CHARTER BILL TOO BROAD

Some Find Fault with the Power It Gives Council and Mayor.

PECULIAR VOTING SITUATION

Different Time is Stated for Polls to Open for Special and for the General Elections in City of Omaha.

That the bill for the revision of the city charter as presented to the legislature is too broad in its scope and gives the mayor and city council too much power is the opinion of many in Omaha, who have made an exhaustive study of the provisions of the proposed revision. Through the criticisms in the main is made along several lines, these specific provisions are pointed to as investing the council and mayor with too much power.

That clause which revises section 765 of Colby's annotated statutes of 1892 relates to the improvement of streets, alleys or other public grounds by paving, repaving, macadamizing and gutting and curbing the same, and that city council by concurrent resolution the power to order any improvements in the city within a radius of 500 feet of the city hall without petition from the property owners.

Under the present charter the limit is 4,500 feet. The argument is advanced that there is no reason for extending these limits. Four thousand five hundred feet radius is sufficient in that it embraces all the downtown district and a goodly portion of the residence districts.

Should the bill pass as it stands at present the radius would be extended so that it would take in all territory as far as the river, west as far as Thirty-third street, south to Center and Dorcas streets and north to Burdette street.

This limit is far too wide, according to the views of many interested and should be amended so that it will call for the present limit of 4,500.

Dahlgren Fathers Clause

Mayor Dahlgren, who was a member of the committee which drafted the original bill, was the father of this clause. He stated Thursday morning that he had in mind the paving of Park avenue and Georgia avenue when he suggested the extending of the limits. Many property owners along these streets are not satisfied and along these streets are not satisfied and do not favor paving, and it was to surmount these obstacles that the limit was extended to take in these streets. Mayor Dahlgren says he will not fight an amendment to cut the limit to 4,500 feet.

Just why the committee makes a difference of three hours in the opening and closing of polls for general and special elections is another thing that many would like to have explained. The proposed charter provides that at all general elections the polls shall be opened from 5 a. m. to 7 p. m., but for special elections the city council and mayor may make the hours 8 a. m. to 6 p. m., as prevails at present.

To uphold the proposed change in the opening and closing of the polls for general elections, the argument was advanced that there are many employees of packing houses, wholesale houses and other concerns, who would not be able to get a chance to vote if the hours were not changed. That it was contended, is all right as far as it goes. But the committee should have gone a step further and made it imperative that the polls should be opened the extra hours in case of a special election. The laboring man is so much interested and concerned in a matter of insuring bonds for public improvements as he is in the general elections, and for this reason he should have the same privilege that he will enjoy in general elections.

Increase Lighting Fund

Another clause which has excited much curiosity is that referring to the lighting fund. The present charter empowers the council to appropriate the sum of $70,000 a year for lighting purposes. The revised charter stipulates that the amount be increased to $100,000. But further along in the section there is a proviso that all moneys received as royalties and occupation taxes from lighting companies in the city shall be turned into the general lighting fund.

Under the present charter moneys accruing from royalties go into the lighting fund, but those paid in under the occupation tax act go into the sinking fund. So the new revision practically adds $30,000 more for the general fund and the switching of the occupation tax from the sinking fund to the lighting fund.

This latter will amount to about $20,000 a year. It is based on a per cent of the gross receipts of the company as is the royalties of the companies. The royalties will amount to as much as the occupation tax, so the new bill practically provides for an amount which will range from $100,000 to $120,000 for lighting purposes alone.

Another Source of Revenue

When special lighting districts are created, the property owners pay one-half the cost. This means another source of revenue for lighting. Now what is important in the minds of some is in case the bill passes what improvements in the lighting situation are going to be made and who is going to set this money?

Under the revision bill the city council and mayor are empowered to appropriate money for the construction and maintenance of a garbage reduction plant. The appropriation for the maintenance is all right, but the issuing of the bonds for the construction of the plant should be decided at a special session. An amendment to this has been sent to Lincoln and will be tackled on.

Another item that has caused comment is that which gives the council power to appropriate $50,000 for the erection of an asphalt plant but which has the provision that no street shall be repaved by the city until ordered by resolution by the city council, which makes a special appropriation for the work.

"What's the good of a plant under these conditions," is the question raised.

NEED MEN IN CHURCH WORK

Colonel Halford Says the Men Must Come to the Front.

J. CAMPBELL WHITE ALSO TALKS Tells of Need of a Business Men's Organization to Manage Religious Affairs and of a Follow-Up System.

"You can't run the twentieth century church on ladies' aid and lemonade," these words Colonel E. W. Halford, president of the Laymen's Missionary association, speaking at a luncheon of the local branch at the Hotel Rome Thursday noon, pointed out the need of a strong business men's organization to manage religious affairs.

Colonel Halford formerly was private secretary to President Harrison, and later was attached to the local army headquarters as paymaster. He lived in this city a number of years and is well known by the business and professional men here.

Colonel Halford and J. Campbell White, secretary of the missionary movement, were guests of honor at the luncheon. Mr. White first introduced the proposition for a "follow up" campaign in Omaha in the interests of his organization. He spoke at some length on the methods to be used and the goal to be accomplished.

Colonel Halford took occasion to chide many of those present whom he had known in former years when they were members of the Young Men's Christian association board of directors, declaring they had not attended half the meetings. The speaker's point was that in order to get live business men into the habit of attending official meetings, the work of the meetings must be made important enough to interest them. "It requires almost a constant with a capias," he said, "to bring the average business man to a session on official business."

Following the addresses C. A. Goss, acting as chairman, appointed a committee of five men to meet Sunday morning at the Young Men's Christian association and nominate a staff of officers in the local branch of the laymen's missionary movement. The committee was chosen as follows: Henry Kleser, Dr. E. R. Curry, E. H. Westerfield, Clement L. Chase and J. W. Nicholson.

Other speakers besides the guests of honor were S. Earl Taylor and C. C. Rollitt.

KENNEDY GRANTS LICENSE

Fixes Out the Dodge Hotel After the Police Board Refused the Request.

On appeal to the district court from the decision of the fire and police commission, Judge Kennedy Wednesday issued a liquor license to Samuel Nathan of the Dodge hotel. It was recently decided that no new liquor licenses would be granted in the city of Omaha. Accordingly when Nathan applied to the fire and police commission for a license it was denied. It was granted, however, because there was a saloon formerly at the Dodge hotel.

Tramps Eat Out Big Boarding House

Send Out Runners, Who Bring In an Army to Storm the Citadel.

An army of tramps hit Omaha Wednesday afternoon and no sooner had they established bunk than they landed in the office of the Associated Charities. They wanted help and they wanted it quick.

Miss Ida V. Jontz, secretary of the Omaha office, heard all sorts of hard luck stories, which were as varied as they were numerous. But she was equal to the occasion. She offered them jobs that served the purpose. They didn't want jobs. They wanted something to eat and they wanted to get it as easily as possible. After about twenty had tackled the Associated Charities in vain, they tipped off the "nothing doing" sign to the others.

The Associated Charities office was flooded and the tramps began a systematic tour of the city on a foraging expedition. Some worked with results; others did not. Finally, one more fortunate than the others, found a boarding house in the west end, where the proprietor "fell" for the hard luck story. It was so easy that runners were sent out and the general alarm given.

The tramps swooped down on said boarding house. Before the proprietress got next to the system, about every available thing in the house had been stowed away in the capacious stomachs of the globe.

Conferees were held on different floors and the opinion was that the governor did not know what he was talking about. Some intimated that he didn't care.

A vote was finally taken on the issue of whether Governor Aldrich knew what he was talking about and almost without exception voters were cast "ferment."

County Hospital Ward Hangs Self by a Strap

Peter Wolf, 75 Years Old, Commits Suicide by Hanging Himself to a Water Pipe.

Peter Wolf, a ward of the county hospital, hung himself Thursday morning.

Wolf was about 75 years old and had been at the hospital for seven years. He came from Albright.

No cause is given for the deed, as it is reported that Wolf was apparently in fairly good health and spirits. He hung himself in the basement by taking a half-inch strap, about four feet long, which he fastened to an overhead water pipe. He let his weight on the strap by simply bending his knees.

A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Liniment and bound on to the affected parts is superior to any plaster. When troubled with lame back or pains to the side or chest give it a trial and you are certain to be more than pleased with the prompt relief which it affords. Sold by all dealers.

CITY HALL IS STIRRED UP

Employes Take Exception to Remarks of Governor Aldrich.

DAHLMAN POINTS TO LINCOLN Says that Students Are Voted There and that It Would Be Well for the Governor to Look Into It.

"If Governor Aldrich wants to start a campaign against election frauds, which he charges existed in Omaha at the last election, let him begin by beginning at home," said Mayor Dahlgren Thursday morning.

"In his special message to the legislature the governor takes occasion to make charges here which he cannot substantiate in any manner. He charges all sorts of irregularities, none of which can be proven. But if conditions are as I have heard in Lincoln, he can find ample opportunity for an investigation of the most exhaustive kind.

"I am told that at the primary and election held in Lincoln that students of the State university voted and that a professor of the university stood at the polls and advised the students to cast their votes, and that they would be protected if charges were ever filed against them.

After reading the governor's message many city hall officials threw all kinds of fits and held all sorts of conferences Thursday morning. For a time business was forgotten in many of the offices.

Conferences were held on different floors and the opinion was that the governor did not know what he was talking about. Some intimated that he didn't care.

A vote was finally taken on the issue of whether Governor Aldrich knew what he was talking about and almost without exception voters were cast "ferment."

NOON MUSICALE DAILY IN THE POMPEIAN ROOM

Innovation is Started by Arthur Brandels, Who Saw It in Berlin.

Several hundred visitors and shoppers in the Brandels store were treated to a novel entertainment in the form of a musicale in the new assembly room just off the Pompeian lunch room Thursday noon. The musicale is an innovation this side of Philadelphia and was conceived by Arthur Brandels following his recent trip to Berlin, where the presentation of musical programs in the large stores has come into general vogue.

It is intended that a different program at the hands of different vocalists shall be presented every noon. Free of charge. The opening musical of Thursday was rendered by the Misses Alice and Gladys Chandler, pupils of Mrs. Millie Ryan. They sang

White Slave Cases Before Commissioner

Hearing of Case Against Smith Takes All of Thursday—Other Cases to Follow.

The preliminary hearing of Frank Smith, charged with bringing Eva Latham from Kansas City to Omaha on October 27 in violation of the federal white slave law, is being held today before United States Commissioner Gustave Anderson.

Testimony this morning showed that Smith has a wife and child in Asheville, Mo., that he deserted them for Eva Latham, an Asheville girl, who, when she was first taken into custody, said she was 17 years old, but now declares she is 19.

Smith, charged with bringing Eva Latham from Kansas City to Omaha on October 27 in violation of the federal white slave law, is being held today before United States Commissioner Gustave Anderson.

Simple Remedy for Kidneys Can Be Mixed at Home

There is nothing so essential as a good remedy when the kidneys or bladder get out of order, when the back aches, rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, cystitis, frequent, scanty, painful or highly colored urine. There is grave danger in allowing such symptoms to go unchecked, as serious kidney disease is apt to develop. Get a one-half ounce package of
