Market for Hirsute Adornments Slump-Queues Not Popular with American Society Leaders.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.-The human halr market here has slumped and China's reminister of the interior, resigned tenight. generation is held responsible. It is not, sowever, because of the over supply of bair, but because the American women would rather defy fashion's dictates than him and wear what they thought a remodeled Chiness queue. This statement was made today by A. H. Skillen, receiver for a bankrupt firm of dealers in adornments made from human hair. He says the mere inti- clerks, who quit work on the ground that mation that the Chinese had accepted the the authorities had failed to bring about carding their flowing queues, was enough their hours of labor.
