Fire Board Recommends Fire Fund Raised to $40,000.

FOR SALARIES AND EQUIPMENT

Recommendation Salaries of Police-men Be Increased—Fire Board Approves.

At the meeting of the Fire and Police Board yesterday it was decided to recommend the following increase for the compensation of the executive committee of the charter revision committee:

Chief, $100 per month; assistant chief, $75 per month; captains of boxes and truck companies, $100 per month; policemen, $100 per month; drivers, $85 per month; stokers, $85 per month; engineers, $85 per month; new men to begin with $70 per month with $5 per month increase semi-annually, until the maximum is reached; men now working under $70 per month to be paid under the new schedule with credit for time served to apply on semi-annual increase.

The present scale of wages is: Chief, $125; assistant chief, $100; captain, $100; policemen, $100; drivers, $85; stokers, $85; engineers, $85. New men now begin at $70.

It was also decided that a similar recommendation be made relative to the police force.

Larger Fire Fund.

The board agreed as well to recommend the increase of the fire fund to $40,000, an increase from $35,000 to $5,000 was adopted by the charter revision committee Wednesday night.

The subject of the raises was brought before the board by Pipeman John Buglives of hose company No. 2, acting as a deputation on behalf of all the firms of the department. The petitioners asked for an amendment of the charter so as to provide for a double shift and in the event of that change not being thought desirable the increase of wages.

Chief McKale pointed out that the increase meant a $5 raise. In Omaha, he said, the firemen had a double shift and they were paid $5, while the men in South Omaha who had to be on duty twenty-four hours, only got $4. He thought the men entitled to the increase and the chief and assistant chief as well, as they had to cover the whole city and not a section as in Omaha.

Mayor Traitor believed that the increase was justified seeing that the "double shift" proposition was not very vigorously pressed.

On the suggestion of Chief of Police Briggs it was decided to recommend similar increases for the police department. In Omaha, said the chief, the policemen only worked eight hours while in South Omaha they were on duty twelve.

Life Not Enough.

Commissioner Pivenka brought up the question of the increase of the fire fund. He thought that the increase from $35,000 to $40,000 adopted by the charter revision committee would not be sufficient to run the department, seeing that they would have to have two new fire halls to equip and man. The increase, said the commissioner, proposed would not cover the cost.

Chief McKale said that the salaries would absorb $30,000 and if proper provision was not made they would be in the same position next year as this year, when a number of men had to be laid off.

Mayor Traitor remarked that they could get all they wanted in one year and it should be borne in mind that the apparatus was new and they would not be required to spend much on repairs.

City Clerk Good said that if the fund was increased to $40,000 they would be about only able to realize the $5,000 recommended. The recommendation was then made to the executive committee that the fund be raised to $40,000.

Piercen Gets Back License.

The Fire and Police Board, acting on the advice of the city legal department, and following the result of the appeal in the district court, restored to Gus M. Piercen, licensekeeper, $2000 of the license he revoked last Monday in consequence of the decision of Police Judge Callanan fining him $100 for having an alleged permitted liquor to be sold on his premises after 8 o'clock Christmas eve. The appeal was granted Wednesday by Judge J. H. Brown and after argument by Attorney J. H. Brown for the defendant, it was sustained. The board held that the section of the amendment act for 1909 was mandatory upon them to revoke the license in view of the police judge's decision, but Assistant City Attorney S. L. Winger, in a motion, advised that that reading the law regulating the proceedings of the board with this section they had power to restore the license when the case was dismissed by the superior court. It was pointed out that the police board had power to revoke a license pending the termination of the suit and that the section in the act of 1909 did not take that power away from it; it simply made such provision that appeal must be taken immediately from the ruling of the police court.

State of City Funds.

According to the statement issued by City Clerk Good showing the condition of the funds from December 1 to January 1, the receipts amounted to $22,714.03; the disbursements to $29,728.06, and the unexpended balance to $12,985.98. The amount of the levy, 10 per cent, for 1910-11 available August 1st was $26,899.44, the balance unexpended July 31st which were placed to the credit of the interest and sinking fund, $12,625.27 and the collections by the city treasurer reported since August 1st, $4,192.82. The valuation on real and personal property in the city, 1910-11, is $4,267.69.

Church Services.

Many will read with feelings of disappointment, but at the same time with regret that owing to a severe attack of cold which has been accompanied with loss of voice Rev. Irving F. Johnson, former pastor, will be unable to preach in St. Martin's Sunday. Mr. Johnson came south from Minneapolis in the early part of the week thinking that his illness was only temporary, but as he did not get better he was obliged to go south and is now in Texas whether he was ordered by his physicians. He was to fulfill an engagement there following his visit to South Omaha and his friends in the city who are numerous hope that he may recover in time to do so.

"Just Killed a Man; Send the Sheriff," Says Missourian

Farmer Shoots Negro and Calls Up Coroner—Freed by Jury Later in Day.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 14.—A farmer at Affton, St. Louis county, killed Robert Jackson, a negro, at his farm early today. Then he called up the coroner and asked that the sheriff of the county be sent for him. Late this afternoon the coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

The negro, who was a farm hand in Long's employ, was killed with a shotgun, after a desperate struggle in which he thrust the prongs of a pitchfork into Long's arm and beat him on the head.

Long had been working for me a short time and I discharged him this morning," said Long. "When I ordered him off the premises he attacked me."

Testimony before the coroner's jury was to the effect that Jackson was feeding cattle when the quarrel started. After the pitchfork attack Long retreated to his house where he got his shotgun and fired upon the negro, who continued the pitchfork fight until he was killed.

Coroner Bracey was surprised when the telephone rang and he heard the following:

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF CHURCH TO BE OBSERVED

Congregation of Castellar Street Presbyterian Church in Silver Anniversary.

The quarter centennial and silver anniversary of the organization of the Castellar street Presbyterian church will be appropriately celebrated Sunday and Monday, January 15 and 16. Sunday morning the membership will gather for an anniversary communion observance. At 7:45 "fraternal evening" will be observed. Addresses will be made by elders and ministers of sister churches. The principal address being by Rev. Dr. Wines of South Omaha on the theme, "For What Are We Here?" Rev. Messrs. Filipp, Zaugg and Fellman will give congratulatory talks.

"Fellowship evening" will be observed Monday at 8 o'clock. There will be short sketches of the church's history, progress and achievements, and a re-enactment will be conducted by C. B. Wilson, a former member and brother to Rev. J. M. Wilson, who spent thirteen years with the church in its beginnings. Some former members of Castellar's choir will sing on this occasion. Letters from former pastors will be read and items attractive to all old-time as well as present members will be advanced. Castellar has sought through these twenty-five years to live as near the people in simple service and spiritual helpfulness as a church could well do. Its sick room, ministrations and its pastor's calls for funerals are perhaps as numerous as those of any English-speaking congregation of the city.

INAMORATA TESTIFIES AGAINST ACCUSED MAN

Woman Whom Hogrefe Loved More Than Murdered Wife Witness for Prosecution.

WAYNE, Neb., Jan. 14.—Highly sensational testimony was given at the trial of Henry Hogrefe, accused of wife murder, yesterday by Mrs. Amelia Mats, formerly Amelia Moseman, niece of Mrs. Hogrefe.

Mrs. Amelia Mats testified that she was called to Hogrefe's home in October, 1909, to help do housework and that in the following January the defendant began paying particular attention to her. She testified that Hogrefe told her he would like to get rid of his wife because she was cross and that he would poison her if she did not die, and then marry the witness.

Mrs. Mats said she told him he would get into trouble if he did what he proposed doing. She said she told him she would not marry him.

Henry Hogrefe, the defendant, was arrested last June on a complaint charging him with poisoning his wife.

JAIL TURNED INTO COAL YARD

Ethiopian Seized with Common Desire to Secure Fuel at Small Expense.

Due to the efforts of Special Officer Tyles of the Illinois Central railroad, the city jail last night assumed the aspect of a retail coal office. Officer Tyles said that he had "a real quiet evening," but there were none who agreed with him.

Starting early in the evening, the officer made regular trips to the jail, and each time under his wing was a dusky companion with a big sack of coal over his back. The coal belonged to the railroad. Why so many should take to stealing coal upon the same night in the same place was a mystery to the officer. However, it was "his not to reason why," and he didn't simply pick up the coal-hungry proteges of Booker T. Washington as fast as they picked up the coal, and walked them into jail.

Up to a late hour he had made six arrests. The pile of coal in the corner had grown into a small mountain and Desk Sergeant Marshall was wondering if the apparently endless stream would never cease. Chauffeur Carl Maus, but lately known as a coal carrier, was seen upon the sacks which contained the precious black gems.

NEGRO ATTACKS CORPORAL

Small Receives Deep Scalp Wound Because Answer to Question is Displeasing.

Corporal H. Small of the signal corps at Fort Omaha was attacked by an unidentified negro early last evening in Twelfth street and Capitol avenue and received a deep scalp wound and a laceration of the ear. The negro dodged into an alley and escaped as Officer Corrigan, who happened to be within a short distance, came running up.

Small was taken to the police station and his wound was dressed by Police Surgeon Bishop. Small does not know why the negro struck him with the knife, unless it was because he had answered some muttered question a little roughly.

Lord Edgemoor of Ravenswood. Domenico Russo. George Pickering. Arthur Green. Bide-the-Bent. Phillip Fulin. Lucy Ashton. Sir Henry's sister. Edith Helena. Allow her confidante. Battle Belle Ladd. Conductor, Carlo Niccola.

Once, at least, in the course of each twelve month, the woes of the bride of Lammernoor, Scott's unhappy heroine, are voiced across the footlights of a local play house. The plot of "Lacta" is very fierce and bloodspinked, most of the principal characters meeting an untimely death before the curtain rings down in the final scene. The music is sweet and melodious, and has held a high place in the public favor ever since its first production, although it often has little real connection with the tense and tragic words to which it is set.

Last evening the opera was sung and acted by the Aborn English Grand Opera company, with largely the same principals as appeared Wednesday evening in "Trovatore." Miss Edith Helena sang the title role, and invested it with a wealth of real feeling. She not only sings remarkably well, but acts with most refreshing ease and freedom; she has moreover, a large amount of personal beauty and grace in her favor. A more fascinating picture than her appearance in the wedding scene can hardly be imagined, and the famous third act, when she holds the stage alone during practically the entire scene, her acting and vocalizing were both of the kind which proclaim the true artist.

Her companion in sorrow, Lord Edgemoor, was impersonated by Domenico Russo, who, as one of the few tenors, who, having strong and ringing tones as their command, are yet not afraid to modulate their voices down to a mere whisper. Mr. Russo's soft tones, as well as his more robust passages, were beautiful to hear, and his conception of the entire part was thoroughly original and interesting.

The important role of Sir Henry was taken by Mr. George Pickering, who repeated the success he won as Escamillo the evening before. Mr. Green as Sir Arthur, and Mr. Shields, as Bide-the-Bent were both well-cast in their respective parts, and Miss Ladd was pleasing in the role of the few tenors, who, having strong and ringing tones as their command, are yet not afraid to modulate their voices down to a mere whisper. Mr. Russo's soft tones, as well as his more robust passages, were beautiful to hear, and his conception of the entire part was thoroughly original and interesting.

The English of the production was keenly relished by the very large proportion of the audience, who prefer to take their opera

State Brings First Intimation of Scandal Into Records.

Woman Talked of Plans to Secure Divorce and Said Husband Would Probably Die—Gave Him Costly Presents.

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 14.—The state has brought into the court records the first intimation of scandal, in its prosecution of Mrs. Laura Farnsworth Schenk, who is charged with administering poison to her husband, John Schenk.

November there have been intimations and actual statements from the prosecuting attorney that "a well known young man of Wheeling" would be called by the state to show a probable motive for the alleged poisoning. When Daniel Phillips was called today, he created more than the usual murmur about the court room, that has heretofore annoyed both Judge Jordan and counsel. Phillips is a piano salesman. His name has been guarded and in no plan of the prosecution that has been given out has his name been mentioned.

He told of long automobile rides with Mrs. Schenk as her ravishment for over eighteen months previous to her arrest.

In the last year, he said, Mrs. Schenk had talked to him about plans to secure a divorce and later talked almost constantly of the probability of her husband's death.

Received Costly Presents. Phillips admitted that Mrs. Schenk on various occasions had given him costly presents, among them a diamond pin, and a smoking jacket, but denied any knowledge of a $300 fur overcoat which it has been alleged he was to have received the day she was arrested and lodged in jail.

The state attempted several times to establish an understanding between the witness and the defendant, but to all questions Phillips refused to answer, on the ground that he would incriminate himself and he was sustained by the court. Phillips told of meeting the accused at Martin's Ferry and other Ohio points. Beer, wine and sandwiches he said were in the hands of County senates, who were interested in the case, and the defendant, but to all questions Phillips refused to answer, on the ground that he would incriminate himself and he was sustained by the court.
