MASTERING HIS FATE

When B. Fay Mills was in Omaha recently he cited, in one of his lectures, the case of John Gordon, 243 South Twenty-fourth street, in illustration of the power of mind to overcome adverse conditions.

Those who know the circumstances, the forcefulness of the illustration is fully appreciated. The pique, the cheerfulness, the kindly spirit of John Gordon are as remarkable as his physical condition is pitiful, and those acquainted with his intrepid and sanguine spirit compel vital service from a broken body that is already half dead.

Mr. Gordon is a hero who is fighting the battle for self-support though a prisoner within four walls and flat on his back. Thus far he has continued to be the master of a most cruel fate, and his struggle makes the strongest possible appeal both to our heroic sense and to the sentiment of compassion. By helping him we help a brave soldier most grievously wounded, fighting at fearful odds, that would dismay any but the bold, and we help a brother on whom affliction could have no power, a heavier hand without finally crushing out his indomitable spirit.

Gordon's effort to "make living"—a phrase which in his case has a particularly literal meaning and a grim import—has been described from time to time in The Bee. He must do what he can do dropped on a pillow and telephone fixed above his head. He is a subscription agent for magazines, and he has been successful in securing a number of subscriptions to earn a $1,000 prize offered for a certain number of subscriptions to two high class publications, with a disposition to have a share in the result. Gordon must have 157 subscribers to the latter and 100 to the former. He has arranged that the prize should go to the Child Saving Institute. The $1,000 was earned for the Infants' Home but Gordon only realized expenses.

"A Medicine of Real Merit" SAYS CIVIL WAR VETERAN, PAST 75 YEARS OF AGE

Mr. Phillip A. Barrett could not enjoy his meals and was in very poor health, because of a complication of stomach disorders. Nothing did him any good till he used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, the sure remedy for all stomach troubles, which put him on his feet in short order.

MR. PHILLIP A. BARNETT, 75 years of age.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey STANDARD OF PURITY AND EXCELLENCE SINCE 1860 is an absolutely pure distillation of malted grain. When taken at meal time it stimulates the mucous surfaces and little glands of the stomach to a healthy action, thereby improving the digestion and assimilation of the food and giving to the system its full proportion of nourishment. This action upon the digestive process is of great importance, as it brings to all the tissues and organs of the body the nutriment necessary to their sustenance, and indirectly to the whole system strength and vigor.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the only whiskey that was taxed by the Government as a medicine during the Spanish-American war. CAUTION—When you ask your druggist, grocer or dealer for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey be sure you get the genuine. It is sold in SEALED BOTTLES ONLY—never in bulk. Look for the trade-mark, the "Old Chemist" on the label and make sure the cork is unbroken. Price $1.00 a large bottle. Doctor's advice and an illustrated medical booklet sent free on request. The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.
