

first time in several days. The inhabitants slept peacefully in their homes while the insurrectionaries stood guard.

General Navarro, who was paroled with his officers last night spent the night in the same house with General Francisco J. Madero, Jr. Though the federal commander now has been given the liberty of the city, he does not deem it safe to be seen much about town because there are said to be several insurrectionaries who cherish a grudge against him for alleged having of the wounded in other battles of the revolution.

Rebel officers, however, have given strict orders not to harm any of the paroled federals and from the discipline which has been maintained in the insurrection forces hereafter it is not considered likely that any mishap will befall them.

Food Supplies Expected Today. The insurrectionaries today are the conquerors in a town which is the most important capture of the revolution, not only because of the fact that it is a port of entry to the United States and the insurgents believe that the next twenty-four hours food and supplies will be crossing the line to them unimpeded, but because they are now in possession of about 50,000 pounds of ammunition, several machine guns and field pieces, about 700 Mauser rifles and enough ammunition belts and other warlike sundries to wage furious warfare for some time to come.

Revising Demands on Diaz. Comfortably lodged in their new provisional capital, the taking of which the rebels declare will make prospects of recognition by foreign powers much brighter, the rebel political leaders today were conferring with General Madero and revising their demands before the rebels. They are strengthening them somewhat and will continue to insist on a real participation in governmental affairs and such privileges as the naming of men from their party for governors in fourteen states and four portfolios in the cabinet.

The attitude of the rebels on the question of the resignation of General Diaz hardly has crystallized yet. Dr. Vasquez Gomez, one of the rebel peace commissioners, declared today it still was the paramount consideration around which all prospects for peace hinged. The rebels have taken the stand that the resignation of General Diaz must be merely his intention of resigning has been met with such a vague and haughty reply that they now will demand the fixing of an exact time for his retirement.

With reference to the contention of the government that insubordination in the Madero ranks is the cause of the attack on Juarez and that General Madero is not in control of his soldiers, the rebels openly charge trickery on the part of the government to disseminate the opinion that a state of anarchy is prevalent in the republic and that therefore it would be fatal for General Diaz to abdicate at this juncture. On the other hand, in their demands they are asking merely for steps toward a gradual readjustment of the administration of the republic and they believe the automatic transfer of the power to their own political party soon will follow.

Limanour Head of Affairs. In having publicly announced that the revolutionists would consent to the naming of the minister for foreign relations, Senator De La Barra, for the all-important post of provisional president, Dr. Gomez, for instance, contends that the rebels have practically consented to a continuation in power of the present government without the figurehead, as they call General Diaz, at its head. Rebel leaders declare General Diaz has not been in actual control for some time, and that the iron hand of the federal government is that of Minister Limanour. Advice from Mexico City, they say, tell of the complete mastery of the situation which Minister Limanour and the cabinet have assumed.

Ministers Limanour and De La Barra have been most conspicuous in defining the government's attitude toward the rebels and the rebels suspect on good authority that many steps already have been taken without the participation of General Diaz. On the other hand the rebel leaders know General Diaz is the only man who can decide the question of readjustment and they intend to bring more military pressure to bear to effect that result. Much interest and curiosity, for instance, was displayed by General Madero and his chiefs today in how Mexico City took the rebel victory and what the people in the United States thought about it. General Madero believes he has a strong following in Mexico City and on the occasion of rebel successes does not conceal the expectation that his supporters will make a demonstration there.

Orosco Blocks Bridge. General Pascual Orosco, commander of the rebel forces, had blood in his eye today as he stood at the international bridge and refused to permit the return of General Diaz to cross into Juarez, even though they had passed from Colonel Steever through the American lines. It appears that General Orosco and his staff last night were invited to a banquet by Mayor Kelly of El Paso and the American troops would not permit Orosco and his officers to cross.

The situation with regard to the passage of persons and supplies back and forth is rapidly becoming aggravated and there was considerable apprehension today that trouble might be precipitated. Colonel Steever had only instructions from Washington, the authorities there having held specific orders as to how to deal with the de-facto government in Juarez. General Madero and his wife and General Navarro, the deposed federal commander, rode about the town early today in an automobile. Mrs. Madero fears that disease may be brought on unless the dead be buried quickly and orders have been given today for a careful search of all houses and yards for bodies that may have been overlooked yesterday.

Criminals Flock to Juarez. General Madero told an Associated Press representative today that many American criminals, pickpockets and suspicious characters had gotten into Juarez, giving the impression that they are insurrectionaries. He has therefore ordered, he said, that American secret service men be allowed to cross into Juarez and arrest any criminals whom they know. Every effort, he said, is being made to restore order.

Stores are being guarded closely. In front of each sits an insurrectionary, his rifle in his hand, and some of them peering from under his broad-brimmed sombrero at all who are loitering about the street. Saloons are closed and most of the liquor has been destroyed.

The federal officers today are loud in their praise of the treatment they are receiving in the city of the insurrectionaries. They are well fed and well cared for generally. Aftermath of the fight of the last three days was heard on all sides today. Many people think General Navarro never should have surrendered, but on one look at the emaciated, exhausted soldiers, their throats parched from thirst and hunger, they were convinced that the federal commander that he was saving his men from a terrible fate. The insurrectionaries cut off the water supply early in the fight and took away all provisions as they made their way to the federal strongholds. The federals had made no preparations for a siege within their own town.

REBELS OCCUPY AGUA PRIETA

Temporary Military Control Will Be Succeeded by Civil Government. AGUA PRIETA, Mex., May 11.—Eighty insurrectionaries, commanded by Colonel Santiago Cameros, the advance guard of Anacleto Giron's force, arrived in Agua Prieta from the southeast early today, took possession of the town and set up a temporary military government, with Cameros as military jefe.

Armed guards were stationed in the streets and all the municipal buildings. The international line was closed by the rebels, who permit only persons with passes to cross. The same regulation is in force on the American side of the line.

Colonel Cameros crossed to Douglas today and conferred with the rebel jefes. Before night a full set of provisional officials will be appointed to take charge of the customs house, postoffice and other departments of the government. Every effort will be directed toward restoring normal conditions under rebel control.

NAGO, Mex., May 11.—The federal army that evacuated Agua Prieta yesterday arrived here last night. It is thought Del Rio will be their next important objective point. Del Rio is little more than one hour's march from the rich mining camp of Cananea. At Del Rio the railroad from Cananea forks, one branch extending to Nogales and the other to the town of Del Rio which left Nogales last night had attached to it eleven extra cars for the use of the troops here. It is possible that the federal force may proceed at once to Nogales to keep open that important port. If this is the purpose of the federal commander, the next serious battle of the revolution will take place at Nogales, which is separated from the American town by a street 100 feet wide.

There is also a probability that the federals are hastening to assist in the protection of Hermosillo, reported in grave danger of capture by rebels. It is unlikely, however, that the federals will be permitted to reach Hermosillo without engaging the numerous bands of rebels scattered between Hermosillo and the border.

MADERO'S SOLDIERS SWARM INTO JUAREZ; FEDERAL BURY DEAD

President Diaz seemed to look down on the crimson covered face of the sleeping colonel, dubbed "the fighting gamecock." I visited Thomas R. Edwards, the American consul, about 11 o'clock and found Mr. and Mrs. Edwards well through very tired. A great American flag was jacked over the whole side of the house. Mr. Edwards said despite the fact of the hard fighting of the three days, little was done within half a block of the consulate, and so far as he knew the house had not been struck by a single bullet.

It was scarcely 200 feet away that the bloody angle of the battle was fought. Bullets and explosive shells had literally rained here. So heavy had been the fire that nearly all of the plaster was stripped from several houses and wooden doors and frame buildings performed the duties of tombs. Dead bodies lay in the streets where the valiant stand had been made. The ground was strewn with empty cartridges. A few empty explosive shells lay about. A building at the right, wrecked by a bomb, still smoked.

Dozens of houses this morning were flying the American flag. There were large numbers of Japanese flags in evidence. By 1 o'clock rebels swarmed everywhere. Many were busy trying to find something to eat or drink, but most were near the curial, pouring a merciless fire at the hollow square building. Most of the windows in the business houses were broken and whatever was on display taken.

Victors Get New Hats. The rebels seemed partial to new hats, and I saw dozens with new felt hats, elaborately trimmed, that sell as high as $40 each. At one store where the proprietor had arrived the rebels were crowding about the door and he was handing out cigarettes in bunches. However, order was restored in a remarkably short time after the surrender. All saloons were taken charge of at once and even late this evening no drunkenness was to be seen on the streets.

As soon as possible American physicians came to the Mexican side and rendered great assistance in caring for the wounded. The condition at the improvised hospital is nauseating. Piles are everywhere. Many of the wounded are lying on the floor without bedding. Federal prisoners are being compelled to dig graves and bury their comrades.

I have never seen such a riot as when I arrived at the curial and 2,000 men crowded about the door shouting while the prisoners filed out past them. One 16-year-old lad who has been in every skirmish with rifle, revolver and machete, drove a bullet through his forehead and waving his hat shouted in a shrill voice, "Viva Madero!"

nearby. The federal officers today are loud in their praise of the treatment they are receiving in the city of the insurrectionaries. They are well fed and well cared for generally. Aftermath of the fight of the last three days was heard on all sides today. GALLINGER FAILS TO LAND IN PLACE

Against me or against anyone voting as I vote that we are voting against our party. I do not recognize the right of any secret caucus to dispose of public business. I do not propose to be outvoted because I do not agree to support any man who may be agreed upon by such a secret meeting.

Mr. Borah explained that circumstance seemed to justify him in this first instance of his consenting to a pair. It was a personal matter between himself and Mr. Works, and he announced that he was perfectly willing to support the caucus nominee.

INQUIRY INTO WOOL RATES AFFECTS ALL WESTERN CITIES

WASHINGTON, May 11.—A comprehensive investigation of alleged unreasonable freight rates on wool, hides and pelts from western points of origin to eastern points was ordered today by the Interstate Commerce commission. The inquiry will affect wool, hides and pelts' rates throughout the country.

Columbus Bank Sues Erb and Wife Attempt to Attach Drafts Recently Secured by Harry Erb on Alleged Worthless Security.

CENTRAL CITY, Neb., May 11.—(Special.)—The Commercial National Bank of Columbus has commenced suit against G. W. Erb and his wife, asking that they be restrained from disposing of certain drafts to the amount of $2,500. It seems that Harry Erb upon securing the $2,500 from the Columbus bank is claimed to have turned $2,500 of it over to his parents in payment of the farming stock and implements, and for other money he owed them. The bank has secured a temporary injunction, and it is understood will attempt to prove the title to the drafts in the hands of the parents, which have not yet been cashed. Already proceedings have been started attaching the stock which Harry Erb has on the farm, and as this will total quite a sum it is probable that the banks affected by his operations will not lose a great deal. The extent of his operations bordered $10,000, but part of this will be made good by the disposal of Erb's property.

OLD SETTLERS OF CASS HAVE GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. George Shrader, Living Near Murray, Entertain Their Friends. PLATTSBOROUGH, Neb., May 11.—(Special.)—On May 9, Mr. and Mrs. George Shrader, two of the old settlers of this county, residing near Murray, celebrated their golden wedding. Friends from all parts of the county were in attendance to the number of about 300. A long table was stretched across the lawn and the entire company sat down to a sumptuous picnic dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Shrader are among Cass county's most highly respected people, having come to Cass county in 1864 and resided here continuously since. Mr. Shrader has had an eventful career for a man of his years. He is a native Virginian, having been born in the old Dominion in 1838, and if he survives till August next he will be 75 years of age. When he was 20 years of age he emigrated to Missouri, and when the war broke out he found himself with Price's army, in which he enlisted for a term of one year. The exposure in the confederate service was too much for his constitution and he fell sick, was sent home and while recuperating his health the Missouri militia waited on him and informed the ex-soldier of Price's army that he would have to emigrate to some free state or territory. He decided to remove to Nebraska and with his young wife, to whom he was married three years before, came to Cass county.

Mr. Shrader was presented with a gold headed cane and Mrs. Shrader was presented with a gold thimble. The presentation speech was made by D. O. Dwyer of Plattsmouth.

DeWitt, Nebraska, March 25th, 1910. The Old Line Bankers Life Insurance Co., Lincoln, Nebraska. Gentlemen: I am writing to express my complete satisfaction and appreciation of your statement of my Policy No. 1353 dated March 24, 1890. The total premium paid your company is $415.76, which amount has just been paid to me by your general agent, Mr. H. D. Brooks, and take a Paid-up Policy for the face amount of the original policy, $1,000.00, which will participate in the future earnings of the Company and be paid to me annually during my life time. The Bankers Life Insurance Company is certainly to be commended for its liberal settlements with its policy holders. I am so thoroughly satisfied with my own settlement that I make application for a policy for my son aged seventeen years.

Very Respectfully yours, W. H. Daubendick.

Refusals to Be Neutral. The strain of the three days' battle has told upon the veteran, now a prisoner. He looks tired and as if worry and responsibility had added years to his already ripe age. He spoke quietly and sadly and shook his head at times in great sorrow.

So far as can be learned, only two American insurrectionaries were killed. An English sharpshooter who fought in the Boer war is among the dead.

Bombs figured largely in the capture of the city. With only one cannon, the rebels found that something more than rifles was necessary. Accordingly, a large number of bombs were prepared and daring men threw them. It was these that started most of the fires.
