BENSON & THORNE

1518-1520 FARNAM STREET

Why matters of national honor should not be referred to a court of arbitration than matters of property or of national proprietorship. I know that is going farther than most men are willing to go, but I do not see why questions of honor may not be submitted to a tribunal composed of men of honor, who understand questions of national honor, to abide by their decision as well as any other questions of difference arising between nations.

"I venture to quote from my address as President of the Peace congress in New York, 1907.

"One Dishonored Word. "Honor is the most dishonored word in our language. No man ever touched another man's honor, no nation ever dishonored another nation; all honors wounds are self-inflicted."

"At the opening of the international bureau of American republics at Washington, April 28, 1910, President Taft said:

"We twenty-one republics cannot afford to have any two or three of us quarrel. We must stop this and Mr. Carnegie and I will not be satisfied until all nineteen of us can intervene by proper measures to suppress a quarrel between any other two."

Hopes Trustees Will Press Forward. "I hope the trustees will begin by pressing forward upon this line, testing it thoroughly and doubting not."

"The judge who presides over a cause in which he is interested dies in infamy if discovered. The citizen who constitutes himself a judge in his own cause as against his fellow citizen, and presumes to attack him as a law breaker and as such is disgraced. So should a nation be held as disgraced which insists upon sitting in judgment in its own case in case of an international dispute between nations."

"I call your attention to the following resolution introduced by the committee of foreign relations in the first session, fiftieth congress, June 14, 1888, and adopted:

"Resolved, by the senate (the house of representatives concurring), That the president be and is requested to invite from time to time, as fit occasions may arise, negotiations with any government with which the United States has or may have diplomatic relations, to the end that any differences or disputes arising between the two governments which cannot be adjusted by diplomatic agency, may be referred to arbitration and be adjusted by such means."

"This resolution was presented to the British Parliament, which adopted a resolution approving the action of the congress of the United States and expressing that her majesty's government would lend ready co-operation to the government of the United States for the accomplishment of the object in view (resolution of the House of Commons, July 15, 1893).

Expression of Spirit. "Here we find an expression of the spirit which resulted in the first international Hague conference of 1899, the second Hague conference of 1907, eight year treaties of obligatory arbitration between the great nations of the world, our own country being a party to twenty-three of them."

"It was my privilege to introduce to President Cleveland in 1897 a committee of members of Parliament of Britain, headed by Sir William Harcourt, in response to the action of congress proposing a treaty agreeing to settle all disputes that might arise between America and Great Britain by arbitration. Such a treaty was concluded between Lord Pauncefote and Secretary Olney in 1897. It failed of passage by the necessary two-thirds majority of the senate by only three votes."

"There is reason to believe the British government has been desirous of having that treaty reaffirmed by our government, or ready to agree to another of similar character, so that President Taft's policy seems within easy reach of success."

"If the English speaking race adopts such a treaty we shall not have to wait long for other nations to join, and it will be noted that the resolution of congress in 1890 embraces any government with which the United States has or may have diplomatic relations; thus all nations seem still open to the invitation he is requested to give, there being no limitations as to time."

Rights of Nations. "If the independence and rights of nations to their respective international policies were first formally recognized in such treaties to disputes concerning these elements of sovereignty could arise."

"The trustees have power to sell, invest or reinvest all funds, either in the United States or in other countries, subject as respects investments in the United States to no more reservation than is imposed upon savings banks or insurance companies in the state of New York."

"In order to give effect to this it will be suitable that the trustees herein named shall ask for a charter with powers appropriate to the accomplishment of the purpose herein expressed and authorize the conveyance of the fund to such a corporation. No personal liability will attach to trustees for their action or non-action as trustees. They have power to fill vacancies or to add to their number and to employ all officials and to fix their compensation. Trustees shall be reimbursed all expenses incurred in connection with their duties as trustees, including traveling expenses, attending meetings, including expenses of wife or daughter to each annual meeting. The president shall be granted such honoraria as the trustees think proper and as he can be prevailed upon to accept."

"Lines of future action cannot be wisely laid down. Many may have to be tried, and having full confidence in my trustees I leave to them the widest discretion as to the measure and policy they shall from time to time adopt, only promising that the one end that shall keep constantly in view until it is attained is the speedy abolition of international war between so-called civilized nations."

From Century to Century. "When civilized nations enter into such treaties as named, or war is discarded as disgraceful to civilized men, as personal war (dueling) and man selling and buying (slavery) have been discarded within the wide boundary of our English speaking race, the trustees will please then consider what is the most degrading remaining evil or evils whose banishment—or what new elevating element or elements if introduced or fostered, or both combined—what most advance the progress, elevation and happiness of man, and so on from century to century without end, my trustees of each age shall determine how they can best aid man in the upward march to higher and higher stages of development, for now we know that as a law of his being, man was created with the desire and capacity for improvement, to which, perchance, there may be no limit short of perfection even here in this life upon earth.

"Let my trustees, therefore, ask themselves from time to time, from age to age, how they can best help man in his glorious ascent onward and upward and to this and devote this fund."

"Thanking you for your cordial acceptance of the trust and your hearty approval of its object, I am, very gratefully yours, "ANDREW CARNEGIE."

The names of Louise Whitefield Carnegie and Margaret Carnegie, wife and daughter, respectively, of the donor, are appended to the deed of trust as witnesses.

Board of Officers.

FRIMONT, Neb., Dec. 13.—(Special).—The Dodge County Poultry association's annual show is being held at Masonic hall, and there are about 800 chickens, ducks and geese of aristocrats of the poultry yard, one lone turkey, and about forty dogs on exhibition. The big poultry show at Omaha has helped rather than injured the show, for quite a number of exhibitors were a little late in making their entries for the big show and brought their birds to Fremont. There are birds shown from a great many outside towns, including Winona, Minn.; Malo, Davey, Columbus, Hooper, Scribner, Cedar Bluffs and other points. The outside exhibitors are larger than usual. The Brown Leghorn pullets owned by W. L. Houck and hatched from one egg, attract much attention. Both of the birds are typical of their class and grade high. The show lasts until Friday.

IOWA FARMERS IN SESSION

Convention Selects Officers for the Ensuing Year.

FAVOR AGRICULTURE IN SCHOOLS

Resolutions Passed for Consolidation of Rural Schools with State Aid

—Favor Bureau of Publicity to Advertise State.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

DES MOINES, Ia., Dec. 14.—(Special Telegram).—The State Farmers' convention elected Charles Cameron of Alta president of the State Board of Agriculture; John Ledgerwood of Leon, vice president, and John Jones of Malvern and Frank Sheldon of Mount Ayr as his new directors.

The board re-elected John Simpson, secretary. Resolutions were passed in favor of the reorganization of the school system of Iowa, so as to provide for education along agricultural as well as educational lines, the consolidation of rural schools and establishing agricultural high schools with state aid.

Resolutions also ask the legislature to establish a bureau of publicity for making known the resources of the state.

Expansion of the influence of the Iowa state grange was decided upon at the state grange meeting today.

"We will organize 100 new subordinate granges in Iowa this coming year," said Grand Master A. H. Judson.

"Plans were made this morning for a rapid expansion of our organization and we will extend its workings to the farthest corners of the state."

Professor P. G. Holden, head of the college grange, was present and headed the agitation for an enlargement of the state grange by the establishment of new subordinate granges. The work of expanding the order will be in the hands of the executive committee, which includes Grand Master A. B. Judson of Balfour, A. H. Mead of Manchester, J. W. W. of Council Bluffs, and M. E. Blair of Manchester.

Foresters' Officers.

C. E. Carpenter of Marshalltown, was re-elected president of the Iowa Chief Foresters' association, Modern Woodmen of America. The other officers were re-elected as follows: A. E. Harris of Maxwell, vice president; C. D. Flug of Reinebeck, treasurer, and George N. Frink of Des Moines, secretary.

Conservation Committee.

Henry Wallace, president of the National Conservation congress, today announced members of the executive committee as follows:

J. B. White, Kansas City, chairman; J. N. Trent, Portland, Ore.; E. L. Worham, Atlanta, Ga.; George C. Farde, Oakland, Cal.; L. H. Bailey, Ithaca, N. Y.; Frank G. Condy, Denver, Colo.; James H. Garfield, Cleveland, O.; William F. Jones, Las Cruces, N. M.; Walter H. Page, New York City; Mrs. Philip N. Moore, St. Louis, Mo.

B. N. Baker, president of the last congress, a life member of this committee, will have charge of arrangements for the next congress and the work of publicity for conservation work.

CRUELTY MARKS MEXICAN REVOLT

he did not pursue because he had been fought to a finish and had exhausted his energy. Had he killed eighty of them, it is argued that his duty was plain to finish the remnant in their presumably demoralized state.

Another Battle Expected.

Revolutionary leaders today acted like victors. Reinforcements arrived here to the number of 200 and the chiefs declared that they were ready and expected another battle tomorrow. On the other hand, the satisfaction seemed to have occurred in the pronunciamento, or Madagista ranks.

Last night Pancho Villa, a famed bandit, with twenty-five of his followers, forsook the paths of patriotism for the old line endeavor. They beat up and robbed a Chinaman, extorted $200 in Mexican money from the native superintendent of Gabriel Saenz ranch and burned the store of a Mexican at Pedernales.

Reports conflict also concerning the doings of Castulo Herrera of the insurgent leaders, who has been foremost in safeguarding foreigners. Herrera with 100 men, some riding two on a horse, appeared at the Rancho Rubin this afternoon and ransacked the ranch store, but after the revolutionary custom, gave receipts for goods taken.

To sum up, the government officials insist Navarro has split the revolutionists into small bands, while the latter state they are stronger than ever.

FOR CAPITOL OF OKLAHOMA

Million and a Half Structure on Land Offered by L. M. Putnam.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okl., Dec. 14.—The contest over the location of the state capitol assumed definite shape today in the senate when Senator Roddie introduced a resolution providing that the capitol building shall be located on a site offered by L. M. Putnam. Mr. Putnam submitted a bond of $200,000.

By this proposition the state is offered a gift of 1,600 acres of land with the promise that a building to cost $1,800,000 will be built. The proposition was sent to the capitol committee.
