JUDGESHIP STILL UP IN AIR

Dakota Senators Have Difficulty in Pushing J. D. Elliott.

PRESIDENT TAFT NOT FAVORABLE

Fact Candidate Was Attorney for Railroad is Being Urged Against Him—Sloan Not Yet Settled in Office.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, April 7.—(Special Telegram)—Senators Gamble and Crawford continued their conference today, commenced yesterday, with President Taft in behalf of former United States Attorney James D. Elliott for United States district judge of that state. Some time ago when the president was looking around for men for the court of commerce he picked John E. Carlin of South Dakota and made him a circuit judge to sit on the court of commerce. There is no other United States district judge in the state. Mr. Elliott's name has been before the president for three months.

Senator Crawford was at first supposed to be opposed to Mr. Elliott, but has united with Senator Gamble for the Aberdeen man. The principal objection to Mr. Elliott is that for a year he has been the attorney in South Dakota for the St. Paul road. It is said in his behalf, however, that he has done no political work for the road. When the senators emerged from the White House they were not in a communicative mood and from the gestures of Senator Gamble it is inferred that the nomination is still in the air, the president not having been won over yet.

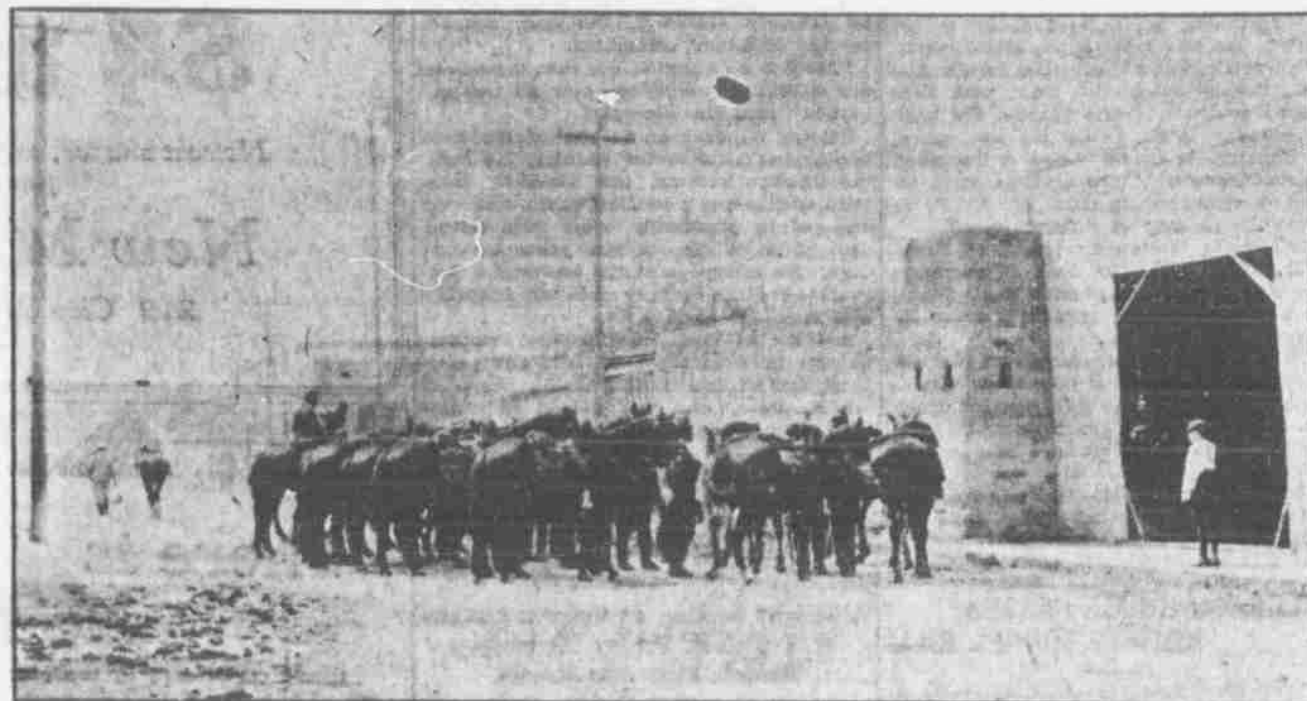

During the conference the senators invited the president to attend the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the organization of the territory of Dakota, to be held at Yankton, July 11 to 12. The president wants to be in Washington at that time.

Sloan Has Hard Luck.
Congressman Sloan is having hard luck getting located in an office in the house office building on account of the very large number of changes in committees resulting in old members retaining their present quarters until other quarters are provided. More than two months ago Mr. Sloan decided on the room now occupied by Representative Small of North Carolina, but as the room which Mr. Sloan had been assigned to is still occupied by another member Mr. Sloan cannot get the room which he selected when in Washington early in the spring until Mr. Small gets out. Mr. Sloan expects to be located in room 460 within the next few days. He has pleasant quarters, however, in the rooms of the pension committee, where his secretary, Philip Bloss of Waboo, is installed.

Philip Bloss is a son of Herman Bloss, who was department commander of the Grand Army of the Republic a number of years ago, and the young man is secretary of the Fourth district republican congressional committee. Mrs. Bloss, who was Miss Baker of Dorchester, and a clerk in the office of William Hayward when he was making his race for congress, is with her husband in Washington. They were married last December.

Culver is Candidate.
Representative Sloan is in receipt of a letter from General J. C. Culver of Milford, former adjutant general of Nebraska, under title, a former judge of the Juarez court of letters.

The Juarez police department has found an unexploded bomb in a house near the scene of Sunday morning's explosion.

The governor of Chihuahua, Sinaloa, today received a typewritten proclamation signed by Turbe and Banderan, the principal leaders of the Durango bands of raiders, calling Much anxiety is felt as to the fate of 100 federals and a machine gun that were expected to cut their way through from Hadrigravato to Culiacan. It is about fifty miles over rough country and none of the soldiers know the topography of the country. They were supposed to be coming up in the rear of a band of 250 rebels at Tepuche, but that band has shifted its position and another band of about the same size shown up. Both of these bands are well mounted and are after that machine gun and the mauler rifles of the federals. It is believed the effort to keep off this detachment and capture the machine gun will prevent any attack on Culiacan for several days.

While Francisco Madero, sr., and his son, Alfonso, are doing everything in their power to bring about peace, the insurgents are working overtime collecting and smuggling arms into Mexico. A prominent official declares that more millions of war had been taken into Mexico in the last two days than during any two months previous. Of course, some of it is being taken by the authorities on both sides of the river, but most of it reaches the "insurrecto strongholds. Since the arrival of the elder and younger Madero, ostensibly here to arrange for terms of peace, leading revolutionists have not been slow to admit that there is not the best of feeling between the insurgents and the Madero family. One of them expressed himself forcibly.

"This is a revolution of principle, not one engineered by the Madero family. So many make the mistake of thinking Francisco Madero, Jr., the George Washington of this fight. True, he is the leader and has spent much of his own money in the noble cause, but that is only because he believes in what he is fighting for. If he were shot and killed in battle, do you suppose the 'insurrection' would collapse? Never. Another would come forward to take his place at the head. In the same way should he see for peace and try, to make terms obnoxious to the men in the field, he would be brushed aside, as no longer loyal. I will admit that reforms that would have been eagerly seized months ago are now refused because they are proposed by President Diaz. We will never be satisfied with anything else but the absolute removal of Porfirio Diaz."

"The Madero family travels in state about the United States and draws the attention of the world. All Mexicans of the upper class are vain and conceited. They like the attention showered upon them. They mysteriously refuse to talk, because they have nothing to say."

"I believe that Francisco Madero, Jr., in the field and the rest of his family are not on the best of terms. Our leader is fighting for what he believes to be right. He knows that the whole Mexican government is wrong. He knows the system by which the Terrazas, Limanour and Madero families became rich is wrong. True he is using this money, but is using it against the system. He is not only a political, but a social revolutionist."

Madero family are seen much with members of the Junta here, but have had few conferences.

L. Gutierrez de Lara, minus a coat, is seen much on the streets, wearing a serape over his shoulders. He is the socialist, who accompanies John Kenneth Turner to darkest Mexico. He says President Diaz is afflicted with chronic presidentialitis and predicts that the revolution will end with the old man getting off his throne in less than two months. He does not pin much faith on the peace negotiations.

Mexicans in great numbers are walking over the Chapas Grandes country of Chihuahua to El Paso, in search of work. The crops have been ruined in that portion of the state, the food supply is exhausted and the workmen and poor peons are coming to the states to earn enough to provide their families with food until another planting season arrives.

Army men stationed here have great fun among themselves discussing the Mexican army and its tactics. Of course no one has said anything officially, but sitting around the officers' mess many are the comments. For example, the Americans can never get over the Mexican system of placing outposts only about 100 yards out from the main body, while the United States army has them stationed far out with small companies of reserves between to come to the assistance whenever needed.

At first the khaki officers could not understand this. It was explained that as a large proportion of the Mexican soldiery is made up of petty criminals sentenced to the army instead of the penitentiary; that if one of the soldiers was placed on outpost duty very far out he would be "gone" the next morning.

Bathtub Trust Cases Go Over to June Term

Judge Dennison Takes Exceptions to Newspaper Statements Alleged to Come from Attorney General.

DETROIT, April 7.—The trial of the government's criminal case against the so-called "trust" has been postponed from May to the June term of the federal court here because of certain newspaper articles to which Judge Dennison took exception.

In announcing the postponement in court Judge Dennison said: "The newspapers this morning had a report purporting to be given out by the attorney general's office in Washington, which was grossly improper and clearly an extreme contempt. I think any such publication on the eve of the trial makes a fair trial impossible, and I shall order the case continued over the term."

"I have requested the attorney general to ascertain whether any employe or assistant in his office is responsible for giving out such a report, and if so direct that employe to report immediately to this court."

"The publication charges in effect that the present regular panel of this court needed extraordinary watching, that watchers would be furnished because the court was not competent to take care of its own affairs, and that some of the defendants had offered to plead guilty, of course, a scandalously improper thing to be said even if it is true."

"I do not think the regular panel of jurors could maintain an unprejudiced attitude toward the government after such accusations as those contained or directly implied against the jury."

CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS SENT TO PENITENTIARY

W. A. Stuart, Who Made Race in Wisconsin District, is Convicted of Forgery.

MILWAUKEE, April 7.—William A. Stuart, defeated candidate for the democratic nomination for congress in the Fifth Wisconsin district last fall, was today found guilty of "uttering a false document" and was sentenced to eighteen months in the house of corrections. He fainted, falling at the feet of his wife as he was being led from the court room. Stuart was arrested in Cincinnati about two months ago. He was charged with getting $50 from Eli Secor by forging the signature of the secretary of a mining company.
