HOPE FOR RIVER BETTERMENT

John A. Fox of National Rivers and Harbors Committee Here.
TELLS OF WORK BEING DONE
Thinks the Work on the Missouri River Will Be the Next Work to Be Undertaken by the National Government.
A hopeful outlook for the immediate improvement through congressional appropriation of the Missouri river is held out by John A. Fox, special director of the National River and Harbor congress. Mr. Fox arrived in Omaha Wednesday to renew acquaintance and to see the triumphal entrance of King Ak-Sar-Ben.
Mr. Fox, who visited Omaha a year ago, has just completed a tour of the cities along the Great Lakes and after that attended the Conservation congress at St. Paul, immediately following that he addressed large audiences at Blomark, Pierre, Yankton and Sioux City, awakening interest in the definite and complete improvement of the Missouri according to the plans adopted by the National River and Harbor congress.
"Perhaps no immense undertaking in the last fifty years," said Mr. Fox, "has made such a remarkable record as has the National River and Harbor congress in its propaganda for a definite system of well improved waterways. Our efforts culminated last December, when from 2,000 to 4,000 representatives from the waterways cities gathered in Washington, and these men heard an expression from the river and harbor committee of congress declaring that there should be an adequate appropriation from congress in the future for river and harbor work and that the great worthy projects should be taken up and pushed to completion.
"De Alva Alexander of Buffalo, chairman of the congressional committee, the successor of Burton, paid the highest tribute to the National River and Harbor congress in presenting his appropriation bill for rivers and harbors when he stated that it was due to the efforts of this great organization that the country was so thoroughly roused as to make possible the appropriation of $2,000,000 on rivers and harbors.
"The greatest victory gained through our persistent and active agitation was the definite adoption by congress of those projects which have been reported thus far by the Board of Engineers. One of these was the improvement of the Ohio river to cost $65,000,000, it is to be completed in the next ten years. The upper Mississippi, to cost $20,000,000, will be completed in the next eight years.
"Taft Favors Work.
"These projects had long dragged on the books receiving but small and scant appropriations, so that without such adoption as regular projects they would have been deferred almost indefinitely. President Taft has spoken most encouragingly of our work and on every occasion has reiterated what has been expressed in the policy of the National River and Harbor congress—that is, if we are to get any results in improvement of our waterways these must be taken up as national projects in a complete and definite way, just as the Panama canal was taken up, and pushed toward completion.
"The Missouri river is now the next great river project that remains to be adopted as a unit of the great system of no stone should be left unturned by the cities on its banks until this Missouri river project is placed in the same category as the upper Mississippi and the Ohio rivers.
"Major Shults' estimate shows that $2,000,000 will be needed to give a definite and reliable channel up to Sioux City, and this project can be made as definite as is the Ohio for nine feet from Pittsburg to Cairo. It also can be completed within the next ten years, and this would give us 400 miles of the great river and trunk lines of the Mississippi valley as a working basis for our waterway system.
"Urges Large Attendance.
"I cannot urge too strongly upon the business men of all these cities the importance of having this project adopted by congress at the coming session. Our organization will hold its annual meeting in Washington the first week in December, and there ought to be from 600 to 1,000 business men in attendance on that congress from the cities on the Missouri river from Fort Benton to its mouth.
"I have just found the greatest interest awakened into the two Dakotas, and Governor Durke has promised to head a large delegation from North Dakota. He will gladly join the governors of states lower down, so as to make a demonstration in Washington in favor of this work. I saw Governor Vessey at Pierre, and he hopes to be able to attend with a large number of men from the cities of South Dakota. I would like to see a special trainload cross the continent from this city, bearing great numbers advertising that this section is fully awake to the importance of the improvement of the Missouri river.
"Mr. Fox will go from here to Nebraska City, Atchison and St. Joseph, and will return Monday to attend the meeting of the board of engineers.

EXCHANGE AGAINST BONDS

Real Estate Men Decide to Oppose School Bond Issue.
SOME MEMBERS DO NOT VOTE
Resolution of A. F. Tukey is Adopted by a Vote of Nine to Seven of Those Present and Voting.
The Omaha Real Estate exchange Wednesday endorsed a resolution against the proposed school bond issue of $300,000. Sixteen members of the exchange voted on the resolution and of these nine were for it and seven against. A considerable number of members did not vote.
The resolution adopted was written and offered by A. F. Tukey, who thus has once more ended debate in the exchange by getting a resolution of his architecture put through. The exchange had before it on the same subject a resolution offered by W. H. Green. This, like Mr. Tukey's, was against the bond issue, but more vigorously worded.
The exchange also had before it the final report from its committee on bond issues and this report favored splitting up the bond issue into high school and grade school propositions.
The committee believes with unanimity that the high school should not be added at this time, but that at least two new grade schools are necessary. Therefore, the committee did not wish the exchange to vote against new school bonds in entirety.
Tukey Resolution.
The resolution by Mr. Tukey, which carried, reads as follows:
"After listening to a very full and free discussion of the school bond proposition by members of the Board of Education and others this exchange has reached the following conclusions:
"First—That the bonded indebtedness of Omaha has increased more rapidly during the last decade than the population of the city has grown within that time. Hence the per capita indebtedness of the city has reached an amount that we think demands careful consideration.
"Second—From all that has been said we think that members of the board have been importuned by the patrons of the schools very nearly beyond their endurance, asking for new buildings and expensive improvements beyond the power of the board to grant. In order to satisfy this demand the board has been induced to ask for a bond issue of $700,000 and in asking for this issue of bonds the board has been urged by the Board of Education to be strictly honest and perfectly sincere in so doing.
"Third—We are not convinced that this proposed issue of bonds is necessary at this time. We believe that a rigid and thorough redefining of the city would relieve the congestion in most school buildings. This would require a strong hand on the part of the superintendent and the Board of Education, but we think it can and should be done at once.
"We think that any bond proposition seeking to distribute favors among various sections of the city for the purpose of carrying the high school bonds deserves to be defeated. The erection of every proposed building should be upon its own merits and not be linked with any other.
"We think, also, that the tendency in the past to reduce the number of studies taught in high schools rather than to increase the same.
"While not wishing to criticize the board, we feel that the buildings erected in the last few years have in some cases been too expensive for the locations and have cost the district excessive amounts of money in a project for which they owned the plans and specifications, and built plain and substantial buildings and let the superintendent of buildings superintend the construction of same.
"Therefore, Resolved, That it is the judgment of this exchange that the proposed building should be defeated, and that no request to issue school bonds should be made at this election.
"Many Yeast A. Roemer, W. T. Graham, chairman, and F. A. Creigh, L. D. Spaulding, F. D. Wead and John L. McCague constituted the committee on school bond issues. Their report concludes as follows:
"You committee finds from school authorities that there are approximately thirty vacant rooms which could be utilized for the high school. The cost of the grade school buildings as such adjustment or restricting has not been had for almost ten years.

What woman would not look young if she had a clear, soft complexion?
Perhaps the most wonderful skin treatment is one of the most simple. Dr. Takka Quifido, Japan's famous skin specialist, gives San Francisco women the following advice:
"Yes, we never grow old in Japan—I mean the women's faces never show age. All Japanese women use mayatone dissolved in witchazel, and massage the solution on their faces, neck and arms once or twice a day. This treatment is absolutely harmless even to a baby's skin and gives wonderful results, removing all manner of facial blemishes. It also prevents the growth of hair. You never saw a Japanese woman with hair on her face.
"Take a small original package of mayatone and dissolve it all in eight ounces of witchazel, and you are supplied with this aid to youth."—Ady.

Jap on Trial for Biting Off Ear

Story of the Affair is Told to a Jury in the District Court.
With the exception of about one square inch of his left ear, Harry Ropenian, a Turk, was in district court Wednesday to testify against Sanki Kim, a Japanese charged with biting off said portion of said ear in a fight in the Lyons hotel, Thirteenth and Dodge streets, the night of July 13.
Ropenian told of hearing the noise of battle in the hallway at the hotel and rushing out in his underwear to see what was the trouble. The hotel clerk and the proprietor were having a desperate fight with the oriental, who seemed to be drunk or crazy, he said. He testified that he got behind the Jap, seized him and pinioned his arms to his sides. Then the Jap turned his head and proceeded to amputate, according to the witness.
Sanki Kim's defense was that the Turk stuck his ear in his mouth and he bit it without realizing what he was doing until too late.
His Edoff, who witnessed the free-for-all fight, told a similar story and spoke of the finding of the section of ear in the hallway.
From the evidence it appears that the Jap had been in the city less than a day when the trouble occurred. He had asked a friend to direct him to lodging. His friend took him to the Lyons and then went away without saying good-night. The Jap had been drinking a little and he conceived the idea that his benefactor had been foully dealt with. Several times he went to the clerk and the proprietor and made inquiry for the man. When their patience was exhausted the clerk and the proprietor undertook to oust the oriental, as he was keeping the other guests awake.
The piece of ear, which reposes in a bottle of alcohol in a physician's office, was not introduced in evidence, the defense admitting that it was the same piece that was bitten off Ropenian.

Roosevelt Gives Endorsement to Children's Bureau

Writes a Personal Letter to Judge A. L. Sutton Favoring the Plan.
Theodore Roosevelt's endorsement of the proposed establishment of a national children's bureau has been received by Judge A. L. Sutton, republican candidate for congressman from the second district, who is one of the men who are working for the establishment of such a bureau. Judge Sutton's work as a juvenile judge has enabled him to realize the necessity of some national department to look after the interests of children and he has joined with friends of the movement for a national bureau throughout the country.
The ex-president's personal letter of endorsement, received by Judge Sutton Wednesday, follows:
OFFICE OF THEODORE ROOSEVELT, Sept. 30.—My Dear Judge Sutton: I am glad to hear from you and wish you success. As I have said in the message I sent as president to the congress in February, 1907, I very strongly believe that we should have a children's bureau in the national government. There should not be a separate department, but that is meant a department with a cabinet officer, but emphatically believe in the creation of a children's bureau. Faithfully yours, THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Dahlman Talks on Home Rule

Addresses the Omaha Real Estate Exchange on That Subject Wednesday Noon.
Mayor Dahlman talked to members of the Omaha Real Estate exchange upon "Home Rule" Wednesday, the mayor urging that the only way this will ever be achieved is by constitutional amendment which will permit Omahans to write their own charter.
"Most people out in the state," said the mayor, "do not understand what home rule means, and 75 per cent of the people of Omaha do not. At the last state election they thought it meant whether the fire and police board should be named by the governor or chosen by the mayor with an alternative to the last through choice by the electors of the city.
"Of course, 'home rule' really means writing our own charter, so that, for instance, if we passed the house and were located for the city police we do not have to go to the legislature and ask permission.
"Home rule really means that in a city like this the men who pay the taxes shall determine the provisions of the charter so that we citizens of this city shall say how the tax-raised funds shall be spent.
"If the people of the state of Nebraska understand this, it will be voted for at once. A bill was introduced at my investigation at the last legislature providing for the submission of a constitutional amendment. It passed the house and was located in the senate. A new bill will be offered the new legislature, and if it is made clear what Omaha wants, it will pass."
