at Windsor Monday. When the funeral procession starts on Friday every tram car in London will come to a standstill for a quarter of an hour. It also is proposed that all the public houses in London should be closed while the procession is passing.

Uncle Joe on College Course

Speaker Says it is Not Necessarily Fatal to a Bright Young Man.

NE WHAVEN, Conn., May 12.—To a bright young man who has anything in him, a college course is not necessarily fatal to success. That is my view of it, says Speaker Cannon in a discussion in the Yale News today of the value of a college education. He continues: "The common school and the high school give the average individual at least fair equipment for practical success in business or in the various callings that men follow who live by the sweat of their faces. That is about all that the average man will utilize. "There is always a question as to whether the average student will survive the spoiling effects of a college course. "The human animal, on the average, is not worth his salt if he is incapable of making his own way. "The greatest rewards come in business, not in politics. A good business man is much better off than a poor politician. The business man has better chance for advancement and receives great remuneration."

VICTIMS IN WATER ALL NIGHT

Conflagration Still Rages Fiercely in Woods of Minnesota and Wisconsin—Children Badly Burned.

ST. PAUL, May 12.—Settled in the vicinity of Grand Marais, who have lost their homes and everything else, except the clothes on their backs, began arriving in that village today, according to reports by wireless telegraph. One group arrived early today after they had spent the night lying in the bed of a small river and part of the time were compelled to submerge themselves to keep the flames from burning the clothes from their bodies. In this party were five children who were badly burned that they are being cared for in a hospital in Grand Marais. At Gooseberry river and along Beaver Banks, the flames are eating their way through the woods. From Park Bay to Tofte and as far back as the eye can see, timber is on fire. From Good Harbor to Grand Marais fires burned at intervals. Reports received early in the day from northern Minnesota, northern Wisconsin and Michigan indicated that the fires were not burning as fiercely as yesterday, but later reports said that the wind appeared to be rising and indicated that perhaps the fires might be fanned into activity again. It is estimated that the loss on cut timber in the district between Tofte and Good Harbor will be about $60,000. A special from Calumet, Mich., says that Willis Seaman, an instructor in the Michigan College of Mines, and Reed Burnham, while out fishing in a canoe were hemmed in by fire and, attempting to break through, their shoes were burned from their feet. Both also lost a portion of their clothing.

Weather Balloon Lands in Iowa

Bag Sent Up by Virginia Officials Found in Tree Near Shenandoah by Farmer.

SHENANDOAH, Ia., May 12.—(Special.)—The first of the sounding balloons sent up by the representatives of the Mount Weather, Va., weather observers at Omaha was discovered in a treetop here on a farm by Joel Harris, a farmer near here yesterday. He has forwarded the balloon basket to the weather observatory according to the directions printed on the basket. This is the first of the balloons sent up by the weather bureau staff at Omaha to be heard from. The balloon located at Shenandoah probably was the one sent up May 19 which was followed southward for twenty miles by Prof. William H. Wood. It is presumed to have reached a distance of twelve miles above the altitude of Omaha, thus assuring a record of conditions in the permanent inversion or the third strata of the atmospheric formation. Consequently, unusual information is given the test by the weather bureau.

THIRTY GIVEN UNWELCOME BATH IN GREAT SALT LAKE

Men and Women Are Thrown into Briny Water When Stairway to Hippodrome Gives Way.

SALT LAKE CITY, May 12.—More than thirty persons, two of them women, were precipitated into Great Salt Lake tonight when the stairway leading to the Salt Air Hippodrome gave way. They fell a distance of twelve feet into five feet of briny water. In a few minutes all were drawn dripping and straggling to the pier. Two men, one of them J. U. Eldridge, jr., United States assayer, suffered broken legs. The crowd had just witnessed the Thompson-Sullivan fight and was pouring out of the Hippodrome when the accident occurred. Several persons were reported missing, but were finally accounted for.

Chickens More Plentiful in the Local Market

Sunday Dinner Menu. Chicken Broth. Baked Fowl. Bread Filling. New Mashed Potatoes. Green Peas. Lettuce Salad. Frozen Pudding. Coffee.

See that the chicken is neatly drawn and weighed in the cook boiler with a bunch of pot herbs and cover with cold water. Allow this to come to a boil and simmer slowly for one and a half hours. Lift the fowl, fill, truss and bake. Allow broth to cool, skim, strain, reheat and serve in cups with bits of toast.

Differences in the market offerings this week are differences in quality and quantity rather than in prices, for with the advent of more home grown stuff the supply is becoming more bountiful. Chickens also are more plentiful and slightly lower in price.

A noticeable change in quality is in the turkeys, which have been small and pithy, but now are good at 6 cents a bunch. Home grown chickens likewise are tempting at three bunches for 5 cents. Asparagus of high grade, large tips, varies in price, according to whiteness, from three to five bunches for 25 cents. New potatoes are plentiful and selling at six pounds for 25 cents. There is some home grown lettuce and head lettuce may be obtained at either 10 or 15 cents a head.

The wholesale prices of tomatoes has advanced slightly and they are still retailing at 10 cents a basket. Other vegetables in which there is little change in price are green peas, 10 cents; wax and green beans, 10 cents; egg plant, 20 cents; and summer squash, 5 and 10 cents each; cabbage, new, 5 cents; cucumbers, 15 cents.

Strawberries are more plentiful, but it is still considered early to begin preserving as the berries are only seven to eight weeks in season. They will probably be lowered a little later in the season, some say next week, and others name the first of June as the season when supply and price will favor the housewife. Pineapples are small and selling from 20 to 35 cents each. Grapefruit is good at two for 25 cents.

Dressed chickens retail at 20 cents a pound. The wholesale prices are: roosters, 12½c; hens, 17c; springs, 18c; ducks, 30c; geese, 15c; turkeys, 35c; fresh broilers, 25c; frozen broilers, 35c.

The threatened shortage of eggs has not yet affected the market and they still retail at 25c, 25c or 30c for the twenty-four hour variety. Butter is slightly lower, country, 30c, 30c and 30c; and creamery, 25c.

This is the season when sandwich possibilities acquire a special interest and pimento cheese, chicken salad, or a cake or 15 cents a jar, is a novelty in this line. The Waukesha cheese and Neuf-châtel cheese are also good for this purpose.

BAN ON PICTURES AND REPORTS OF PRIZE FIGHTS

Bill Introduced by Mr. Smith of Iowa Would Exclude Them from Mails.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—A wholesale interdiction against the publication of descriptions and pictures of prize fights, which would apply to the coming Jeffries-Johnson "mill" is proposed in a bill introduced today by Representative Smith of Iowa. The bill would make it unlawful "to send by mail or in any other manner from any state, territory or the District of Columbia to any other state picture or description of any prize fight or encounter of pugilists under whatever name, or any record or account of betting on the same." The measure which was referred to the Interstate Commerce commission would penalize violations under a maximum of one year imprisonment or $1,000 fine.
