Liquor Dealers Tilt Over Policy Adopted by Protector Editor

C. E. Fields Defends Conservative Course and Wins Out by Re-Election.

The one inharmonious element in the meeting of the Nebraska Liquor Dealers' association, which concluded its annual convention at the Krug theater Wednesday was an objection raised to the policy of Charles E. Fields, editor of the Omaha Protector and official editor of the association. Some members from the western part of the state objected to the paper as the official organ of the society because it was said to be not aggressive enough. Fields took the floor and answered the objections spiritedly. He said that if a bitter and unreasonable fight against all opponents of the liquor traffic was demanded by the members he did not want to do the work. He insisted that a spirit of tolerance and courtesy would do the association more good than trying to make enemies of all the people who disagreed with the principles of the saloon traffic, and that he thought dignity and reserve would do more good. His remarks were enthusiastically cheered and he was re-elected by acclamation as official editor.

The morning session was opened by the installation of the new officers by Henry Wroth of Omaha. A general discussion for the good of the association followed and at noon the convention adjourned sine die. Street cars were boarded for a visit to the Omaha breweries. At the Metz and Jetter establishments spreads were served. It is the annual custom of the association to dine with two breweries at every session. Frank's band of South Omaha was taken along to add to the joyousness of the trip and after the Metz and Jetter dinners, the Stars and Krug breweries were visited. Omaha has been the place for the convention four times in succession, so Hastings was unanimously chosen for the 1912 gathering.

Minister Denies Filing Claim for Making Address

Rev. I. F. Roach Says Filed Expense Account, but Did Not Ask Pay for Speaking.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, June 7.—(Special.)—Rev. I. F. Roach denies emphatically that he put a claim to the State Normal board for the delivery of a baccalaureate address at Peru Normal school. Rev. Mr. Roach, however, asserts that he did put in a claim for his railroad fare and livery hire, the bill amounting to $4.38. This he presented to the president of the State Normal at the time he left, but where the $0 item for the delivery of the address came from neither he nor any of the members of the board can tell.

State Treasurer George, who is a member of the board, is out of town and other than marking the bill rejected following the action of the state board it is said he knows nothing about it. It is asserted at the state house that the bill must have been itemized by president of the Normal.

Rev. Roach is pastor of St. Paul's church in this city and is one of the best known Methodist clergymen in the west.

Inquiry Into Wreck Near North Platte

Coroner's Jury Unable to Find Cause of Explosion of Boiler—Railroad Blames Engineer Kelly.

NORTH PLATTE, Neb., June 7.—(Special.)—There has been considerable excitement in this city, particularly among the railroad men, ever since the explosion of the boiler last Friday which resulted in the death of Engineer Kelly, Fireman Smith and Head Brakeman Thompson. The coroner's inquest, which began its work Friday, has held sessions each day and finally completed its work yesterday afternoon.

Quite a number of railroad men testified and also an expert engineer not connected with the railroad, from Denver. It was agreed by all that the water was too low in the boiler, but as Engineer Kelly had an enviable reputation as a careful engineer, it was hard to account for the fact that both the engineer and fireman would overlook this.

The board of inquiry conducted by the Union Pacific, which was composed of four railroad men and two citizens of this city, found that Engineer Kelly permitted water to get too low, but did not account for why he did so.

The coroner found that the explosion of the boiler was from causes unknown to the jury.

The body of a tramp was found in the wreckage between two freight cars. It was terribly mangled, but his identification was furnished by a man who had ridden with him a few days earlier. His name was found to be Lewis Gensberg. His mother resides at No. 175 Madison street, New York. She was advised of his death and first wired that the body be shipped to her, but later wired to bury it here as she did not have the funds to send it to her.

north and south, Seward county has paid out a considerable amount on the proposed route and has over $8,000 in the treasury to complete the work.

Delegates have been selected and named by nearly every city on the proposed route, and it is hoped that Omaha and Lincoln will have delegates here.

INQUIRY INTO ALLEGED BEATING OF SMALL BOY

Governor Aldrich is Investigating Charges Against Officials of Beatrice Institute.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 7.—(Special Telegram.)—On complaint of the boy's parents, supported by Dr. I. S. Cutter and officers of the Humane society, Governor Aldrich is conducting an investigation of charges that 7-year-old George Baker was mistreated at the Beatrice Institute for the feeble minded. It is charged that the boy was beaten and improperly fed during the three weeks during which he was an inmate of the institute. His body is covered with bruises, which institute authorities say were received through a fall down stairs. Humane officers say only repeated falls could have such results.

Miss Corlie Warner Dead.

HASTINGS, Neb., June 7.—(Special.)—Information has just reached Hastings of the accidental death of Miss Corlie Warner, formerly of this city, at Atascadero, near Tampico, Mexico, on May 21. The fire originated from a gasoline explosion when Miss Warner placed a lighted match on a gasoline can. Miss Warner was for a number of years employed as music teacher here.

YORK, June 7.—(Special.)—President Alfred Christian of the Eastern Nebraska Good Roads association, has called another meeting to be held June 14, at York, at 2 o'clock p. m. Since the first meeting held here in York, survey has been made of the proposed state highway, and a great part of the route has been platted. Photographs will be taken of nearly every mile of the road passing through the counties of Lancaster, Seward, York and Hamilton, and the miles upon miles of high good level roads traversing these counties will be a delight to every tourist traveling across the state commencing at Omaha.
