All pleaded not guilty. They also were arraigned on a charge of robbery, to which they pleaded not guilty. John M. Cunningham, charged with stabbing with intent to wound, and John Peterson, charged with child abandonment, were arraigned and pleaded not guilty.

New Books

THE SHEARER OF DESTINY, by Leroy Scott; 22 pp.; $1.25; Doubleday, Page & Co. Russia of today is the setting for this story of an American's adventures in the land of the czar. Drawn by chance into the stream of political unrest, the hero finds himself swept along and involved in many thrilling incidents. It is a love story of charm in a very adventurous land. THE PATH OF HONOR, by Burton E. Stevenson; 22 pp.; $1.50; J. H. Lippincott company. Mr. Stevenson's rollicking stories of the French blade have earned for him a reputation as a teller of tales. Romance pure and simple exactly describes "The Path of Honor," a tale of the war in the Boer—the sort of story that grips the reader and hurries him breathlessly along from adventure to adventure. FIRST LOVE, by Marie Van Vorst; 22 pp.; $1.50; Bobbs-Merrill company. The story opens with the auction of John Bennett's father's effects. His fall in love with beautiful Mrs. Bathurst, Cynthia Forsythe's love for him; Mrs. Bathurst sending him away at the cost of her own happiness; her marriage to Nicholas Prynne, an old friend, for whom she feels a quiet affection, and John's marriage to Milly Haven makes a charming tale. KEITH OF THE BORDER, by Randall Parke; 22 pp.; $1.25; A. C. McCreary & Co. This book is concerned with the days when the Indians disputed the western frontier with the encroaching whites, and the places and characters are all familiar to the author, who was himself an actor in the dramatic episodes of those days. There is an exciting mystery and an enthralling love situation. A BLUESTOCKING IN INDIA, by William M. M. M.; 22 pp.; $1; Fleming H. Revell company. A young woman practicing medicine in India writes her experience in a series of letters to a friend. Among things that happen her are a casual case from a large and aggressive cobra and the discovery that the man who has washed her dishes and waited at table is a well-developed leper. It is not surprising that illness should send the young doctor back to her native land. HELEN WITH THE HIGH HAND, by Arnold Bennett; 22 pp.; $1.50; George H. Doran company. A story of the encounter of two obstinate natures, that of a hard, shrewd, narrow, self-satisfied, miserly old townman and that of an educated, capable, ornamental, eminently sensible and femininely unscrupulous young woman of his own blood. THE ANNALS OF ANN, by Kate Trimble Barber; 22 pp.; $1.50; Bobbs-Merrill company. All sorts of fun are to be found in this story of life and love seen through the eyes of a little girl, a pretty southern girl, a little German governess, a teacher, an editor, a doctor, an artist, a spinster, a minister, an old colored cook and a young misanthrope from the north are all, respectively, courted and wedded or dismissed on these diverting pages. THE LADY AND THE SPIRIT, by David Paton; 22 pp.; $1; J. H. Lippincott company. An exciting romance, going from one adventure to another. The scene is laid in South Jersey, and there is a very interesting love story and a very beautiful and clever heroine. MISCELLANEOUS. HOW TO DEVELOP SELF-CONFIDENCE IN SPEECH AND MANNER, by Grenville Kleiser; 22 pp.; $1.25; Funk & Wagnell company. The author sets forth a series of suggestions to be used in correcting the want of confidence in speech and manner; he lays down as a fundamental principle that one should not merely think of himself as strong and cheerful, but should endeavor constantly to express those qualities in looks, voice, words, manner, work and daily life. THE QUALITIES OF MEN, by Joseph J. Moore; 22 pp.; $1; Houghton-Mifflin company. An interpretation of the contrasts in temperament, ability, ideals and general social relations which may be observed in the people about us. Some of the subjects are: "Sensibility and Morals," "Individual Quality and the Restraint of Convention," "Square Holes and Round Pegs," "The Hazard of High Quality," etc. DEMOCRACY AND THE PARTY SYSTEM, by M. Ostrogorski; 65 pp.; $1.75; The Macmillan company. After the publication of the author's former book, "Democracy and the Organization of Political Parties," the suggestion was made in the press that an abridged edition should be brought out. While based upon the second volume of the larger work, the present book has been thoroughly revised and enriched with a great deal of new matter. THE GRAND CANYON OF ARIZONA, by George Wharton James; 22 pp.; $1.50; The Macmillan company. This volume points out the special beauties and famous features of the canyon, and gives the reader an accurate knowledge of this wonderful country. HOW TO ARGUE AND WIN, by Grenville Kleiser; 22 pp.; $1.25; Funk & Wagnell company. The author endeavors to put the reader in possession of those laws of argumentation which lie at the bottom of sound reasoning, based on fact; to give the student, be he lawyer, politician, clergyman, public speaker, or salesman, those methods of preparation that shall make him reasonably certain to win. MR. DOOLEY SAYS, by Peter Dunne; 22 pp.; $1; Charles Scribner's Sons. This, the first book by Mr. Dooley which has been published in four years, contains his very latest comment on men and women and things. He treats of "Divorce," "Glory," "Woman Suffrage," "The Bachelor Tax," "The Rising of the Subject Races," "Faction" and "Ocean Travel." THE COST OF OUR NATIONAL GOVERNMENT, by Henry Jones Ford; 143 pp.; $1.50; The Macmillan company. This volume contains the substance of lectures delivered on the George Blumenthal Foundation at Columbia university in the fall and winter of 1909. THE MARVELS BEYOND SCIENCE, by Joseph Grassi; 22 pp.; $1.25; Funk & Wagnell company. The author of this book affirms that "the real situation which is now before us is not yet belonging to science from creating some day, to be occult, and becoming scientific," and presents phenomena formerly looked upon as occult, but now fully explained and accounted for by science. THE LIFE OF CHARLES SUMNER, by Walter O. Shotwell; 22 pp.; $1.50; Thomas Y. Crowell & Co. This volume of necessity has to do with many matters of which there are other written records, but at the same time a vast amount of new light is shed on the statesman's public career as well as on his private life. In dealing with Sumner's connection with national affairs, the author has maintained as impartial an attitude as is consistent with a sympathetic treatment of his subject.

Our Annual Sale of Boy's Suits and Overcoats

Will Occur SATURDAY Nov. 19th

The phenomenal values given in our last year's sale of Boys' Clothing are no doubt still remembered by every parent who attended that sale. We however were not content with the records we then established, but determined that this year's sale should bring even finer qualities, handsomer styles and better workmanship than were ever seen in a sale of Boys' Clothing. And in inviting you to take advantage of this sale, we are proud to say that we have prepared such extraordinary values that all past records are far outdone. There is not a garment in this sale that could ordinarily be sold below $5.00, and the most of them would sell at $6.00 to $7.00.

But since this maker was ready to commence work on spring and summer garments he was willing to dispose of his remaining winter garments at much less than their actual value. This sale is our way of sharing with you the great advantages of our buying methods.

The Suits

are made in the very latest winter styles and in handsome, up-to-date shades and patterns that will please both boy and parent. The materials are all wool Scotch chevots, velours, cassimeres and worsteds. Every suit is strongly lined, trimmed and finished, and will resist the very hardest wear of any boy. Sizes for all boys between 6 and 17 years of age.

The Overcoats

are in "Military," "Convertible" and "Regular" Overcoat styles and are made from splendid all wool overcoat fabrics, in stylish, attractive new shades and patterns. They are very carefully lined, trimmed and finished with first class materials and have been especially designed to meet the wants and needs of sturdy, healthy boys. The sizes are for boys from 3 to 17 years of age.

Judge Instructs a Verdict of Not Guilty in Standard Oil Case

McCall Ends Effort by Government to Have Big Fine Assessed Against Corporation.

JACKSON, Tenn., Nov. 12.—In a ruling which required twenty minutes to read, Judge John E. McCall, in the United States circuit court this afternoon, ended the efforts of the government to have assessed against the Standard Oil company of Indiana penalties aggregating more than $500,000.

The ruling instructing that a verdict of not guilty be returned came with the conclusion of the case in chief of the prosecution and in substance holds with the contentions of the defense that after four years the United States had failed to build its structure of evidence other than on sand.

The suit at issue probably was the most important litigation against one of the greater corporations ever fought in the south. The Elkins law, regarding interstate commerce, was violated, it was alleged, through "scheme and device," the specific offense charged being the receiving of freight concessions.

Judge McCall, in his ruling, first reviews the indictment allegations. Next he takes up the testimony presented as tending to prove that the consignments which formed the basis for the suit were shipped on orders received from the Standard Oil company of Kentucky by the defendant company from its refinery at Whit-ting, Ind., to Grand Junction, Tenn., "for beyond," with freight charges prepaid to Grand Junction, and there taken possession of by the Kentucky corporation.

Also he points out the testimony presented "tending to prove there was no understanding, expressed or implied, direct or indirect," between the defendant company and the Kentucky company with regard to rates to be paid; that it was solely a business transaction between two corporations.

Upon this statement of facts, Judge McCall recalled, he ruled early in the trial that the Indiana company should not be held accountable for the shipments so far as the transportation beyond Grand Junction was concerned.

"MIKE" M'NUTT QUILTS JOB

Well Known Lecturer Does Close-to- People Street for "Material"

NORFOLK, Nov. 12.—(Special.)—Disguised as a common laborer and known only as "Mike" to his employers, the Kate-Craig Construction company, who are paving Norfolk avenue in this city, Rev. George R. McNutt, popular lecturer, graduate of a large eastern university and once pastor of one of the largest churches in Pittsburg, Pa., resigned his position yesterday as "dumpy man" on the paving work and packing away his soft hat, corduroy trousers, sweater and rawhide shoes, donned his customary attire and went to Lincoln to lecture.

Rev. Mr. McNutt is the father of a family. He is well known by Rev. Edwin Hooper of this city and takes pleasure in telling of his performance among the working classes with whom he often associates as one of their number.

Garment Workers Renew Rioting

Private Detective Shot While Aiding Police Disperse Strikers—Women Placed Under Arrest.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—Renewed rioting today, in which one policeman was shot, disturbed the recent comparative peace which has marked the garment strike. More than a score of strikers, most of them women and girls, were arrested, and several policemen were injured.

Thomas Flowers, a private detective, was shot while aiding the police disperse strikers at Fifth avenue and Harrison street. The strikers were said to be on their way to break into the plant of the Royal Tailors, where nonunion help is employed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—A mob in sympathy with the taxicab chauffeurs, who went out with the express drivers and helpers and then formulated demands of their own, which the major companies have not yet granted, attacked a strikebreaker this evening and threw a bottle half filled with carbolic acid at the policeman who was trying to take him home. The acid burned the officer's foot and one arm, but he stuck to his charge until brother officers came to his aid.
