PARTY HARMONY PREVAILS

Iowa Republicans in Firm Stand for Taft Administration.

NO FEELING OF CONDEMNATION

County Conventions Express Their Approval of National Projects as Whole, Differing Only on Certain Policies.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

DES MOINES, July 2.—(Special.)—The result of the various county conventions over the Iowa, as held yesterday, indicates that the republican party in this state is still pretty much divided in regard to national policies. It was also demonstrated that insofar as the republicans feel called upon at this time to pass judgment on the national administration there is unanimity of sentiment in favor of standing by the administration in all its efforts for the good of the party and the country. In not a single county was there anything done or said to indicate that Iowa republicans have ever had it in their mind to condemn the president or to denounce him for any of the things about which there is difference of opinion.

On the other hand, insofar as the conventions took any action at all, there was unanimity of action in endorsement of the Iowa senators and the state administration, and generally in support of the leaders of the party whoever they may be. Another thing which was made clear was that the republicans of the state felt free to act, each county independently of every other, and there was nothing to suggest any machine methods. The resolutions counties do in all matters. Some of them stated the matter one way and some another, but all which was made clear was that the republicans of the state administration adopted varied as greatly as the various tempered.

It is certain that the state convention will be called by the same conservative sentiment and that there will be nothing done in the state convention to wince the breach which has been made. The state convention resolutions will unquestionably be patterned somewhat after those adopted in the county conventions. The resolutions counties do in all matters. Some of them stated the matter one way and some another, but all which was made clear was that the republicans of the state administration adopted varied as greatly as the various tempered.

There seems to be little doubt that Prof. Charles F. Curtis of Ames will be selected at the state college. The state board of education will hold another session at an early date. A committee has had charge of consideration of the presidency and for some months and this committee is known to be favorable to the election of Curtis. A large number of the younger members of the alumni of the college have favored Curtis for the presidency. In case Curtis is selected for president Prof. W. J. Kennedy will undoubtedly be selected to succeed him at the head of the department conferring the man who goes to Iowa's Corporation Tax.

The state of Iowa is already engaged in collecting a corporation tax for this year. It is a small tax but it nevertheless is a tax. Last year for the first time it was collected and it is only a year ago that the Iowa corporations will not complain greatly. The Iowa corporations were listed and a pamphlet printed with the names of all of them. Now the first regular payment of $1 tax is being collected. There are nearly 5,000 corporations in the state.

State Bank Statements. The state auditor has issued a call for the conditions of all state and savings banks and trust companies in Iowa at the close of business June 30. In connection with the call for the condition of the banks Auditor Hasky has also sent to every bank and trust company in the state a special blank furnished by the federal comptroller of currency on which is to be reported their condition, in different form, at the close of business June 30. This report is for the use of the federal monetary commission. Attempts have been made by the federal comptroller to get this information, but with only partial success. He sent the blanks directly to the various banks. This year he decided to have this special call for the state and savings banks and trust companies, sent out in the name of the state auditor, believing that better results will be obtained.

News of Killings. RAWLINS, Wyo., July 2.—(Special.)—Another story has been received from Hagg regarding the killing of Robert Taylor by James Parsons. It is now reported that Parsons was not on Temple's land, that Temple had threatened to kill Parsons and that Parsons was carrying a rifle in self-defense at the time of the killing. He will set up a plea of self-defense, and his friends say that he will make it stick.

BRYAN TOUCHES FIREWORKS

Returning Traveler Will Use Slow Fuse on Democrats.

EXTRA SESSION CAUSES TALK

Question Before People Pertains to Governor's Inactivity Regarding Submission of Initiative and Referendum.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, July 2.—(Special.)—Now that William J. Bryan is back a bunch of democratic politicians around here are making a noise like they were sitting on a dynamite keg. Mr. Bryan indicated this morning that he intended to touch off the fireworks with slow fuse, so he has had some time in which to study conditions and learn what had been done in his absence from the country. This means that possibly tomorrow will have passed before any official statement is given out from Fairview.

The question that is causing the most concern around the state house democracy is what will the big chief do with Governor Shallenberger for failing to call that extra session when C. W. Bryan said he had sufficient pledges to insure the submission of the initiative and referendum. Close friends of the presidential candidate are trying to make him believe that the executive deliberately threw him down after he and Congressman Hitchcock had a conference. They take this to mean that Mr. Hitchcock and Governor Shallenberger have agreed to go up or down together, Bryan or no Bryan. In view of the talks that have been made by Mr. Bryan it is a safe guess to say that both the governor and Mr. Hitchcock will hear from him in an uncertain manner. In other words, those who have talked with either of the Bryans are of the opinion that the presidential candidate will tell the public what he thinks of the action of the governor.

The statement of C. W. Bryan was simply a contradiction of that of the governor, who said not a sufficient number of signers had been received to the pledges to warrant the calling of the legislature in extra session. It is expected that W. J. Bryan will endeavor to analyze the reason given by the governor for failing to act, and at the same time tell what his belief is of his decision. It is an absolute certainty that he will not endorse the action of the governor.

May Be Third Candidate.

It is not impossible that a third candidate will be entered as the democratic nomination for governor, but until the present executive has given time in which to decide whether to stand for the Bryan program nothing will be done along this line. The question has been put up to the governor and his public reply is being awaited by the Bryan adherents. The details of all that Mr. Bryan demands of the governor have not been made public yet. Mr. Bryan certainly expects a number of things in a good humor and looking much better than when he left here. He is the picture of good health and has all the appearance of being able to put up the hardest fight he ever went into. He appeared unconcerned about the petitions which are being circulated in his behalf as a senatorial candidate, though he did slightly indicate surprise when informed that the democratic state convention is to be held in Grand Island. He was asked if he intended to be present at the convention.

"Yes, I shall attend the convention," he replied. "Where is it to be held?" He seemed about to add "where in Lincoln when some one interrupted and said Grand Island. Just a slight change of expression indicated that he was surprised at that.

Quite a number of close friends of Bryan will ask him, providing he will not get into the senatorial race, to get behind Richard L. Metcalfe and be elected as a republican democrat, whether for or against county option, in that the party can unite on Metcalfe better than on any other democrat except Bryan.

Examining Board Reports. The state board of examiners, which has been checking up the credits of students in the Peru Normal, has issued a report which reaches the standard set for graduation, has made one report to the state normal board, which, however, does not cover the entire list of those who failed. The report will not be given out for publication by the examining board and as Secretary Ludden of the Peru Normal has said, it may be a day or two before the public will be permitted to see the report.

It is understood, however, that the checking of the credits has been of little help to the students and that only a small part of the graduating class of 183 will be able to secure certificates.

Statements from Institutions.

Practically all of the state institutions have made their semi-annual reports to the governor and within a day or two they will be ready for publication. In some of the reports mistakes were noticed and these were sent back for correction. The reports have to do with the finances of the institutions.

Sparks is Endorsed by Educators. The action of the State Normal Board in selecting Joseph Sparks for the head of the Chadron normal, has been endorsed very generally by the teachers of the state and those who have kept in touch with the work done by Mr. Sparks. L. C. McBrian in a letter to the normal board said in speaking of Mr. Sparks: "I consider him one of the best school men Nebraska has. He is thorough, systematic, progressive. He does not get out a brass band or has any corps of professional reporters to attract attention to his work or to his name. He is a man who will do his duty as state superintendent and his inspection of private and denominational schools under the King law has done more to place the standard of the certification of teachers in Nebraska on the merit system than any man in the state. We are too near him and his work to properly appreciate it at this time, but when petty grievances have been forgotten, his work will stand as a monument to the merit system of certifying teachers."

Horticultural Meeting.

The annual summer meeting of the Nebraska State Horticultural society will be held in Wynora, Wednesday and Thursday, July 20-21. The program follows: Wednesday, July 20, 8:30 p. m., Invocation, Rev. County Option at Minden.

MINDEN, Neb., July 2.—(Special.)—A very strong and representative county option organization was formed here today for Kearney county. The officers elected were: M. B. Carman, president; D. C. Bliss, Chris Anderson, V. A. Marshall, vice presidents; John S. Pattison, secretary and treasurer. Committeemen were selected for each precinct in the county. Sentiment for county option is strong out here.

County option candidates from each party will file before the primary favorable to county option. None of the eight towns in this county have saloons. A vigorous campaign will be kept up. It is expected that both parties in the county will declare for county option. The organization formed today is strictly non-partisan. Representatives of the Anti-Saloon league were the chief promoters of the meeting.

Welcome Rain in Phelps County.

MOLDSBURG, Neb., July 2.—(Special.)—Phelps county was visited last night and this morning by one of the best rains that has fallen here in some time. The total precipitation so far has been about an inch and a third and it came in time to decide the question of general drought throughout the southern half of the county. Many farmers have already been in their wheat and oat fields with their binders, but some have declared that, although the stalk of the small grain appears to be fully ripe for harvesting, that the kernel is still very green and unfit for cutting.

Farmer Takes Own Life.

BEATRICE, Neb., July 2.—(Special Telegram.)—V. Chadman, a prominent and well-to-do farmer living three miles south of Beatrice, committed suicide this afternoon about three o'clock by hanging himself from a tree in the orchard. He is survived by five sons and four daughters. The coroner was called and an inquest is being held this evening.

Fix Convention Date.

HOLDREGE, Neb., July 2.—(Special.)—The republican county central committee, with Gust Abrahamson as chairman and F. A. Anderson as secretary, met yesterday at the home of Mrs. J. W. Anderson at Holdrege to fix the date for holding the county convention in this city. Rain Drenches a Wide Section

Storm Descends Upon Country Between Lincoln, Omaha and Grand Island.

For about an hour Omaha and a considerable section of the surrounding country was given a baptism in large quantities Saturday. Beginning at about 4:30 o'clock the storm gathered force from a sudden downpour to an electrical storm of thunder, flashes and intermittent hail. The storm lasted about an hour and a half from Omaha to Grand Island, and with force between Omaha and Lincoln. According to dispatches Lincoln itself was visited by a furious storm. The fall between here and Grand Island was estimated by Omaha Pacific railroad officials at one-half of an inch.

The Burlington headquarters reported very little fall between this city and Lincoln, but described the soaking of Lincoln as being as fierce as that of Omaha. Several base ball games about the city, including the Western League game, were interrupted and called off before they had well started, as a result of the down-pour.

Mayor Asks Help to Fight Flames

Chief Executive of Mason City Takes Precautions Against Fires on Fourth.

MASON CITY, Ia., July 2.—(Special.)—The mayor of this city is taking every precaution to prevent a disastrous fire here between now and the fifth of July. In public notice he has called upon all citizens to aid him in this matter. For practically three months not one-fourth of an inch of rain has fallen and everything is inflammable. The water at the pumping station is so low as to greatly endanger the city should a fire break out.

Rush wells are being sunk, but they cannot be in readiness and the only relief that can come is rain. A pioneer farmer of the county said today that he never saw pasture look so dry up as they are at present. They would burn as readily as after a fall frost. Notwithstanding this, corn is coming on well and oats, while they will be short, are doing quite well and will be a fair crop.

Celebration at Rawlins.

RAWLINS, Wyo., July 2.—(Special.)—This place will be the scene of a big celebration July 4. Among the attractions during the week end will be Old Steamboat, the outlaw horse, which has never been successfully ridden but once, and then by Stanley, the world's greatest rough rider. Steamboat is the horse that people go thousands of miles to see during the frontier celebration at Cheyenne.

He Don't Have to Sober Up Any More

All Inclination To Drink, All Craving, Desire and Appetite For Craving Gone.

A patient who took the Neal Three Day Drink Habit Cure in writing to Senator James E. Bruce, Atlantic, Iowa, says: "After taking the various treatments for the liquor cure, I felt that at some time I would go back to drink—and I did. But after taking the Neal my appetite for liquor was gone and I don't have to sober up any more, and that is invaluable."

The Neal is an internal treatment, given in 30 drop doses, no hypodermic injections, and a perfect cure is effected in three days, at the institute or in the home.

It is the moral duty which every person added to the drink habit owes to his family, relatives, friends, society and the public, also everyone who is interested in or knows of one who is addicted to the drink habit, to call upon, write or phone the Neal Cure today for free copies of their guaranteed Bond and Contract booklet, testimonials, endorsements and bank references, which will be cheerfully furnished. Address: The Neal Cure, Institute, 1502 So. 10th Street, Omaha, Neb., also Des Moines, Davenport and Sioux City, Iowa.

ARMY ENGINEERS LOSE FAVOR

engineer that the sixty additional military engineers asked under the bill would not be all that would be needed in the army in the event of war. The number needed there would more nearly approximate the total number of civilian engineers now employed under the military engineers. It was contended by members of congress that it was a better business proposition to continue the employment of civilian engineers on this work that they may be available in time of war, and should there be no war, dispense with their services from time to time when they were not needed, without adding to the salary lists of the government by carrying a heavier number of military engineers on the retired lists.

Opposes Military Engineers. Representative Hays of Texas, a member of the house committee on military affairs, does not believe the military engineers possess superior knowledge over all other engineers. "I am not one of those people," he said, "who believes that because a man is a graduate of the United States military academy he is necessarily better equipped for work involving mental processes than other men equally well trained in other schools that are more eminent in the particular line of work to which these gentlemen are devoted. We are not the only government in the world that has great public works of this sort. There are other governments that deal with physical and natural problems—difficult, complicated, not easy of solution—and they manage to get along without the contributions of graduates of the United States military academy."

"There was a pretense made when the bill was introduced, that it was going to do something for the great civil engineering profession of the country; for the graduates of the Massachusetts School of Technology, for instance, which during the regular course gives to its students three or four times as much practical experience of engineering as is done in the military academy; but it was a sham and a pretense, and that little has been withdrawn. It opened a little way the back door of the basement for a few engineers to come in and get the benefit of the commissions, but even that has been practically closed and the door shut in their faces."

Chairman Tawney of the house committee on appropriations fought vigorously against the proposed increase in the engineer corps. "The necessity for this bill," he said, "is to give these sixty civil engineers a military status to the end that they may be retired when they reach a certain age and draw pay from the government for the remainder of their lives. We have civil engineers in charge of some of the most important departments in the construction of the Panama canal. The Pacific division, which includes the lock at Pedro Miguel and Miraflores and the excavation at the south end of the canal, are in charge of a civil engineer."

The immediate effect of the fight over the proposed increase in the engineer corps was the defeat of bills to increase the signal corps, to enlarge the corps of dental surgeons attached to the army, to increase the judge advocate general's department, to add 400 officers to the army, to add forty-two officers to the general staff corps, to increase the quartermaster's department. When it was found how bitterly the proposed increase in the engineer corps was fought the proponents and advocates of these other bills decided not to push them at this time. Had the engineer corps increase bill gone through attempts would have been made to get through these other bills, entailing more than $2,000,000 officers' salary increases in the army.

Debate on the bill to increase the engineer corps was held in the senate on July 1. The bill was passed by a vote of 54 to 46. The bill was passed by a vote of 54 to 46.
